SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

ODD ITEMS FOR WAR PRODUCTION.

Many an unusual item has crept into the shopping lists of automobile purchasing agents as a result of war production needs.

Toothpicks, dish mops, pure mutton tallow, dry ice, canvas foot covers, police whistles and razor blades are just a few of such implements being used by one company in its production of aircraft engines and combat vehicles. Toothpicks are used by the first-aid departments for medical dressings.

TANKERS DO DOUBLE DUTY.

American shipyards are now making it possible for our tankers to carry extra loads. A scaffold-type extra deck enables a modern tanker to carry a load of extra freight the equivalent of 10 per cent of its normal load capacity. Some tankers now carry, in addition to its load of gasoline, deck loads of ambulances, planes, jeeps and trucks.

MAYOR TOBIN'S PROPOSALS FOR INCLUSION IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY STATE PLATFORM.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, Democratic candidate for Governor, in appearing before the Resolutions Committee of the Democratic State Convention, advocated the inclusion of the following 12-point program in the Party Platform:

1. A constitutional convention as a positive step to remove barriers to widespread home ownership to equalize the tax burden and reform the antiquated and out-moded fiscal policies of the state.
2. To unscramble state and local finances and require the state government to be responsible for financing its own expenditures. Massachusetts is one of the few states in the Union which still places a deficiency levy on its cities and towns.
3. Supplement Federal GI Bill of Rights with a program to aid veterans starting business or buying homes.
4. Insure highway safety and prevent heedless toll of dead and maimed through a scientific construction program.
5. Encourage home ownership by a system of protection against foreclosure and by postponed payments during periods of individual hardship.
6. Immediate action on integration of metropolitan transportation facilities, including street car, railroad, and bus services, and provisions of permanent service to South Shore communities.
7. Prompt action upon the recommendations of the Commissioners of Correction and the Commissioner of Mental Health in the interest of public safety.
8. Aggressive development of the recreational facilities of the state.
9. Modernize and revitalize all the agencies charged with protection of the people against criminal viciousness.
10. Full development of facilities of the Port of Boston for sea and air transportation and aid to maritime activities in all Massachusetts ports.
11. Massachusetts farmers compete on a market in which prices are controlled by low-cost producers in other areas. Guaranteed loans, extension of rural electrification, farm to market roads, more equitable taxation and insurance rates, coupled with sufficient budget and revitalization of state departments dealing with agriculture is an immediate requirement.
12. Establishment of a separate Department of Old Age Assistance entirely apart from the Department of Public Welfare.

DEATH OF ROBERT T. BRADY.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston, in meeting assembled, expresses its regret at the untimely passing of Robert T. Brady, widely-known political writer of the Boston Post, whose contributions to the political thought of his city, state and nation will be sorely missed, and whose long lifetime of outstanding service in the newspaper profession endeared him to countless thousands of his fellow citizens.

The resolution was adopted by a unanimous rising vote.

STREET PAVING CONTRACTS.

Coun. BAYLEY offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor instruct the Commissioner of Public Works to award no more street paving contracts to any contractor who has failed to live up to and is now in default under any contract previously awarded, and to take immediate steps to enforce compliance with their contracts by all contractors now in default.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, in June of this year this Honorable Body gave the two required readings to a loan order for $3,000,000 for the construction of streets in Boston, each time with four dissenting votes, of which mine was one. This action was taken in spite of the fact that the Commissioner of Public Works, George G. Hyland, for whom I have the highest regard, on April 10, in a letter to the Mayor of Boston, requested only $1,000,000, saying, and I quote, "In view of the manpower shortage, however, and the difficulties that contractors have in obtaining labor, I do not feel that we will be able to expend in excess of $1,000,000." Subsequently, the Mayor sent in a request for $1,500,000, and the order was referred to the Committee on Finance. Commissioner Hyland repeated before the excellent chairman of that committee, the distinguished councilor from Ward 4, that, under the present conditions, only $1,000,000 could reasonably be spent this year on street construction. In addition to this amount, according to the Finance Commission report, there is this year an appropriation from taxes of $148,748 and $50,000 more specifically for sidewalks. Furthermore, from January 1 to July there were total balances of $163,912 in the accounts for street construction, constituting the portion of 1943 appropriation which the Public Works Department had been unable to spend. Adding these sums gives a total in authorized accounts of more than $1,350,000. This order for $1,500,000, subsequently referred to the Executive Committee on May 29, was reported back to the Council and failed to obtain the necessary votes for passage. And yet, one week later, eighteen members of this Body voted for passage of a loan order for $3,000,000, whereas only eleven voted the previous week for $1,500,000. Strong efforts were made continually by the four dissenting members, including myself, to reduce the loan order to the amount originally needed, of $1,000,000. Since the passage of the loan order for $3,000,000, contracts involving $1,000,000 have already been awarded or advertised, according to the public statement of the Boston Municipal Research Bureau. Many of these contracts have been awarded to contractors who have not yet fulfilled past obligations to the city, notably on 1941 contracts, according to the Boston Finance Commission. I quote from that commission's report of August 2, "Repeatedly in recent years the Finance Commission has been forced to protest the acceptance of paving work by the current group of paving contractors. The commission's inspectors often observed absolute disregard of specifications in the contract performance. Much of the paving work done was, as a result, below the required quality. The commission found that at times inspectors were not present while pavement was being laid; at other times that some who were detailed to inspection did not have copies of the specifications or know the requirements. It even found some who claimed to know the requirements but made no efforts to enforce requirements. This situation is the more remarkable because the volume of street paving by contract in recent years has been greatly less than normal."

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President.

President KERRIGAN—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I wonder if the gentleman would yield for a question?

President KERRIGAN—Will the councilor yield?

Coun. BAYLEY—Yes.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I would like to know to what specific streets the councilor refers, from his own knowledge.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, the Finance Commission—

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I just asked a question. I am not asking about reports, because I have read reports. I want to know to what the councilor refers, from his own knowledge.

President KERRIGAN—Has the councilor an answer?

Coun. BAYLEY—No.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Thank you, Mr. President.

President KERRIGAN—Councilor Bayley?

Coun. BAYLEY—In the bidding for the 1944 contracts to this date, it appears that contractors whose work the Finance Commission has complained of in the past two years are among the small number competing. Some of them have already secured awards.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I would like to ask the councilor to yield for a question.

Coun. BAYLEY—The councilor will yield if this will not be a series of questions on every sentence read. I yield to this question, but not again. I yield for one question now.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I am just looking for some light on a question. The councilor has not given any. I would like to know what specific contractor he refers to, of his own knowledge.

Coun. BAYLEY—I replied to the councilor. The Boston Finance Commission has a duty. I believe, of looking into municipal affairs, and I am taking their word, given by inspectors. I am not a building inspector myself, nor do I think I am qualified to pass on who are living up to their contracts and who are not, but I am willing to take—

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I rise to a point of information, Mr. President.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—The councilor has just stated that he is not a building inspector.

I would like to know whether he is talking on buildings or streets.

Coun. BAYLEY—I am neither an expert on buildings nor streets nor sidewalks, but I believe those in the Finance Commission are qualified on street and sidewalk construction to render a fair and equitable opinion. Yet the commission has found in a July, 1944, inspection of streets constructed by them in recent years, particularly in 1941, that they have not yet fulfilled their past obligations to the city. "By requirement of the paving contracts, the contractor must give bond against defect for five years. The commission has found that routine notice was given several contractors early in the spring of 1944 of scores of defects to be corrected. To this date, these notices have been ignored, yet no penalizing action has resulted. There still remains, therefore, much of the work paid for in 1941, 1942, and 1943 to be cleared up." Then follows the report of a Finance Commission inspector who carefully examined the street work done by contractors over the past few years—together with the name of the contractor and the defects not yet remedied. The commission well points out, and I quote, "The commission has pointed out that there is a limited field of bidders, a scarcity of labor, and a limited supply of equipment. In such a situation, it is bound to happen that each of a very few contractors will obtain awards for a large number of streets. It is quite likely that if the usual practice is followed, the work on some streets will be started late in the fall. In such circumstances there is always a race between the contractor and the weather, and very often in the past the weather has won the race. Streets built under such condition rarely give satisfactory service. In the rush to beat the frost, there is often poor workmanship; and poor workmanship is not intended to be tolerated under the form of contract made. Much of the trouble with the streets laid in the last few years has been caused by the rush of work in the late fall." I have been informed from a reliable source that up to last week contracts or arrangements have been effected for the construction or repair of 152 Boston streets. Of this number the work on 28 of them has been completed, and work is being done on 21 more, leaving a total of 101 streets on which work has not yet been started. This means that the danger of hurrying the work and of the construction being interfered with by weather conditions is present, and there is likely to be deterioration in the roadway and sidewalks as there was in 1942 and 1943. "The fears expressed in 1941 for the stability of the work thus are shown to have been fully justified. Inspections made in each year since 1941 demonstrate that much of the 1941 work could not withstand normal wear and normal winter weather. This deterioration also characterized the sidewalk paving of 1942 and 1943, and, to a lesser extent, the roadway pavement of those years. Moreover, contractors who performed the work in 1941 were given a clean bill for presumably having remedied all defects before final pavement. Nevertheless, even the process of defect correction was defective in many cases. Either replacement of originally defective work was unsatisfactory, or the attempt to correct was superficial." The Finance Commission report concluded as follows: "The application of the data to the first matter is clear. Steps should be taken to compel the contractors to make good the defective work before it is too late. In many instances, sidewalks are a great potential cause of accidents and consequent lawsuits against the city. (a) The defects noted arose from a failure to observe specifications of performance; that failure was permitted to develop was due to a lapse of adequate inspection during the progress of the work. (b) A pretentious program of street work has been approved; unless strict adherence to performance and material specifications is guaranteed by adequate inspection, the city may confidently expect a repetition of the history of the 1941 work." These contractors have been plainly delinquent in their construction work during the past few years and, as the Finance Commission says, are likely to be so again in the absence of a fair and impartial staff of inspectors who will report if they do not carry out their contracts according to specifications. Participation of such delinquent contractors in new contracts this year is plainly a "violation of public interest," as charged by the Boston Municipal Research Bureau. This agency recommends the following two-point program to protect the city and to make sure that the people's money is being spent honestly and carefully: "1—Rigid inspection of current paving work to insure exact performance of specification. Honest, unflinching and fearless inspection is an absolute essential if the city is to get its money's worth from the contractors. The absence of reliable inspection in the past has resulted in the waste of public funds. 2—When a contractor fails to comply with his contract the city must invoke the bonded guarantee. Cooperation between the Public Works and Law Departments is necessary on this point." The Boston Herald in a recent editorial summed up the situation well, as follows: "Why is City Hall in such a rush to spend a million dollars on street paving? It is an example of such obviously bad municipal administration as to arouse a natural curiosity about the occasion for it. We see, then, the hasty expenditure of what is, in times like these, an unusually large sum of money for paving among firms that have been declared delinquent on previous work." Mr. President, by this order I am asking his Honor the Mayor to take immediate steps to stop the awarding of any contract, large or small, to any contractor who is still in default on past contracts—and I recommend he check with the Finance Commission report if he wants more information on this—and to force those contractors who are still in default to make good on their previous contracts. I ask suspension of the rules and passage of this order.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I have a high personal regard for the gentleman from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley). I must state, however, that his remarks reek with inconsistency. I have no question whatsoever but that the councilor from Ward 5 is motivated by the fact that there is a political campaign on. I have reason to doubt that the gentleman would be grossly inconsistent in his present viewpoint in the event the parties to whom he referred had been the low bidders on the street work under discussion, and if in such event the Public Works Commissioner had failed to grant them the contracts. He would be arguing then on the basis of economy rather than, as now, on a purportedly ethical basis. It reeks with inconsistency when he indicts this Body for raising the amount to $3,000,000, in view of the fact he refused to vote for $1,500,000 when such amount was suggested in the message sent in, and we received the requisite number of votes, save one who voted against it. He didn't want $1,500,000, so it was raised to $3,000,000 when there weren't enough votes for $1,500,000. I think it is an indictment against every ward where the ordinary man lives. I think it is a challenge to the progress and welfare of the people of Wards 1 to 22, exclusive of Ward 5, in view of the fact that when George Hyland was before the Executive Committee the councilor said: "Now, what streets are you going to do?" The Public Works Commissioner said, "We will do the main streets." Then he said, "What is there in Ward 5?" And Beacon street and others were listed, and the councilor sits back—

Coun. BAYLEY—I am not yielding.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—And so the councilor said, "Well, Beacon street is going to be done." And Mayo and Shattuck, and whatever the names were live around there. But when the Sullivans and the Murphys, the Coffeys and the O'Briens and the O'Learys—

Coun. BAYLEY—I question the right of the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan) to deliberately misstate the name of the gentleman from Ward 5.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I am not misstating. I have the highest regard for the predecessor in Ward 5, the same as I have for him, but, Mr. President, I am just saying that the people who have millions of "bucks"—if I want to use a pedestrian expression—were going to benefit from a $1,000,000 appropriation, and persons in the ordinary income brackets would be forgotten, so far as improvements to their streets were concerned. And I say that the ordinary man who lives on Appian way, and all those streets, was going to be forgotten. So eighteen members of this Body decided their people were going to be taken care of, and the councilor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) shrugged in holy horror. I asked the councilor to mention one street—I didn't want to embarrass him as far as his own ward was concerned—but he doesn't know, personally, of one street to which the Finance Commission refers. It so happens that a street will crack occasionally, and it may indicate no negligence on the part of the contractor. So if this Body raised it to $3,000,000 to give the ordinary people, the ordinary owner of a one or two family house, a chance to improve their property, they acted in complete accord with the practice of practical economy. The Council here was more than wise in the matter. I give them credit for raising it to $3,000,000, but the councilor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) I give credit to, too, for raising it, because by one vote he could have kept it at $1,500,000, and he didn't, and so he is responsible for the $3,000,000. He was only making sure that Back Bay would be taken care of, and he didn't care if there were any cracks on the streets. No matter. But I say his remarks reek with inconsistency. If these men were low bidders, and didn't get the bid, he would be up here in holy horror, saying that So and So should have the bid. He wouldn't have given a damn for the fact that the rest of the city was forgotten. I want all that I can get for Ward 22. I want every street possible that they can give, or come through with, and it is about time that they should be taken care of, and it is going against the city administration that they were not taken care of. Three years ago only $400,000 was spent, and then, later, only $250,000 was spent, in order to keep the streets in condition. You have to spend one million every year for this. I think it was a progressive action in raising the appropriation to $3,000,000, and I want to congratulate the councilor from Ward 5. He is the one who is responsible for the $3,000,000 instead of the $1,500,000.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I had to sit here with amusement listening to the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan). It is too bad it is a holiday, or he would have a couple beside him doing the same type of screeching that he has done today. I never was given a city job by Mayor Tobin. I was offered one, but I didn't accept it. I never had the Attorney-General set aside a ruling that has been in existence since time immemorial that no member of the Boston City Council could take a city job. The Attorney-General did that for a member of the Boston City Council, and established a precedent by so doing. And, of course, the man that got that city job would be eternally grateful to the Mayor of the City for engineering that job for him. I am glad to see that the Press are throwing their pencils away. It wouldn't do them any good to start screeching, as the Mayor has already made arrangements that Coffey can't get any news in the Boston Press. He has gone so far as to get the Boston Post to keep Coffey from putting ads in. Even though I am paying for those ads, I can't put an ad in the Boston Post, because the Mayor of the City of Boston has given the Boston Post tax abatements. I say it is nothing but a firetrap, and I repeat today that if the Mayor was doing his duty after the Coconut Grove affair, he would condemn—

Coun. SCANNELL—I am asking that the gentleman confine his remarks to the order.

Coun. COFFEY—Getting back on to the Boston Post, I still repeat it is nothing but a firetrap. I have said it before on the floor of the Council, and I am bringing it in now for only one reason. The gentleman from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan) made a political football out of this order, and we might as well keep up the football game. I was one of the four members that voted against it, and only for one reason. I knew it would be a contractor's holiday for them with $3,000,000 to play with. Only a week ago I took the floor of the Council here and I asked that bids be taken on any contract given in the future, and it was only last Monday, in the Executive Chamber, that Auditor Fox told us that approximately $500,000 for contracts is given in complete violation of the City Charter to contractors every year. And what I am getting at by that is, I mean contracts of over $1,000. We know bids have to be taken on that contract, but the way they get around it, they get the Supply Department, the Public Works Department, or whatever department is awarding the contract, to write a letter to the Mayor, like they did in awarding the four pieces of fire apparatus at $42,500. Although bids had been taken, bids were withdrawn, and a few days later the Fire Commissioner wrote a letter to the Mayor requesting bids be given to the American-LaFrance Company, a company doing business with the Mayor since he has been Mayor of Boston, doing business behind closed doors, getting contracts without bids, in violation of our City Charter. So I say that the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan) is all wrong when he brings in that type of argument, saying that the councilor from Ward 5 would have hollered if the low bidder didn't receive the contract. How about the contracts given out in the five years that Mayor Tobin has been Mayor without any bids? I think we have all been up here long enough to know that the contractor usually hands in to the Mayor what he would like to have, and the Mayor can say, "We wouldn't gain anything by having competitive bidding," and gives a little sob stuff. That is the way they have been getting away with it. In the old days, when Curley and Nichols were in, it was common talk there was always 10 or 20 per cent "kick-back." You don't hear anybody saying that now, since Curley and Nichols have left, but still more contracts are awarded under this Mayor than under Curley and Nichols combined—more contracts awarded without bids being taken. Now, the eighteen members that voted for that only voted for it for one reason. They didn't have enough votes for $1,500,000; they knew it. And I am not condemning any one of the eighteen members, because I understand their viewpoint. They wanted the city streets done in their wards. For example, the councilor from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) wanted to know how he was going to benefit by Rutherford avenue being done. I don't think there is a vote on that street. I, too, wanted to know what streets were going to be done in my ward. I didn't want McClellan Highway, where there is not a vote, if I could get Saratoga or Bennington streets. That is only natural. The councilor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) happened to ask what streets were going to be done in his ward. Every other councilor in here, including the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan), wanted to know what streets were to be done in their wards. That is only natural. I said then, and I repeat now, that it is high time, regardless of whether Tobin is running for office or not, that they stop awarding contracts to contractors without competitive bidding. There is only one man here employed in the City of Boston that has had the courage to send in, probably ten or twelve times a year, a report to the Boston City Council that he is interested in a certain contract, and that is the gentleman who happens to be the chairman of the Board of Appeal, and he has been in the contracting business since before I was born, and he has an order in here today, or a message, to the members of the Boston City Council, stating that he is interested in a certain contract. He is the only man in my five years' experience here, and my ten years hanging around in the City Hall previous to being elected City Councilor, that I ever remember sending in a notice he is interested in a contract. There are some in this chamber that should be sending in this kind of notice from week to week and month to month, that they are interested in certain contracts. They should, but they won't. Another thing I don't like is this emergency stuff. We will have something happen in one of the wards in the city, and because of it being an emergency a contractor is called on the telephone and told to go out with his equipment and take care of whatever damage was done because of something that happened in one of the wards of Boston. For example, a main broke just two weeks ago a block from my house. There weren't any bids taken; no number of contractors were called up. There was just Appel & O'Toole, who were told to go over there and repair the damage. I don't know what the amount is; it is over $100,000. But surely they could have called up some competitors of Appel & O'Toole and got an estimate from at least four or five contractors in that type of business. But no, they just called up Appel & O'Toole, saying to go over there and make the repairs and send in the bill. They made the repair in about two days, and I think the bill is for $100,000. I don't know how the city is going to be taxed $100,000 for two days' work. They put in two extra weeks patching up the street. It was just a patch job, but the city will have to come along in the future and do a complete job where Appel & O'Toole did a patch job. There has been a lot of talk in City Hall about the councilors playing around with Appel & O'Toole. That talk is common, not only in these chambers, but throughout City Hall, where our real Council Chambers are. Take your choice—either Purcell's or Thompson's Spa—if you want to know what is going to happen up here. Go in on the Friday before the Monday meeting and you will find out what is going to take place the following Monday. That is where all the contractors hang out. That is where some of the councilors hang out, and you see them there with contractors day in and day out, or playing pool, or up in Purcell's having a drink, or in Thompson's Spa having a meal. But let me tell you, a minority is running this City Council. It is a small minority and they are cute and clever, and they can buy and sell us both in appearance and money. It is about time that we got wise to ourselves and ran this city the way we are supposed to. And, after all, we can run it. Anywhere from eight to twelve of us can run the City of Boston, and we can stop the awarding of these contracts to every Tom, Dick and Harry who happens to be a friend of the Mayor. You only have to go back three years and get a list of the Mayor's expenditures in the last mayoralty fight. Look at the contractors and you will see their names appearing here on this report of the Finance Commission, and see them jumping around with those calls to the Mayor. As I said when that order came before us, it was only more graft for the contractors. I repeat it again today. And I can't help laughing at the gentleman from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan) making the statement about the gentleman from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) that it is politics. Of course it is politics. Does he expect Bayley to be with Tobin? Does he think Bayley is insane? For God Almighty's sake, why shouldn't the man be with Cahill? And I am not with Cahill. How do you like that? But I am anti-Tobin, and I will stay anti-Tobin, and it will be the best thing for everybody in the City of Boston to see Tobin take a good trouncing in his campaign for Governor. And I think by November 8 that Maurice Tobin will be the same fellow that was elected to the School Committee. He has to be taken down a peg. We all get conceited when we are too successful. I had the same shock knock down once or twice. I found I wasn't the big fellow I thought I was. Then I came down to the size of the people, and I have been successful ever since. That is what happened to the fellow downstairs. I admire Bayley for the stand he is taking. I am not sticking up for Bayley; we will probably have a fight next Monday. I will fight him like everybody else if we don't see eye to eye. And for many years I fought 19 to 1 and 20 to 1, against Coffey, and I carried the fight in here, and when I left it was forgotten. What I had to say I said; I didn't go behind anybody's back. I didn't do the rotten tricks that have been done to me,—making me apologize on the floor of the Council here one day for a statement that I made that was true, that a man in this Body had changed his name. And it came out yesterday on the radio that he had changed his name. And I am going to ask him and the past President, Councilor Galvin, and Councilor Chase, and ex-Councilor Gottlieb, to apologize to me for making that statement to this Council that the councilor from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) denied, and now we find out it was true. And the Boston Post carried headlines that Councilor Coffey is obliged to apologize for making a Council attack—not for telling the truth. No, they didn't know about that. They just made me apologize because the fellow was in with the guy downstairs, and they thought that if they knocked me they would get in stronger with the fellow downstairs. They can have him. As I said before, I played him for eight months. I got all I wanted out of him—took care of all the friends I wanted to. I told him to his teeth, in his own office, and members were present when I told him. I just don't see eye to eye with him, and never will, I don't think. Getting back to this order, I said it was the contractors' holiday. The other councilors I didn't mention one word about. You can get the minutes of the meeting. I said nothing about any of the eighteen councilors. I just said, because of the statement that Commissioner Hyland made, that he could only use $1,000,000, it was justification for us to pass a $1,000,000 loan, and no more. Now, according to the councilor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley)—I haven't got the figures,—he stated that over $1,000,000 had been spent, and they are rushing through another $1,000,000. I think it is high time we brought the Public Works Commissioner down. Never mind the Fin. Com. I wouldn't trust them as far as I could throw any of them, and they are all big and soft and fat, so you couldn't throw them very far. Never mind them. I think we ought to bring the Public Works Commissioner down and find out what streets are going to be done, and if they are going to do the main streets let us do as I suggested in the first place. For every main street done in the ward, let us get four side streets done. It would amount to about the same amount of money, and then twice the number of people will be benefited by this money being spent. The report of the Finance Commission has come in, because I asked for it, and as a result they sent down a copy of the investigation made by them, stating certain contractors—and it did name them—had failed to live up to certain obligations, and in their opinion those contractors should not get any new work contracts with the City of Boston. I can go one better, and go back to the ash contract in Mansfield's administration, where, when the White Fund investigation was taking place, the contractor took his books and burned them. As a result, the Fin. Com. said, "You will never get another contract with the City of Boston." Still, that man has had contracts for the last three years with the City of Boston. Giving contracts without bids should be stopped. We can stop it if we have the courage and, as I said, a small minority is running this Council. We should be running the City of Boston. That is what we are elected for, but a couple of pats on the back and a good meal, and most of us forget we are elected officials. Eight votes can control this Body, and I think, without any exaggeration, there are twelve or thirteen that could, if they wanted to, get together and demand that such things as bids—contracts being awarded without bids, contracts being given to contractors who in the past have failed to live up to the work they are supposed to have done,—they could demand that such things be stopped. The sooner we do that the better off we are going to be in the entire city.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, in regard to the remarks of the councilor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley), anybody can pick up a report and read it. Anybody can take facts from the Finance Commission, an investigating body. Anybody can take a report from the bankers of this city and read it out in the Minutes of the Boston City Council. But what does the councilor from Ward 5 know about the poorer sections of this city? There are nineteen members of this City Council who have the poor of the city at heart, and who have the poor sections of the city at heart. It is easy to stand here and quote the Boston Municipal Research Bureau—who are they? They are nothing but the First National Bank, which is trying to run the finances of this city. I say, let us stop this junk. I ask that this order be referred to the Public Safety Committee. Let us bring in the committee that is making out these reports and have them tell us where they get their facts. As a matter of fact, you will find a representative of one of the great banks of this city representing the president of the Municipal Research Bureau.

Coun. HANLEY—Will you please have the clerk read the order, Mr. President?

The order was read by the clerk.
Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, I have heard many arguments here today. After listening to the order read, I am unable to understand it. I am in full accord always with my illustrious colleague from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey). Since entering public life I cherish my friendship with him, both as a public official and as a private citizen. There are times we don't see eye to eye in certain things but we are built, physically and mentally, with enough courage to express it. In the particular order of the councilor from Ward 5, he is merely reiterating the voice of the Finance Commission, the Finance Commission that is appointed by his Excellency the Governor. Their tenure of office depends on the Governor, and they receive their remuneration totaling $50,000, appropriated by the Boston City Council because of statute limitations. They are being housed over there in a building, paying approximately $5,000 for rent and light, whereas they could be housed in the City Hall Annex for zero. The Boston Finance Commission has been lethargic and indifferent to the tax abatement racket that has permeated the corporate limits of Boston and has now brought it to the brink of financial chaos, according to the words of his Excellency Governor Saltonstall. Now, if Maurice Tobin intends to aspire for the governorship of our state, immediately he must become the target of their stinging and lacerating pens. I have said on many occasions that I have no love whatsoever for his Honor the Mayor, but I don't intend to sit idly by and allow the Finance Commission to level their guns at him and to circumvent this chamber, instead of getting at the cancerous growth that is ruining the City of Boston, and that is the tax abatement racket. It is not so much from the local Board of Assessors, but rather from the Tax Appeals Board, which was formed in 1930, and at the present time, because of the various appeals, they cannot keep their dockets clear. Now, the Boston Finance Commission, I believe, two years ago indicted the various contractors engaged in the paying of various streets of Boston, and I utilized their report over a local radio station in promulgating my candidacy for re-election to the City Council. This is election year, and I don't criticize the distinguished and erudite member from Ward 5 for standing up and, with a scorching voice, denouncing anyone who is jeopardizing the financing stability of our city. But I don't intend to sit idly by again and allow him to use the Finance Commission that has been derelict in their duty to the citizens of Boston. I believe I was the one that sponsored the $3,000,000 order. I am open to correction, according to the minutes of that day. And I asked that $1,500,000 be increased to $3,000,000, because I wanted the city streets and residential streets of my district to be taken care of, and I said that I thought it was the state's liability and responsibility, at that time, to take care of the main arteries. And Commissioner Hyland utilized that quotation two months later. The residential streets of Boston are in need of repair. The only way they can be repaired is by money. The only way they can obtain a contract is by awarding it to the lowest bidder, providing he can get the supplies and the men, and the men in the labor unions. I increased the $1,500,000 to $3,000,000, and I asked you members of the Boston City Council to concur with me on the additional $1,500,000, because I knew that your and my districts were depleted as far as residential streets were concerned. And eighteen members of the City Council went on record. Four did not concur with me, although I respect their judgment at all times, and I consider it a great privilege to be acquainted with them in public life. But the $1,500,000 additional was to be used specifically for city and residential streets wherein the money procured covers the Boston City Council and the entire personnel of the city. I could go on and utilize this as a political football, but I don't intend to incur the wrath of any one member or group of members. But I don't believe that the Boston Finance Commission has made these reports in good faith to the people of Boston. I believe that they are to be utilized as hatchet men in order to protect their own individual interests and to defeat the man on the second floor from becoming Governor of our great Commonwealth.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I have been listening to a lot of propaganda in the last few weeks relative to the source of contracts in Boston. It might be a case of the pot calling the kettle black. I have listened to the case of the Municipal Research Bureau, composed purely of Republicans, and if they are ever right in anything it will be the first time. They have had no constructive report since Mr. Loeffler left the Municipal Research Bureau. They have been guilty of plagiarism, and they do nothing constructive over there, and do nothing but copy reports made by my good friend, Bob Cuniff, the able secretary of the Finance Commission, and then send them out under their own name. The Municipal Research Bureau came into being six years ago, and recommended on behalf of the city that we reduce salaries of city employees 15 per cent. At that time the city was on the brink of financial disaster. I have on occasion been in conflict with my good friend from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey) and when he indicts the Boston Post I naturally do not have to do the same. He argues that a tax abatement was given to the Boston Post and alleges it is a fire trap. If that is so, they are entitled to an abatement. It has one of the finest fire sprinkler systems in the City of Boston, and comes directly under the Department of Public Safety. So I say, as Councilor Hanley has well brought out, this is merely a political move instituted by parties for the defeat of the next Governor of the Commonwealth,—parties who for seven years raised their voices at the excellent type of administration that he was giving, and then for seven months when they thought he might be a candidate for Governor, started yelling. It is a case of the pot calling the kettle black. The Republican administration is still holding their noses at the case of Public Works Commissioner Beal.

Coun. CAREY—We are engaged here this afternoon in discussion of a matter that has merit on both sides. And I take the floor and enter the discussion, briefly to defend my vote for the $3,000,000 loan order authorized by the City Council. There is no doubt some merit, and considerable merit, as a matter of fact, to the order of the councilor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley). I don't personally feel that the contractor who was awarded a contract and has not fully and capably filled it should be considered for further business until he has carried out the terms of that contract. I know if there are any streets done in my section as the result of the $3,000,000 loan order I want to see that work done, but I can't sit down and listen to the introduction of an order that has been sponsored and has been the thought of an organization or a group known as the Boston Finance Commission. I have no desire to enter into the political aspects of the controversy whatsoever, but I again want to recall to the minds of the members of this Body that this same Finance Commission which has criticized these contracts is the same body that had the nerve to place a request before the City Council, through the Mayor's office, a few months ago for an appropriation by this Body of $75,000 to conduct a survey of the Boston school system. And I repeat today what I said a few weeks ago, because I want to fix in the minds of the members of this Council that the sole interest that the Boston Finance Commission had in making a survey of the Boston school system at an expense of $75,000 to the taxpayers of the city was a 100 per cent personal interest, and only because members of the Finance Commission wanted to bring into Boston, and take out of the taxpayers of the City of Boston some $75,000 as a pay-off to them, friends of members of the Finance Commission. It was disclosed after the City Council voted for that $75,000—and I was one who opposed the $75,000 appropriation—that those who are making the survey of the school system are personal friends of members, or at least of those who were members, of the Finance Commission at the time the order was placed before the City Council. It was nothing but a case of giving work, giving contracts, to the friends of those members of the Boston Finance Commission that brought about a survey at an expense of $75,000 to the taxpayers of the Boston school system. I don't know why anyone with common sense pays too much attention to criticisms or recommendations of the Boston Finance Commission. It isn't the only organization within the confines of the city that likewise is critical of public expenditures within the City of Boston when they are going to be of benefit to the taxpayers of the city. As I said in opening, there is merit on both sides of the question, and if the matter is brought to vote here today I will change and cast my vote according to the merit of the order. But I want to inform my colleagues here that any vote I will cast will not have been governed because of any criticism leveled by the members of the Boston Finance Commission.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, it happens that you are the only person in this chamber who can make authentic the few remarks I am going to make. I ask you to recall the private dinner that we attended early this year for a newly appointed department head. I think I referred to it before. There were eighteen or nineteen present in the Algonquin Club, and you and I were invited as personal friends of the host, and I believe that you and I were the only ones there who probably didn't have our carfare home. We didn't move in the same circles with the bulk of those in attendance. They were all out of the "Blue Book." I am still a little amazed as to how we ever got in there without police escort. However, one of the diners that evening was a member of the Finance Commission, a multimillionaire banker from State street, and the guest of the evening was the newly appointed Corporation Counsel, Frank Murray. The host of the evening, a personal friend, had taken that manner of showing his appreciation of Mr. Murray, and among those invited was the Mayor of Boston. And during the course of the evening everybody but you, Mr. President, and myself was called upon to say a few words about the good judgment and good faith of the Mayor of Boston. And the man who outdid them all in applauding the judgment and wisdom of the Mayor was the multimillionaire banker. Do you recall? And now I see his name on a report that seems to deprecate the good intention of the city in getting value for moneys paid out. While I didn't listen too closely for the first hour and a half of Councilor Bayley's dissertation, I did gather that the construction work done in 1941 seems to be the bone of contention. I am not as familiar with the procedure as I would like to be, because I hold myself to be a direct personal errand boy for the people of Charlestown, in that I perform, as often as possible, personal services for them, and am not interested so much in how we acquire or receive a high tax rate or how the contractors function. Of course, I know, having been in this chamber for thirty-three months,—I know people outside of low and high degree,—I know people that have been released from the State Penitentiary, and I know persons who only last week have said their seminary masses—so there is nothing wrong in knowing a contractor. What I am primarily trying to say here is in the nature of a question. If there was anything wrong with the work done in 1941, why have they waited three years to make a complaint? I am serious in asking that question, and I would very much appreciate an answer. I have heard the year 1941 used a number of times. If Mayor Tobin was wrong in 1941, he should then have been proceeded against. If the contractors were derelict in 1941 they should from that point on have been denied all opportunity for future city business. But in 1944, because, as a free man, Mayor Tobin sees fit to offer himself to free people in a free election for the governorship of this Commonwealth, these reports spring up overnight with not one kind word in 2,500 of them. It is quite possible to be friendly with a man without being a satrap of his or without being a valet, either personal or political. In common fairness, they should not wait until 1944 to find fault with something done in 1941, if it was bad enough in 1941 to take up reams of paper three years and some months later. And, once again, let me reiterate my seriousness, that I certainly would like an answer to that question. There may have been other years mentioned,—and I must confess I wasn't paying much attention after the first few minutes,—but I heard 1941 referred to several times. And I ask Councilor Bayley, if he is the proper authority, to let me know what object the Finance Commission intended to accomplish in waiting for a general election year to use such a report as an instrument of political defeat.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, I have information here that the Finance Commission has been complaining for two years, continually, about the condition of the streets complained of in 1941. They have presented reports in 1942 and 1943, complaining that the contractors have not fulfilled their contracts and were in default on them. I might say, in contrast to the councilor from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella), that I consider it an honor to listen to every word that is said here. You will not hear me saying that I have only listened to part of what is said, because I consider it my duty and privilege and honor to learn from you, because if you haven't something worth while to say in this chamber you should not rise to speak. When the councilor from Ward 2 talks I listen attentively from beginning to end, so I am learning what is to be learned. I am very sorry that this matter has developed into a political discussion. The only point I can see in the purpose behind it is whether the contractors who are in default, who have not fulfilled their contracts in 1941 and 1942, are to be awarded contracts in 1944, unless we are to be sure that there will be frank and open inspections of all they have done so they will not be in default again. If they are in default, I say they should not be given contracts in 1944. We must be sure the money is being spent honestly and fairly, and I think, in fairness to the taxpayers, it is time we stood up and said that those who did not fulfill their contracts should not be given contracts, but those who have fulfilled their contracts in 1941 should be given contracts now so that sufficient work will be done. That is the only question before the Council.

Coun. HANNON—Will the clerk read the order, please?

The order was read by the clerk.

Coun. HANNON—Well, Mr. President, I, of course, am a Democrat, but I think, Mr. President, that I am in accord with the order. I believe that our first duty up here is to serve the people who sent us here, and I think part of the service that we render to those people is to see to it that the money of the city is spent judiciously and spent fairly and spent wisely. Now I don't care anything for the Finance Commission. I don't care anything for the Research Bureau. But if there are contracts in the city that are not lived up to, I think there is a duty that devolves upon the Mayor and devolves upon every member of this Council to see that these contractors do perform their duty. I don't think that the inspectors of the city are at fault. I have worked with inspectors, and I have worked in road construction, and there are specifications there that are generally lived up to. As far as I know, if it says 4 or 6 inches of concrete is to be laid as a base, you can depend upon it that the inspectors employed by the City of Boston will see to it that the 4 to 6 inches of concrete is placed there. However, this report—and I say here that I don't care where the report comes from—this report says that seven conditions of the contract have not been lived up to. Now, if a property owner in my district—and I dare say in anybody's district—called up and said there was a hole in a sidewalk or a hole in a street outside of his or her house, I think the Council would call up and ask that that condition be remedied. That is all that this report means to me. Somebody has called to my attention that there are certain holes in the roadway, certain cracks in the sidewalk, and they tell me that the conditions of that contract call for the maintenance of that roadway and of that sidewalk for five years. I know this, that if a new street is constructed, or a new roadway or new sidewalk is built, and if you are unfortunate enough to have trouble with your drain pipe or with the water pipe, if you are unfortunate enough to have a hole in that roadway or sidewalk, you can't touch that street so long as that five-year guaranty is on there. You have to go to the contractor and you have to pay him a sweet price merely for the privilege of protecting your property by opening up the sidewalk or the street. Now, these contractors get pretty good money; they get well paid, and most of them are honorable workmen. Most of them do their work well, but the same thing has happened in the contracting field as has happened in many other fields. In the last few years they have risen up. So many that were only laborers only a year or two ago are now contractors. And I dare say many of them who are bidding for work have neither the equipment nor the men with which to carry through that work to completion. However, I am not carried away by the fact that this report states that these conditions exist. On behalf of the contractor we must remember that this contractor, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, is a man with a large pay roll. His business is not a stable one. It varies; it fluctuates. Sometimes he is busy and can employ 100 or 200 men. At other times he has nothing to do and is forced to lay off the men. You can't expect a man to rush right out into the street and hire men and repair a crack that has appeared in the sidewalk. You can't expect him to do that week in and week out. You can't do it; it is unreasonable, and such a position as that would be untenable. But we do expect this, that a man will, before the expiration of his five-year maintenance period, see to it that that street is in good condition. I know that any work done in my district I would want done right. I would want it done well, and if the people in my district who are sending me here are going to have streets built with a five-year guaranty on them, I want that guaranty lived up to. The contractors are getting well paid, and the people of my district expect them to do their work well and do it properly. However, this order here says that no more contracts should be given to men who have not lived up to their previous contracts. Here, I believe, is the crux of the whole situation. The Commissioner of Public Works, I feel, is one of the most honest and one of the most competent public officials that we have. He and I differ. We have our arguments and our debates, but I think he is on the job and I think he knows his job. This order here says that no more contracts shall be given. I wonder if the man who framed this order knows whether or not any contract has been given to any who have not carried out the specifications of their previous contracts. If this information is not available, then I believe this order should be referred to the Executive Committee, and let us ask the Commissioner of Public Works what remedies are being taken to abate the conditions reported in this record from the Finance Commission. Let us ask him what measures have been taken to see to it that these contractors live up to their contracts. I feel if we disregard an order like this, we are practically giving the go-ahead sign to a contractor to go ahead and do what he pleases. I am going to vote for the order, provided that it is amended that no contract be given—or provided we give the Commissioner of Public Works the opportunity to come over here and tell us whether or not these contractors are living up to the conditions of their contract. I am voting for it because I honestly and sincerely believe in the old adage of a fair day's pay for a fair day's work, and likewise a fair day's work for a fair day's pay. These contractors get good money for work they do for the city. If they are going to guarantee it for five years, let us see, through some power in the city, that this contract is lived up to.

Coun. CHASE—I think the order introduced by the gentleman from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) is a very simple order to understand. He is merely requesting that no contracts be awarded to any contractor who is already under default for work agreed to be done in a former contract. Frankly, I think it is a very good order. I see no other alternative but for me to vote in favor of the order. I can't conceive spending the taxpayers' money with contractors who are not performing their duties in accordance with their agreements with the city. I think it behooves us to endeavor to see that if such conditions do exist they be straightened out. I don't think the gentleman from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) had anything else in mind but to correct this situation. It was called to his attention through the medium of the Boston Finance Commission's report. I don't know of anything that would justify one to believe that he has introduced this order because of partisan politics. He was one of the four who originally voted against the appropriation of $3,000,000 because he felt that the work was not being performed and would not be performed now. I don't intend to engage in any bitter debate, because it is unnecessary. The fact is that this order is a very simple order. There is nothing in it to disturb any member of this Body. It is merely a request to his Honor the Mayor to ask the Public Works Commissioner to make sure that no contractor who has defaulted in prior contracts is given any more contracts, and it is within the realm of common sense that we pass this order. As a matter of fact, I see no other alternative. To do otherwise would imply that we are in favor of granting contractors who have defaulted further business, and I am sure, Mr. President, that no member of the Council is in favor of giving any man business who has already proven himself incapable of performing in accordance with his agreement. I trust that this Honorable Body will adopt the order.

Coun. SCANNELL—In regard to the remarks of my distinguished colleague from Ward 4 (Coun. Chase), it is all right to present an order in this chamber, to talk about one thing, or to go into various other discussions, but we should, when an order is presented, talk on the order and not bring in a report of the bankers of this city, who don't want to spend a nickel for the construction of streets in the city, as the councilor from Ward 5 did. Now, I am going to ask that this order be sent to the Executive Committee, and that the Public Works Commissioner be called upon to discuss this order.

Coun. COFFEY—You didn't think I was going to sit down, did you? I got a kick out of this as it went along. I knew this would be a lengthy debate, and I wanted it so. I like to have us get into debate. I hope that we sit long enough to get a meal out of the city. They can spend money for some movie celebrity, and I guess they can spend $6 or $7 for sandwiches. Coming down to the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. Sullivan) regarding the Boston Post, that is only a matter of opinion. I stick to my story. As I have said several times, it is a fire trap. Their pressroom is three or four floors below the ground floor. They have no back or side fire escape. In fact, they have no back or side windows in the building. So I don't see how you can help calling that a fire trap. On top of that, I don't see why he brings the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor into the picture. You would think that they were building inspectors. I don't think they were prosecuted in the Coconut Grove case, although there were some prosecuted, and I was glad to see them given a clean bill of health. After certain statements made by one, I don't see how they could help it. Sometimes a fellow working for the city hasn't a word to say. He is told to shut up. We have had to shut them up ourselves on certain occasions. Sometimes they try to do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. We have done that. That is what we are up here for, to help constituents. I might add to that that if the Governor or the Lieutenant-Governor are going to inspect all buildings to see whether they are fire traps that they do away with our inspectors. There is no need for them. But I couldn't help but get a kick out of the statement that the gentleman from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) made when he said that you and he attended a banquet given to the present Corporation Counsel, and you two were probably the only two over there that didn't have your carfare home; that everybody else was a banker or a blue blood; Is Tobin trying to get away from the bankers and blue bloods at this late date? At that banquet it was admitted that it was loaded with bankers and blue bloods. I wasn't invited, and the fellow elected Corporation Counsel, is a "yes" man from Boston, Frank Murray. And if the bankers and blue bloods go for that, and one was a multi-millionaire, then why is it that the Mayor is trying to get away from the First National Bank at this late date, or is it a fact that the First National Bank is trying to get away from the Mayor at this late date? To me it does not matter which. It is the fact that we know what has been going on in the city for years. We should know. If things have changed now in the past few months then it is no fault of ours. The gentleman from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) is a free speaker, the same as myself. He made the statement about the gentleman downstairs running for Governor in a free election in a free nation. I wish to contradict him on that. I fought in the last war thinking that. I have got a kid fighting in this war, and I suppose he had the same thoughts that I had in 1917, 1918 and 1919—that it is a free nation and we hold free elections. If that is so, why doesn't the Boston Post take my paid advertisements? They have taken twenty-nine of them. Now they have decided they are not going to take any more. They have taken my money for twenty-nine times, and now they have stopped me. The argument that the advertising manager, Mr. Richards, gave me was that I am not a candidate. I said, "I am a candidate. I am running for Governor. Take my ad to that effect. Nobody can stop me from running for office." We have a councilor here whose brother was forced in several counties, cities and towns in this Commonwealth to have stickers sent out. What is to stop me from running for Governor of this Commonwealth on stickers, or from asking people to read my ad in the Boston Post, to write my name and address in, that I am a candidate for Governor? But he wouldn't take my ad, even if I said I was a candidate. I said, "Here is the money. I want my ad put in." And I say that behind it all is the fact that Mayor Tobin has given his consent to tax abatements on their properties. That is what is behind it all, that and the fact that the bankers have run the city for the past years. The Good-Goo's are in, the Good Government, and they have made the statement that if Curley did run for Mayor next year they would have him prosecuted in his case in Washington. We know what the bankers are. We have had several for seven years. We have had them previously. I can remember back when I was only a kid. We know our elections are all wrong. We know the two top men should be first to aspire for office, and you would never get a Republican elected as Mayor of the City of Boston if you followed that. We know there should be a nomination and an election in the City of Boston, in city elections, the same as state elections. And we know how far they went when they controlled the Legislature and passed a bill allowing the Mayor to succeed himself, after previously passing a bill in a previous Legislature so that Mayor Curley could not succeed himself, that the Mayor of Boston could only hold office for four years, and then would have to retire for a four-year period; and then if he saw fit, to run for re-election. Not so with the fellow downstairs. He was allowed to run for re-election because, as I claim, of the bankers and Beacon Hill. Now, if it is coming to where the bankers are not with me, all well and good. The same as the C. I. O. Sidney Hillman, indorsement before nomination was all right, but he would like to get away from that now, and he can't. One gentleman here said that this might be used as an indorsement of defeat for the fellow downstairs. I don't see how this is going to be used as an indorsement of defeat. There is nothing in the papers about it. It is in the city minutes, and then, at most, in the City Record, but who is going to see it? The only ones, I guarantee, that will see it will be the ones in my ward where I have a copy made and sent to them. They will probably be the only ones in Boston that see what took place here today. And, of course, those who read the City Record may see it. We know we only get 600 copies of the minutes of the meeting. I have asked for 1,000, but we can't get them. There is a shortage of paper, but there is no shortage of posters to "Come along and see Mayor Tobin in the 'Gay Nineties.' As Councillor Chase brought out, and Councillor Hannon well brought out, it is a good order. Regardless of the political atmosphere it has caused here today, it is still a good order. I want to tell the gentleman from Ward 13, Tom Hannon, that the report that came over from the Fin. Com. stated that these contractors whom they named as doing work in the years 1941, 1942 and 1943, and who have failed to live up to their contracts, their contracts with the city, after accepting payment in full for work done, these contractors are again given contracts—in fact, have done some streets already this year. That is a matter of record that came down from the Fin. Com. And, of course, you people know what I think of the Fin. Com., and what I have thought of it for the past five years. It is a body that should be disposed of. There shouldn't be any Fin. Com. All we need here is a corrective measure, to watch over the finances of the city, power given us by the Legislature to overrule the Mayor's veto. That is what we need here in the City Council. When we have got that you can eventually dispose of the Finance Commission; we won't need them. Their money has been wasted year in and year out on fake reports, just to keep themselves in the news so they can come up here every year and get that $50,000 that nearly everybody here agrees is waste. They wasted thousands on the Elevated investigation. They wasted $75,000 on the investigation of the School Committee. And if you gentlemen knew what I know, told me by one of the members here, you wouldn't have voted for it. One of the members admitted it was his baby, he engineered it; it was his brain child, and his engineers were going to get money for the investigation, and not one of those came from the City of Boston. They had $75,000 to play with. I want to go with this order, and I think when we bring Commissioner Hyland down he will admit that these contractors the Finance Commission has condemned have done work this year.

Coun. RUSSO—Mr. President, after listening to the pro and con on this matter here, I can't help but express myself in so far as my vote was concerned on the $3,000,000, and I am not sorry for it, because I believe it was the intention of the Council that voted for that order, as it was mine, to increase to $3,000,000 to see that some of the streets in the various wards that needed repairing were taken care of. I am not only glad I voted for the $3,000,000 to see that the streets of our city are improved, but I would be very glad at any time to vote even ten times as much as that if we could improve the City of Boston so far as the homes are concerned. I have been fighting for five years trying to get the Federal Government interested in my section, to give us a housing project. And if there is any section of the City of Boston that needs it, it is out in the three sections of my district. And still they haven't received any money from the Federal Government in order to improve their homes and make them suitable to live in. We see, day in and day out, people who are leaving the City of Boston and going to live in the suburbs of the city. And we find that properties are being left for taxes. How are we going to carry on unless we do something to improve the streets and our homes? So I, for one, can only say this to the commissioner, that I hope he takes care of some of my streets in my section that need fixing. I am sorry to say that this particular order has been used as a political football. I, for one, am in accord with the others who have preceded me, that I don't believe that it was the intent of the councillor from Ward 5 (Coun. Bayley) to bring this order before us to be used as a political football, and it seems that every time some one of us at one time or another presents an order in good faith, some one is trying to impugn the motive of that particular councillor. Is it because there is a political campaign going on? Do we forget the past? To my knowledge, in the five years I have been in this Council we have presented orders week in and week out. We have had the pro and con, and I don't see any reason why anyone should be alarmed at a simple order which merely states the facts. And if they are true, then I am in full accord. I don't want to see any contractor receive any contract, or any additional contract, if he has not fulfilled the previous one. I owe no contractor anything; neither does any contractor owe me anything. But if that is true, Mr. President, I believe it is the duty of the Council to bring it before the proper authorities, which are the Mayor and the Public Works Commissioner,—that if any contract has been given out, the contractors who have not fulfilled their agreements are not entitled to receive any other contracts. So I see no harm in so far as this order is concerned. I am in full accord with this order, and if it is referred to the Executive Committee, let it be referred to the Executive Committee, and have the Public Works Commissioner come there and explain to us that whole matter. If there is any contractor who has received any additional contract that didn't fulfill the last one, then I say that something should be done.

Coun. BAYLEY—I wish to commend the previous speaker on his excellent presentation of the matter. I wish to say, in my opening statement, I did not mean to impugn in any way members of the Council who voted for the $3,000,000. I can well understand their position, and I might say when the time comes and materials are available I shall be glad to vote money so that the streets of Boston can be put in shape. But I did feel, during the course of this year, that only $1,000,000 could be spent, owing to conditions as they are now, taking the word of the excellent Commissioner of Public Works, George Hyland. I am fully in accord with referring it to the Executive Committee and to have a full and complete investigation on its merits, and not make it a political football.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAY AREA, MAVERICK AND FRANKFORT STREETS.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to have the vacant lot at the corner of Maverick and Frankfort streets, East Boston (about No. 197 Maverick street), now in the care and custody of the Commissioner of Foreclosed Real Estate, transferred to the Park Department to be developed by said department into a play area for the children of that district.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, on this order I ask that the Mayor of Boston take steps to transfer this piece of property not by the Real Estate Division of the City of Boston, but transfer it to the Park Department, so that a playground may be made for the children of that area. I might state that if the Mayor does not see fit to do this, he can ask the George White Fund to come in and spend a sum of money to fix this lot up. It is quite a large lot and it could be made into a play area. Or, he might go further and ask the Hayden Foundation if they wouldn't step in and make a play area for the girls and boys of this section. This section is one of the most congested, I might say, in the entire United States. We have a draft board that takes in this area, and that is the biggest draft board, by far, in the United States, and more young men and women have gone into the service from this particular district than from any other section throughout the country. I ask that the Mayor, and I ask it in all good faith, will not take this order and lay it aside or throw it in the waste basket. I ask him, in all sincerity, and not for political reasons, to give us a play area in this section. The last census that was taken in 1940, the fellow that took that census, or the fellow that was in charge of the work of taking the census, told me that there were more children in this district than in any other section of the entire City of Boston. So, I think it would be to the benefit of the Mayor and those in the Real Estate Division or the Park Division or, as I said, if the Mayor sees fit to have the George Robert White Fund appropriate some money to make it a play area, or have the Hayden Foundation take over and make a play area. But I do ask it in all sincerity. We have done our part, and I am reasonably certain now it remains for the Mayor to do his part. I ask for suspension of the rule and passage of the order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

EAST BOSTON RELIEF STATION.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the trustees of the Boston City Hospital be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to reopen the East Boston Relief Station on a twenty-four-hour-a-day basis.

Coun. COFFEY—There is no need of going into this. I introduce about twenty of these every year, for the opening of the relief hospital twenty-four hours a day. But I do want to get this in. I think the Mayor was very remiss when, during the hurricane, he ordered all the White Fund buildings to remain open in the emergency, and he didn't have the foresight to see that the East Boston Relief Station remain open that night.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

ROOM FOR ORIENT HEIGHTS POST.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the School Committee be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to provide room in the Blackinton School, East Boston, for the use of the Orient Heights Post, American Legion.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT FOR OVERTIME WORK.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct all his department heads to make provisions for the payment of all city employees for overtime work.

Coun. COFFEY—I am probably not the first one to introduce this order here, and I probably won't be the last, but I think that overtime pay should be available to city employees. I have had one city employee tell me that he had worked for two years a period of ten hours a day for two solid years. That man had so much time off coming to him that he had lost all track of it. It is impossible, we know, to give that man the time off that is due him. That is only one case. We know that there are hundreds of other cases where city employees are called on,—in the sewer department, the sanitary department, the street department, and others,—where these men are called on to work extra hours in the event of an emergency, in the event of a shortage of help which we have had in the past three years. I ask the Mayor in all sincerity, and leaving politics out, that he do something about paying these men at time and a half for their overtime. They are deserving of it. Mayor Nichols paid it for four long years while he was Mayor of the City of Boston. I heard Commissioner Lupien tell the Mayor over the radio speaker system on the second floor, in the presence of another councillor, that if he couldn't get the help, to let his men work overtime, and he would agree they should be paid overtime for work performed. Now, it is up to the Mayor and nobody else. These men are working ten, eleven and twelve hours a day. The other night city employees were called over and had to work all night to find a leak on my street, and then had to work all the next day. They are just getting a regular day's pay, and are supposed to get time off in the future for work performed. We know that it is practically impossible to give them extra time. The tunnel guards have the same thing. If the other man doesn't show up, two men go in and split up his shift. They are supposed to get time off, but because of the shortage they can't get the time off. I ask that the Mayor make arrangements with all department heads in the future that every city employee that works overtime shall be paid extra time.

Coun. KINSELLA—I think that is a very good order, because I have come in close contact with the results of running up accumulated time. I had a bridge tender in Charlestown who died a few months ago, and after he died his sister came to me and said he had put in fifteen days' overtime, for which the family would appreciate very much his per day rate. I came in and saw the City Auditor and was informed that when a man accumulated overtime and he died, never having been given time off, the time dies with him. As a result I filed the order which caused Councillor Coffey to say that it must have been filed before, asking that the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel and the City Auditor find some means by which the city would liquidate its obligations to its own employees. I think when the city fails to do this—and I would say this under any circumstances, no matter who the Mayor—I think it is an indication of "welfare" on the part of the city. I don't believe that a man who has put time in should be put in a position where he cannot be paid his time for it. I think it is a very good order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

TEMPORARY ALLOTMENT TO NON-PERMANENT CITY EMPLOYEES.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor take cognizance of the order dated July 24, 1944, relative to the granting of the temporary allotment to non-permanent city employees.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REPAIR OF STAIRWAY AT OLMSTEAD STREET AND PARK LANE.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Public Works Commissioner to repair loose steps and iron railing on public stairway connecting Olmstead street to Park lane, Ward 11.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALKS ON FOREST HILLS STREET.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Public Works Commissioner to install tarvia sidewalks on both sides of Forest Hills street, from Montebello road to Olmstead street, Ward 11.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

FORMATION OF POLICE ARBITRATION COMMITTEE.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor take initial steps in instituting constructive plans for the formation of a Police Arbitration Committee, composed of personnel duly elected by their own members, for the purpose of collaborating with his Excellency the Governor, his Honor the Mayor and the Police Commissioner in discussing an equitable living wage, hours of labor and conditions of labor.
Coun. HANLEY Mr. President, this past week, according to newspaper accounts, correspondence has been transmitted to the Police Commissioner from Mr. Ward, asking, in substance, that the men attached to the Police Department have the right to join a union. Answering that communication Police Commissioner Sullivan utilized the correspondence of Commissioner Curtis, I believe, and Commissioner O'Meara, and that was written about twenty-five years ago. During that time many changes have come in, in the substance of labor. We have had a Labor Relations Act passed by Congress and upheld by the United States Constitution in the interpretation of the Supreme Court. It is man's inalienable right to work, and it is man's inalienable right to obtain a just and living wage. Whether he is in private employment or in public employment, that right does not change. They always bring up the bugaboo of the police strike of 1919, and I believe that if the commissioner at that time, Curtis by name, had sat down with the representatives of the Police Department, that that smirch of the strike would never have come across the annals of Boston's history. And it was because he was arrogant and supercilious that he would not sit down with the common men, known as the Police Department. And today we have dissension, whether we like to admit it or not, in the Police Department of Boston, and there is only one way for them to procure those things which they are entitled to, and that is by an arbitration committee. They can shelve it and they can pigeonhole it, but sometime, somewhere, that cancerous growth will force the Police Department into another strike. Whether they are union or non-union the principle involved is this: They are not receiving an equitable or just wage. They are not allowed to accept another job, even if there is a manpower shortage. They are not paid sometimes, or most of the time, for extra work, and yet their lives are in danger every minute and every hour, whether they are in uniform or out of uniform. Now, Commissioner Sullivan was appointed by his Excellency the Governor and, as such, he has certain prerogatives according to the statutes of our great Commonwealth. It is not only his right, but it is his duty, to eradicate or mitigate any abuses that may jeopardize the welfare of our people, and the greatest protection for the welfare of our people today is the Boston Police Department. He cannot answer the principle by resurrecting any correspondence of Commissioner O'Meara or Commissioner Curtis, or any other person. He must sit down with the facts, and the facts are glaring in our face. The Boston Police Department is underpaid and it is his duty, in collaboration with his Honor the Mayor and his Excellency the Governor, and the Governor's committee, or an arbitration committee, appointed or elected by the personnel of the Boston Police Department, to mitigate these abuses. Now is the time, not when this war is over, when thievery and treachery and all those things which go with post-war times will be rampant. I remember the police strike of 1919. I was only a boy, but I know that two or three men were killed in my ward by the so-called "mudguards," or the State Guard, if you may use the vernacular. The Boston Police Department should obtain a just and living wage. Whether they have a right to join a union outside their corporate limits—that may be true, but they have a right to join an organization of their own making and bring to fruition those things that they are entitled to. I ask suspension of the rule and passage of the order.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I want to congratulate the gentleman for introducing this order. We might take as an example the great city of New York, and if I am mistaken I hope somebody will correct me. They tell me that their police officers receive $60 a week, and if a police officer takes an apple that doesn't belong to him he is fired. He pays for everything he gets. And that is what the Police Department wants. They want a living salary, and they won't take anything but what they pay for. I have talked to several policemen in the past few months, and I have been informed by them that their average week's pay is $36; that is what they take home. Some of them have children working—not many, but some—that receive a salary of $80 a week, even though the child may be only eighteen or nineteen or twenty years of age,—working in the shipyards. They receive twice the salary that their father receives. One officer told me it was kind of hard keeping his boy under control, he being a defender of law and order in uniform and knowing the salary his boy received was twice the salary that he received. I know that since the beginning of the war hundreds of policemen have retired and have taken half-pay pensions. They were glad to get out because they couldn't live on the salary that the department was paying them. Hundreds are going out before the first of January, 1945. I know at least a dozen who will retire in my town whose twenty years will be out before the first of January, and they can't get out fast enough. Even some that could get a three-quarter pension are glad to take a half-pension and get out and get another job. But I say, for one, if the Police Commissioner will not allow the Boston Police Department to form a union, it is his duty to see that they get a decent living wage, and I mean by that that after the withholding tax and the other taxes are taken out, all those things taken out of their income, they should at least be given $50 a week. As I said in my opening remarks, if they take an apple and don't pay for it, fire them. And the officers themselves have agreed with me that that is what they want. They want to hold their heads up. They don't want to have to go after anything from anybody. They want a decent living salary. The police want to be on the job and do a good day's work, but they are just like you and I,—if we are getting $30 a week and think that we are entitled to more, we will do less work. If we get $50 a week we will spruce up and do a real job. That goes for any department in the entire city. Give them a decent living wage, and they will do a decent day's work. As Councilor Hanley has well brought out, we need the Police Department, and we are going to need it more and more as time goes on. And you will have less delinquency as soon as you give police officers a decent week's pay and as soon as they can walk the streets and hold their heads up and say "no" to anybody, no matter what they want.

Coun. CAREY—I, too, want to congratulate the councilor from Ward 11 (Coun. Hanley) for introducing his order, but I am one of those sick and tired of hearing orders introduced here of great merit, only to feel—and see, apparently—that they find a place in the waste basket. I have introduced orders asking that the Police Department be given more pay and that the firemen be given more pay. Other councilors—Councilor Hannon is one that I recall—and other members of the Council have asked that this thing be done, but nothing is being done about it. Shortly after Police Commissioner Sullivan took office I visited his office and talked with him regarding the matter of more pay for the Police Department. I know that he feels the Boston Police Department are underpaid. Of course, they are underpaid, but when is something going to be done about it? Now, it is all well and good for Councilor Hanley to introduce an order asking that some committee be appointed. The question is, will that committee ever be appointed? I would like to see something concrete done without further delay, and I therefore am going to ask that this order be sent to the Executive Committee. Let us notify Commissioner Sullivan and have him down here next Monday. Let us get down to business on this matter. Words that we utter here don't amount to a thing. Sometimes they are spoken for publicity in the newspapers. Speaking of newspapers, I don't think there is a newspaper in the City of Boston that has not on more than one occasion asked that the Boston policemen and firemen be given more pay, but yet their request and the pressure the members of this Council have tried to bring about, and all the other pressure, has not accomplished anything. Let us get down to business. Let us talk with Commissioner Sullivan ourselves at City Hall. Let us extend an invitation to the Mayor to join with us in that conversation. Let us do something about it. I for one am sick and tired of hearing this matter dragged out of the closet every now and then. I think the policemen and the citizens of Boston think we are only kidding. I am not kidding. I know these policemen are fathers of large families. They have a large deduction made each week for benefits and what not. The amount that they take home is shameful when you compare it with the cost of living now and that in vogue a few years ago. Something has to be done to better the morale and to make and keep what we know to be the finest Police Force in the United States. Let us do something about it immediately. Let us hope that the commissioner will come here and that we can get the Mayor to join us and do something about this matter.

Coun. HANNON—Just briefly, before the order is referred to Executive, I wish to congratulate my worthy colleague from Ward 11 (Coun. Hanley) for his usual good judgment in presenting this order, and likewise the gentlemen from Ward 1 and Ward 10 (Coun. Coffey and Carey). And I think that about twenty-two members of the Boston City Council agree that the members of the Police and Fire Departments of the City of Boston are underpaid. But as the gentleman from Ward 10 has stated, we introduce these orders week after week, and nothing is done about them. As a matter of fact, I have come to the conclusion that perhaps it would be better if we kept quiet, because the other day two policemen came in here and they were told in the secrecy of some chamber by one of the supposedly more influential members of the Council that the raise was going through, it was going to be O. K'd that evening. Unfortunately, that is the word that has been going around to the members of the Fire and Police Departments for over a year. They are going to get it. They are going to get it, but they are getting it in the neck, and you are all suffering because, as the gentleman from East Boston said, you give them $36 a week after five years, or after three years. Now, what do we get? Well, we have got a shortage of officers. There is no sense in kidding ourselves. We are not kidding the old-time cop. No fellow of ability, no fellow of education, no fellow with ambition is throwing up a good job to work as a policeman or a fireman, and take his life in his hands, and then, after three years, get $36 a week. A matter of four or five years ago we were getting college graduates getting fellows through school, with an education. They wanted a job; they figured it would be a good job. We told them it was a good job. All the politicians said it was worth $50 a week. And we had good, capable men. We might be getting the same nowadays, but I don't think so. Fellows are not going to come in and start to work in the Police Department at $1,800—$30, $33 or $35 a week—and deductions taken out of that, when they can go down to Fore River or Hingham and get $50 or $60 a week, and get that right away. They are not going to come in and work for us for three years in order to get $36 a week. No. And you know it is a tough job. There is no sense kidding ourselves. We figure they get this or that for nothing; and maybe they do, but it is a tough job. Every time you are out in the street you are apt to be shot at, you are apt to be knocked down. Any time a call comes in either to the police or fire station, you are taking your life in your hands, and if we in public life figure that the risks that these men in uniform take are worth only $36 a week, after years of service, I think we ought to hang our heads in shame. If that job isn't worth $50 a week, then I am not good at figures; I am not good at computation. And compare it to the jobs of laborers. Even a laborer nowadays is making more money than a cop or a fireman, and yet there is no risk involved. Why, there was a fire the other night in an A. & P. store in Dorchester. It was apparently a harmless little fire, and eighteen firemen were carried out of there,—eighteen of them. You read in the papers almost every day of battles and riots, where the lives of policemen are involved. This job should be a good job. We should have in the Police and Fire Departments the best men available, the best men obtainable. They should have a civil service examination, and it should be a stiff examination. But you can't get capable, qualified men, men of ability, men of education, unless you give them an appropriate and commensurate salary. Certainly they are underpaid, and certainly the councilor from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey) has the right idea. Let us not be technical. Let us bring the men in authority before us, bring them up here, and see if we can't accomplish something for the men in uniform.

Coun. CAREY—I would like, if possible, to amend the order. I would like to amend the order to include the Fire Department also, and have the Fire Commissioner here next week.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

LIGHTS AT MONTEBELLO ROAD AND WASHINGTON STREET.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Public Works Commissioner to restore the lights to working condition, attached to Elevated structure at Montebello road and Washington street.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

EMPLOYEES AT CITY HOSPITAL.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the trustees of the Boston City Hospital to make permanent all temporary employees who have been employed at the hospital for over a year, including Francis M. Milliken and Francis Garrity.

Coun. HANNON—Up at the City Hospital there was quite a shortage of employees; there is now, and there has been for the past three or four years. In order to get employees it is necessary to go down through the civil service list quite deeply in order to get men to accept positions for the small salary offered. There are at least two boys in my district who work there, boys who gave up other jobs and took these positions. But I was quite amazed the other day when I found they had these boys still listed as temporary employees, despite the fact they have been there a year and a half; and they tell me many others are in the same position up there. Evidently they are going to keep these fellows while the shortage is on, and as soon as it is over they are going to give them the "bounce." I don't think it is fair. I take it for granted their work is satisfactory, because if it was not, they wouldn't be there at all. But if their work is satisfactory and they are taken off the civil service list, I think the trustees of the City Hospital owe it to these employees to see to it that they are made permanent.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALK ON ELIOT STREET, WARD 19.

Coun. McCORMACK offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install sidewalks on the north side of Eliot street, from 35 Eliot street to the Jamaicaaway, Ward 19.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

HEARING ON CURFEW.

Coun. RUSSO—I wish to announce that the Committee on Ordinances will hold a public meeting in this chamber on Thursday at 10.30 o'clock. The public and the press and anyone who is interested regarding the curfew are invited.

PAY OF MEMBERS OF POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

Coun. CAREY offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor, the Police Commissioner and Fire Commissioner be requested to appear before the Executive Committee of the City Council on Monday next, September 25, 1944, to devise ways and means of increasing the pay of members of the Police and Fire Departments; and be it further Ordered, That, if it is impossible for him to be present at the Executive Committee meeting on said date, his Honor the Mayor be requested to arrange for a conference at his office at the earliest possible date with the Executive Committee of the City Council, Police Commissioner and Fire Commissioner and representatives of the two latter departments in attendance.

Coun. CAREY—I realize it is an extraordinary request to ask the Mayor to appear before the Executive Committee of the City Council and I in no way whatsoever desire to embarrass him in introducing that order. For that purpose I have included in that order a request that if it was impossible to come before the City Council, we get together in his office and see if something cannot be done to devise ways and means to increase the pay of firemen. I have no desire to embarrass his Honor, and I sincerely hope that something can be done to bring this matter to a head.

Coun. COFFEY—Of course, I wouldn't want to embarrass his Honor, either. I was wondering if it wouldn't be a wise move, in asking his Honor to sit down with the Executive Committee—if it wouldn't be a wise move for representatives of the Police and Fire Department to be there. There are always two sides to every story, and I am going to ask that they, too, be included, and that groups from the Police and Fire Departments be invited, and if a meeting does take place that they have representatives there to tell their story.

President KERRIGAN—Councilor Coffey moves that the order be amended to take in the various groups. Councilor Carey, have you any objection?

Coun. CAREY—No objection. The order as amended was passed under suspension of the rule.

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:

Passed under suspension of the rule.

SIDEWALKS ON MASSASOIT STREET.

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:

DRAINAGE SYSTEM ON GWINNETT STREET.

Coun. FEENEY offered the following: Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install a drainage system on Gwinnett street, in the Hyde Park section of Ward 18.

CORRECTION.

Coun. KINSELLA—I ask unanimous consent to make a correction in the record.

President KERRIGAN—Is there any objection? (No response.)

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, this is the first time in thirty-three months that I have asked this. On the last page of today's record, page 355, there was an item, "Campaign Ribbons Without Cost to Servicemen," that was accredited to Councilor Coffey. I asked Councilor Coffey last week, just before I left for the day, to file that order along with any others that he might have, and in some manner the confusion of names was such that Councilor Coffey's name was down as the sponsor. I would like my name in place of Councilor Coffey's on the order regarding campaign ribbons.

President KERRIGAN—The correction will be made in the record.

(The resolve referred to, offered by Councilor Coffey for Councilor Kinsella, was as follows:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of the Boston City Council that the Government of the United States, through appropriate action, should supply at no cost to service men the campaign ribbons indicative of length and place of service of these men.)

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

Animals Slaughtered.

Cattle, 43,158; calves, 75,675; swine, 27,505; sheep, 3,012; goats, 598.

Total Weight of Condemned Animals and Parts.

Whole animals, 21,676 pounds; parts of animals, 20,211 pounds; putrid meat, 615 pounds. Total, 42,502 pounds.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop.—American City Magazine.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 million in December, 1942, to 445 million in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout.—Municipal Review.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

SEEKS COMMUNITY AID IN ARMY CAMP CITIES.

The army welcomes the aid of civic organizations in helping to protect soldiers from intemperance and vice when they are away from their duty stations.

The War Department is endeavoring in various ways to protect its personnel from temptations while at military posts and camps. Healthful and wholesome entertainment is furnished. Commissioned officers are charged with the responsibility for the men in their commission. Understanding leaders offer them advice and counsel, and medical officers guard their physical well-being.—American City Magazine.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all, the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

MAYOR TOBIN DISCUSSES REAL ESTATE TAXATION PROBLEMS BEFORE MEMBERS OF MASSACHUSETTS ASSOCIATION OF REAL ESTATE BOARDS—OUTLINES CAUSES OF INCREASES IN BURDEN BORNE BY REAL ESTATE PROPERTY AND BLAMES STATE TAX OFFICIALS FOR SITUATION—POSITIVELY OPPOSED TO HIGHER LEVIES ON INDUSTRIALISTS, BUSINESS MEN AND HOME OWNERS IN VIEW OF CIRCUMSTANCES OF LONG OUTMODDED METHODS AND LAWS WHICH GUIDE ASSESSORS IN ARRIVING AT FIGURES THEY DO—HOLDS OUT HOPE FOR POSSIBLE RELIEF AFTER NOVEMBER.

Remarks of Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston before Massachusetts Association of Real Estate Boards, Copley-Plaza Hotel, Thursday, September 28, were as follows:

It is indeed a pleasure to have this opportunity to speak to an audience of members of the real estate profession from all parts of the Commonwealth. As Mayor of Boston I have frequently attended meetings of the realtors of my city. We have had a very cordial and pleasant relationship over the last seven years and it has become more or less a tradition for me to appear before the local realtors at least once each year to discuss the problems of taxation and municipal finance. I think you will agree with me that we both have benefited by the discussions and that they have promoted a feeling of confidence that the affairs of the city were being handled with due regard to the problems of the real estate owner.

Recently, it would appear that there are differences of opinion, which some of you realtors from outside of Boston may have difficulty in understanding. It is a most unusual situation, because the Real Estate Board, as I understand it, is finding fault because the 1944 tax rate in Boston is — too low.

For many years I have become accustomed to discussion of high tax rates among members of your profession, so that I was quite unprepared when I read in one of the Boston newspapers that the Real Estate Board did not favor a reduction in the tax rate.

As you know, I am a public official — Mayor of the largest city in New England — I don't profess to know anything about the science and technique of estimating the value of a parcel of real estate, but I think that as a layman I can successfully argue that when a piece of property is being used to its maximum capacity, — or as you experts say, to its highest and best use, — that it is certainly worth more than when it is not.

Market Value?

I cannot agree with those persons who hold that the increase in the volume of business which may be conducted in a given establishment is to be disregarded as an element in determining its market value, especially when the same individuals urge a decrease in their pleas for abatement to the assessors and the Appellate Tax Board during the lean days of business inactivity.

I want to repeat that I am not an expert in the great professional field of the realtors. Nevertheless, I cannot help observing that unanimous opinion among real estate experts upon the value of any piece of property is indeed a rarity. When real estate experts disagree violently with the assessors with respect to the value of a piece of property I am not surprised. The real estate experts not only disagree with the assessors, but strangely enough they disagree widely with one another.

Not long ago we had a large taking of property in Boston by the Federal Government. Among this group I see practically all the experts who appeared before the court to give their opinion of value. I am sure that all the gentlemen are members in good standing of your Appraisers Institute. Mind you, this was not a dispute between the assessors and real estate experts. This was one among the experts themselves. One said it was worth $150,000; another said it was worth $350,000, and three or four more were convinced that it was worth over $700,000. You can see now why I am not going to get into any argument about the value of any particular piece of property. Oh — before I forget it — the fact of the matter is that only one expert agreed with my Board of Assessors — the expert who was the lowest. And another thing, none of the experts who gave their opinion of value above that of the assessment got their names in the paper.

Trend Downward Intown.

The trend of the aggregate assessments in the downtown wards of the city continued downward this year — marking the fourteenth consecutive year that values have been reduced. While increases in the amount of $9,000,000 were made, affecting numerous properties which, for the last few years, have greatly benefited from the vigorous upsurge of business activity, the assessors at the same time reduced assessments by some $16,000,000 on many of the other parcels in those wards. No doubt the $16,000,000 reduction was proper. But still, speaking as a layman, I am not convinced, and I am sure you are not convinced, that the value of real estate in Boston is destined to move only downward.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

MAYOR TOBIN GIVES FIGURES ON BUSINESS AND TAXATION TRENDS IN RECENT TIMES TO SUPPORT ASSESSORS IN THEIR FIXING OF LEVIES ON SOME OF LARGER DOWNTOWN PROPERTIES FOR THIS YEAR — REVIEWS BASIS FOR RISE IN VALUATIONS.

Mayor Tobin has presented figures on the real estate situation in Boston to substantiate his claim that on some of the properties the assessments should be raised to a parity with present times and conditions.

Factors on which Boston city assessors based their increased assessments on Boston hotels, railroad stations, department stores, and theaters were disclosed and amplified by the Mayor to justify the increases.

He called attention to the fact that most of the complaints of increased assessments came from those whose assessments had been lowered steadily from 1930 to 1943, and that the increases levied this year, some of them amounting to about 10 per cent of the total levy, did not begin to approach the 1930 high, in the majority of cases.

Presenting his case with figures, the Mayor said that while the total valuation on the Statler Hotel, for instance, was $10,000,000 in 1928, it had dropped steadily since that time until it stood at $7,000,000 in 1939, at $7,500,000 last year and that the present assessment of $8,000,000 is $2,000,000 under the high of 1928.

FIGURES QUOTED.

Additional figures supporting his claims he cited as follows: Parker House, 1930, $3,800,000; 1938 to 1941, $2,700,000; 1943, $2,500,000; 1944, $2,700,000.

Keith Memorial Theatre, 1930, $2,250,000; 1937, $1,500,000; 1943, $1,350,000; 1944, $1,600,000.

Sheraton Hotel, 1930, $700,000; 1938 through 1943, $525,000; 1944, $650,000.

Ritz-Carlton Hotel, 1930, $2,050,000; 1935 through 1943, $1,350,000; 1944, $1,500,000.

North Terminal Station, with area 345,213 square feet, 1931, $5,278,400; 1937, $5,078,400. With area of 556,663 square feet, 1938, $5,637,400, same in 1943, and 1944, $6,637,400.

South Station, with area of 1,456,000 square feet, 1930, $18,810,000; with area of 1,352,089 square feet, 1934, $17,875,000; 1938 through 1943, $16,000,000; 1944, $17,000,000.

Bellevue Hotel, 1930, $1,600,000; 1934 through 1939, $800,000; 1943, $700,000; 1944, $800,000.

Jordan Marsh, 1930, $16,435,000; 1935, $13,702,000; 1943, $12,665,000; 1944, $14,111,700.

BUSINESS INCREASES.

As against these steadily decreased assessments between 1930 and 1943, and the increase in 1944, Mayor Tobin posed the following increases in business indexes: 1. That total net sales for Boston department stores between 1940 and 1943 increased 35.8 per cent, according to Federal Reserve Bank figures. 2. That railroads, in the first five months of 1943, averaged nationally 11.3 per cent greater loadings in net tons, as compared with the already high five months of 1942, and that passenger traffic increased 43.5 per cent in the same period, and 3, that hotel business increased as follows for several

Boston hotels, as presented in a brief before the Appellate Board:

Hotel.	1940.	1942.	1943.
Touraine.....	$513,400	$725,000	$1,239,905
Bradford.....	513,147	717,986	*
Kenmore.....	785,185	961,889	1,163,778
Manger.....	846,034	1,121,700	1,532,685
Statler.....	3,086,103	4,103,477	5,467,248

* Figures not presented.

"The trend of the aggregate assessments in the downtown wards of the city," Mayor Tobin said, "continued downward this year—making the fourteenth consecutive year that values have been reduced. While increases in the amount of $9,000,000 were made, affecting numerous properties which for the last few years have greatly benefited from the vigorous upsurge of business activity, the assessors at the same time reduced assessments by some $16,000,000 on many of the parcels in those wards."

MAYOR TOBIN PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE EX-GOVERNOR ALFRED E. SMITH OF NEW YORK.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston issued the following tribute to Alfred E. Smith:

"Few men have enjoyed a more basic understanding of the fundamental truths upon which this nation was founded than Alfred E. Smith. That was because from his boyhood in New York's teeming East Side, through the years when his sterling worth finally came to be recognized by millions, he always remained a man of the people.

"His courage never wavered in the withering blasts of prejudice; his ideals were never compromised in the heat of political battles; his devotion to the best interests of his fellow Americans never deviated from the solid foundation upon which it was built in his youth. His rare capacity to take the most complicated issues of the day and to express them logically, honestly and in the simple language of the man on the street was unparalleled.

"His passing takes from his city, state and nation a man who has served long and well."

MAYOR TOBIN EXCORIATES UNITED STATES SENATE COMMITTEE FOR PROPOSAL TO SLIGHT NEW ENGLAND IN RECONVERSION PLANS.

Mayor Tobin on Tuesday, October 3, issued the following statement on senators' proposal to slight New England in reconversion plans:

It is my opinion that New England has absolutely nothing to worry about. Krug, the chairman of the War Production Board, has already clearly set forth a policy of reconversion. As rapidly as possible it is his desire to have all the plants converted back to private business.

A glance at the committee, under the chairmanship of Senator McCarron, clearly shows that of all the senators in the committee not one represents an industrial state. They are all from the agricultural South or the agricultural-mining West.

I am today going to send to Chairman Krug a telegram urging that all cutbacks be made in proportion to war expansion. This will result in just and fair treatment to all sections of the country.

We want no unfair advantage, but we do not propose to sit idly by and see our section discriminated against. From a practical point of view, if the proposal ever reached the floor of the United States Senate, the bill would meet with an upsurge of opposition the moment the senators of the industrial sections of the United States had an opportunity to voice their opinions.

The proposal is so ridiculous and unfair that its defeat is inevitable.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon September 23 the Mayor approved a contract in accordance with the following request from the Supply Department:

BOSTON, September 20, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—On June 13, 1944, bids were publicly opened and read in this office on proposals for furnishing one motor pumping engine, in accordance with specifications, for the Long Island Hospital, Institutions Department.

Attached is copy of a memorandum from the Penal Institutions Commissioner in which he recommends, as a result of careful consideration of all bids and specifications by the engineer at Long Island, the purchase of the motor pumping engine offered by the Ward La France Truck Division in the alternate bids.

It is my belief that the purchase of the Ward La France unit will best serve the interests of the city. Your permission is, therefore, respectfully requested to award a contract to the lowest bidder, the Great American Industries, Inc., Ward La France Truck Division, Elmira, New York, for furnishing to the Institutions Department one Ward La France motor pumping engine, Model 75T, at a price of $7,580, as shown on the attached tabulation of bids.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, September 16, 1944.

DEAR MR. LANG,—I have considered the various bids for a 750-gallon per minute triple pumping fire engine at Long Island for which priority rating AAB has been approved.

The Ward La France Company has submitted a bid of $7,580 for delivery to the City of Boston, the services of a delivery engineer included, of one Ward La France Model 75T, 750 gallons per minute triple combination pumper with 150 horse power engine and three-man semi-cab, as per Long Island Hospital general specifications and Ward La France detailed specifications, both attached. It would seem that 150 horse power would be sufficient for all purposes at Long Island.

This Ward La France pumping engine is in service in a great many cities and towns throughout the country. In 1940 the city of New York awarded a contract to this company for forty-seven separate units. They are also in service

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor approved contracts with firms, contractors, etc., for furnishing labor, merchandise and supplies. Communications from the heads of the several departments interested were as follows:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, September 16, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of July 12 of the current year a publicly advertised contract was awarded to the Hancock Construction Company of 4 Hampstead road, Jamaica Plain, for the resurfacing with sheet asphalt, where directed, in Blue Hill avenue, Harrison avenue and Quincy street.

The resurfacing work has been completed in Harrison avenue and Quincy street and is now in progress in Blue Hill avenue. We found, however, that it was necessary to do a larger amount of work in Harrison avenue and Quincy street than contemplated when the contract specifications were being prepared. We cannot, therefore, complete the necessary resurfacing work in Blue Hill avenue under the present contract, because the contract sum is insufficient to provide for the payment for this work.

There would be no advantage in publicly advertising for bids, because the prices provided and allowed under the present contract are reasonable and, in my opinion, no lower prices could be obtained if publicly advertised proposals were requested. The work that has been done by the above-referenced contractor has been most satisfactory and, in view of this, I respectfully request your approval to the award of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the Hancock Construction Company of 4 Hampstead road, Jamaica Plain, for resurfacing with sheet asphalt, where directed, in Blue Hill avenue, at a total cost not in excess of $10,370, with the understanding that the work is to be performed in accordance with the standard specifications of the department and at the itemized prices that are in effect under the provisions of the existing contract which, as stated above, was awarded under date of July 12, after publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, September 18, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of May 20 of the current year, a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, was awarded to Appel & O'Toole Company of 78 Moreland street, Roxbury, to replace, regulate and repair Water Division structures in City Proper, South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown and Roxbury (Water Division) districts.

The volume of work provided in the above-referenced contract has been completed, but it will be necessary to continue the work during the current year. The prices for which the contractor is doing this work now are exceptionally reasonable, and the work of this contractor is most satisfactory in every respect. No advantage would accrue to the city if publicly advertised proposals were requested, because I am certain that no lower prices could be obtained for doing this work.

In view of the circumstances, therefore, I recommend that a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, be awarded to the firm of Appel & O'Toole Company, 78 Moreland street, Roxbury, to replace, regulate and repair Water Division structures in City Proper, South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown and Roxbury (Water Division) districts, in the total amount of $6,000 with the understanding that the work will be done at the prices provided for in the current contract and in accordance with the contract specifications of the department.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REGISTRY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, August 28, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award, without advertising, the work of furnishing to this department two typewritten copies of consolidated book indexes of births, marriages and deaths for the five-year period 1936 to 1940, inclusive, to Dewell Company, 9 Tremont place, Boston, at a cost of $4,536. The total number of records involved is 233,000, and the work includes, in addition to furnishing two copies of the type-written book indexes, the preliminary operation of making an alphabetic consolidated index of the department's records, which are now set up separately by years for each category.

Since the beginning of the war the department has been burdened with a wholly unprecedented amount of additional clerical work in providing copies of birth and other records required for identification purposes for the many thousands of persons engaged in defense work in the greater Boston area. There has also been a great increase in the number of marriages recorded by the department. This has been a heavy tax on the personnel of the Registry. This great demand for written copies of records of every kind shows no sign of abating, and the availability of a five-year combined index of the records will be of very great value at this time, facilitating the work of the department clerks, resulting in a substantial economy of time spent in searching for records, etc., with a consequent improvement in service to the public.

The Dewell Company is qualified by years of experience to undertake work of this exacting nature, having satisfactorily performed identical work for this department in the past, and similar work for other city departments, other municipalities and the Commonwealth. They are equipped to undertake the work at once, with a personnel trained in this work. Because of its specialized nature it is doubtful that any other company could undertake the work with an adequately trained staff, and I respectfully ask, therefore, your approval of this request.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS J. FAY,
City Registrar.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, September 28, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The limited supply of fuel oil available for civilian consumption makes it imperative that the city exercise extraordinary caution in entering into contracts for the coming year in order that its requirements may be assured. Since September, 1940, the following concerns have supplied, under contract, heavy, medium and light fuel oil to various city departments: White Fuel Corporation, Petroleum Heat and Power Company, Socony-Vacuum Oil Company.

It seems to me that under prevailing circumstances primary consideration in awarding contracts should be given the factors of past performance and dependability in supplying this highly essential fuel to the city. The contractors mentioned above have more than satisfactorily fulfilled their obligations during the height of the fuel oil shortage and as I believe no advantage would be gained through publicly advertising for bids, it is my recommendation that contracts be awarded these concerns for the period from October 1, 1944, to September 30, 1945, without public advertisement.

The prices under these contracts will be the contractor's posted tank truck prices on date of delivery, based on the rules and regulations of the Office of Price Administration.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

CITY WORKERS PRAISED FOR COOPERATIVE WORK DURING HURRICANE.

His Honor the Mayor received the following letter from Mr. James V. Toner, President of the Boston Edison Company:

BOSTON, September 21, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—On behalf of Boston Edison Company, I wish to express appreciation for the splendid cooperation which we received from all agencies of the city government during the recent hurricane emergency.

Fortunately, the damage to our system was not so great as it was six years ago, but our preparation for more serious trouble was aided tremendously by you and your associates at City Hall.

Sincerely yours,

J. V. TONER.

Since the date of this order additional work has been placed upon the street-cleaning forces: (1) The hurricane of September 14 has necessitated additional street cleaning. Arthur C. Carey,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I have your memorandum of September 14, with inclosure, order from the City Council requesting the installation of lights in the John Harvard Mall, Charlestown.

Arrangements were made when this area was constructed to place lights and conduits, and outlets were left in the Harvard Mall for this purpose. Unfortunately, no conduit wire or material for posts can be obtained during the duration. There is crying necessity for these lights, but until such time as the Government removes its restrictions I cannot do anything about it.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

CONGRATULATIONS TO DOCTOR GATELY.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:

Resolved, That the membership of the Boston City Council extend its most profound congratulations to the eminent Dr. G. Lynde Gately on the highly meritorious manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the Health Commission of Boston. He has truly enhanced the long and lustrous history of the Health Department by consistently and steadfastly striving for the preservation and advancement of the health of all our citizenry. He indeed typifies and symbolizes to a superlative degree in words, deeds and actions, the illustrious and noble medical profession that he has been affiliated with for the past twenty years; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of the above resolution be forwarded to Health Commissioner Dr. G. Lynde Gately, expressing our sincere wish for his continued good health, success and longevity.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, it is with a deep sense of personal pride and honor, and a privilege, to present this resolution to you and my illustrious colleagues relative to Doctor Gately, the present Health Commissioner of Boston. On November of 1940 Doctor Gately was elevated to the high pedestal of Health Commissioner of our great city. After many years attending the poor, the down-trodden and the oppressed, and giving them medical sustenance that their bodies required, he was noted by the present Mayor of Boston and elevated to the high position that he now enjoys. He matriculated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and received the high degree of Master of Public Health. Through the years that I knew of this man in his private practice as a physician he has always upheld the honor and the dignity of the most blessed profession outside of the clergy. Doctor Gately, to me, is the epitome, the acme of perfection in the medical world. He is a credit to the race he springs from, to the religion he professes, and to the great city that gave him birth. He is also a credit, a distinct credit, to the religion that he professes. During his tenure of office as Health Commissioner of Boston he has steadfastly and consistently worked for the upkeep of our health. He has tried to protect to the best of his ability the health of the poor children and the adults. And during these troublesome times, when Black Market operations and rationing of food brought things into our markets that might jeopardize life and limb, he has steadfastly and adamantly protected us. During his time he has talked to many groups, small and large. He has collaborated with men of the medical and surgical profession for the purpose of protecting and promulgating the great health doctrine of our great city. He has set up evening clinics and had them open for the diagnosis of the white disease of tuberculosis. He has immunized the children against whooping cough that has consistently been resultant in the depreciation of their life and limb. Many of his works, both in verbal and written form, have wended their way into some of the most famous medical journals of our country. He has been host to men from South and Central America, and from the continents of Europe and Asia, in order to promulgate the great health document and doctrine of our great city. I only hope, in closing, that when this great doctor goes into the service of the United States Navy on or about October 1, his great mind may mitigate and alleviate the agony and suffering of the armed forces throughout the entire world. Doctor Gately's appointment, to my mind, is the greatest appointment that his Honor the Mayor ever made. He will never have to hang his head in shame for the appointment of Doctor Gately. To me, as a public official who is merely a greenhorn in the political government of our city, he has given tremendous help by advice and aid in the curricula of my position as City Councilor. I hope and pray that the sunshine of victory will rise from the turbulent and dark clouds of war, and that man may, once again, regardless of nationality or race or religion, sit down in the way, the only way, that an omnipotent and omniscient and omnipresent Creator intended; and I only hope that the man that will write the peace document will infiltrate that peace document with Christian ideals of justice and charity, so that the present generation may not rise up once again and be placed upon the sacrificial altar of the pagan god of Mars. I only hope that Doctor Gately may come back to us again as a doctor, as a Public Health Commissioner, and as a person whom I admire and respect in the great profession that he belongs to. I ask you, Mr. President, for suspension of the rule and the passage of the order, and that the resolution be forwarded to Doctor Gately on or before this week. Thank you, sincerely.

The resolution was unanimously passed.

INFORMATION ON ACTION AS TO POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.
Chairman RUSSO—State your point of information.

Coun. HANLEY—On the resolution relative to the Police and Fire Departments, has that been read?

Chairman RUSSO—It was read in the report of the Executive Committee.

Coun. HANLEY—It was accepted?
Chairman RUSSO—It was accepted.

Coun. FEENEY—I would like at this time to amend the order.

Chairman RUSSO—Councillor Feeney asks unanimous consent to amend the order. All those in favor?

Coun. FEENEY—I move that the chairman of the Executive Committee be empowered and directed by the Council to meet with his Honor the Mayor and arrange a parley with officials and representatives of all employees of the Police Department, and also officials and representatives of all employees of the Fire Department.

Chairman RUSSO—Will you kindly restate the amendment so that the clerk may write it?

Coun. FEENEY—That the chairman of the Executive Committee be empowered and directed by the Council to meet with his Honor the Mayor for the purpose of arranging a parley with the officials and representatives of all employees of the Fire Department and the Police Department, and also officials and representatives of all employees of the Fire Department.

Coun. KINSELLA—May I ask Councillor Feeney a question through you?

Chairman RUSSO—Councillor Feeney?

Coun. KINSELLA—Councillor, does that amendment contemplate the clerical force?

Coun. FEENEY—No; only those who came before the Council in Executive Committee.

Coun. KINSELLA—It is common for them to refer to themselves as members of the Fire and Police Departments,—I mean, generally speaking. I was just wondering if we wouldn't embarrass ourselves later by having them down here and having them all included. It might be said "other than clerical force."

Coun. FEENEY—Yes; I think that would embrace the various groups that came down before us today. "Other than members of the clerical forces of the two departments."

Chairman RUSSO—If I might ask, will you kindly draw that amendment as you have stated now, and give it to the clerk in a written form? You have heard the amendment, gentlemen.

The amendment, as submitted by Coun. Feeney in written form, was as follows:

And be it further Ordered, That the chairman of the Executive Committee be empowered and directed to meet with his Honor the Mayor and arrange a parley to consist of his Honor the Mayor, the Fire and Police Commissioners, the membership of the Boston City Council, with officials representing all the employees of the Fire and Police Departments.

The amendment was adopted.

LIGHTS ON LEWIS STREET.

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install street lights on Lewis street, in the Hyde Park section of Ward 18.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I would like to say a few words on this order. This is a duplicate of one I filed last spring, to provide for lighting on Lewis street at night, an area which is badly in need of some kind of suitable lighting at this time. I have had numerous complaints from the people living in that vicinity, and of late we have had several scares in various sections of the district from prowlers, and the women of that district are very much frightened, being forced to use this street during the nighttime, in the darkness, without any lights on it whatever. I filed this order with the sincere hope that the Lighting Service of the Department of Public Works will make a sincere effort at this time to provide lights there before winter sets in.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CLEANING GUTTERS OF MATTAPAN STREETS.

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to clean up the refuse in the gutters of Mattapan streets which was left that way by the recent hurricane.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I have filed this order as the result of many protests of late from residents of the Mattapan district. The most recent one came from the business men of the Mattapan business district. I journeyed down into Mattapan only today to view for myself the refuse that has collected along the gutters of the various streets, refuse that has been left by the hurricane, and it certainly should be cleaned up and cleaned up as quickly as possible, because in many cases catch-basins are being blocked up by the refuse that is gathered in the gutters. So I hope that the Public Works Commissioner will order the local yard to send a cleaner out there, one of those mechanical cleaners, and keep it out in the Mattapan district for a couple of days, at least, until these gutters are cleaned up.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

LEGAL ACTION RE "DUST BOWL."

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to take the necessary legal action to force the owner of the land in the Roslindale-Hyde Park-Metropolitan Hill "Dust Bowl," so called, to do the following in the interest of public health and safety: To erect a suitable restraining safety crash fence for automobile traffic, and a suitable safety fence to protect children and adults from danger to life and limb, around the excavation which borders Beech street extension, near Asheville road, in Hyde Park; to erect a suitable restraining safety fence around the edge of the high cliff bordering Beech street extension in order to protect children and adults from death, or serious injury; to erect a suitable restraining safety fence in the rear of the small homes on Hallron street, in Hyde Park, where excavations by contractors have gouged out dangerous cliffs which now constitute a menace to the safety of small children and adults alike who live in the immediate vicinity; and to post suitable danger warning signs throughout the area in the interest of public safety.

Coun. FEENEY—This is a duplicate in part of a similar order that I filed early last spring, in connection with the excavation that was made by contractors in the Metropolitan Hill section of Roslindale, and that district now referred to commonly as the Metropolitan Hill dust bowl. Several million cubic yards, Mr. President, were excavated from this area and dumped in a Government project in South Boston. The damage that was done at that time is irreparable. It can never be repaired. I refer to the landscape damage, where at least one million dollar's worth of future taxable property was destroyed and lost forever to the City of Boston. But at least we can set up safeguards to protect the people who live in that district, and their children, from falling into the excavation and suffering serious injury to themselves. Mr. President, there are cliffs that have been left by those contractors that constitute a serious hazard to life and limb. I have been patient with the administration, waiting for something to be done on this section; and the order I have filed at this time is to serve notice that something has got to be done, and done quickly. The winter is coming, and we are going to have snow and ice providing a far greater hazard than exists now. There are children living in that vicinity who will go coasting with their sleds, and I am warning the officials of this city that unless something is done they are going to have the death of a little child on their hands, or perhaps the death of one or more adults. We have an excavation—one in particular near Asheville road, as I pointed out on this order,—which is only six feet from the edge of the road, perfectly level with the street surface, and there is nothing to prevent a skidding car from going down into a ditch nearly 50 feet in depth. Now, I say that is a serious condition to be permitted to exist all of this time by those responsible and those who have the power to see to it that safeguards are erected to protect the life and limb of the people who use the street and who live in this vicinity. Mr. President, I ask suspension of the rule and passage of the order, with a sincere hope that somebody with the power to act will do so and get protection for the people of the Roslindale-Metropolitan Hill section of my district.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REPAIRS ON REGIS ROAD.

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to repair damaged sidewalk blocks on Regis road, in the Mattapan district of Ward 18, and holes that have been left with the destruction of small trees, and which constitute a serious danger to pedestrians through personal injuries and which might result in damage suits against the city.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. SHANNON, at 5.30 p. m., to meet on Monday, October 2, 1944, at 2 p. m.

BUILDINGS RAZED.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Building Commissioner to raze the following structures as fire menaces or nuisances:

To raze the building at 3 Vicksburg street, Ward 6, in an agreement with the New England Building Wrecking Company.

To raze the building at 5 Vicksburg street, Ward 6, in an agreement with the New England Building Wrecking Company, 31 State street, Boston.

To raze the building at 1 Hull Street place, Ward 3, in an agreement with the Central Building Wrecking Company, 141 Boston street, Everett.

To raze the building at 2 Hull Street place, Ward 3, in an agreement with the Central Building Wrecking Company, 141 Boston street, Everett.

To raze the building at 69 Northfield street, Ward 9, in an agreement with the Central Building Wrecking Company, 141 Boston street, Everett.

Due to the structurally unsafe condition of the building at 283 Highland street, Ward 11, to enter the premises and remove the building.

Due to the structurally unsafe condition of the building at 160 and 160½ F street, Ward 6, to enter the premises and remove the building.

To raze the building at 12 Haynes street, Ward 1, in an agreement with the Mystic Building Wrecking Company, Inc., 203 Everett avenue, Chelsea.

On February 24, 1944, the supervisor of construction reported that an examination of the building at 160 F street, South Boston, disclosed a bulge in the brick wall adjoining Athens street. This condition apparently was caused by the falling of one of the arches in the brick oven in the building and required emergency action to provide for the safety of the public.

Therefore, John Cavanagh & Son, 473 Dorchester avenue, South Boston, was ordered to enter the premises and shore the wall to maintain the building in safe condition until such time as permanent repairs will be made or the building razed. Work was completed and a bill in the amount of $400 has been approved.

Based on approval of request for permission to raze the building at 60 Bromley street, Ward 10, an agreement with the City Building Wrecking Company, 185 Somerville avenue, Somerville, was entered into. Said contract was awarded without advertising for the following reason:

On February 26, 1944, the City Building Wrecking Company was ordered to enter the premises at 58 Bromley street, separated only by a party wall from 60 Bromley street, because of the fact that it was in danger of collapse, for the sum of $395. The building was shored and demolition operations begun; however, it was found necessary to stop work because of the unsafe structural condition of the adjoining building, 60 Bromley street.

On June 10, 1944, a contract was awarded, as above stated, to the City Building Wrecking Company, to raze the building at 60 Bromley street for the sum of $445, which amount included a charge of $50 for the proportionate share of the cost of the removal of the party wall between the two buildings, with the understanding that an additional amount of $50 would be charged for the razing of the portion of party wall serving 58 Bromley street. Approval was granted.

MAYOR TOBIN DISCUSSES REAL ESTATE TAXATION PROBLEMS.

Since 1930 the values in the three downtown wards have been reduced $400,000,000. That reduction is greater than the assessed valuation of real estate of some of the States in the Union—I think there are ten States each with a valuation of less than $400,000,000. No community, whatever its size, could have suffered such a loss in values in such a small area and not feel the shock. The wonder is that the effects of it have not been more disastrous. However loud may be the clamor of a few for further and greater reductions of value in our downtown district, the plain truth of the matter is—and I am sure you are aware of it as well as I am—that further reductions will not solve the problem of real estate in Boston.

Nor will the problem be solved by a higher tax rate as would seem to be implied from the objections of those who say the rate is too low. I disagree without reservation with those who advocate a higher rate and thereby thrust the increased burden of government upon those least able to bear it. I believe that real estate tax rates are far too high, not only in Boston, but in every city and town in Massachusetts. How can leaders in our communities—whether they be public officials, editors or spokesmen for the real estate profession—advocate higher tax rates to our industrialists, business men and home owners in the face of the fact that there are now more cities and towns in Massachusetts with tax rates in excess of $40 a thousand than in any other State in the Nation, and more communities in our Commonwealth with rates above $35 than all the rest of the States put together, excluding New Jersey?

METHOD OF TAXING WRONG.

It is obvious that something is wrong with our method of taxing real estate. It may have been all right a hundred years ago to judge a man's ability to pay taxes by the number of sheep, cows or horses he owned, the kind of a house he owned, or how much land he owned, but in a day of the multiple services which the public require and which government must supply in our complicated industrial economy, we cannot continue to function with tax laws written for an agricultural community.

We do not need any further studies of real estate assessments or abatements by Special Commissions to make that clear. The foreclosure records of our banks and of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is far more convincing than any academic view of the problem. You realtors know better than anyone in the State what a burdensome real estate tax has done to deter home ownership, home development and home improvements and to retard the location of industrial enterprises. As the central city of one of the largest metropolitan areas in the United States, Boston has been particularly conscious of that barrier.

This condition is not shrugged off with the charge that the officials of our cities and towns are the most lavish spendthrifts in the land and that there can be no remedy until they are effectively removed for a time by a new method of administering local governments. You know as well as anyone that since the real estate problem became acute the cities and towns in the Commonwealth have been administered by public officials who were fully conscious of the burden, and who directed their conscientious efforts to provide some measure of alleviation. Time and time again during that period the mayors of our cities and the selectmen of our towns sought temporary relief from the State and Federal Governments.

Notwithstanding their efforts, the problem remained with us because the fundamental causes were beyond local control and could be solved only by the State. The Special Commission on Taxation and Public Expenditures in its report published in 1938, after reviewing the history of local taxation from the Colonial period, concluded that among the causes of the shrinking tax base for local revenues were the following:

"(1) More and more of the wealth of the community has come to exist in forms other than real estate and tangible personal property;

(2) All of the forms of wealth other than real estate and a few classes of tangible personal property have been exempted from local taxation and are taxed at rates which do not fluctuate with the tax rate of the community;

(3) The requirements of the public and the cost of meeting these requirements imposed upon the cities and towns of the Commonwealth have increased much faster than the value of the real estate.

The inevitable result has been that the whole burden of increased expenditure (except so far as it has been met by new forms of excise tax on previously untaxed sources, which have in fact, in almost every case, been applied to State purposes or allocated to new classes of expenditure imposed by the State upon cities and towns) have been thrown upon real estate and tangible personal property."

SOUGHT AID OF REALTORS.

It is because I realized some time ago that the fundamental causes of the distress of the real estate industry—if I may refer to it in that way (and it is one of our largest industries)—were not local that I appealed for your support, from the time I became Mayor in 1938, to join with me during the sessions of the Legislature to thwart those in control of the fiscal policies of the Commonwealth in their effort to take away revenue traditionally belonging to the cities and towns.

Prior to 1938, by a series of changes in our tax laws recommended by State taxing officials, the cities and towns had been forced, at a time when they could least afford it, to give up to the State large shares of State-collected revenue which for a long period of time had been distributed to them. Faced with this loss of revenue which was needed, the cities and towns had no recourse other than to raise an equivalent amount from real estate. This further blame fell upon the local officials, not upon those at the State House. By the time the voices of the Mayors' Club and of real estate interests began to be heard in 1938 substantial damage had been done to the local communities.

STATE LAWS CHANGED.

I do not want to burden you with figures but I do want to point out what had happened. In 1923 the State retained but 15 per cent of the corporate franchise tax and distributed the remainder among the cities and towns, by 1930 the laws had been changed so that the State retained 30 per cent, by 1934 there were further changes enabling it to keep over 35 per cent and by 1938 more changes had been enacted resulting in the State retaining almost 43 per cent. At that point the weight of our efforts was sufficient to stop the efforts of State officials from further raids on revenue which had always gone to the cities and towns. We haven't been able to reduce appreciably the amount the State retains, but we have been vigilant in our attempts to do so.

STATE DEFICIT BURDEN.

There is one more matter relating to public finance of importance to realtors which it seems appropriate to refer to in these remarks. That is the State deficit, or—as it is called—the State tax. It is important, because it is a direct burden upon the taxable real estate of every city and town in the Commonwealth. It represents the amount of revenue needed by the State to pay its bills which it has failed to obtain by its own tax measures. It is passed along to the cities and towns, in some years as much as $18,000,000, who are obliged to raise it from the real estate owners.

It is, of course, true that cities and towns are but creatures of the State government and are vested with only those powers which the State sees fit to grant to them. It is also true that the local governments are required to assume the burdens and bear the loads imposed by the State upon them. That is our system of government and we have no quarrel with it. But those who ultimately bear the burden of State exploitation of cities and towns—I mean the home owner, the owner of the industrial plant, the owners of real estate devoted to commercial enterprises—who must ultimately pay the bills occasioned by administrative juggling by State-taxing officials, by loose budgetary control and by diverting revenues traditionally earmarked for local governments, have a right to demand that such aggravation of the local problem stop at once.

Especially should they be suspicious of state tax commissioners at a time of an acute housing shortage who urge the local assessors that "a golden opportunity" is at hand to extract higher taxes from home owners. In view of his record of the past in taking from cities and towns tax revenues which would ordinarily go to benefit the real estate owners, they have a right to ask what his intentions are with respect to the increased taxes he urges.

REVISION NEEDED.

The whole subject of taxation must be reviewed because its causes are not local. Such review should extend not only to relations between cities and towns on one side and the State on the other, but there must be a new understanding between the Federal Government and the State respecting the sources and amount of revenue which each shall use to meet the cost of services that each supplies.

The realtors will do well to keep their eyes on what is going on in that direction. I know that Herbert Nelson is making an outstanding contribution in this direction in the studies being made by the committees in the Congress. For my part, the only immediate hope which I can offer to the realtors of the Commonwealth as a whole is that if a certain project in which I am now engaged is successful, as I believe it will be, in early November, you may take this assurance that nothing will be spared to put a stop to further aggravation of the local tax problem by those in control of the fiscal policies of the Commonwealth.

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of Berwick street, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from Baker street to Barnes street, bounded and described as follows:

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Northeasterly by Baker street, forty and 53-100 feet; southeasterly by the line of Berwick street, as hereby established, four hundred eight and 36-100 feet; southwesterly by Barnes street, forty feet; and northwesterly by the line of Berwick street, as hereby established, four hundred fourteen and 18-100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

MAYOR TOBIN BLAMES STATE FINANCING AND SCHEMING FOR TAX BURDENS NOW BEING BORNE BY REAL ESTATE OWNERS IN CITIES AND TOWNS — DEBATES MATTER OF FINANCES BEFORE MEMBERS OF PROBUS CLUB OF WORCESTER, POINTING OUT HOW, UNDER TAX COMMISSIONER'S TAX-GRABBING PROPENSITIES, CITIES AND TOWNS HAVE LOST REVENUES THAT RIGHTFULLY AND LEGALLY SHOULD HAVE BEEN THEIRS — STATE'S TAXATION STRUCTURE SHOULD BE CHANGED, HE TELLS AUDIENCE.

The following were the remarks of Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston at Hotel Bancroft, Worcester, October 9, 1944, before Probus Club:

Good Evening, Ladies and Gentlemen.

It is a source of genuine pleasure for me to appear here this evening, and I am deeply grateful to the Republican Tax Commissioner, Henry Long, for bringing out into the open the philosophy of taxation which I have known he and the Republican Party have held in their hearts over a long period of years, and which his recent utterances have proved beyond any reasonable doubt. The basic issue we are to discuss is — State finances and its effect on the tax rate of the cities and towns. It might be worth while to review briefly the series of events which occasioned this discussion tonight.

Recently the press called at the Mayor's office in Boston and asked me for my comments on the proposal of Tax Commissioner Henry Long that this is a "golden opportunity" to get more taxes from the home owner. I immediately condemned this proposal and said that the home owner was now already overtaxed. I was the first public official to publicly denounce Mr. Long's proposition, and later in an address before the Massachusetts Real Estate Boards I commented at length on the proposal and stated, "Those who ultimately bear the burden of State exploitation of cities and towns — I mean the home owner — the owner of the industrial plant, the owner of real estate devoted to commercial enterprises, who must ultimately pay the bills occasioned by administrative juggling by State officials by diverting revenues traditionally earmarked for local governments, have a right to demand that such aggravation of the local problem stop at once."

The Republican leaders first said that Long's proposal was correct, but after the terrific public clamor and opposition had made itself felt they changed their tune and agreed with me. Two days after my attack on Long's proposal my Republican opponent decided it was time to climb aboard and he, too, decided that Henry Long was wrong. In so doing, however, he had to agree with me, and I suppose that was bad politically, so my opponent makes a rather general accusation that "I was ignorant of State finances."

Knows State Finances.

Well, I think otherwise, as do the Mayors of every city of Massachusetts who, through the Mayor's Club, elected me as their Chairman, and as such I appeared as spokesman for all of the cities of the Commonwealth at the Legislature in an effort to get some remedy for, and to correct the unfair practices that the State had been committing on the cities and towns for decades.

I think that after we finish tonight you, my good friends, will have made up your minds that I do know State finances, and I do know what the State has been doing to the cities and towns and I know who is responsible for it.

What is wrong with the set-up? Why has Massachusetts more cities with a $40 tax rate than any other State in the Union? Why has Massachusetts more cities with a $35 tax rate than any other State in the Union? These facts appear in the Municipal Year Book which I have here and which anyone may examine. Now, mind you, I am not talking about the Boston tax rate alone. I am talking about Worcester, Cambridge, New Bedford, Lowell, Somerville, Springfield, Lawrence, Malden, Medford, and other cities — eighteen cities in our State, or more cities with a $35 tax rate in Massachusetts than all other cities in forty-four States of the Union combined.

Real estate therefore is overtaxed in Massachusetts and this isn't due to local government. It is due to the following facts: 1st, the State Government of Massachusetts is one of the few State Governments in the United States that does not live within its income. I mean by that, that the State Government spends more than it collects in its own tax revenues. In other words, every year the State Budget admits that there will be a deficit, and it assesses this deficit on the real estate of the cities and towns. (This State deficit — before Highway Fund Distribution — has run as high as eighteen million dollars!) Property owners in Worcester were required this year to contribute $562,771 to help the State make both ends meet. This whole sum was required to be extracted by the local assessors from the pocketbooks of the property owners.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

MAYOR PRESENTS $10,000 CHECK FROM BOSTON SALVAGE FUND TO SCHOOL DEPARTMENT FOR HOT LUNCHESES AND FREE MILK TO UNDER- NOURISHED AND UNDERPRIVILEGED CHILDREN — PART OF SUM COLLECTED IN RECENT DRIVES.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin will present a check for $10,000 from the Boston Salvage Fund to School Department officials, to provide hot lunches and milk free of charge to undernourished and underprivileged children.

The money will be taken from the proceeds obtained from the sale of waste paper and scrap tin contributed by patriotic Boston householders and storekeepers in recent city-wide salvage drives.

A recommendation by the Mayor that $10,000 of the salvage proceeds be given to the school officials for this purpose has been unanimously approved by the members of the Boston Salvage Committee.

In past years the hot milk and free lunch program has been financed with part of the funds from the Field Day staged annually by Mayor Tobin to raise money for this purpose and for other charitable purposes. Because of wartime conditions, however, no Field Day was held this year.

"I believe that the people of Boston will be glad to have a portion of the money obtained from the sale of the waste paper and scrap tin, which they so patriotically salvaged, used to provide milk and hot lunches for undernourished children whose parents are unable to afford the expense of providing it for them," the Mayor said.

"On behalf of the children who will benefit from this money I would like to express my thanks, as Mayor of the City, to every man, woman and child in Boston who made possible the use of $10,000 for this most worthwhile purpose.

"They should derive real satisfaction from the knowledge that their efforts in salvaging waste paper and tin cans not only have assisted the war effort but have also benefited underprivileged and undernourished children."

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

Estimated cost of extra work, $825.

Earl M. Carriere has been directed to perform the following extra work under the contract for bituminous concrete pavement in Corbet, Maxwell, Oakridge, Old Morton and Selden streets, dated August 8, 1944. Items ordered: Remove unsuitable material below sub-grade in Selden street, Dorchester, and replace with gravel filling. Prices to be paid for, about 150 cubic yards of additional excavation the sum of 60 cents per cubic yard; for furnishing and placing about 150 cubic yards of gravel the sum of $2 per yard. Estimated cost of extra work, $390.

LONG ISLAND PROPERTY LEASED TO FEDERAL GOVERNMENT RETURNED TO CITY.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Institutions Commissioner as contained in the following communication:

BOSTON, September 18, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—As of October 1, 1942, the City of Boston contracted with the Federal Government whereby a portion of Long Island was leased to the United States for a theater of operations in a war emergency, subject to the right of the Federal Government to terminate the contract upon thirty days' notice, for the nominal sum of $1.

I am inclosing copies of Supplemental Agreement terminating this contract accordingly, to the effect that the improvements involving both real estate and personal property made by the Federal Government on this leased portion of the island be relinquished, transferred, and delivered to the city upon payment of the sum of $250. These improvements consist of buildings, hutments, look-out towers, concrete bases, shelters, coal boxes, space heaters, scullery sinks, coal ranges, ice chest, lavatories, shower rooms, water tanks, etc., which can be used by this department very much to our advantage on Long Island. The price is more than a real bargain. However, it is felt by the Law Department that your Honor's approval to execute this Supplemental Agreement should be obtained before final execution of it. Since this is merely a payment for value received, I respectfully ask for such approval.

HUGH J. CAMPBELL,
Commissioner.

CHANGE IN CONTRACT.

Frederick W. Byron has been directed to make the following change in the contract for repairs to steel ferry bridge, South Ferry, South Slip, Boston side, dated June 13, 1944. Items ordered: Substitute fir for spruce for board fence and covering of the bottom chords of the trusses. Material for board fence and covering of the bottom chords of the trusses was specified as "spruce" in the contract. At this time the contractor is unable to obtain spruce but is able to furnish fir. Under the circumstances the interests of the city will not be affected by the use of fir. The substitution will entail no change in costs. Estimated cost of extra work, nothing.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

Upon October 3 the Mayor approved a contract with D'Amore Company, for building new north wall at the Charles Street Jail, Boston, at an estimated cost of $15,490. The following bids were received September 25:

D'Amore Company, $15,490; Farina Brothers, $16,200; Coleman Brothers Corporation, $16,281; Peter F. Rossi, $17,200; J. A. Singarella Company, $17,370; M. S. Kelliher Company, $17,800; Rich Brothers Construction Company, $19,422; John Hamre & Son, $20,650; Daniel Cunningham Construction Company, $21,400; Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., $21,600.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor approved contracts with firms and commercial institutions for furnishing labor, supplies, etc. Communications from the heads of the departments interested were as follows:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, September 23, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of May 8 of the current year a publicly advertised contract was awarded to the Rufo Construction Company of 1 Allen road, Brighton, for constructing artificial stone sidewalks in certain streets located in Wards 1, 2, 3 and 5. The work provided for under the provisions of this contract has been completed.

At the present time, however, there is a section of brick sidewalk located on East Eagle street, East Boston, between Putnam street and Lexington square, that should be replaced with granolithic, and I feel that it would be in the best interests of the city to award a contract for effecting this improvement to the above-referenced contractor, at the bid prices that were in effect in the publicly advertised contract referred to above. No advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for bids at this time, because the prices for which the Rufo Company did the work in the previous contract were obtained as a result of publicly advertised bids, and no lower prices could be obtained at this time if public bids were requested.

I respectfully recommend, therefore, that a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, be awarded to the Rufo Construction Company of 1 Allen road, Brighton, for replacing the present brick sidewalks on East Eagle street, East Boston, between Putnam street and Lexington square, with artificial stone sidewalks, at the following agreed prices, which, as stated, are the same prices that were in effect in the above-referenced publicly advertised contract:

15,000 square feet artificial stone sidewalks at 28 cents, $4,200; 1,000 linear feet edgestone, reset, at 15 cents, $150; 33 tons bank gravel at 25 cents, $8.25. Total, $4,358.25.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, September 27, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of July 12 of the current year a contract was awarded to J. D'Amico of 49 Ellison avenue, Dorchester, for resurfacing with sheet asphalt Walk Hill street, Dorchester, from Blue Hill avenue to Harvard street.

While the work required under the provisions of the contract document was in progress, it was found that certain areas of the roadway contained unsuitable material in the sub-grade that should be removed and replaced with a cement concrete base. We made arrangements with the contractor, therefore, to remove 225 cubic yards of this material at a price of $1.75 per cubic yard, and we also agreed upon a price with the contractor to replace this unsuitable material with 225 cubic yards of 1-2½-5 concrete at a price of $8.25 per cubic yard. The total cost of the work done under these two items was $2,250.

In addition, the estimated quantities on three items in the contract document were inadvertently estimated too low, with the result that it will be necessary to increase the quantities as shown in the following schedule, and at the prices shown, which are the prices included in the above-referenced contract that was awarded as a result of publicly advertised bids:

300 square yards of stripping at 55 cents per yard, $165; 100 tons of sheet asphalt at $7.50 per ton, $750; 225 tons of binder at $6.50 per ton, $1,462.50. Total, $2,377.50.

In view of the amount of money involved in the above-referenced extra work which totals $2,250, and in the above-scheduled additional quantities which total $2,377.50, or a grand total of $4,627.50, it will be necessary to award a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, in the latter-referenced amount to pay for the work performed under the items outlined hereinbefore. It would not be practical, of course, for the department to publicly advertise for bids for this work, because the contractor involved had the general contract for the street resurfacing work, and it would not be advisable to have another contractor work in conjunction with the general contractor, namely, J. D'Amico.

I respectfully request your approval, therefore, to the awarding of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to J. D'Amico of 49 Ellison avenue, Dorchester, in the total amount of $4,627.50, to provide for the effecting of the above-referenced street improvements in the section of Walk Hill street described hereinbefore.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, September 20, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the Charles J. McCarthy Company, 272 Dorchester avenue, South Boston, for furnishing to the Water Division of the Public Works Department:

One Model K105 Ingersol-Rand Deluxe style compressor, furnished complete for truck mounting with Massachusetts standard air receiver and electric starter, equipment to include one JB Jackhammer, two CC80 paving breakers, two 50-foot lengths air hose, coupled ¾ inch, $2,668.

Over a period of years the Ingersol-Rand compressor has proved most satisfactory for use by the Public Works Department, and as the Charles J. McCarthy Company is the direct agent of the manufacturer, no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

A. D. Daddario has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for construction work on Malden Bridge, from September 30, 1944, to December 31, 1944. This extension is requested for the reason that more unforeseen difficulties on the work were encountered than anticipated.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 59.

I. FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

In recognition of the Proclamation of the President of the United States and the Proclamation of his Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Fire Prevention Week is being observed in the City of Boston from October 8 to 14, inclusive.

An organized campaign to emphasize the importance of fire prevention is being undertaken for the seventh consecutive year by the Boston Fire Department, by means of a series of activities concentrated into the Fire Prevention Week period.

Fire stations shall be open to the public between the hours of 12 noon and 9 p. m., for inspection of the premises and for the conveyance of information concerning Fire Department functions and fire prevention matters. When citizens come to a station during Fire Prevention Week, the man on house patrol should summon the commanding officer, who should be available and ready to either show the visitors around the quarters and to answer questions regarding the department, or to have a suitable person assigned to this duty.

Children under twelve years of age should not be allowed in the fire stations unless accompanied by adults.

Canvas signs giving notice that Fire Prevention Week is in progress should be displayed from fire stations. Most stations have these signs in their possession from exhibitions of previous years, and it is the responsibility of company officers to see to it that these signs are kept in good condition from year to year. Signs should be displayed from Sunday, October 8, to Saturday, October 14, inclusive.

District chiefs are required to take an active interest in the fire prevention program in the following manner:

By arranging special visits to plants and large industrial premises in their districts during the week and arranging to have a special fire drill held during Fire Prevention Week, particularly where there are now fire brigades already existing. Notices of the date of the fire drill held and the rating of the drill, as either "Fair," "Poor" or "Good," should be forwarded to the Fire Prevention Division so that a summary may be made of the number and location of industrial fire drills conducted in the City of Boston during Fire Prevention Week on each day of the week.

All public and private schools within each district should be visited by a district chief or such officers as may be detailed by the district chief to assist in this work. School fire drills are to be held, and permission should be obtained for the presentation of a five-minute talk on the subject of fire and fire prevention at an assembly of the pupils. Such talks should not be read from any manuscript or printed pamphlet, but should be delivered directly by the district chief or by some uniformed member of the Fire Department capable of presenting such a talk effectively and properly. A model of such talk has been prepared by a member of the Boston School Department, and a copy may be obtained from the Fire Prevention Division if desired.

Home inspection blanks should be provided to various school principals or head masters for distribution and collection by the teacher-fire councilor of the building. Collection of the filled-out home inspection blanks from teacher-councilors by the Fire Department is an important feature of the use of these forms and should not be neglected. A list of the schools from which such forms have been collected should be forwarded to the Fire Prevention Division on or before October 25.

Officers assigned by the district chief to deliver addresses in schools likewise should be assigned to attend Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis, Board of Trade and other neighborhood and local organization functions, including women's clubs' meetings, in the district held during the week or, if no meeting is scheduled during the week, to attend any meeting held during the month of October. Chief officers should know the various representative social organizations in the community and should keep a list of them for reference at such times when fire prevention messages of importance to the community are to be conveyed to such organizations quickly.

All members of the department off duty are requested to come to the Bowdoin Square Fire Station at 2.45 p. m., Sunday, October 8, 1944, for the purpose of marching in a parade along Tremont street and Boylston street to the Charles street entrance of Boston Common, where an exhibition will be conducted by the drill team of the Fire Department. This annual parade will be led by his Honor Mayor Tobin, and has been a feature of our fire prevention activities for the past seven years. In order to conserve gasoline and rubber we cannot rely upon apparatus to fill out this parade to the same extent as in previous years; therefore we must rely upon a marching group of firemen.

There is no compulsion for any fireman to attend this parade. In some cities participation is compulsory in department parades. However, there is no program of more importance to the Fire Department in establishing its fire prevention program than this function, and any fireman who sincerely has the interest of the department at heart will come and take part in this parade, so that the public of the city will realize that our fire prevention messages are sincere, and not merely words designed for display purposes. The public has an opportunity to see the Fire Department on parade once each year. If the department makes a good impression, that is a credit to the department. If a small response of men results, the department will not stand as well as it deserves in the estimation of the thousands who witness the parade on Fire Prevention Sunday.

Once a year firemen are asked to make this contribution to the fire prevention program of the nation. Once a year, for a period of two hours in the afternoon of a Sunday, men off duty are requested to march in uniform and to witness their own department exhibition drill. They are privileged to bring their own families to witness the parade and the exhibition, and this enables them to acquaint members of the family with the type of men in the Fire Department and the kind of work performed by firemen in this city. Response this year is requested for 2.45 p. m. Sunday, October 8, 1944, at the Bowdoin Square Fire Station. Parade starts promptly at 3 p. m.

Throughout the week all firemen are to pay special attention to the observance of fire hazards and to the duty of observing and locating fire hazards along the route followed by them in their coming to and going from daily work. Dilapidated buildings, rubbish accumulations, and other hazards should be reported to the Fire Prevention Division. The public expects uniformed members of the Fire Department to know something about fire prevention work and to have an interest in this subject, since they are public employees engaged in this field. Firemen, therefore, during Fire Prevention Week should have this subject uppermost in their minds and they should not pass by any fire hazard at any time without making a note of it for reference to the Fire Prevention Division. In short, every uniformed man in the Fire Department is a fire prevention inspector, particularly during Fire Prevention Week.

An extensive program of radio broadcasts, news releases, store window displays, public exhibitions, has been arranged for Fire Prevention Week, notice of which will appear through the usual channels.

By order of Fire Commissioner
WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY.

SAMUEL J. POPE,
Chief of Department.

TRANSFER OF $100,000 TO PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Attached herewith is a request for transfer of appropriations in the sum of $100,000 from the Soldiers' Relief Department to the Public Welfare Department. There is an estimated surplus in excess of this amount in the Soldiers' Relief Department. The transfer is made necessary by virtue of the fact that Federal Grants in the items of Old Age Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children in the Public Welfare Department have been reduced below the original figures anticipated.

The estimated Federal Grants having been taken into consideration in the appropriations for these items in the budget, it is now imperative that some provision be made to offset the decrease by this transfer.

Consideration and adoption by your Honorable Body is therefore urgently requested.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Ordered, That in accordance with the provisions of section 3B of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, as amended by chapter 604 of the Acts of 1941, the City Auditor be, and hereby is, authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Soldiers' Relief Department, F. Special Items, $100,000, to the appropriation for Public Welfare Department, Central Office, F. Special Items, $100,000.

EVENING VISITING HOURS AT CITY HOSPITAL.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That the Boston City Hospital Trustees, through his Honor the Mayor, be requested to change the visiting time in the evening from 6 to 6.30 p. m. to 6 to 7 p. m.

Coun. KINSELLA—Just a brief word on that. I have received a number of complaints lately from people who work all day and find it extremely difficult to get to the hospital at six o'clock in the evening and, as the result of their inability to get there at six o'clock, they are often penalized as much as twenty minutes in the matter of a half hour visit with some dear relative or friend. So I hope that on further persuasion the Hospital Trustees will see fit to revise the visiting time in the evening from 6 to 6.30 to a new hour of 6 to 7.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

NOYES PLAYGROUND, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Park Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to immediately put in proper condition the Noyes Playground, in the Orient Heights section of East Boston, for the football season.

Coun. COFFEY—Talking on this order, I might start out by saying that the Noyes Playground, in East Boston, is the only playground we have left in the entire district. It is in very poor condition, and I would ask this of the Mayor not only through orders, but because of one day last April when he and I took a ride around the district to look over certain sections where we might put in some improvements, we stopped at this Noyes Playground and the Mayor and I got out of the car and walked over the playground. I pointed out boulders that were sticking up from the earth. I showed him three sewers right in the center of the baseball and football fields. I asked him to put lights and a drinking fountain, and so forth, in there, and he agreed he would. Since that time the Mayor must have been approached by some thirty to fifty people in the neighborhood, begging him to do something about this playground. One young fellow who is playing for the St. Lazarus team got his leg broken. That was yesterday. The players think it was caused, first, by his stepping on the hard part of the surface and slipping; whereas, if he had been able to hold his feet and if the ground had been in good condition the accident would never have taken place. Incidentally, while I am talking about this accident I would like to get this in. His leg was not completely broken; it was a shattered break, and the boy suffered extremely while waiting for the ambulance. He had to wait twenty minutes, as there was not one available, as the Relief Station was closed yesterday. Finally a patrol wagon came up. The police officers not being instructed in first aid, the boy suffered while being put on the stretcher and put into the patrol wagon. He was taken through the tunnel and the patrol wagon ran out of gas in the tunnel, and the boy lay there suffering until a patrol wagon came from another division and they transferred him from one to the other to take him over to the City Hospital. There was a delay of over an hour which, of course, would be impossible if the East Boston Relief Station had been open. I had a group of over seventy-five boys meet with me. The leader of this group had been begging for the last four or five months to have that playground fixed. They have about twenty teams, and they all have to take turns playing football. They have two "measly" showers in the club house, and if forty or fifty boys want to take a shower after the game they have to take turns. I am putting it right up to the Mayor, the same as these boys put it up to me last night. If something is not done about fixing this playground—and I am saying they are going pretty far over there when one pastor who has never uttered one word about politics in the district came out publicly and condemned the administration for not doing anything about this playground. We have one playground to satisfy some 70,000 people, and I think it is high time that the Mayor took some of that money that has been lying idle—especially the $25,000 we appropriated for playground equipment, and so forth. He hasn't seen fit to spend one penny of that this year. I think it is about time he did something for that playground. Now, everybody in that whole section has to use that playground, and these boys last night were not "kidding" or fooling. They made the statement that, if necessary, 500 or 600 of them will march on City Hall and demand the Mayor do something about, at least, this one playground that we have left over there. Every other playground is taken away from us, either to build a school on the playground or by giving it to the aviation clique that have come over there and, no doubt, are going to steal Amerena Park and Wood Island Park. As I say, we have only one playground available, and I have been up here for five years asking the Mayor for playground areas in East Boston. It has reached the stage where even priests at the altar condemn this administration for not doing anything about playgrounds and play areas for the children. There are about 20,000 over there. God knows they have to go somewhere to play. If they play on the streets the police stop them, and mothers go out to the cruising car and tell the police they have to play somewhere. There isn't a decent playground in the entire district. So I say, in closing, it is up to the Mayor himself to take some action and put that playground in condition so it can be used for Saturday and Sunday games that will take place there during the football season.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

MAYOR TOBIN DEBATES STATE TAXES BEFORE WORCESTER GROUP.

PROBLEM TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD.

As a matter of sound common sense, from the point of view of budgets, we all know that if we plan to buy an automobile, or take a vacation, or even buy a suit of clothes, we first have to be able to answer to ourselves how are we going to pay for it, and in the case of cities, before any substantial improvement is authorized, the local officials ask themselves, "What effect is this going to have on our tax rate?" But those in charge of spending money for the State have none of these common ordinary restraints. They are free to appropriate whatever sums they desire, knowing that any excess over and beyond State revenue will be borne by local taxpayers.

Now the Republicans themselves have for years said this is unfair and they have appointed Recess Commissions each year for at least twenty-five years to study this problem and correct it, but the best they could do was to recommend another Recess Commission, so today we are faced with the same problem that confronted us twenty-five years ago.

I propose to recommend to the Legislature that the State deficit tax be eliminated while there is a surplus. The State must live within its own revenues.

In order to fully understand this problem it is necessary to get a little of the background of taxation in Massachusetts. Historically, all wealth, real and personal, was assessed and collected locally. That is, assessors of the city or town where the wealth was located and owned collected the taxes. With the development of corporate finance and business many complications arose, and in order to take care of this situation the State stepped in with the understanding that it was merely to collect all these moneys for the benefit of the cities and towns and then distribute it back to the cities and towns minus the administrative costs to the State for its distribution. This money was to go back to the cities and towns in the same ratio that it would have got if it collected the money directly, except that the wealth located in the State and owned by non-residents, which rightfully belonged to the State, was retained by the State. The ratio of non-residents' wealth to residents' wealth was determined to be one sixth to five sixths, and this ratio was to be used in all kinds of distribution. This was also to be the theory behind the corporate franchise taxes—the State to collect the money, distributing five sixths to the cities and towns, and retaining one sixth.

Now, here is briefly the history on corporate franchise taxes. In 1923 the State retained approximately 15 per cent of these revenues. In 1930, 29 per cent. In 1934, 46 per cent. In 1939 the State was retaining 43 per cent, and in 1941 if I, as President, and other members of the Mayors' Club of Massachusetts didn't catch Mr. Long "red-handed" in his House Bill 489, which he entitled, "A Bill to Adjust Veterans' Benefits," but which was in reality an attempt to get all of the corporate franchise, the State would now be getting 100 per cent of the corporate franchise. In other words, from a supposed partnership of one sixth to the State, five sixths to the cities and towns, the State would receive six sixths.

HOW STATE HELPED.

Now we have heard a lot from the State about helping real estate. Well, let's see what they did. In 1939, among other new revenues imposed, totaling fourteen million dollars annually, was a cigarette tax,—chapter 454 of the Acts of 1939, "An Act for a temporary cigarette tax," and establishing a welfare reimbursement fund and relieving the burden on real estate. Section 21 of this Act provided in substance for the earmarking of this revenue for welfare reimbursement to relieve the burden on real estate. In 1941, however, the cigarette tax, which was supposed to be a temporary tax, was extended, but lo and behold, the welfare reimbursement section was omitted, and chapter 417 of 1941 makes no further reference to welfare reimbursement to help real estate. This revenue, more than eight million dollars, now goes into the general fund which the State may, and does, use for any purpose whatsoever.

Mr. Cahill has said a lot about paying off the State debt which the Democrats handed to him. First, let us understand that there could be no bonded debt without Republican votes because it requires a two thirds vote in the Legislature. The Republicans have and have had control of both branches of the Legislature, and, further, that this debt consists in part of the 19 million dollar bond issue of 1938 for hurricane relief, approved almost unanimously.

This debt was paid not through any economies of the State administration but by revenues from the gasoline and cigarette taxes, increase in the liquor tax, income surtaxes, and the like, amounting to at least 14 million dollars of additional revenue—and let me point out that while this debt was paid off substantially by 1944, nevertheless, the Tax Commissioner still collects 14 million dollars in additional revenues and is still assessing a State tax on the cities and towns. There has been no relief given to real estate.

What did I do with retirement of debt in Boston? When I took office in 1937 the City debt was approximately 160 million dollars. By December 24, 1944, it will be 114 million dollars, a reduction of 46 million dollars. I imposed no new taxes. The real estate tax was stabilized and the City of Boston paid 25 per cent of the entire State deficit in addition.

It is absolutely necessary to make a sweeping change in the State's taxation structure and such a change should be made openly and part of a comprehensive program. That program will be discussed later.

The matters I have discussed show that the State through various bills has taken away from the cities and towns revenues which have not been replaced. Such a proceeding is both unfair and adds greatly to the load of the already overburdened real estate in local communities.

DRASTIC CHANGES IN BOSTON'S SCHOOL SYSTEM URGED BY SURVEY IN REPORT TO FINANCE COMMISSION AFTER EXHAUSTIVE STUDY OF CONDITIONS — IN FIRST PART OF COMPREHENSIVE INVESTIGATION MANY CRITICISMS OF PRESENT OPERATION OF SYSTEM ARE OFFERED WITH RECOMMENDATIONS BY WHICH FAULTS DISCOVERED MAY BE REMEDIED — SOME BLAME FOR CONDITIONS PLACED ON CITIZENS — SURVEY COMMITTEE COMPOSED OF EMINENT EDUCATORS AND INVESTIGATIONAL EXPERTS.

The following is a digest of the report of the Boston School Survey as presented to the Finance Commission:

On February 4, 1944, the Finance Commission of the City of Boston, through its chairman, executed a contract with George D. Strayer, of New York City, for a survey of the Boston City Schools. The Survey was begun on March first and completed during October. The full Report, consisting of more than 1,700 mimeographed pages, was filed with the Finance Commission on October 15, 1944.

The full Report can have only a limited audience, for it is too long and too detailed in its presentation of statistical data and technical analyses to have general circulation. The present Digest of the Report has accordingly been prepared to make available to a larger reading public, in compact form, the most important findings and recommendations of the Survey. The reader who wishes to review the full evidence supporting the conclusions presented here is referred to the complete Report.

The staff responsible for the field work of the Survey and for the preparation of the Report consisted of the following persons: George D. Strayer, Professor Emeritus of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, Director of the Survey; William L. Connor, formerly Director, Bureau of Research, Cleveland, Ohio, Public Schools, Associate Director; Harold E. Akerly, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Rochester, New York; Dorothea F. Behm, Director of School Cafeterias, Public Schools, Hartford, Connecticut; S. M. Brownell, Professor of Educational Administration, Yale University; Mary de Garmo Bryan, Professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University; W. Linwood Chase, Professor of Education, Boston University; Dana Cotton, Director of Vocational Guidance, State Department of Education, Maine; Paul E. Elicker, Executive Secretary, National Association of Secondary School Principals, Washington, D. C.; Paul L. Essert, Superintendent of Schools, Grosse Pointe, Michigan; Charles M. Herlihy, President, State Teachers College, Fitchburg, Massachusetts; Wylma R. Kellar, Assistant Professor of Education, Boston College; John W. Lewis, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Baltimore, Maryland; Ernest M. Morris, M. D., Director of Public Health, Newton, Massachusetts; Edwin F. Nelson, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Hartford, Connecticut; F. G. Nichols, Associate Professor of Education, Harvard University; John E. Nichols, Supervisor, School Buildings and Plans, State Department of Education, Connecticut; W. E. Peik, Dean of the School of Education, University of Minnesota; Thomas H. Quigley, Professor of Vocational Education, Georgia School of Technology; Paul T. Rankin, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Detroit, Michigan; The Reverend Arthur J. Sheehan, S. J., Prefect of Studies for the Jesuit Schools and Colleges of the New England Province; Alfred D. Simpson, Associate Professor of Education, Harvard University; Helen B. Sullivan, Associate Professor of Education, Boston University; Lee M. Thurston, Deputy Superintendent, Department of Public Instruction, State of Michigan; Nelson S. Walke, Dean, Sargent College of Physical Education, Boston; Jesse F. Williams, M. D., Professor Emeritus of Physical and Health Education, Teachers College, Columbia University; William E. Young, Director of Elementary Education, State Department of Education, Albany, New York.

Research Associates: Wendell B. Andrews, State Department of Education, New York; J. K. Flanders, formerly Director of Training, State Teachers College, Oswego, New York; Wayne S. Koch, formerly Principal of High School, Phillipsburg, New Jersey; John K. Moulton, formerly Principal of High School, Rockport, Maine.

Secretaries: Frances Callahan, Mary A. Davidson, Dorothy Lefavour, Patricia Morse and Virginia Perry.

Acknowledgment.

The survey staff began its investigation with the expectation of receiving assistance from the administrative and supervisory officers of the Boston City Schools, for without such assistance the conduct of the inquiry would have been exceedingly difficult. And it should be recorded that this assistance was given unhesitatingly, generously, and cordially. The staff members of the school system were tireless in providing needed information and alert in interpreting and clarifying obscurities. Throughout the period of fact-finding and analysis, that is to say from March 1 to August 1, 1944, numberless exchanges of view were made between the members of the two staffs. Nearly every significant finding of the inquiry has been discussed with an administrator or supervisor prior to its inclusion in the Report, and every major recommendation for future action has been reviewed by one or more administrative officers.

This does not mean that the recommendations as they stand have in all cases the endorsement of the administrative officers of the Boston City Schools. Such concurrence of judgment cannot be expected, nor is it necessarily to be desired. It does mean, however, that the survey staff has subjected its conclusions to the scrutiny of the responsible, seasoned administrators of the system under examination, and that full account has been taken of reasons for dissent.

SCHOOL SURVEY REPORT SUBMITTED TO FINANCE COMMISSION—MANY CHANGES RECOMMENDED BY DIRECTOR GEORGE D. STRAYER AND STAFF.

To Superintendent Arthur L. Gould, and to the other officers and employees of the Boston City Schools, too numerous to mention by name, who have assisted the investigators, the survey staff offers grateful acknowledgment.

THE BOSTON PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The schools of Boston have a legend. Their brilliant career has no parallel anywhere. It began as far back as 1635, when the town meeting agreed that "brother Mr Philemon Pormort shalbe intreated to become scolemaster for the training and nourtering of children wth us." If this was a small beginning, it was a good beginning, and from this starting point the Boston schools made prolonged and uninterrupted progress in becoming free, universal, non-sectarian, classless, and impartial. As the town grew, the schools were steadily enlarged, their facilities were improved, and their support was increased, and altogether, for the first time in history, the system of public education was made the object of the very great solicitude and support of the townspeople as a whole. And so the School Committee of Boston was able to say in a report in 1823, two years after it had established the first high school in the United States:

Thus we have endeavoured to give a view of the means, provided at the public expense, for the gratuitous instruction of the children of all classes of the citizens of Boston. They are offered equally to all. The poorest inhabitant may have his children instructed from the age of four to seventeen, at schools, some of which are already equal, if not superior to any private schools in our country; and all of them may be made so.

No other city in the United States could say as much.

BOSTON'S SCHOOLS HAVE DEMONSTRATED A GREAT VITALITY.

The legend does not end there; it has continued, manifesting itself in many ways, new and old. The Public Latin School, which had nurtured five signers of the Declaration of Independence, vigorously maintained itself as a center of sound preparatory-school learning. One hundred years ago the Boston masters began a thoroughgoing process of humanizing classroom methods, and this substitution of interest for the birch rod contributed greatly to laying the psychological foundations of modern American method in childhood education. John D. Philbrick, who served as Superintendent of Schools for twenty of the years between 1856 and 1878, vitalized the administration and supervision of the schools and won national renown thereby. The School Committee, once numbering no fewer than 116 members, was reduced in 1875 to 25 members, ten years later to 24 members, and in 1906 to 5. In the meantime the Superintendent of Schools was given increased power in selecting members of the teaching staff. Such measures foreshadowed for the sprawling school system a compact and efficient central planning and administrative agency, unhappily never fully realized. The Boston schools established courses and schools for commercial and trade training and pioneered in the field of pupil guidance. In generosity of school support, Boston long held the lead and is still in the vanguard of American cities. Clearly the vitality that once was Boston's is not altogether a thing of the past.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF BOSTON'S SCHOOLS WILL REQUIRE UNDERSTANDING AND SUPPORT BY THE PEOPLE OF BOSTON.

The value of a review of past history is not alone to discover how the peculiar educational genius of the community tends to express itself, but also to learn how the community has in the past sought to improve its schools, why it succeeded when it did succeed, and what has caused attempts at improvement to miscarry. The Boston schools have been repeatedly studied. The reform movement of 1905-06, which achieved notable results, was primarily self-initiated. It invoked the interest of the people of Boston, and particularly of a Boston citizen, James J. Storrow, whose name is associated with the reforms of that period. By contrast, the survey of 1916 was not strongly supported by the citizens, and the defensive reaction of the school administrative group to the changes proposed in the report was so powerful that nothing was done. The survey of 1930-31, like the present study, was initiated by the Finance Commission of the City of Boston, and although it proposed sweeping and essential reforms in the organization and administrative management of the school system, similar to those of the 1916 report, and supported its propositions with competent reasoning and lucid explanation, many of its proposals—the most important of them, in fact—went unheeded.

A survey may be an important event in the forward progress of a school system. It should bring in a fresh point of view, and raise questions, even if it does not answer them all, about policies and procedures that are being followed habitually and as a matter of course. It should bring to bear upon the total educational program a perspective and a sense of proportion denied to those within the system by virtue of their proximity to it. The greatest misfortune occurs when a survey report, wrought out with effort and expense, is refused a hearing; when a governing board, either explicitly or implicitly, requires its administrative officers to spend their time refuting it instead of profiting from it; or when those persons whose work is dealt with in the report are unwilling to give their minds open access to it.

All attempts since 1906 to engineer organic and fundamental improvements in the Boston school system have been unavailing. Clearly it will again require the compulsion of an enlightened public opinion to set things right.

THE LEGAL BASIS OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

The fundamental authority upon which the Boston school organization rests is the law of the Commonwealth, for public education is a state and not a local function of government. The Massachusetts Legislature has, however, chosen to have its schools locally administered, and accordingly it has arranged for the establishment of local school districts, with governing boards, or school committees, whose members are locally chosen, and it has given to these school committees the responsibility of raising money, providing school buildings and other facilities, employing teachers, and exercising a general control over the schools, subject to the laws of the Commonwealth. The School Committee of Boston is a body corporate, its officers are state officers, and its position in the schools of the City of Boston is similar to that of the board of directors of a corporation.

How the School Committee shall proceed in the performance of its business is a matter that is largely left to the Committee, but the statute offers a broad hint on the subject. It provides that no member of the Committee may serve as superintendent, assistant superintendent, or secretary; and this plainly means that the Commonwealth does not expect the Committee men to perform the duties of administration, but rather that the Committee should delegate those duties to its professional staff. And it further denies administrative powers to the members of the School Committee by requiring that lawful acts of the Committee shall be limited to those taken in meeting, and by a majority vote of the Committee. The Committeeman, therefore, has no powers, legislative or administrative, in his own right, but may fulfill his membership duties only as he meets with his fellow members in deliberative council and casts his vote.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE SHOULD BE A POLICY-MAKING BODY.

In the development of American education there has come into almost universal use a legal plan of operation in which the control of the public school system is exercised by a school committee composed of laymen, and the administration, subject to this control, is committed to a professional group. This division of responsibility is seen to be highly desirable, for unless control is retained in a popular body which will give expression to the needs and interests of the people, the schools are likely to go off at a tangent, and follow lines of development that are unrelated to the public welfare. And if laymen themselves take over the administration of school affairs, the administration is likely to be badly done, and the efforts of the teachers dissipated through mismanagement.

With such a division of responsibility, clearly indicated in Massachusetts law as well as by American custom, the task of the School Committee becomes manifest. It is that of determining the task of the schools, of defining that task, and of establishing policies and obtaining means by which the task can be accomplished. In its legislative capacity the School Committee must fix the amounts of money necessary to carry forward the community program of education, and provide an administrative framework by which the objectives will be realized. The School Committee, in short, must set the job to be done, and although it turns over the job to the professional group, it must hold the group to strict accountability for its satisfactory accomplishment.

THE BOSTON SCHOOL COMMITTEE AT WORK.

The full Report opens with an account of the Boston School Committee at work—a proper starting point, for here is the center of control. It is a disappointing story. The reader is shown a public board which has very large responsibilities, but gives little suggestion that it knows what those responsibilities are. In the discharge of its trusteeship the School Committee spends upwards of $16,000,000 a year, but it does not have a budget worthy of the name. With more than 5,000 public employees under its control, it manifests less concern about their collective efficiency and welfare than it does about their individual pretensions to favor. It operates without established policies, and with no discernible plan for the administration of the educational enterprise.

What is said in the full Report can be sketched here only in barest outline, but enough has perhaps been said to suggest to the reader that the survey staff has found that the Boston School Committee is operating without any adequate conception of the responsibilities of a public board or of the obligations of public stewardship.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE INTERFERES WITH THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE SCHOOLS.

The Report is sharply critical of the manner in which the Boston School Committee approaches its task. It is no less severe about the way it performs its work. A school committee, composed, as of course it should be, of lay citizens, who are uninstructed in educational administration, will ordinarily be inclined to leave matters of management to its professional administrators. But that is not the way the Boston School Committee operates. The casual visitor at meetings of the School Committee cannot fail to observe the cavalier manner in which it flouts the advice of its administrative officers. Its members interfere constantly with the administrative management of the schools. They frequently ignore the existence of the Superintendent of Schools by dealing directly with his subordinates. There is nothing in its operations to suggest that the present School Committee has any idea that its function is legislative rather than administrative, that its members should act collectively as a governing board and not individually as administrators. It does not establish policy, unless it is to be assumed that an aggregate of many special and frequently conflicting rules constitutes policy. It has no long-term plan for the future, nor has it required its executives to prepare such a plan for its consideration. The issues with which it busies itself during its sessions are day-to-day issues, such as the question of who will get this job or that, or how it shall distribute a revealed surplus of money to the greatest advantage. And even in dealing with matters of this sort, the Boston School Committee does not always demand that it be supplied by its executives with the factual bases necessary for making good decisions, nor does it ask to be advised by them in terms of sound educational doctrine.

A CHANGE OF MEMBERSHIP WILL NOT NECESSARILY IMPROVE MATTERS.

Why the Boston School Committee should have come to operate so ineffectively is often debated in Boston circles. Many Boston citizens appear to believe that the trouble lies in the present membership. They feel that if a different set of persons were elected, the situation might be improved. But the Report suggests that this would not necessarily be the case. It places the blame not so much on the present members of the School Committee as on the subjective mechanism in which they are caught up. The Report is not intended as a eulogy of the present members—it is anything but that—but as it analyzes their motives and the influences to which they feel bound to respond, it does not find that the present incumbents should carry all the blame. Instead, it concludes that there is no likelihood of escape from the present modes of conduct and operation, no matter who might be elected, so long as the present method of electing them to membership is retained.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE HAS BECOME A POLITICAL SPRINGBOARD.

The position of School Committeeman is fundamentally one of trust and not of gain. In American public affairs, school boards have given the best service to their communities where membership has been regarded as a call to high public responsibility, where membership has been viewed as an end in itself rather than as a stepping-stone to something higher. But in Boston the School Committee has become a proving ground for the politically ambitious. When the visitor sees the Committeemen enliven and prolong their meetings with derisive remarks about each other, and by delivering fawning speeches to the gallery, and by issuing challenges to physical contest as a means of reaching decisions, he may set these phenomena down as a pattern of behavior that is intended to land them in desired offices at the disposal of City, County, State, or Nation.

To be sure, the people of the larger community should always be able to call up to another sphere of usefulness any one of its citizens who, as a school board member, has demonstrated an exceptional zeal and capacity for public service. But it is quite another thing to use membership on the School Committee, as it is used in Boston, to curry political preferment, or to make the meeting place of the Committee over into a theater for displaying the cheap tricks of the vote-getter, or to adopt the attitude of stewardship toward school affairs expressed in the now-famous phrase of a Boston School Committeeman: "We got the money to spend."

There is nothing in the present arrangement that breeds devotion to the public welfare. It does not promise to yield good school committees. And as long as the present method of election continues, it is to be expected that persons motivated by political ambition will continue to direct the school affairs of the City of Boston.

THE CONSTITUENTS ARE PARTLY TO BLAME.

One reason why the Committeemen behave as they do is because their constituents expect it of them. In Boston there are a great many citizens who feel that they can demand favors of the members of the School Committee, some because of services rendered in electing them to office, others because it lies in their power to bestow future favors of the same kind. The stark contempt for all respectable standards of deliberative action which one sees at the meetings of the School Committee is not altogether their own idea. It is a part of the political pattern in which they operate.

When a citizen of Boston attends a meeting of his School Committee, he may be shocked by what he sees. But if his civic conscience is outraged, as well it may be, let him remember that the condition he witnesses is not one for which he and his fellow citizens can disavow responsibility. Let him place some but not all of the blame on the Committeemen. As a school system will seldom rise above the level of the school board which controls it, so will the school board be unlikely to rise above the active constituents who control them.

THE POLITICAL LINK MUST BE BROKEN.

The Report, therefore, expresses the conviction of the survey staff that the answer to Boston's problem of getting good school committees is not as simple as merely to change its present composition. It asserts that a fundamental change is needed to break the hold of possessive constituents upon the members of the Committee. Whoever is to serve properly on the Boston School Committee needs to have an opportunity for disinterested service that does not now exist. To expect independence of action in the present state of affairs is to expect a fortitude of mind and purpose that few persons possess.

A situation needs to be created in which a Committeeman will be able to say to his patronage-seeking friends: "I must consider your request not in terms of my friendship for you, but in terms of my responsibility as a public official." He must be able to say to a seeker of promotion: "We have a staff of competent people, and you must proceed through the regular administrative channels. If you receive your promotion, I shall be pleased, but I shall not say a word in your behalf." And he should always be able to say about administrative matters in general, without fear of political reprisal: "Only in the most extreme cases will the School Committee intervene, and then such intervention must be in terms of the welfare of the school program, or in terms of a policy, or on an accumulation of grievances, but never on the basis of someone's pet peeve." If such a situation seems fantastically out of reach for Boston, let it be said that it can be brought about.

RECOMMENDATION.

The Report recommends that the method of nominating and selecting the members of the School Committee be changed, by an act of the State Legislature.

At present, the Committeemen are nominated by petition. It requires the accumulation of 2,000 signatures to be nominated. In 1941 eighteen names appeared on the ballot. This is an example of the long ballot at its worst.

It is proposed that two eligibles should be named for each vacancy by a committee of citizens of the City and the Commonwealth. It is suggested that this committee could well be composed of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts and the Presidents of the following organizations: the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Home and School Association, the Boston Federation of Labor, the League of Women Voters, Boston College, Boston University, Harvard University, and Simmons College.

The statute should provide for appointment to the School Committee from such a list of eligibles by the Mayor of the City of Boston. Appointees would serve for two years, and then their appointment for the remainder of the six-year term would be subject to confirmation or rejection by the electors of the City of Boston.

The School Committee is the most important agency of the school system. With a good School Committee many other good things would follow. This is therefore the most important single recommendation in the Report.

ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT.

The administrative organization of the Boston school system is constituted as follows. There are two boards of control, the School Committee and the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners. Under the School Committee there are four executive officers, each accountable directly to the Committee: (1) the Superintendent of Schools, (2) the Business Manager, (3) the Schoolhouse Custodian, and (4) the Secretary. Sharing responsibilities with these four top executives are four boards, likewise accountable directly to the School Committee: (1) the Board of Superintendents, composed of the Superintendent of Schools, the Secretary, and the six assistant superintendents, (2) the Board of Apportionment, consisting of the Superintendent of Schools, the Engineer, the Secretary, the Business Manager, and the assistant superintendents, (3) the Salary Board, composed of the Superintendent of Schools, the Secretary, the Business Manager, and the assistant superintendents, and (4) the Trial Board for Custodians, composed of the Secretary, the Business Manager, and a custodian.

Each of the four executive officers herein named has departmental subordinates. Those of the Superintendent of Schools are the most numerous. They include the six assistant superintendents, the directors, and the variously titled school administrators, supervisors, and teachers, of lesser rank, numbering altogether more than four thousand.

In addition to the officers and boards named in the foregoing, there is a Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners with an executive officer titled Superintendent of Construction. This part of the school organization lies outside the practical control of the School Committee. Its operations are discussed in that part of the Report which deals with business administration. It should be mentioned in passing, however, that the Report recommends that the powers of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners should be transferred to the School Committee, in order that schoolhousing activities may be brought into the educational picture.

A SINGLE ADMINISTRATIVE HEAD IS NEEDED.

The administrative organization of the Boston school system has been sketched only in the very broadest outline in order to simplify it for the reader. Thus oversimplified, it still appears confused and confusing, as indeed it is. The general idea appears to have been to pile board upon interlocking board, to put executive alongside executive, and to let none of them be answerable for what they do to any authority except the School Committee itself. That the school system should have been able to struggle along with so chaotic an administrative organization testifies to its survival powers.

The Report recommends that the Superintendent of Schools should be made the administrative head of the school system in fact as well as in name, by appropriate legislation and by changes in the by-laws of the School Committee. It calls to the support of this recommendation the following quotation from the Report of the President's Committee on Administrative Management:

Fortunately the foundations of effective management in public affairs, no less than in private, are well known. They have emerged universally wherever men have worked together for some common purpose, whether through the state, the church, the private association, or the commercial enterprise. . . . Stated in simple terms these canons of efficiency require the establishment of a responsible and effective chief executive as the center of energy, direction, and administrative management; the systematic organization of all activities in the hands of a qualified personnel under the direction of the chief executive; and to aid him in this, the establishment of appropriate managerial and staff agencies. There must also be provision for planning, a complete fiscal system, and means for holding the Executive accountable for his program.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE BOARDS SHOULD BE ABOLISHED.

The administrative boards within the school system should be abolished, and their functions taken over by the proper administrative officers. The existence of administrative boards is a denial of the principle of responsible administration. Administrative boards waste endless hours fussing with detail. Their members are not driven by a sense of personal responsibility to make use of their very best judgment. It is no uncommon thing to find an official supposedly responsible for the work of a department, even the Superintendent of Schools, bringing before one of the administrative boards a proposal concerning the administration of his work, only to have it vetoed by his administrative equals or subordinates. Said the President's Committee on Administrative Management on this subject:

For purposes of management, boards and commissions have turned out to be failures. Their mechanism is inevitably slow, cumbersome, wasteful, and ineffective, and does not lend itself readily to cooperation with other agencies. Even strong men on boards find that their individual opinions are watered down in reaching board decisions. When freed from the work of management, boards are, however, extremely useful and necessary for consultation, discussion, and advice; for representation of diverse views and citizen opinion; for quasi-judicial action; and as a repository of corporate powers.

The survey staff accordingly recommends that the Board of Superintendents should be relieved of its administrative functions. As hereinbefore noted, these should be lodged with the Superintendent of Schools. The Board of Superintendents should continue to exist as an advisory body, with quasi-judicial powers of review in matters of retirement and dismissal of personnel. The Salary Board and the Board of Apportionment should be completely abolished. Their present administrative duties are the proper responsibility of the administrative officer in charge of business operations. The Trial Board for Custodians should also be abolished, and the quasi-judicial functions which it now performs in reviewing matters of retirement or dismissal should be transferred to the Board of Superintendents.

THE ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS SHOULD BE PLACED ON FUNCTIONAL ASSIGNMENT.

The assistant superintendents in the Boston school system are at present assigned to responsibilities that are both geographical and functional. Geographically, each has responsibility for a section of the city, for all levels of schools, elementary, intermediate, and upper secondary. Functionally, each one has more than a dozen specified assignments of a more or less indiscriminate nature. One of them, as an illustration, has the following functional assignments: (1) Board of Examiners, (2) Committee on Examinations, (3) Home Instruction of Physically Handicapped Children, (4) Industrial and Agricultural Education, (5) Manual and Fine Arts, (6) Mechanic Arts, (7) Gardening, (8) Salesmanship, (9) Art Museum, (10) War Production and Apprentice-Journeymen Training, (11) Training School for Teachers of Mechanic Arts, (12) Committee on Industrial Textbooks, and (13) Ratings for Promotion.

THE ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS SHOULD BE GIVEN A CHANCE TO DO BETTER ADMINISTRATIVE WORK.

The present-day assistant superintendent is a lineal descendent of the old supervisor in the Boston school system. The old supervisor was not so much administrator as inspector. By this tradition the assistant superintendents are expected to spread themselves thinly over everything. They would like to specialize if they could, and it is the strong conviction of the survey staff that they should be allowed to do so. The Report acknowledges many fine things they are accomplishing, and trying to accomplish, on their present limited functional assignments, and it urges that they be relieved of their burdensome and largely futile geographical responsibilities in order to do much more. There is no limit to the competence that may be developed when each assistant superintendent has turned in his roving commission and been given a job to do that is his own.

It must not be said that the assignment of the assistant superintendents to functional responsibilities should be held in abeyance until they are fully expert. Such a condition would never come about in the existing situation. Boston must develop its present talent to the point of maximum effectiveness by placing definite responsibility upon its assistant superintendents and thus encouraging their growth. And, when vacancies occur, replacements can be made in terms of definite job qualifications.

There is no desire on the part of the survey staff to separate the assistant superintendents from the work of planning for the school system as a whole. The recommendation for reorganization provides for cabinet-type meetings of the Board of Superintendents, in which each assistant superintendent will be able to advise the Superintendent of Schools, and through him the School Committee. An assistant superintendent should be able to carry his special point of view to the Superintendent of Schools. Good policies seldom come into existence by trading votes, but rather by pooling ideas.

SCHOOL SURVEY REPORT.

A FUNCTIONAL ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION IS RECOMMENDED.

The School Committee, as the controlling board, is placed at the top in the governing policy plan as recommended. Its function is to determine the policies for the school system.

Below the School Committee is placed the Superintendent of Schools, whose function is general administration. All other administrators appear below him, and are administratively responsible to him. It is recommended that one assistant superintendent be named deputy, and serve, without specified departmental responsibility, as second in administrative command.

Two boards, the Board of Superintendents and the Board of Examiners, are pictured with lines showing that they report to the Superintendent of Schools. The Board of Superintendents is shown as an advisory and quasi-judicial body. It advises the Superintendent as a cabinet, and serves as a court of appeal in matters of retirement and dismissal of personnel. The Board of Examiners prepares lists of eligibles for appointment and promotion, and submits these lists to the Superintendent of Schools.

THE ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS ARE GIVEN FUNCTIONAL ASSIGNMENTS.

The large units of the school administrative organization are six in number. They are the following: (1) Personnel, (2), Curriculum Development and Improvement of Instruction, (3) Elementary Schools, (4) Secondary Schools, (5) Adult Education and Special Services, and (6) Business Affairs and Housing. Each of these six units should be headed up by an assistant superintendent. The Report provides for the option of retaining the title of Business Manager for the head of the unit on Business Affairs and Housing, even though, in a functional organization, this title is a misnomer.

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS SHOULD NOMINATE THE ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS.

The Superintendent of Schools does not now have the power to nominate to the School Committee his chief assistants. This is a power he should have. The need has been shown for administrative officers of specialized fitness for functional assignment. The School Committee must be guided by the advice of the Superintendent of Schools in electing persons to these offices. When it acts without his advice, and elects persons of untested capability to positions of high administrative significance, the probabilities of getting good administrative service are not reassuring.

THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS SHOULD HAVE FREEDOM TO ACT IMPARTIALLY.

The Board of Examiners determines the merit and fitness of candidates for appointment and promotion. If employment and promotional practices are to be characterized by high integrity, it is necessary that the Board of Examiners be free from improper influence.

It should be re-established as a statutory body. Vacancies on the Board of Examiners should be filled by examination, conducted by persons of eminence in education. The members of the Board of Examiners should have a tenure status that will prevent their dismissal for political reasons. Their salaries should be fixed by statute, and should be at least as high as the salary of an assistant superintendent.

THE SCHOOL SYSTEM NEEDS A BUDGET.

A budget is a financial plan for the operation of the school system. When well conceived and carefully prepared, it projects forward, in monetary terms, the policies of the School Committee. It is an indispensable aid to good administration. The Boston school system does not have an adequate budget. The need of a budget will be pointed out again in this Digest, in connection with financial administration, but it needs to be mentioned here because the budget is so vitally interwoven with good administrative management.

THERE SHOULD BE AN ADEQUATE HEAD-QUARTERS BUILDING.

The present headquarters building, at 15 Beacon street, is overcrowded. The Report calls attention to the cramped condition of the quarters, and several specific deficiencies—the want of room for operations of the business units, insufficient space to provide for work flow, inadequacy of storage space, unsuitable office and conference-room accommodations, and fire hazard. The building has about 30,000 square feet of usable floor space, and from 60,000 to 75,000 square feet are needed.

It is recommended that the Houghton-Dutton Building, at 7 Beacon street, now owned by the City of Boston, be made available for the headquarters offices. This property has ample floor space.

SUMMARY OF RECOMMENDATIONS ON ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT.

The Report recommends:

1. That the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners should be dissolved, and its powers transferred to the School Committee.
2. That the Superintendent of Schools be made the chief executive officer of the School Committee and of the school system, with power to nominate his immediate assistants.
3. That the administrative boards be dissolved.
4. That the Board of Superintendents be continued as an advisory and quasi-judicial board.
5. That the assistant superintendents be placed on functional assignment, and relieved of their geographical responsibilities.
6. That the Board of Examiners be given statutory status to permit independence of action.
7. That a comprehensive and integrated budget procedure be introduced.
8. That the central organization be moved from No. 15 Beacon street to No. 7 Beacon street.

TRANSFER FROM PARKMAN FUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 2, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Board of Park Commissioners requesting the transfer of the sum of $22,000 from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund to the Maintenance and Improvement of the Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887.

I submit herewith an appropriation order and respectfully recommend its passage by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, September 11, 1944.
Hon. Maurice J. Tobin,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—By vote of the Board of Park Commissioners, you are respectfully asked to request the City Council to transfer from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund the sum of $22,000 which is now available, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners as follows:

Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, Maintenance and Improvement of..... $22,000

When making up the budget estimates for the year 1944, a sum equal to the total yearly income of the George F. Parkman Fund was deducted from Item A-1, Permanent Employees, with the understanding that this deduction was to be replaced by the total yearly income of said Parkman Fund for 1944, to be transferred as it accrued from time to time during the year to the regular maintenance appropriation of the Park Department.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $22,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for the Maintenance and Improvement of the Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, as follows:

Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, Maintenance and Improvement of..... $22,000
Referred to Committee on Parkman Fund.

APPROPRIATION FOR W. P. A. RECREATIONAL PROGRAM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 9, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—For the past three years, as a part of the city's W. P. A. program, a recreational and entertainment project was conducted under the direction of this office. The expenditures incumbent upon the city in connection with the conduct of this project were paid from the special appropriation provided for W. P. A. activities. One of the outstanding features of this project were the summer evening entertainments held in various parks and playgrounds throughout the city. Because of the widespread interest and the large numbers attending these entertainments, it was deemed desirable this year to continue this type of outdoor entertainment. During the summer months ten shows were conducted, five of which were held in the Fens Playground, three on Boston Common, one in Columbus Park, South Boston, and one at the Gibson Playground, Dorchester.

In arranging for these shows, it was overlooked that the special appropriation which in former years had been available had been closed out on the books of the city because of the termination of W. P. A. activities. As a consequence, it is impossible at the present moment to pay the expenses incurred in connection with the conduct of this year's entertainment series. Included in these expenses are orchestra services, hire of costumes, electrical current, rental of tents, transportation of equipment and electricians' services. I am advised that the total of these expenses will not exceed $2,400, and I recommend adoption of the accompanying order providing for the payment of these charges from the Contingent Fund.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $2,400 be, and the same hereby is, appropriated to be expended under the direction of the Mayor to meet the expenses of the 1944 series of summer entertainments conducted in parks and playgrounds throughout the city, said appropriation to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

Referred to Executive Committee.

This amendment amends Article XLVIII of the Amendments to the Constitution by striking out section three under the heading "The Initiative. II. Initiative Petitions" and inserting in place thereof a new section which provides:

It may be filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth if the Attorney General shall certify that the measure and its title are in proper form and that it is not, affirmatively or negatively, substantially the same as any measure which has been qualified for submission or submitted to the people at either of the two preceding biennial state elections, and that it contains only subjects not excluded from the popular initiative and which are related or which are mutually dependent.

The Secretary shall provide blanks for the use of subsequent signers. He shall print at the top of each blank a fair, concise summary of the proposed measure, as determined by the Attorney General as it will appear upon the ballot, together with the names and residences of the first ten signers. All such petitions, with the first ten signatures attached, shall be filed with the Secretary not earlier than the first Wednesday of the September before the assembling of the Legislature into which they are to be introduced, and the remainder of the required signatures shall be filed not later than the first Wednesday of the following December.

Referendum Petitions," is also amended by striking out the second sentence of such section and inserting in place thereof provisions that the Secretary shall provide blanks for the use of signers of a referendum petition on a law requesting that the operation of such law be suspended subsequent to the first ten signers and shall print at the top of each blank a fair, concise summary of the proposed law as determined by the Attorney General as it will appear upon the ballot, together with the names and residences of the first ten signers.

Section 4 of that part of said Article XLVIII under the heading "The Referendum. III. Referendum Petitions," is also amended by striking out the third sentence of such section and inserting in place thereof provisions that the Secretary shall provide blanks for the use of signers subsequent to the first ten signers of a referendum petition asking for the repeal of an emergency law or of a law which takes effect because the referendum petition does not contain a request for suspension, and shall print at the top of each blank a fair, concise summary of the proposed law as such summary will appear on the ballot together with the names and residences of the first ten signers.

Article XLVIII is further amended by striking out subheading "III. Form of Ballot" and subheading "IV. Information for Voters" under the heading "General Provisions" and inserting in place thereof new subheadings III and IV, which provide, respectively:

III. FORM OF BALLOT.

A fair, concise summary of each proposed amendment to the Constitution and each law submitted to the people, as determined by the Attorney General shall be printed on the ballot. The Secretary shall give each question a number and cause such question, except as otherwise authorized in said article of amendment, to be printed on the ballot in the following form:

In the case of an amendment to the constitution: Do you approve of the adoption of an amendment to the constitution summarized below, (here state, in distinctive type, whether approved or disapproved by the general court, and by what vote thereon)? Yes.—No. (Set forth summary here.)

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Shall an amendment to the constitution to provide that the General Court may prescribe the terms and conditions under which pardons of offences which are felonies may be granted which is further described as follows:—

This article of amendment to the Constitution of Massachusetts annuls Article VIII of section 1 of chapter II of Part the Second of the Constitution, which vested the Governor, by and with the advice of the Council, with the full and unrestricted power of pardoning offences of which a person is convicted, except such as persons may be convicted of before the Senate by an impeachment of the House, and adopts a new Article VIII in place thereof.

This new Article VIII vests the pardoning power in the Governor, by and with the advice of the Council, but provides further that if the offence to be pardoned is a felony the Legislature shall have power to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which a pardon may be granted.

ASSIGNMENT OF POLICE OFFICERS ON ELECTION DAY.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to ask the Police Commissioner to assign to the various polling places on November 7 police officers who live adjacent to the places assigned to them.

Coun. KINSELLA—Every time election day rolls around we find disgruntled police officers who are assigned to precincts quite remote from the places where they live. I, myself, think it is decidedly unfair to assign to Brighton or West Roxbury a police officer who lives in Wards 1, 2, 3 or 4. In short, I think it unfair to send a man, after a tour of duty, completely across the city from the place where he lives. The understanding is that a police officer will discharge his sworn duty as honestly and faithfully in his home precinct as in a precinct where he is not at home. And so I should like to urge upon the Police Commissioner the generosity of assigning police officers to posts near their homes on November 7.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

President KERRIGAN offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council of the City of Boston, in meeting assembled, hereby expresses its sorrow at the passing of Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York, who, despite his early handicaps, rose from the obscurity of poverty to become one of the most outstanding figures in American public life, and who, during his lifetime, was noted for his devotion to the constitutional guarantees and principles of his beloved country, and the tenets and commandments of his Church.

Coun. CAREY offered the following:
Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, hereby favors the enactment by the Congress of the United States of House Bill 4715 or Senate Bill 1882, which provides for an increase in salary for letter carriers; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of Congress from Massachusetts.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President, from information as it has been given to me and to other members of the Council, I believe the basic pay for letter carriers has remained the same since 1925, despite the increase in living costs, which estimate runs anywhere from 28 to 43 per cent, and we know that it makes it extremely difficult for letter carriers to support their families on their present pay. We also know that their employment calls for them to be out in all kinds of weather. Regardless of how cold or stormy the weather, the mail must be delivered. Daily visits are awaited by those at home as well as those in business, and, more especially during these times, by men and women in the service of our country. I ask suspension of the rule and passage of the order.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

STATIONING OF POLICE OFFICER AT AMORY AND MINTON STREETS.

Coun. HANLEY and McCORMACK offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Police Commissioner to station a police officer at the junction of Amory and Minton streets, from the hours of 8.15 a. m. to 9 a. m. and 12 noon to 1.30 p. m., also 3.30 p. m. to 4 p. m., every school day and thus protect the school children of Our Lady of Lourdes Parish from the dangerous flow of heavy vehicular traffic.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR HANLEY.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, I would like to make a statement.

President KERRIGAN—Councilor Hanley asks unanimous consent to make a statement. Are there any objections? (No response.)

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, about two weeks ago the membership of the Boston City Council conferred upon me a great honor and a distinct privilege, that of sitting down with his Honor the Mayor relative to arranging a parley of the members of the Boston Police and Fire Departments, together with the Fire and Police Commissioners, the Budget Commissioner, his Honor the Mayor, and the total membership of this Honorable Body. At this particular time I would like to make a statement relative to what I have accomplished. Mr. President, I arranged with the private secretary of his Honor the Mayor, Mr. McCusker, to sit down with his Honor the Mayor. And I did meet with him at a rendezvous to discuss the details of this honor that you imposed upon me. At that particular time—I may say this without his quotation, and I want to be quoted that way—at that time, verbally, he thought it was a grand idea. And he told me he did give to the press his idea of how the Police Department could amalgamate and solidify themselves into an arbitration committee. One of the eminent Boston policemen who is particularly interested in it—his name I will not mention—stated it was the first time in the history of the Boston Police Department since the infamous strike of 1919 that a public official took such a stride in trying to solidify the Police Department with the Police Commissioner and his Honor the Mayor. It was the greatest stride in the past twenty-five years in an effort to bring in harmony with the Police Department, the Police Commissioner and his Honor the Mayor. His Honor the Mayor at the present time is out of town, but on last Friday I sent down an affidavit in my own hand, by my own private secretary, transmitted to his private secretary, for no other purpose than for the Mayor of Boston to look at it. He called me within three quarters of an hour, stating he would sit down with me relative to the merits of the order, and he is at the present time looking up statistics from the Budget Commissioner for the purpose of supporting the claim that he will make. And I am asking this Honorable Body, due to my circumstances of being on 24-hour call, if they will agree to allow me to sit down with him once again and bring to a tentative date and time this parley, and I will agree that I will obtain a statement. It will be a quotation; the quotation will come from the lips and pen of his Honor the Mayor, transmitted to myself, and I will make that statement in open City Council session at a tentative date, which I believe will be next Monday. The aggrieved parties, the Police or Fire Departments, the City Council, or his Honor the Mayor will not be hurt or jeopardized by this short stay of grace. I am asking this Council, through you, Mr. President, that they will agree to have me continue those negotiations.

President KERRIGAN—If there is no objection, the Council will grant Councilor Hanley further time to get the statement. The Chair hears no objection.

Adjourned at 4.10 p. m., on motion of Coun. DWYER, to meet on Monday, October 16, 1944, at 2 p. m.

SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

THE BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION OF BOSTON'S SCHOOL SYSTEM DISCUSSED AND RECOMMENDATIONS MADE BY SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE — FINDINGS, AFTER STUDY, ARE MADE TO FINANCE COMMISSION WITH RECOMMENDATIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT — CENTRALIZED CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT IS THEME OF DIGEST FOR SECURING OF GREATER EFFICIENCY AND LESSENING OF COSTS — $390,000 PER YEAR SAVINGS PROMISED IF PROPOSALS ARE PUT INTO EFFECT.

Proposals for improvement of the School situation in Boston by the Finance Commission, in their second installment, discuss the matter of business administration. A digest of discussion and recommendations follow:

The Boston school business organization is conducted in no fewer than four independent or quasi-independent divisions. The Business Manager is himself in administrative control of only a portion of the business activities. The Schoolhouse Custodian is responsible for what he does, not to the Business Manager, but to the School Committee. The Director of School Lunches reports to an assistant superintendent, and he in turn to the Superintendent of Schools. There is a Superintendent of Construction whose work lies outside the jurisdiction, not only of the Business Manager, but of the School Committee as well, since he is an officer of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings. The only specified day-by-day connection between him and the school organization proper is that he is obliged to seek certain approvals from the Superintendent of Schools. He has no significant connection with the Business Manager.

BUSINESS ACTIVITIES SHOULD HAVE CENTRALIZED CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT.

The business organization of the School Committee is indefensibly unintegrated and dismembered. In its functioning there can be no single plan of operation for the year's business. There can be no one responsible head, because there are four responsible heads. The arrangement is like a ship with four mates but no captain. The School Committee cannot possibly coordinate their work even should it attempt to do so. All it can do is to intervene occasionally as a referee in administration. And so each of the four officers must often be confused about the nature and scope of his task.

Fortunately, this administrative confusion can easily be cleared up. To consolidate the business administration in the Boston schools two steps are necessary:

1. The State Legislature should abolish the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, and confer its powers upon the School Committee.

2. The Department of School Lunches, the Superintendent of School Buildings, and the Schoolhouse Custodian should, by changes in the by-laws of the School Committee, be made administratively subordinate to the chief business officer of the school system. This business officer should preferably have the title of assistant superintendent, and should be directly responsible to the Superintendent of Schools.

By these two changes, the business activities may be brought together and made responsive to the educational demands of the schools, as these demands are recognized by the School Committee, and the Committee's resulting policies may be administered under the general direction and oversight of the Superintendent of Schools.

Procedures in Financial Administration.

The four main lines of effort in financial administration are (1) budgeting, (2) accounting, (3) auditing, and (4) reporting.

SOUND BUDGET PROCEDURES ARE ESSENTIAL TO GOOD SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION.

The purpose of the annual school budget is to display in a single picture the financial operations that are in prospect for the succeeding year. When adopted it is the keystone of the entire financial structure, and serves as a guide to school administration.

The school budget is not so employed in Boston. It is completed and adopted in the middle of the fiscal year whose operations it supposedly anticipates. It is therefore at the most not more than half a budget. Actually Boston has no school budget in the accepted sense, and its school operations, educational as well as financial, suffer as a result of the absence of such an instrument of planning and administration.

The Boston budget follows a local classification of cost accounts. The survey staff has been unable to find any good reason why the Boston schools should have failed to adopt the standard nomenclature and classification of accounts in vogue throughout the United States.

SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS CHANGES IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION — CENTRALIZED CONTROL AND MANAGEMENT IS THEME OF DIGEST.

KEEPING BOOKS BY HAND CAUSES MUCH DELAY.

Multiple accounts are kept for similar financial operations, at unnecessary expense, and at no gain in accuracy. Most accounting operations are done manually. The effect is to increase greatly the cost of accounting; to cause protracted delay in the production of financial reports; and to preclude effective budget control. Though an expensive program of unit-cost accounting is maintained, the survey staff was unable to discover that enough use was made of the unit costs so produced to justify the expense of calculating them.

AUDITING SERVICES SHOULD BE STRENGTHENED.

Three, and at times, four persons audit the financial operations in whole or in part, but none effectively. Among others, a Certified Public Accountant is employed for a partial audit at a maximum fee of $1,500 per year. This appropriation is not enough to obtain a satisfactory external audit, which should include the examination of original documents, the verification of payments, and consulting service. To be wholly reassuring, any external audit needs to be concerned with a well-conceived internal procedure, such as does not now exist.

REPORTS SHOULD BE AVAILABLE FOR MAKING DECISIONS.

Financial reports usually appear long after they have ceased to be of value for current administration. This delay doubtless stems from the painfully slow process of keeping accounts by hand. Little is done to acquaint either the School Committee or the public with financial conditions and problems.

RECOMMENDATIONS ON FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATION.

In the full Report of the survey, numerous changes are recommended, with reasons and with detail of procedure. Chief among these proposals are:

1. The adoption of standard classification and procedure in preparing the budget.
2. Simplification and mechanization of accounting.
3. Revision of the current auditing procedure, and the employment of more helpful and complete auditing service than is now received.
4. Development of a more effective means of acquainting the School Committee and the general public with the financial problems and operations of the school system.

THE PURCHASE AND MANAGEMENT OF SUPPLIES.

The supply program involves the purchase, custody and distribution of materials. The acid test of a school supply program is to be found in whether it furnishes adequate and efficient aids to learning, and whether sound and economical procedures are followed in making them available. By these standards of judgment the Boston school program has features of strength and weakness.

GOOD VALUES ARE OBTAINED, BUT THERE IS LITTLE COMPETITION FOR THE SCHOOL BUSINESS.

As a whole, the prices obtained were very good, and the quality of material purchased was excellent. Sometimes school supplies proved to be better than necessary for the purpose, and sometimes not good enough, suggesting that there should be greater standardization. The business administration imposes a number of arbitrary requirements on bidders, and this limits the bidding on school business almost entirely to Boston concerns, denying the school system whatever advantages would come from open competition.

TESTING AND STOCK CONTROL ARE NOT ENTIRELY ADEQUATE.

The schools would clearly be the gainer if the supply division were always able to make simple analyses of samples submitted with bids and of purchases. This would help in the control of quality, and it would afford a means of constant research for the discovery of more satisfactory materials. Generally speaking, stock control methods used in the central store-room have little value.

The most extreme conservatism was observed in the matter of book and textbook lists. Out-of-date books, many of them no longer asked for by teachers, or used in the schools, were stocked and kept in repair.

A spot check showed that in some instances, particularly in elementary schools, supplies in excess of the needs of the current year were stored in the buildings.

In the $1,500,000 per year spent for supplies and public utility services, printing is a fairly large item. Some savings would result from using the cheaper mimeograph or offset process where printing is not necessary. The bulk of the school system's printing is done by the Printing Department of the City of Boston. A few tests showed that an occasional resort to competitive bidding on large printing jobs would yield substantial savings.

AN INSTALLATION OF TABULATING MACHINES IS NEEDED FOR GREATER ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY.

The most conspicuous need in supply administration is an installation of tabulating machines. The use of punch cards would reduce manual bookkeeping and would permit much greater efficiency and economy through proper control of supply operations. Elsewhere in the Report it is pointed out that such installation is needed in other business operations as well.

The absence of tabulating machines sets a pattern of ineffective administration which runs throughout most of the operation of the supply department.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS.

Opportunities should be provided for the training of workers in the technical phases of supply service. The school system should be ready to buy post-war surplus materials from the government, especially for the cafeterias, which are now deplorably underequipped.

THE OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The term "operation and maintenance of school buildings" refers to keeping the schoolhouses habitable and ready for use as needed. In the Boston City Schools, 432 employees are engaged in this work. The expenditures for operation of plant (including grounds as well as buildings), when fuel and electricity and other housekeeping expenses are added, run upwards of $1,500,000 per year, mostly for wages.

Analysis of Boston's school plant operation shows a few high spots and many low spots. On the favorable side it may be said that janitorial employees are reasonably secure in their tenure, that retirement on pension is provided for them, and that a generous though not impersonal policy has been followed in granting them leaves of absence for good cause.

MANPOWER NEEDS FOR CUSTODIAL SERVICES SHOULD BE CALCULATED.

On the darker side, it needs to be said that work assignments are inequitable, and there can be no equity so long as there is no more knowledge than at present about the operational manpower requirements of the school system. Some custodians are overworked beyond all reason while others are not kept reasonably busy. There are 178 different salary rates for senior custodians, and 6 rates for junior custodians. The urge which drives custodians constantly to seek transfer to positions that pay a little more has an unsettling and disrupting effect on service. Their duties are not clearly defined. There is no organized training program to give them needed skills. Nearly all of them are men, although much of the work, especially in schools for girls, calls for the employment of women.

STANDARDS OF SANITATION SHOULD BE RAISED.

The complete Report discusses numerous improvements of method that would lead to economy, or to the betterment of housekeeping conditions, or both, based on analyses of many of the buildings. In none of those visited were soap or towels supplied for the general use of the pupils. One roll of toilet paper, intended to serve a great many fixtures, was usually present in each toilet room, secured by padlock and chain. The schools certainly should not require children to descend so far below the sanitary standards of their own homes. Most classrooms have insufficient artificial light on dark days. The middle and inside rows of desks register from two to five foot candles of illumination, although fifteen is the generally accepted standard to avoid eyestrain. The annual fuel bill is upwards of $300,000, surely large enough to warrant a fuel management program, based on daily data of fuel consumption, degree days, school temperature readings, and fuel costs. But there was no evidence that such records have been kept by the Fuel Engineer.

HERE IS A CASE OF DIVIDED RESPONSIBILITY.

It is pointed out in other connections that the school system is shot through and through with divided authority. The chapter on Plant Operation and Maintenance supplies an example. The Business Manager buys the fuel, the Department of School Buildings controls the furnaces in which it is burned, and the Schoolhouse Custodian supervises the men who feed it into the fireboxes. Much of the vagueness and lack of purpose in the conduct of plant operation is plainly due to the fact that no one person is responsible.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR OPERATION OF BUILDINGS.

Though minor changes may be introduced to good purpose in the present framework of organization, the answer to Boston's muddled plant-operation situation is organic reform. The Schoolhouse Custodian's responsibilities are too narrowly limited. This officer, with his title preferably changed to Supervisor of Plant Operation, should have responsibility for the operation of all plant under the control of the School Committee. But he should not receive his instructions directly from the School Committee and report directly to them, as now. He should be an officer in the Division of Operation and Maintenance of Buildings, on the staff of the proposed Assistant Superintendent for Business Affairs and Housing, where his work can be kept properly in mesh with that of his fellow executives.

TOO MUCH IS PAID FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF BUILDINGS.

The maintenance of Boston's school plant is a responsibility of the Department of School Buildings, which receives from the School Committee an annual appropriation, not exceeding eighty-five cents per thousand dollars of tax valuation. This money is used to repair and alter the school plant. Expenditures in 1943 were as follows:

Salary payments to the staff of the Department.....	$188,345 96
Other administrative services.....	13,158 38
Paid to contractors for contracts costing in excess of $1,000 each.....	137,004 59
Paid to contractors for minor projects.....	402,468 79
	$740,977 72

In the judgment of the survey staff, very considerable savings can be made without impairing quality of service. The 1944 budget of $150,465 for overhead—that is, for supervision, planning, administration, and inspection—is inordinately high. Pay rolls for actual productive work amounted to only $27,100. The reason for a productive cost so relatively small is to be found in the practice of letting nearly all repair jobs, large and small, simple and difficult, on contract. A small maintenance crew, employed the year around, could do much of the work now done by private agencies on contract, and large savings would result.

The Report urges that the present practice of day-by-day approval of repair requisitions be replaced, as far as possible, by a system of planning the year's maintenance operations in a connected, orderly sequence. The present separation of the Department of School Buildings from the School Committee militates against the use of such a plan.

The survey of a sampling of buildings disclosed that heating facilities, with a few exceptions, are in good repair; that attention to trees, shrubbery, and lawns is absent; that Boston's school buildings should be analyzed by competent fire-prevention engineers for fire risks and exit facilities; and that many sanitary installations, especially toilets and drinking fountains, are substandard.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR MAINTENANCE OF BUILDINGS.

In plant maintenance, as in plant operation, any substantial improvement awaits reshaping of the organization for administration. Maintenance, like operation of plant, should be laced up administratively with the rest of the educational program, and this is not possible so long as building control is vested in a body that is independent of the School Committee. Maintenance of plant should accordingly be transferred to the charge of a Supervisor of Plant Maintenance, on the staff of the Assistant Superintendent for Business Affairs and Housing.

Among the recommendations of more limited application are these: (1) the position of Engineer of the School Committee, who is now a liaison officer between the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, may be abolished without losing efficiency; (2) improved methods for the care of floors should be adopted; (3) lighting and fire-safety conditions should be subjected to engineering analysis; (4) the administrative staff for maintenance of plant may be considerably reduced in size; (5) minor repairs should be part of the work of custodians; (6) a crew of mechanics should be regularly employed for repair work; (7) sanitary facilities should be modernized insofar as possible; (8) designing of major alterations should be done by private architects and engineers; and (9) there should be an orderly, comprehensive plan for the improvement and repair program.

$390,000 PER YEAR MAY BE SAVED IN THE MAINTENANCE OPERATIONS ACCOUNTS.

Considered together, plant operation and plant maintenance require a budgeted outlay of $174,000 for supervision, inspection, and administration. This figure represents a topheavy overhead, and it may be reduced to $72,400, a saving of $100,000 per year, without sacrificing efficiency. Another $100,000 per year may be saved by keeping a staff of maintenance mechanics to do much of the work now let out on contract with private concerns. Other simple maintenance work, now done on contract at a cost of $50,000 per year, requires no special skills beyond those usually possessed by well-selected and well-trained custodians, and it may be done by such regular employees at no extra expense.

The closing of 35 elementary school buildings, recommended in the chapter on buildings and building utilization, will mean an annual saving of $140,000 in operation-of-plant expenditures.

PLANNING, CONSTRUCTION, AND UTILIZATION OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Since 1929 the construction of Boston's schools has been a responsibility of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings. The School Committee supplies it with an annual appropriation of money, designates the sites upon which schoolhouses are to be built, and describes the accommodations to be provided. The Superintendent of Schools approves all plans and specifications.

BOSTON'S SCHOOLHOUSES ARE NOT GOOD BUILDINGS.

The full Report gives an analysis of Boston's school buildings that is too long to reproduce here. But at least one of the conclusions is decidedly worthy of note. It is that Boston's schoolhouses are not good schoolhouses. The average score of 198 elementary school buildings, on a 1,000 point scale, was 256 points; the average of 24 intermediate school buildings was 379; the average of 24 high school buildings was 410. Reduced to adjectives these scores mean that the average elementary school building is inferior, the average intermediate school building is poor, and the average high school building is just fair.

BOSTON'S FUTURE SCHOOL BUILDINGS SHOULD BE SCIENTIFICALLY PLANNED.

The Report shows vividly the consequences of past failures to design schoolhouses with a sense of the physical and educational needs of pupils. The school buildings now in existence, even many of those most recently built, are for the most part conventionalized structures. Not only are they ill-suited to the furtherance of a contemporary educational program, but generally they do not possess the internal flexibility and the possibilities of expansion that would permit them to be adjusted to changes in the curriculum.

Attention is directed in the full Report to many building conditions that stand in need of immediate correction. The Report recommends, further, that higher standards of safety, sanitation, and educational adaptation be drafted and applied to all future construction, and, as future budgets permit, to the alteration of otherwise satisfactory existing school buildings.

LIKE TOPSY, BOSTON'S SCHOOL PLANT "JUST GROWED."

It is evident that Boston has not planned her schoolhousing; she has accumulated it. The overabundance of small and now wholly obsolete buildings, and the fact that elementary schoolhouses are used considerably below their theoretical capacity, show beyond any doubt that the educational needs of the larger community have not been reflected in any premeditated plan. Moreover, there is abundant evidence that past mistakes are likely to continue to be repeated since there still exists neither an overall, long-range schoolhousing policy nor any practicable means of establishing one and carrying it through.

THIRTY-FIVE SCHOOL BUILDINGS SHOULD BE CLOSED.

Such conditions as these foreshadow immense financial savings and educational gains that would follow the application of scientific methods of school plant planning in future years. For the present, to make the best of a bad situation, it will be possible to save $140,000 annually by redistricting. This will allow fuller use of the best buildings in the City, and will permit the School Committee to retire from service 35 of the very worst, without obliging pupils to walk unreasonable distances to get to school.

The issue that emerges most clearly from the Report is that Boston must stop building schoolhouses on impulse, in terms of only the wants of the immediate neighborhood and on the basis of momentary population conditions. Neither Boston nor any other city can afford this kind of extravagance.

THE SCHOOL PLANT IS AN ORPHAN.

The division of responsibility in planning and constructing school buildings is one of the principal situations that militate against an educationally and financially efficient school plant. The sharing of this responsibility by two distinct governing boards by no means promotes the sustained unity of purpose and effort that is essential to success.

A second principal weakness is the absence of administrative personnel with the expert skill, and the opportunity to forecast schoolhousing needs in advance, and to study and determine the design of individual buildings from a functioning educational standpoint.

The school plant, far from receiving the thoughtful consideration due it as one of the most potent instruments of education, has been regarded as a detail meriting only opportunistic attention when it could no longer be ignored.

RECOMMENDED CHANGES.

It is recommended that, in order to bring the building program in as an integral part of the educational picture, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings be dissolved, and its statutory powers transferred to the School Committee. It is also recommended that school plant planning and construction be placed in charge of the recommended assistant superintendent for business affairs and housing, among whose responsibilities would be the preparation of fact-supported, long-range analyses of school plant conditions and needs, and the unit planning of buildings and of facilities within buildings.

At this moment no buildings are being put up. After the war there will doubtless be many. No better time than the present could be chosen to put the organization for developing the school plant on a sound, economical, and sensible footing.

FOOD SERVICE IN THE SCHOOLS.

The program of food service in the Boston schools is currently in the early stages of general reorganization. The comments offered here apply, therefore, to a system in transition. It is a system which has hitherto had nine different types of operation, some managed by school officials and some not, some giving good service and some not. It is to be presumed that in the course of the present reorganization, many of the conditions that have stood in the way of adequate food service may be corrected.

HERE IS ANOTHER CASE OF DIVIDED RESPONSIBILITY.

The most conspicuous weaknesses found in the food-service program, when members of the survey staff visited schools, were these. There were no uniform standards of food served at the eating places in the various schools. There was no uniformity in quality of food bought or of prices charged to pupils. Accounting control was absent. Employment policies relating to employees and schedules of wages paid to them were not uniform. Therefore, some of the schools have had good, economical food service and some have not. The process of reorganization should lead to good service in all installations.

RECOMMENDATIONS ON FOOD SERVICE.

The complete Report reviews conditions of food service and offers numerous recommendations for improvement. A few of these recommendations follow:

1. Responsibility and authority for all school nutrition, except in the vocational schools, should be centered in the Director of School Lunches.

2. The general supervision of the food-service program, and the management of food-service units in schools or groups of schools, should be done by persons well qualified in nutrition, quantity food preparation, and business operations.

3. The nutrition program should be extended, offering more of the Type A federally-subsidized lunches. In the secondary schools it should include well-planned, nutritionally adequate meals.

4. As conditions permit, adequate equipment should be installed for food preparation, preservation, and storage, and for dishwashing.

5. Jobs should be classified and wages standardized. There should be central volume purchasing of staples, on specifications and competitive bids, for the sake of economy and uniform quality. Accounting controls should be established. Concessionaire service should be discontinued.

6. There should be an Advisory Committee, composed of administrators, teachers, parents, and others concerned with the problem of health, to guide the further development of the food-service program.

MAYOR TOBIN TO ENCOURAGE HOME BUILDING AND HOME OWNING.

Mayor Tobin has issued the following statement on home owning:

Home building and home ownership on the part of working people will contribute much to the preservation of our present economic order and our American way of life. Home building or home ownership is greatly discouraged in Massachusetts; one of the biggest factors in the extent of ownership, of course, is the local tax rate.

In Massachusetts we have the highest local tax rates to be found in the United States of America. Any post-war planning should carry at the top of its agenda a correction of this unfair condition. Over a period of a quarter of a century added burdens have been constantly placed upon the home-owning public by State legislation, and during this same period revenues that were formerly allotted to local communities have been diverted from local government treasuries into the State treasury.

The greatest tax authority in Massachusetts, and so recognized not only by myself but those who have followed this situation, is Henry Nichols. He has served on repeated commissions studying this situation. It is also his opinion that the local communities have been unfairly dealt with, which, in turn, means that home owners and all real property owners have been likewise carrying an unfair share of the burden.

I pledge that, as Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the attempt to foist additional burdens upon local real estate or to divert any further funds from local treasuries into the State treasury will be terminated after the first of January, 1945.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

Permission to award contracts for work, materials and supplies, in accordance with recommendations of department heads, has been approved by the Mayor.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Upon October 13 the Mayor approved a contract with M. Solimando to transfer a portable school building from the William Lloyd Garrison School in the Roxbury district to the Cora L. Etheridge School in the Dorchester district. As this transfer had to be made at the very earliest possible moment to care for an overcrowded condition in the Dorchester district, informal proposals for the work involved were sought. Proposals received on October 9 amounted to $1,300. The quotations as submitted follow:

M. Solimando, $1,300; Walter Curley & Son, $1,340; Federal Contracting Company, $1,400; Joseph White, $1,500; John F. Hynes, $1,530.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor approved contracts with firms, contractors, mercantile houses, etc., for furnishing supplies, labor, etc. Communications from the heads of the several departments interested were as follows:

BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

Boston, October 4, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Many buildings and structures adjudged unsafe and dangerous within the provisions of the Boston Building Code, chapter 479, of 1938, as amended, are razed under contracts negotiated by the Building Department and the building wrecking companies after receipt of estimates; all to be paid from the Special Appropriation for Securing and Removing Buildings which was passed by the City Council for this express purpose.

Prior to the letting of any contract for the purpose of razing a building or structure, other than in extreme emergency, it is the practice of this department to obtain a photograph of the building to be razed to establish for the departmental files an incontestable record.

This work has been done to date, in a very satisfactory manner, by the Fay Photo Service, Inc., at a cost of $3.50 per photo. It is expected that the number of photographs required by this department in connection with the building razing program will be so many in the year that, at a cost of $3.50 each, the total cost within the year will exceed an amount of $1,000, which amount, if exceeded, would require this department to advertise for proposals in the City Record, consistent with the provisions of section 6, chapter 450, of the Acts of 1890, as amended by section 2, chapter 156, of the Acts of 1939.

I request your permission to negotiate a contract with the Fay Photo Service, Inc., at a cost of $3.50 per picture, each 8 inches by 10 inches in size, without inviting bids by advertising, for the following reasons:

1. Photographs must be taken and produced by a professional photographer capable of reflecting in a photograph, by interior or exterior exposures, faulty construction.

2. The men employed by the Fay Photo Service, Inc., have produced many such satisfactory photographs and are very familiar with the work required.

3. The photographs must be of a kind that will establish legal evidence to substantiate violations of the provisions of the Building Law, and consequently can be made only by persons familiar with this particular type of photography.

4. There is no way to determine the exact number of photos that will be required during the course of this or the following year.

5. This firm has always had the proper type of photographer available for use in emergencies.

6. In my opinion, the cost of $3.50 per picture would not be reduced by advertising for proposals.

Yours very truly,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Building Commissioner.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, September 29, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without public advertisement to Albert Grass, 100 Forbes Hill road, Quincy, for furnishing one six-channel ink-writing electroencephalograph, as per specifications, to the Boston City Hospital at a price of $2,225 net.

This apparatus is to be used in the Nerve Service at the Boston City Hospital and the Superintendent of the Hospital recommends its purchase as very necessary in the furtherance of the work of the service.

As Mr. Albert Grass is the manufacturer, no advantage would accrue to the city from publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, October 11, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award, without publicly advertising for bids, an order to Marshall & Co. for furnishing approximately one thousand dollars worth of incandescent lamps for various city departments.

This concern has agreed to give the City of Boston a discount from the standard list price of 37 per cent on standard package and 32 per cent on broken package lots.

As this discount is as good as, if not better than, any which could be obtained through public advertising, your approval of the award is urged.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, October 13, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the New England Coke Company, 250 Stuart street, Boston, for furnishing approximately 100 tons stove size coke to the Long Island Hospital, Institutions Department, at a price of $13.60 per net ton delivered (schedule price at time of shipment, subject to OPA or other Governmental authorization).

The New England Coke Company has been supplying coke for Long Island for a great many years and it is my considered opinion that, in view of prevailing conditions in the fuel industry, no advantage would be gained through publicly advertising for bids.

The approximate amount of the contract will be $1,369, subject to a discount of 15 cents per ton for payment within fifteen days.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.WIRE INSTALLATION PERMITS ISSUED FOR THE WEEK ENDING

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 62.

I. JOSEPH J. LUNA.

It is with deep regret that the Fire Commissioner announces the death of Ladderman Joseph J. Luna of Ladder Company 9, who was killed in action while serving with the United States Marine Corps.

Ladderman Luna was appointed to the department as a military substitute on October 21, 1942, and was made a man on probation January 13, 1943. He was granted a leave of absence November 25, 1943, in order to enter the United States Marine Corps.

BOSTON'S SALVAGE COLLECTION FUNDS TO BE TURNED OVER TO UNITED WAR FUND BY MAYOR TOBIN.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, on Wednesday, October 25, notified General Chairman Henry A. Laughlin of the Greater Boston United War Fund that the entire proceeds obtained by the Boston Salvage Committee from the sale of the waste paper collected in Boston next month will be turned over to the United War Fund.

The Mayor guaranteed that the contribution would amount to at least $10,000, declaring that if the money realized from the sale of the paper totals a lesser amount the Salvage Committee will make up the difference. If more than $10,000 is received from the sale of the paper, the entire amount will be given to the United War Fund.

"I am sure that the patriotic men, women and children of Boston, whose efforts to help salvage the waste paper so desperately needed for war purposes, will make possible this contribution and will enthusiastically indorse the use of the paper receipts for this most worthwhile cause," Mayor Tobin declared.

In his letter to Chairman McLaughlin the Mayor said: "I am pleased to inform you that the Boston Salvage Committee has voted to donate the entire proceeds received from the sale of all waste paper collected by the committee in November, or $10,000—which ever is larger—to the Greater Boston United War Fund.

"In other words, if the money received from the sale of waste paper collected in November is less than $10,000 the committee will contribute the sum of $10,000. On the other hand, if a sum in excess of $10,000 is received from the sale of the waste paper, the total sum received will be donated to your Fund."

EXTENSION OF CONTRACT.

Peter F. Rossi has been granted a further extension of the contract for installation of Edison Standby Service at the Boston City Hospital, from August 1, 1944, to October 15, 1944. This further extension is requested because of delay in delivery of materials necessary for the completion of the contract.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 203.

A trial board, consisting of Captains John F. McCarthy, Edward B. Cain and James F. O'Neil, having heard by reference a complaint made by Capt. William D. Donovan of Division 14 against Patrolman Chester A. Ochs of the same division, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer and untruthfulness, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty as charged. In accordance with which the said Patrolman Chester A.

Ochs was on Wednesday, October 11, 1944, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due written notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in hand on Wednesday, October 11, 1944, to the said Chester A. Ochs.

On the 16th day of October, 1944, the said Chester A. Ochs requested in writing a public hearing as provided by law and the Police Commissioner set down Wednesday, October 18, 1944, at 10.30 o'clock a. m., at the offices of the Police Commissioner at the time and place of said hearing, and duly notified the said Chester A. Ochs.

The said Chester A. Ochs was present at said time and place and was heard with counsel. Whereupon, after hearing, the commissioner found the said Chester A. Ochs guilty as charged and ordered that the said Chester A. Ochs stand dismissed from the Boston Police Department.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 204.

A trial board, consisting of Captains John F. McCarthy, Edward B. Cain and Maurice F. Murphy, has heard by reference a complaint made by Lieut. Leo E. Hoban of Division 6 against Patrolman Raymond A. Thayer of the same division, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, viz.:

Charge 1: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the 22d day of August, 1944, at 3 a. m., the said Patrolman Raymond A. Thayer, while on duty and in uniform, in Broadway, South Boston, near Perkins square, was under the influence of intoxicating liquor to such an extent that he was unable to perform his duty as a police officer.

Charge 2: Conduct unbecoming an officer.

Specification: In that on the 22d day of August, 1944, at 3 a. m., the said Patrolman Raymond A. Thayer, while on duty and in uniform, in Broadway, South Boston, near Perkins square, did commit assault and battery upon Joseph Long, nineteen years, a United States sailor attached to the U. S. S. Evarts, tied up at the South Boston Navy Yard, by striking him on the face and head several times with his hands.

The Board, having heard all the evidence as presented, finds the said Patrolman Raymond A. Thayer guilty on both charges and specifications thereunder, and respectfully recommends that he be dismissed from the Boston Police Department.

The commissioner fully concurs in the finding of guilt, but in view of the officer's long years of service and no record of previous complaints and his having made application for retirement from active service (the Medical Board have certified that he "is incapacitated for useful service on the Police Force of the City of Boston"), the commissioner directs that the complaint be placed on file.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

BOSTON SCHOOL SURVEY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Finance Commission, October 10, 1944.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.

Gentlemen,—In December, 1943, the Finance Commission decided that the time was appropriate to initiate a general survey of public education in the City of Boston, the objective being to determine what steps might be taken to improve the administrative and educational organization and methods and to discover any possibilities of savings which might exist. Accordingly, the Commission requested of you a special appropriation of $75,000 for this purpose, which was provided in January, 1944.

On February 4, 1944, the Commission executed a contract with George D. Strayer of New York City for a general survey. This survey was begun on March 1. The complete report prepared by Doctor Strayer and his professional assistants is now in the hands of the Commission. It consists of more than 1,700 mimeographed pages, divided into four major topics:

1. General Administration.
2. Business Administration.
3. The Program of Education.
4. Financing the Schools.

These topics are discussed in eight volumes. Because of the size of each section, and in order that the whole work may reach the officials of the city and the people in a convenient form, a digest of each section has been prepared under the direction of Doctor Strayer. The Commission plans to transmit the professional report to you and to the school authorities serially. The first section, therefore, dealing with General Administration is submitted herewith.

The staff responsible for the field work of the Survey and the preparation of the Report consisted of the following persons:

George D. Strayer, Professor Emeritus of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, Director of the Survey.

William L. Connor, formerly Director, Bureau of Research, Cleveland, Ohio, Public Schools, Associate Director—Personnel Administration—Intermediate Schools.

Harold E. Akerly, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Rochester, New York—Accounting and Budgetary Procedure.

Dorothea F. Behm, Director of School Cafeterias, Public Schools, Hartford, Connecticut—Cafeteria Management.

S. M. Brownell, Professor of Educational Administration, Yale University—General Administration.

Mary de Garmo Bryan, Professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University—Cafeteria Management.

W. Linwood Chase, Professor of Education, Boston University—Elementary Education.

Dana Cotton, Director of Vocational Guidance, State Department of Education, Maine—Guidance.

Paul E. Elicker, Executive Secretary, National Association of Secondary School Principals, Washington, D. C.—Secondary Education.

SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

Animals Slaughtered.

Cattle, 43,158; calves, 75,675; swine, 27,505; sheep, 3,012; goats, 598.

Total Weight of Condemned Animals and Parts.

Whole animals, 21,676 pounds; parts of animals, 20,211 pounds; putrid meat, 615 pounds. Total, 42,502 pounds.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop.—American City Magazine.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout.—Municipal Review.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

SEEKS COMMUNITY AID IN ARMY CAMP CITIES.

The army welcomes the aid of civic organizations in helping to protect soldiers from intemperance and vice when they are away from their duty stations.

The War Department is endeavoring in various ways to protect its personnel from temptations while at military posts and camps. Healthful and wholesome entertainment is furnished. Commissioned officers are charged with the responsibility for the men in their commission. Understanding leaders offer them advice and counsel, and medical officers guard their physical well-being.—American City Magazine.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

ODD ITEMS FOR WAR PRODUCTION.

Many an unusual item has crept into the shopping lists of automobile purchasing agents as a result of war production needs.

Toothpicks, dish mops, pure mutton tallow, dry ice, canvas foot covers, police whistles and razor blades are just a few of such implements being used by one company in its production of aircraft engines and combat vehicles. Toothpicks are used by the first-aid departments for medical dressings.

REPORT OF EDWARD J. WALL, SUPERVISOR OF HEALTH AND SAFETY EDUCATION, ON ATTENDANCE AT NATIONAL SAFETY CONGRESS AND EXPOSITION AT CHICAGO, OCTOBER 3 TO 5, 1944, INCLUSIVE.

The following is the report of visit to National Safety Congress and Exposition, at Chicago, October 3 to 5, 1944, by Edward J. Wall, Supervisor of Health and Safety Education, Boston Public Schools:

The thirty-third National Safety Congress and Exposition was held in Chicago, on October 3 to 5, 1944. Under the slogan "Dedicated to Victory" this third wartime Congress had for its primary objective the speeding of victory through the curbing of material and manpower waste resulting from preventable accidents.

The 1944 Congress was strictly a business affair at which were assembled only men and women of responsible positions in closely related safety fields. It was my privilege to attend the school and college sessions as a representative of the Boston School Department and to participate as a member of the recently appointed secondary school committee and as a panel speaker in the discussion of problems relating to safety education in the post-war period.

Approximately seventy-five hundred delegates, representing every state in the union, were in attendance at the Congress sessions. More than a hundred separate and distinct discussion sections were held, in which several hundred speakers and thousands of delegates participated. Practically every phase of the current and widely diversified national safety pattern was adequately presented, and a preview offered of what may be expected in the post-war era ahead. To say that the Safety Congress afforded a maximum of stimulation to the thousands of engineers, industrialists, business representatives, educators, and other interested specialists would be an understatement.

Safety Education With Proposals.

Registration took place on the morning of Tuesday, October third. In the afternoon of the same day I attended the first general meeting of the school and college sessions. After a brief presentation of the importance of securing community support for the safety education movement in the schools and the key place of the child in the safety program, delegates present grouped themselves according to their special interests and committee assignments. A summary of the functions of the new committees of the school and college division followed, and as a member of the secondary school committee composed of some fifty safety educators and administrators, I participated in a discussion of the problems incident to the correlating of safety education in the secondary school curriculum.

On Tuesday evening I attended a joint session of the Commercial Vehicle and Transit Sections with the School and College Division. Driver training was the subject of a spirited panel discussion in which representatives of the armed forces played no small part and laid special emphasis on the need and effectiveness of this phase of the safety education program.

On Wednesday, October fourth, the discussion of driver training was continued at a breakfast session. Suggested solutions of driver training problems under wartime restrictions were presented. Following the breakfast session I visited the section given over to consideration of safety education procedures in the elementary and secondary schools, and later joined the special secondary school group which will work during the coming year as a national plan-of-action committee. Interesting experiences were my visits to the general safety exhibition and safety film review of sound motion pictures and sound slide films on home, farm, traffic, and pedestrian safety.

On Thursday, October fifth, I participated in a discussion group on problems in need of solution, and addressed the meeting on the subject of "Safety Education in the Post-War Period." A special session sponsored by the Commission on Safety Education of the National Education Association was held on Thursday afternoon. The Commission, believing that human resources should be conserved and that waste from accidents should not be accepted as a normal part of American life, proposes to (a) stimulate teachers and parents to thoughtful consideration of the safety education problem, (b) examine critically safety practices in the light of failures in accident prevention, (c) make the best materials, practices, and procedures known for instructional purposes, (d) stimulate school use of worthwhile materials and practices in safety education produced by non-school groups, (e) assist school officials in organizing safety education curriculums, (f) cooperate with other safety groups in promoting projects aimed at accident prevention.

During my stay in Chicago I visited the offices of the Chicago School Department and discussed at length with school officials there specific problems and procedures relating to the administration and supervision of health and safety education programs. Pertinent related material was made available for my consideration and study.

My attendance at the National Safety Congress provided an invaluable experience. I believe that in reflecting the excellent work being carried on in the Boston Public Schools I was able to contribute in no small degree to the success of the various sessions which I attended and in which I participated.

The safety education field is seemingly limitless in its opportunities for service. This fact is recognized possibly more by industrial and engineering groups than by educators themselves. I have suggested in more than one discussion that at future meetings of the National Safety Congress, educators devote less time to themselves and to problems of teaching techniques and mingle to a greater degree with non-academic accident prevention groups in order that the safety education perspective may be broadened and the school safety programs made more vital and functional.

EDWARD J. WALL, Supervisor of Health and Safety Education.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

BUILDINGS RAZED.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Building Commissioner to raze the following structures as fire menaces or nuisances:

Due to the structurally unsafe condition of the building at 133 Centre street, Ward 11, to enter the premises and remove the building.

To raze the building at 16 Camden place, Ward 8, by agreement with the City Building Wrecking Company, 185 Somerville avenue, Somerville.

To raze the building at 14 Harwich street, Ward 4, by agreement with the Mystic Building Wrecking Company, Inc., 203 Everett avenue, Chelsea.

To raze the building at 12 Harwich street, Ward 4, by agreement with the Mystic Building Wrecking Company, Inc., 203 Everett avenue, Chelsea. This contract was awarded to the second lowest bidder because of the fact that it immediately adjoins the building at 14 Harwich street, which is to be razed at this time, and the Mystic Building Wrecking Company's combined figure for the two buildings was the lowest submitted.

To raze the building at 23 Essex street, Ward 2, by an agreement with the City Building Wrecking Company, 185 Somerville avenue, Somerville.

To raze the building at 18 Camden place, Ward 8, by agreement with the City Building Wrecking Company, 185 Somerville avenue, Somerville.

On August 16, 1944, as a result of report submitted by the district building inspector, the City Building Wrecking Company, 185 Somerville avenue, Somerville, was ordered to enter the premises at 120 Marcella street, Ward 11, and remove the building to provide for the safety of the public. Work was completed to the satisfaction of the Building Department and a bill in the amount of $372 submitted has been approved.

On August 15, 1944, the district building inspector reported that the east wall of the building at 284 Medford street, Ward 2, was in danger of collapse, and that the building had been the scene of several fires. Therefore, on the following day, the City Building Wrecking Company, 185 Somerville avenue, Somerville, was ordered to enter the premises and remove the building to provide for the safety of the public. Demolition operations have been completed and a bill in the amount of $67 submitted for work performed has been approved.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 208.

The resignation of Patrolman Robert A. Kirk of Division 4 having been presented, it is hereby accepted, to take effect as of Wednesday, October 25, 1944, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 209.

Acting under provisions of chapter 521, Acts of 1922, as amended, creating the Contributory Retirement System, the Boston Retirement Board has notified this department that it has approved for retirement, on account of ordinary disability, the following-named police officer, a member of said Contributory Retirement System, to take effect at the close of business, Tuesday, October 31, 1944.

Wherefore, In view of this operation of law, the Police Commissioner states that on and after October 31, 1944, at the hour stated, the said police officer shall no longer be an active member of this department, and it is hereby ordered that its records be so amended. Patrolman John J. Donohue, Division 4.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

General Order No. 210.

Lieut. James V. Crowley and Patrolmen Thomas J. Conaty, James F. McDevitt, Joseph J. McBrine and Thomas H. Mulvey, all of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, are hereby commended for meritorious work recently performed in effecting arrests of six persons, four of whom were implicated in several cases of breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny, in this city, one of which involved theft of $8,100 in U. S. currency.

In the early part of January, 1944, a police report was received of robbery and shooting of a man in a tavern in a city of a nearby state. An automobile stolen in Boston was used in the holdup. Because of mental alertness and diligence of these officers, four of the above individuals were suspected of being implicated in this crime. Their information was furnished immediately to local police who, in collaboration with officers cited above, conducted a further investigation, resulting in speedy arrests and confessions of those suspected.

The four persons charged with committing the crimes in Boston were recently found guilty and sentenced to substantial terms in State Prison.

The commissioner desires to express his appreciation of the initiative, intelligence and perseverance exemplified by above-named officers in apprehension of these criminals, as well as for splendid and complete cooperation accorded police of another city which proved to be of such invaluable assistance in solution of a vicious crime.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolution be forwarded to the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Thomas Connolly, requesting him to utilize his powerful position to convey the above to the proper governmental officials for immediate action.

The question came on the adoption of the resolution.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, at the present time throughout the world we have a global war. We find the young men of our country and of the entire world being offered up upon the sacrificial altar of the god Mars in order to satiate those unscrupulous men who drove our country into the abyss of World War II. We are witnessing today conclaves where the press of the nation is barred and certain agreements are made by unanimous consent and presented to the President of the Nation in such a way that the 130 million people in the United States of America are puzzled by the sleight of hand. No war was ever started by the common man. The wars of the world from the beginning of time up to and including the present catastrophe have been signed and sealed by the scratch of a pen by men who have utilized it in order to ingratiate themselves with the wealthy of the world. We are witnessing also a presidential campaign which is more important than the election of George Washington or Abraham Lincoln. Because of my circumstances I am not able to lash out with biting and stinging words against the commitments by both the Republican and the Democratic parties whereby the welfare and the safety of the world is being endangered. If I were free from the shackles that bind me I would lash out regardless of partisanship or political suicide. In the last war we had the so-called idealist, Woodrow Wilson, the twenty-eighth President of the United States, who abdicated his throne and, disregarding the warnings of the founding fathers and of George Washington, allowed our great nation to be engulfed in the cataclysm of the never-ending wars of Europe. Woodrow Wilson, whose memory is kept so reverently by the so-called scions of wealth from Hollywood and Wall Street and whose whole life is being portrayed upon the screen in order to foster emotionalism, so that when you leave the theater you will be in full accord with the so-called great idealist, Woodrow Wilson! Woodrow Wilson, who toured the entire forty-eight states with the slogan, "He kept us out of war," and on Good Friday of 1917, in a message to Congress, asked that our country be plunged into World War I! Woodrow Wilson, who left our country and traveled three thousand miles to Europe, thus setting a precedent for something that no President ever did before. When he sat down at the conclave there was present Clemenceau, the Tiger of France, whose mind was as diseased as his syphilitic hand, a man who could not expose his hand as you and I because he needed a glove to cover the ugliness and the filth and the dirt! You need not take my word but go to any theater and see Wilson portrayed, and there you will find the dark gloves upon the hands of the Tiger of France. Woodrow Wilson the idealist, the man with his head in the clouds, a man who was elected by the people of America to protect American interests, and who made commitments that were never carried out by the American people through their representatives in Congress! The Treaty of Versailles is responsible, and solely responsible, for World War II. The Treaty of Versailles, that was signed and sealed, catapulted an obscure paperhanger by the name of Adolf Hitler upon a pinnacle of the greatest spectacle of the kind in history, plunging humanity into the greatest orgy of blood that the world has ever seen. Now we are finding the same thing again, from the same people, whose love for Europe and whose love for internationalism outrank their love for our own country. We are witnessing today commitments that will bind the children of the present generation, who will be utilized as gun fodder as their fathers are at the present time and their grandfathers were in 1917. Now is the time to act, not when this war has passed into the annals of history, because we are now in the fight, and we will have to begin to plan for the future, whether it ends today or is continued until a year and a half from today. If you kill Adolf Hitler or Hirohito or Mussolini, or any of the rest, you will not stop the cause, you will be merely mitigating the effect. Woodrow Wilson was asked at the peace conclave if he would allow the Pope to sit in at the conclave, and he said, "What does he want to 'butt' in for?" There was only one person, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, who would vote to welcome an envoy of the reigning Pope. Now, when the countries of Europe are expecting to be allowed the freedoms that they fought for, they are slipping deep in their burrows, the victims of race and religion. Great Britain, one of the most diplomatic countries of the world, an imperial dynasty that was built upon the claim of Divine rule, will not allow Palestine to be opened to the Jews because it is fearful of repercussions. And yet we have the idiocy and the hypocritical boldness to ask, Are we to carry out the Atlantic Charter? Yet Great Britain will not allow Palestine to be opened to the Jewish people. Unless the titular heads of the Christian and the Jewish faiths sit down with the seculars, whom we call politicians, this peace treaty will be merely a figment of the ideals of Wilson. We all know where he is at the present time. Unless the people of our country rise up from their lethargy they will be sowing the seed that will once more ensnare and inveigle the American people. Emotionalism, love or hate, become the predominant factor in war. In peace, the casualty lists will be known, but the men who drove us into this war, Republican and Democratic, will be here no longer. This election is most important. No one knows how important the election of a President will be. We are listening to the jibes and to the eulogies on both sides, and it takes a man or a woman of good strength of character and of mind to know who is "throwing the bull," if I may use the vernacular, and who is talking sense. America is great, it has been great, and it will always be great, not because of a Roosevelt or a Wilson, a Jefferson, a Lincoln, or a Washington. It has been great and will continue to be great because of the salt of our humanity that is deposited in the forty-eight states of our great Union. I hope that the election this year will be carried through by the American people and not by internationalists who would utilize a man, a regime or a party in order to throw us into the caldron of another war. I ask suspension of the rule, Mr. President, and the passage of the resolution. And as a postscript I would like to bring out one other thing. When Henry Morgenthau, Jr., was appointed Secretary of the Treasury his own father said, "Henry could not even take care of his own finances, let alone those of the nation." And yet he had the hypocritical attitude of stating that he would bring down Germany to the level of an agrarian state. I don't know what books he has ever read, whether he is acquainted with human nature as he is with finance; but I know this, that you never can bring a nation or an individual into submission without raising up and creating a lust for hate and for killing and for stealing. We were given the formula which was given on Mount Sinai, which was engraved on the heart of man from the beginning, and which will last until the consummation of the world. It transcends the boundaries of geography, of race and religion. The moral law is there for people to read. It is recognized by every man within striking distance of my voice, and you can tell the influence of the Ten Commandments in the pulsation of the hearts of the millions in Africa and other parts of the world. No logic of mine and no words of mine can ever bring out the potency of the moral law. It is inscribed on the hearts and minds of men from the beginning until the end of time. The first law of human nature is self preservation, and no force, whether as an International Police Force, League of Nations, or through some provision of law, can ever make a nation subservient to a domineering nation. That is the history of humankind. It has been written in blood and tears, and the politicians of today would do well if they read and translated from the Greek and Latin and Syrian languages to find out what happened thousands of years ago. Hitler is the creature of the Versailles Treaty, he is the spawn of the Versailles Treaty, and Hitler, whether he is known by another name or not, will never be destroyed unless justice and charity hands justice to the people. The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rule.

LIGHTS ON BULLION ROAD, WARD 20.

Coun. SHANNON offered the following: Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to install lights on Bullion road, Ward 20, between Greter road and Buchanan road. Passed under suspension of the rule.

THANKS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFT OVERSEAS CAMPAIGN.

Coun. SCANNELL offered the following: Whereas, The campaign for Christmas gifts to soldiers, sailors, marines and Coast Guard mariners overseas, who have no relatives, has just been brought to a close; be it Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, hereby extends its hearty congratulations to the Boston American and Sunday Advertiser for the strenuous campaign which they so successfully waged in behalf of these boys, and commends business establishments and public utilities companies for remembering their employees who are in the armed forces overseas, and also extends its commendation to every committee, organization or individual who assisted in making this campaign such a grand success. Passed under suspension of the rule.

NOTICE TO COUNCILORS AND PASTORS OF LIQUOR LICENSE HEARINGS.

Coun. SCANNELL offered the following: Ordered, That the Boston Licensing Board be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to notify the City Councilor and Pastors of the various churches whenever a hearing is to be held on an application for a liquor license in or an application for a transfer of a liquor license to their respective districts.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, the Boston Licensing Board seems to take it upon itself to do as it pleases about notifying people. When they want to notify a man holding public office in a certain district they so notify him, but they take it upon themselves to decide as to whether they will notify people who are interested in the district. I think there may be a bogeyman running around the corridors of the Boston Licensing Board, who tells the members of the Licensing Board that certain people should not be notified because they would bring too much pressure to bear upon the Licensing Board in the transfer or the granting of liquor licenses. It has happened in my district, Mr. President, and it is not going to happen again, because if any man or person in the Licensing Board or the Alcoholic Beverage Commission is going to take on the task that I or other representatives in my district have, then I am going to know about it. I want to know, and I am going to find out darned quick, who is the bogeyman who can get things fixed up with the Boston Licensing Board. I want them to understand that any time there is any liquor license or transfer in my district going to the Boston Licensing Board I should be notified, and every priest in the city or any public official should be notified. As I said before, I have not been notified of the transfer and I want to know why. I want to know who was responsible for my not being notified.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I am not sure that I am correct in my surmise, but I think the Legislature of 1941 passed an act requiring the Licensing Board and the Street Commissioners to notify the holders of public offices in the various wards of the city as to the holding of hearings on any matter of public concern. I consulted with Councilor Chase a moment ago but his memory is not any better than mine on the subject and he cannot authenticate my statement. But I do think that that is so and it is a matter of law. However, in justice to the Boston Licensing Board I would recommend to Councilor Scannell that he go to them and ask them to record his name for notification in all future matters, as I have done. I did that a few years ago and they have never failed to notify me from that time until this moment. I think that would probably cure the condition that the councilor speaks about.

While I am not certain of that law I do think there is such a law on the books.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, what I am saying is that I should be notified on every hearing. I say that there is something wrong when you are notified of one and not notified of the other. The Boston Licensing Board or the Alcoholic Beverage Commission from now on, as far as I see it, had better watch their step, and the bogeyman who can get things done in these places is not going to operate in this city as far as I am concerned.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

BOSTON AS A TOWN.

From its foundation until 1755, or a period of 125 years, Boston was not only the most outstanding but the most populous town in the American colonies. In 1760, Philadelphia's population was ahead, viz., 18,756, Boston's then being 15,631 and New York's about 14,000. In the last year of town government, viz., 1821, Boston's population was about 45,000 and its public debt $100,000, all incurred for new county buildings.

The history of Boston as a town during a period of nearly two centuries surpasses in civic interest that of Boston as a city because of the untiring zeal and successful efforts of its townsmen to realize more of true democracy than had ever been attained before. Their obligations were held as sacred as their liberties.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM IS PROPOSED BY STRAYER SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE IN ANOTHER DIGEST OF ITS REPORT TO THE FINANCE COMMISSION—DISCUSSES TYPES AND FORMS OF EDUCATION PROVIDED BY SCHOOL SYSTEM WITH PROPOSALS FOR IMPROVEMENTS WHEREBY BENEFITS MAY ACCRUE BOTH TO STUDENTS AND CITY AT LESSENERD EXPENSES — EMPHASIZES NEED FOR LEADERSHIP IN VARIOUS BRANCHES IF NEW ACHIEVEMENTS ARE TO BE MADE REAL.

In the following installment of the Strayer Report on conditions in Boston's school system the educational program is discussed:

We turn now from matters of organization and administration to the main concern of the school system, which is the education of children, youth, and adults. The Boston school system offers a continuous program of education, beginning with the kindergarten, and extending through the elementary school, intermediate school, and high or trade school, and for a few students, the Teachers College. In addition, it offers a program of education for adults.

In the full Report, more than seven hundred typewritten pages are devoted to the educational program. It is impossible in this brief summary to deal with more than its broadest aspects.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF SCHOOLS ARE MAINTAINED, BUT EDUCATION IS CONTINUOUS.

It is important to realize that the education of a person is a continuous process. To be sure, the schools are classified into various types. For the years of childhood there are pre-elementary and elementary schools; for youth, beginning at age twelve, there are the secondary schools, including intermediate, trade and day high schools; and there are schools and classes for adults. Such administrative divisions arise from necessity. Interests and needs change with increasing age.

When a little child makes his first timid appearance at the nursery school or kindergarten, he is in want of an understanding of other children like himself, and needs to acquire personal and social self-reliance. This requires an environment in which he can associate and play with children of his own age.

THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SHOULD TEACH THE THREE R'S.

At about the age of six the child stands in need of new kinds of educative experiences. He can now begin to read, and needs a kind of school program that will aid him in becoming proficient in the other fundamental tools of learning and understanding. That is not to say that the sole purpose of the elementary schools is to teach reading, writing, and arithmetic. The child should be introduced to music and the other arts. His character development in the elementary school requires guidance, and his social intelligence requires careful nurture. In this early period of eagerness and curiosity the child should have full scope for making discoveries about himself, his fellows, and the world about him.

THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL SHOULD OFFER MANY OPPORTUNITIES FOR ADVENTURE AND DISCOVERY.

When the child reaches the age of twelve or thereabouts, nature, through the processes of adolescence, begins to transform him into a different kind of person. He grows rapidly in size and strength and purpose; new glandular secretions course through his blood stream; he is restless and wants adventure. The school must now give him exploratory opportunities in science, in the creative and expressive arts (which are legion), in all the fields of human knowledge and worthy enterprise in which he may have a budding interest. This, too, is not the only task of the intermediate school, but to fail in this is to fail most tragically.

THE UPPER SECONDARY SCHOOL SHOULD PRODUCE COMPETENT, RESPONSIBLE, WELL-BALANCED INDIVIDUALS.

And when the youth has had perhaps three years here, he passes into a day high school or a trade school, where opportunities are given him to develop his greatest abilities and interests, often to the point where he can get a living by them. Since this is likely to be his last formal education, the high school should help him to achieve balance, and prepare him with wise guidance and counsel to face up to the impending opportunities and responsibilities of adult life.

Childhood Education in Boston.

Childhood education includes kindergartens and grades one through six, as well as nursery schools. In this part of the Boston school system about 53,000 children were enrolled in September, 1943. These children represent all types of families. Some dwell in homes with appointments of comfort and luxury, and others in squalid tenements. The parents of some are well-educated and community-minded, and the parents of others are mentally and physically ill. Some come from united homes and others from broken homes. Some children have enjoyed the benefits of religion, work, play, friendships, and love; they live where there are magazines and books, where interesting matters are discussed at the dinner table, where there is a constant give and take of ideas. Others have dwelt in homes that have done little more than supply the most basic physical necessities, and these go to school with inarticulate hungers for adult companionship and affection. These children differ in their characteristics, interests, and personal needs.

SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE PROPOSES EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM THAT BENEFITS BOTH STUDENTS AND CITY AT LESS EXPENSE.

The elementary school must help children develop as worthy citizens of Boston and of American democracy.

These children are not made for the schools; the schools are made for them. The elementary school must find and apply the best ways of helping them — all of them — to develop into worthy citizens, to maintain health and bodily vigor, to acquire more knowledge and greater understanding, to grow in the ability to use knowledge, to act more competently and constructively, to accept and fulfill moral and social responsibility.

In order to accomplish this, the school provides a curriculum or program that affords experiences for growth from day to day. That there should be in this curriculum almost measureless opportunity and variety for learning follows from the infinite variations among the children who attend the elementary schools.

The elementary school curriculum in Boston should have more meaning for children.

Children need to learn to read, and write, and figure. The more skillful they become at these arts the faster they will achieve personal and social competence. But a child needs to read not merely as an exercise. He needs to read about something, to write about something, to figure and find out about something, preferably something real and important, interesting and delightful. As Boston's elementary school curriculum is redeveloped, this principle should be kept constantly in mind.

Time schedules should be made more flexible.

The time of the child is arbitrarily scheduled in the Boston public schools. For example, in all of Boston's elementary schools, a seven-year-old child in the second grade is obliged to apportion his 1,500 minutes per week as follows:

SUBJECTS.	Minimum Minutes Per Week.	Suggested Minutes Per Week.
Arithmetic.....	150	175
Character Education and Citizenship.....	75	75
Drawing and Manual Training.....	75	90
English—Oral.....	105	105
English—Written.....	25	25
Health and Safety Education.....	25	25
Literature.....	60	60
Music.....	60	60
Nature.....	30	30
Penmanship.....	100	100
Physical Education.....	75	75
Reading.....	390	415
Recesses.....	200	200
Spelling.....	60	65
Optional.....	70	—
	1,500	1,500

Such programs as this one are rigidly prescribed and faithfully followed in all Boston classrooms, grades one through six. The time allotments are part of the required course of study. Such scheduling breaks the school day of the child into fragments which may readily become so small as to be almost meaningless. Fragmentary effort—certainly for a seven-year-old—leads not so much to comprehension as to memorization. If the teacher has only a few minutes for arithmetic, the work becomes abstract drill in order to crowd in as much as possible within the time allowed. This piecemeal approach to education denies the use of many effective ways of learning, such as discussions, problems, projects, constructions, excursions, radio, and motion pictures.

Boston is rich in educational resources for the elementary school curriculum.

Because it is simpler to manage it that way, there is a natural tendency to limit elementary instruction to classroom instruction. The great disadvantage lies in the fact that this method sequesters the children from so many of the things by which people normally learn. This observation has a peculiar pertinence for Boston's schools, for Boston is blessed with a wealth of learning resources vastly superior to the conventional and academic materials with which the programs of so many American schools have become saturated. It would be difficult to find any metropolitan district with more churches, musical centers, universities and schools, libraries, museums, historical sites and monuments, art galleries, and parks, in proportion to its population. The Boston of today is a living, expressive world, and the modern Tom Sawyer in Charlestown, Dorchester or East Boston should not have to skip school in order to enjoy this dynamic curriculum.

The Boston elementary school curriculum should be remade.

The Boston elementary grades are not using the resources at hand for the meaningful and complete education of children. Even the contribution which the parents and the child's neighborhood can make is neglected, except in some kindergarten centers. There are no libraries in the public elementary schools of Boston. In two elementary school districts the School Department of the Boston Public Library provides library service one day a week. It is to be regretted that this service is not extended to other school districts, for it can be, if only the educational leadership places a proper value on recreational and cultural reading. The central office and each principal's office must assume the continuing responsibility of making accessible and convenient the community's resources in library services and of extending these services to adequate proportions. The elementary school should expand its scene and action to use and interpret local materials and events, past and present, which modify the living of children. And it should abandon the effort to keep the program uniform and rigid and formalized. When a child becomes preoccupied with a learning experience, there should be a chance that he may follow it through to the point of personal satisfaction. A curriculum made up of an outward show of good deportment and fragments of reading, writing, and arithmetic does not satisfy, nor is it likely to educate, boys and girls who are natively curious and joyous and energetic.

Curriculum development begins with an understanding of pupils.

Boston's most important resource for curriculum making is the children themselves. Their developing abilities and purposes are at once the means and ends of education. Individual differences among children must be allowed to count, and this means that the curriculum should offer full opportunity for personal fulfillment to all children, whatever may be their growth stages and levels of maturation, and whatever educational capacities and disabilities they may bring with them when they come to school.

The Boston schools should engage in scientific research into the aptitudes, interests, and accomplishments of their pupils.

Boston should turn as speedily as possible to appraising the progress of its pupils in all phases of elementary education. Their educational achievement is not now known. Apart from tests in reading and arithmetic, no effort is made to measure their achievement by standard scales. This means that the analysis of many subject areas is omitted, as well as such very significant matters as growth in appreciation, attitudes, and conduct, the ability to locate information, and critical reading abilities. The building of high competence has to be preceded by an inventory of such competence as already exists. The gleaning of such basic data will rest largely with the Division of Instructional Research, described later in this summary, which would serve the school system in somewhat the same way as a testing laboratory serves an industrial enterprise.

Promotion policies should be restudied.

It is of very great importance that little children should not start their school careers with frustration and failure. And yet one Boston child in every seven in the first grade in 1942-43 was not promoted to the second grade. Just why there should have been so large an amount of non-promotion in the first grade is somewhat obscure, although it may be due partly to the fact that in Boston there are more large classes in the first grade than in any other.

The Boston conception of giving children aged five to eleven a school of their own is eminently sound. But in actual practice many teen-age pupils are kept in the elementary schools. In 1942 there were more than 2,000 pupils aged twelve to seventeen in the elementary schools.

Educational research tends to show that non-promotion is more detrimental than beneficial to the children concerned, and that children do not profit from repeating a grade. The circumstances strongly suggest a review of promotion policies with a view to reducing the number of casualties.

All elementary school units should be brought under one administrative head.

Boston has an administrative organization based mainly on geography rather than on function. Each of the six assistant superintendents has a group of elementary schools under his direction. It is recommended that the responsibility for all elementary education should be placed with one assistant superintendent.

Curriculum development and instructional research should be made the responsibility of an assistant superintendent, but this responsibility will not be limited exclusively to elementary education.

Recommendations for Elementary Education.

The main recommendations for elementary education are these:

1. All elementary education should be placed under one assistant superintendent.

2. Curriculum development, involving the active participation of all members of the instructional staff, should receive immediate and continuing attention. Among the first tasks will be a study (1) of Boston's children and (2) of Boston's resources for education.

3. The daily program of the elementary school should not, as at present, be broken up into fifteen or twenty periods, one for each subject or activity. Instead, the program should follow an organization by large divisions, such as the language arts, the social studies, the sciences, and the fine and practical arts.

4. Children should have a full day of kindergarten instead of a half-day, and for many children entering at the age of four there should be two years of kindergarten, in order that there may be readiness for the work of the first grade at the time of promotion to that grade.

5. Promotion practices should be restudied.

6. There should be a comprehensive program of testing children for aptitudes, interests, and achievements, and the findings of such tests should be used in planning the further education of the children tested.

7. Adequate data about each individual child should be recorded on a cumulative record form and made available for use by the teachers responsible for his education.

A word should perhaps be added about what may be expected as a result of improving the excellence of the curriculum in the manner proposed here. There still exists in some quarters the notion that, if an educational program for children is enriched with a variety of learning experiences, the skills and knowledge associated with the three R's will suffer. There is ample evidence that such is not the case. On the contrary, such enrichment makes possible a more thorough mastery of the fundamental tools of learning by all children. And it leads as well to a more complete development in the children of those habits, attitudes, ideals, and appreciations that make for individual worth.

All these objectives of elementary education were officially adopted by the School Committee of Boston in 1936. They are sensible aims, and well worth achieving by practical means.

SPECIAL EDUCATION.

It often happens that a child will possess an abnormality that requires special educational treatment. Examples are children with bodily deformities which require physiotherapy, or the deaf who need to learn lip-reading, or the partially sighted who need books with large type, or children whose mental development has been abnormally slow, and who would be hopelessly confused in a situation that demanded rapid mental response. The special disabilities of children such as these require special services that cannot be supplied in classes for normal children, however rich and varied the curriculum. Boston maintains special schools or classes for the mentally retarded, for pupils afflicted with various forms of physical disability, and for pupils who present behavior problems.

Boston's facilities for the education of its mentally retarded children are not good.

There were in 1943 more than 3,000 children in Boston's classes for the mentally retarded. Many of them did not belong in these classes. Some had been diagnosed as having psychoses, a matter altogether different from mental retardation, and others were behavior cases. Clearly a better method of distinguishing mentally retarded pupils for these classes is in order. Reading materials were antiquated and limited. Mentally retarded children require reading matter with single sentence structure, low vocabulary load, and high interest level, but such materials were not available. In most cases the daily class programs did not evoke the interest of the pupils observed. Modern educational practice knows many excellent ways of teaching the mentally retarded through the use of materials that can easily be understood, by pupil participation, by observations in greenhouses and aquaria, by the use of visual aids to learning, and by the assignment of duties corresponding to the ability of the children. Such means were seldom exemplified in the classes visited by the staff of the survey. Of four buildings used as centers for the education of the mentally subnormal, three were highly unsatisfactory in construction and equipment, and at least one—the Francis Willard—was so bad as to discourage parents from letting their children go there.

The teachers of classes for the mentally retarded are devoted to their task, and are going as well as they can in view of the limitations under which they work.

Provisions for the education of the physically handicapped are generally good.

Much better selection and educational care are provided for the physically handicapped. The Horace Mann School for the Deaf (partly subsidized by the Commonwealth) was staffed with well-trained, competent teachers, and carried on an excellent program, as did the Perkins Institute for the Blind. Classes in lip-reading taught by regular teachers for pupils who are hard of hearing, but not entirely deaf, were not so well taught, probably because the teachers generally lacked training in this technical work. The meager amount of audiometer testing in the school system left much to be desired, and gives rise to the belief that there may be many students with hearing difficulties undiscovered, and, naturally, unattended to. Classes for the conservation of eyesight were conducted at an acceptable level of competence, though conditions of lighting were not satisfactory. Speech improvement classes enrolled nearly 5,000 pupils in 1944. Here again it was evident that no proper method of selection of pupils for special classes had been used. Many children were enrolled in speech improvement classes who stuttered or stammered because of a reading disability or a neurotic condition, and speech instruction was a waste of time until the underlying disability had been discovered and removed.

It sometimes happens that a child of good intelligence will have an inability to read, which a teacher with specialized training can correct. Such remedial teaching can cut drastically the proportion of failure all along the educational way. Boston stands in need of classes in remedial reading, taught by well-qualified teachers.

Boys who are hard to handle are sent to a special school.

The M. Gertrude Godvin School, formerly called the Disciplinary Day School, is a school for boys who present difficulties in behavior. It is maintained on the theory that segregation within a special school is an effective way of dealing with the highly individualized problems represented by such terms as "truant" or "habitual school offender."

That this way of handling such boys is of dubious value is shown in the evidence that a majority of the students who have attended this school have gone on to careers of delinquency or crime.

Again we are obliged to call attention to the cavalier manner in which pupils are assigned to special schools and classes in Boston. In this instance, a boy may be assigned to the M. Gertrude Godvin School on the recommendation of an attendance supervisor, though the principal usually gives his assent. It is true that some of the schools in Boston make no use of this institution, but others send boys to it on as slight a pretext as three or four instances of truancy.

When it is considered that often a boy is sent to the M. Gertrude Godvin School without individual psychological testing (there is no psycho-educational clinic in the Boston public schools), without complete physical examination for physical handicaps, and without analysis of his educational, social, and personality problems, it follows that mistakes are inevitable and numerous. The stigma which is attached to attendance at this school may in many instances counteract all the good that instruction can do.

The adjustment problems of boys and girls need scientific diagnosis as the basis for constructive treatment by teachers and masters.

There are few educational problems of greater present importance to Boston than the eradication of delinquency. And the main answer is not to be found in the maintenance of a school that has a penological reputation. Rather is it to be sought in a better understanding of the personal problems of boys and girls by their teachers and principals, in order that the schools may deal with them more constructively and intelligently. A necessary first step is to establish a juvenile adjustment clinic in the school system, as the central agency for the discovery and correction of personal problems among children and youth. This agency may pay for itself a thousand times in the avoidance of retardation, maladjustment, truancy, and delinquency.

An institution such as the M. Gertrude Godvin School may have a place in the Boston school system, but it should not be used as a dumping ground for boys who for one reason or another misbehave and skip school. This method has proved too costly in terms of human values.

THE EDUCATION OF YOUTH IN BOSTON.

In 1940, when the last Federal census was taken, Boston's youth, aged twelve to nineteen, inclusive, numbered 103,415, and, of these, two out of three were in public or non-public school. All of the twelve-year-olds were in school, but not all were destined to finish the high school program. In recent years, two out of every five fell out somewhere from the ninth grade to graduation. In a city where secondary education is assumed to be universal, this circumstance is disquieting. At present, of course, the lure of high wages has a strong deflecting influence, as does the desire to join the flag. And doubtless there are always some instances where extreme economic need has caused students to drop out of high school. But the large number of drop outs is a chronic and not a war-induced condition, and raises sharply the point that the secondary school, as it is now conducted in Boston, has no intrinsic attractiveness for many youth, and seems to many others quite unrelated to the furtherance of their personal plans and ambitions.

At the time of the present writing (September, 1944) a sixteen or seventeen-year-old youth can get employment at high wages. But in the years ahead the educational program of Boston must be predicated on a situation quite different from the present. Great numbers of youth will be confronted with not more than two alternatives—either idleness, or attendance at a school that, at the best, will equip them with salable skills and those broad understandings and competencies that make the effective worker and citizen. In the second alternative is the promise of fulfillment of Boston's youth.

Boston has many types of schools for youth.

The Boston school system is for the most part organized according to the six-three-three pattern. This means that there are six years of elementary education, followed by three years in the intermediate school and three in the upper secondary school. Because of building accommodations and other reasons, the six-three-three pattern is not, however, followed uniformly throughout the City. The schools for youth consist of 24 intermediate schools, 17 elementary schools which have the seventh and eighth grades, 19 day high and Latin schools, and 4 vocational and trade schools, namely, the Boston Clerical School, the Brandeis Vocational High School, the Boston Trade School, and the Trade School for Girls. Six high schools enroll only boys, and six enroll only girls. Some youth who leave the day schools before they graduate continue their education in the evening schools, along with adults.

In the complete Report, various elements of the program of education for youth are dealt with separately. There are chapters about the following: (1) the organization and administration of schools for youth, (2) intermediate schools, (3) day high and Latin schools, (4) vocational education, (5) health education, physical education and recreation, and (6) guidance. Before turning to a consideration of these separate chapters, a few general observations should be made about the schools for youth in Boston.

Students should have more opportunity for self-direction.

Students in the intermediate and high schools are far more mature than children in the elementary schools. Within a very few years they will be on their own. In the secondary school, more especially in the schools for older youth, they should assume larger responsibility than at present for what they do in class and in preparation for class. The existing courses of study do not encourage self-direction, nor did the survey staff, on their visits to schools, note many examples of pupil participation in class planning. The general practice in all secondary schools appears to be to give daily directions as to what to do for the next day, just as in the elementary schools. Little use is made of large units of instruction within which teacher and students together plan the learning activities to be carried on. Future courses should provide for a sharing of responsibilities, in order to develop in pupils a greater ability to direct their own learning.

A secondary school graduate should have developed a marketable skill.

The Boston school system deserves commendation for the variety of training it offers to boys and girls in developing vocational skills. And yet many youth graduate from these schools without having acquired a salable skill because of defects in the vocational training program. Every youth, upon graduation, should have had a chance to learn to do some kind of work well enough to earn a living by it. The school should restudy the existing kinds of vocational opportunities from time to time, in order that students will not, through ignorance, choose to prepare for jobs that do not exist.

Boston's secondary schools for both younger and older youth should offer more opportunities for the study and practice of citizenship.

The demands of modern American life and the responsibilities of citizenship require a good understanding of social forces, economic principles, and political processes. In the judgment of the survey staff, both the junior and senior high school programs of Boston could be greatly strengthened in this area by offering social studies (including history, sociology, and economics), and by affording students a larger opportunity to make and carry out policies and plans for their classes and other school activities.

The Boston School Committee should establish a secondary school of the technical institute type, to include the thirteenth and fourteenth grades.

Modern commerce and industry employ, in positions of intermediate responsibility, workers who possess far higher competencies than a generation ago. The secondary school program which ends with the twelfth grade cannot provide the vocational capacities needed by workers who wish to rise to positions of importance in industry and business, or to operate enterprises of their own. Colleges such as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology are engaged in preparing the commissioned officers of modern technology, but they do not attempt to train the non-commissioned officers. This should be the concern of the public school system.

Boston should therefore establish a secondary school of the technical institute type, offering the thirteenth and fourteenth years of public education to young men and women who aspire to engage in work of sub-professional nature.

An assistant superintendent should be assigned to the organization and administration of all secondary education, including intermediate, high, Latin, vocational and trade schools, and technical institutes.

Assistant superintendents are now given conflicting functional and geographical assignments. Six persons, rather than one person, have charge of the education of youth, and no one person is answerable for the improvement of this critical area of education. Two examples will serve to show the great disadvantage of this diffusion of responsibility. Nearly 3,000 youth are now held in seventh and eighth grades in elementary schools, supposedly for the reason that the secondary schools do not have room for them. And yet there are nearly 18,000 vacant pupil stations in the junior and senior high schools. These 3,000 youth are misplaced for no better reason than that no one person is responsible for secondary education. This is an example of geographical conflict. Another instance will be cited to show the functional conflict. One assistant superintendent is assigned responsibility for curriculum development in all the high schools, and other assistant superintendents are made responsible for the many specific vocational training programs at the high school level.

The functional responsibility for the education of all youth should be given to one assistant superintendent.

An assistant superintendent should be assigned to the field of curriculum development and the improvement of instruction.

In secondary education, as well as in elementary education, scientific appraisal of the instructional program and revision of the curriculum are conspicuously needed. This creative aspect of educational improvement is of sufficient importance to demand the assignment of an assistant superintendent, whose responsibilities would include all levels of instruction, from the kindergarten through the technical institute.

A long-term plan for public education in Boston should be prepared.

It is now evident that education in America is approaching another of its critical periods. Never in human history have the sciences and crafts yielded up usable knowledge so rapidly as in the past few years. Much of this knowledge has yet to find its way into school curricula. As the war approaches its end, secondary enrollments will rise, and as demobilization and reconversion proceed, the demands on the school facilities for the training and retraining of veterans and war workers will be multiplied. To neglect to prepare for such foreseeable developments would be the height of folly.

The survey staff recommends that Boston should prepare a comprehensive plan for a program of public education on a long-term basis for its children, youth, and adults. The planning should proceed under the general direction of the Superintendent of Schools, and should involve the use of a planning council on post-war education made up of representative personnel in the school system, and a citizens' advisory council composed of persons with large community interests that relate to education.

Boston's educational program for youth should be administered as a single, unified branch of the school system.

Nearly half of Boston's public school pupils are enrolled in schools for youth. As of September 30, 1943, the enrollments were as follows:

	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Latin schools.....	1,833	911	2,744
High schools.....	8,916	11,755	20,671
Trade schools.....	946	315	1,261
Vocational schools.....	278	116	394
Commerce and clerical schools.....	618	155	773
Intermediate schools.....	—	—	19,178
Grades 7 and 8 in elementary schools.....	—	—	3,114
Total.....			48,135

It is recommended that the more than 3,000 youth now attending elementary school units should be placed in intermediate schools. These youth will develop more naturally and rapidly in an intermediate school program, and the elementary school pupils will benefit by their departure.

All of the schools for youth should be under the administrative direction of an assistant superintendent, instead of under all six as at present.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOLS.

The intermediate school — more commonly known outside of Boston as the junior high school — enrolls youth aged about 12, 13, and 14. In Boston it is sometimes a three-year unit consisting of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, sometimes a two-year unit in an elementary school, and sometimes the lower part of a six-year secondary school program. The purpose of the intermediate school is to carry forward the general education of the student, and to help him to discover and develop his special interests and aptitudes, whether individual, social, or vocational. For these purposes the intermediate school has a program for the teaching and learning of knowledge and skills, a program of guidance to help the student learn to make good choices, and a program of social activities that give him experience in democratic living.

The intermediate schools are deficient in exploratory facilities.

It is the impression of the survey staff that a twelve-year-old boy or girl in the typical Boston intermediate school might have some difficulty in getting experiences other than those provided by classroom teaching and learning. These schools are patterned very closely upon the senior high school model of twenty or thirty years ago. The unique responsibility of the intermediate school is that it should give the student a chance to explore. But in the schools visited there was no well-defined and comprehensive program of school activities for getting new social experiences, no program of individual counselling and guidance for the cultivation of new interests, no libraries where a student might seek intellectual adventure.

In some of the intermediate school buildings there were library rooms, but in no building were they used as such. Every intermediate school ought to have a library covering the area of two or three classrooms, and should spend at least a dollar per pupil per year for reading matter and other supplies. The Boston intermediate school students now have less opportunity to read than do the children of most rural communities in the United States.

Curriculum revision is urgently needed.

The Boston intermediate schools have ten curricula. A student who finds himself misplaced is allowed to transfer to another curriculum, but few do; once a student gets into a curriculum he tends to be stuck there. There should be only one curriculum in the intermediate school, with enough flexibility to provide for the needs of everyone.

The shortcomings of the present intermediate school program in Boston — the curricular stratification, the absence of suitable programs of guidance and social activities, the absence of any program of appraisal, and the extremely limited facilities for reading — these matters add up to a denial of what the intermediate school should stand for. The Boston intermediate schools need an appraisal of what is being accomplished, and a full revision of the program by teachers and principals, based on the fruits of such appraisal. To accomplish these ends leadership is required in two areas, namely, administration and curriculum development. This leadership will be provided when the recommendations for reorganization of administration, made elsewhere in this Report, are carried out.

DAY HIGH AND LATIN SCHOOLS.

Nearly one-fourth of the pupils in the Boston schools are enrolled in the day high and Latin schools. In 1942-43 their combined membership was 24,177. Of these, 2,563 were enrolled in the Public Latin and Girls' Latin schools and the remainder in the high schools.

The Latin schools are unique in program.

The Public Latin School and Girls' Latin School are different in purpose and tradition from the typical American high school, and it would manifestly be unfair to apply ordinary standards of judgment to them. The Public Latin School was established in 1636, and is the oldest public high school in America. It admits only boys, of demonstrably superior ability, and requires statements from their parents of intent to give them a college education. The curriculum is prescribed more completely than in most schools. English and Latin and physical training are required throughout the entire course. Mathematics is required in all but the twelfth grade. Three foreign languages have been standard fare, but this rule has been eased since the war begun. There are few electives. The chief opportunity for choice lies in the selection of different foreign languages, of which Latin, Greek, French, and German are offered. The Girls' Latin School likewise not coeducational, has similar purposes and program.

The Latin schools are avowedly college preparatory schools. The general rule that a secondary school should give its students an opportunity to get some specific vocational competence hardly applies here, since this will usually be gained in college or university. And the graduates of these two schools have usually done well in college. The average intelligence of their student bodies is higher than that of the Boston high schools in general. How much the good college record is due to this superior native capacity, and how much to the type of instruction the two schools have given them is not known, but the question has been made the subject of many a warm debate.

The day high schools resemble the Latin schools in method but not in subject offerings.

The day high schools offer a wide variety of curricula leading to graduation. Nearly 49 per cent of the 1943 graduates had specialized in preparation for commercial work. There were twelve other fields of preparation, including college preparatory (22.7 per cent of all day high and Latin school graduates), general (9.3 per cent), technical, but not leading to college (4.8 per cent), and lesser numbers in cooperative industrial, technical preparatory, mechanic arts, hospital training, and other fields. Twice as many are graduated from courses preparing for college as actually go to college.

The day high schools are like the Latin schools in one particular. They rely mainly on what can be learned through books. Survey staff members who visited the schools observed that the Public Latin School, which is located near the Museum of Fine Arts, made little use of its exhibits, although the curriculum is heavily classical, and the museum rich in objects of classical art. This disregard of local curriculum resources, conveniently at hand, was characteristic of the public school program in other parts of the system, as previously noted in the section on elementary education. It was generally true of the day high schools, although staff observers noted several exceptions where teachers, with nice professional touch, would reduce the lesson to contemporary terms by making it apply to scenes in Boston or events of the day. The survey staff reported a heavy dependence on the question-and-answer method of evoking responses from students, and extraordinarily little use of newspapers and newsmagazines in course work. It was not clear that all teachers were aware that knowledge that is applied is more surely learned.

Many Boston secondary schools segregate by sex.

Of the nineteen Boston secondary schools, six enroll only boys and six only girls. In the seven coeducational secondary schools it is the prevailing policy to segregate boys and girls in the home room groups.

The policy throughout the United States is generally favorable to coeducation at the secondary school level. The principal argument in favor of coeducation is that it affords an opportunity for boys and girls to know and understand each other better, and thus to prepare themselves for the conditions of normal life where men and women frequently work or play together. It is usually considered better to cultivate mutual acquaintance under the supervision of the school rather than to leave it to chance association. And it may be added that small, expensive classes tend to develop in the upper years of the high school program, and where boys and girls are divided, there develop two sets of small classes, involving additional expense.

The survey staff makes no recommendation relative to the present policy of segregation by sex, except to say that it is worthy of further local study.

Boston's intermediate and high schools have many vacant seats.

More than 3,000 younger youth are enrolled with children in the seventh and eighth grades of elementary schools. There is room for these younger youth in the intermediate and high schools of the City. They should be enrolled there.

Good administration, such as would be provided under the proposed plan for administrative reorganization, would place them there.

Personnel administration is negligent.

The section of the Report dealing with day high and Latin schools brings out certain inadequacies of personnel administration. It refers to the lack of suitable central office provision for the improvement of teachers in service. It also alludes to the many day high and Latin schools that are encumbered with teachers who merit retirement on the basis of disability acquired in service.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION.

Boston offers vocational education in many lines—in industrial training, in business training, and in a number of fields that enroll relatively few students, such as agriculture, hospital training, and special art. Generally speaking, the teachers are well qualified, and all of the industrial teachers have had wage-earning experience in the occupations they teach. Boston has followed the commendable practice of putting its training centers, insofar as possible, in its trade centers. For example, the automotive trade training program has been located at Brighton High School, near the heart of Boston's automobile trade, and electrical trade training has been featured at the Charlestown High School, near the Navy Yard.

The cooperative trade training program enrolls many students.

Some students attend school on a full-time basis. Many others are on an alternate-week schedule. They spend every other week in employment, and this so-called cooperative program between the school and industry is partly financed from state and federal funds.

Trade schools should offer cooperative training.

Boston's Trade School for Boys and Trade School for Girls have disappointingly small enrollments when the needs of the wage earners and of the industries of Boston are taken into account. They offer training in a wide variety of trades. Each should feature cooperative part-time training; it would greatly improve the instruction, since the students would be getting occupational experience while attending school.

Others enroll in mechanic arts and practical arts courses.

Many students who for various reasons cannot enroll in the cooperative industrial trade program are trained in mechanic arts (for boys) or practical arts (for girls). Such programs are needed, but the arrangements for admission allow a great many misfits to enter, and many others who would profit by a proper course of less than "industrial" level cannot get it. Drop outs of students from the mechanic arts courses are high. There are many indications of a need for better selection and classification of students on the basis of tests that will measure the probabilities of successful schoolroom work. Considerable revision of the program to make it more interesting and valuable to students is also an immediate need.

Diagnosis should precede treatment.

Again we find that school authorities neglect to use available measures of ability for screening students prior to classification and enrollment. The result is that dropouts, and other evidences of educational mortality, are alarmingly high. The mechanic arts and practical arts departments have a vital educational task to perform; the school system must never take the view that these schools are simply waste baskets into which students of indifferent academic ability may be chucked and forgotten.

Boston needs an "opportunity" school.

There is great need in Boston for a school that will provide training for workers who are not adapted to the programs of the other vocational schools or who are at work and therefore cannot attend during the regular daytime program. There are many good jobs in Boston that could be opened to young people by way of short unit courses of instruction. It is recommended that the Brandeis Vocational School, which now has a small enrollment, and offers a seemingly inadequate program of shop training to boys, should be used for this purpose. This could then truly be an "opportunity" school for the youth and adults of Boston who cannot otherwise receive the benefits of public education.

A school for post-high school vocational training is needed.

Throughout the United States there is a strong movement for establishing schools of the so-called "technical institute" type, to give vocational training of more than high school but less than full college grade, and to prepare workers for industrial jobs that lie somewhere in the occupational scale between the skilled trade worker and the engineer. This movement is likely to gain additional headway after the war, when the age of initial employment is again lifted. It is suggested that the present Technical High School* may be used for the training of such junior industrial technicians, when it has been suitably equipped, and after necessary curriculum adjustment and faculty orientation. It is further suggested that the School Committee should make it available to students from Greater Boston, with tuition arrangements with neighboring school districts.

The Boston Clerical School and the High School of Commerce should be used to give training for young men and women, at the post-high school level, for sub-executive and semi-professional positions in commercial lines.

The type of school proposed here will fill a conspicuous educational need in Boston, which now has no public institution for the preparation of the "petty officers" of trade and industry.

The business education program is inferior.

The full Report is severe in its criticism of the program of business education. It takes note of the fact that Boston's program of business education once held an enviable position of national leadership, largely because of the exertions and vision of the late Frank V. Thompson, but that since his time it has fallen away sharply. Examples of the features of the program that come in for condemnation are these: (1) Students are classified without serious use of available measures of ability to succeed, and so each year about 1,000 students take Shorthand I and fail to go on to Shorthand II, where the real educational values lie. (2) Students are classified too early, before their purposes are clearly defined. (3) The demands of the fields of business which receive commercial graduates are not properly reflected in the content of the curricula. (4) Great numbers of students are allowed to prepare for jobs that will not exist for them. (5) The measurement of the results of teaching, in terms of real job standards, is conspicuous by its absence. These and many other criticisms, too lengthy and technical to be reproduced here, impel the survey staff to draw the attention of the school authorities to the urgent need of a basic reorganization and revitalization of the whole business education program.

These are not merely captious criticisms. In 1943, nearly half of Boston's graduates were from the business curricula. There were more than twice as many commercial graduates as college preparatory, and five times as many as there were graduates of the "general" program. Therefore the commercial program is the most important of all in terms of the number of students taught. And how well were these commercial graduates prepared for business responsibilities? No one knows. No tests are provided for getting an answer to this vital question. The survey staff could find no evidence that reasonable standards of excellence have been established and maintained, although in most schools there is a desire to have them. It is no answer to say that the graduates of the commercial departments get jobs. So do the graduates of the academic departments—the same jobs. It would be an easy matter to apply tests that are standardized for the United States, and discover how good, or how bad, or how indifferent is the competence that is building up in these students. And it might do immeasurable good to apply diagnostic measures of this sort, using the disclosures to strengthen the program wherever it is weak.

Commercial education needs another Thompson for leadership.

In the opinion of the survey staff, many of the shortcomings in the business education program stem from faulty organization and administration. The head masters, with one exception, are without training or experience in this complex field of education. None of the superintendents has had preparation for service in this field.

The Boston school authorities seem willing to support a sound program of business education at all appropriate levels. The assistant superintendent in major charge is desirous of making the program a good one. So are the head masters, although some of them, perhaps unwittingly, permit their commercial departments to be used as dumping grounds for misfits. The teachers are mostly well trained and experienced. Equipment is reasonably adequate. In short, Boston has the makings of one of the best business training programs in the country. What is needed is a competent leader, with time to conduct investigations on the basis of which continual improvement can be made in the training program.

The position of Director of Business Education is now vacant. To fill it with the most available person in the Boston schools who may happen to rate well for promotion will serve no useful purpose. This position demands a business educator of great competence, for the job to be done is a very big one indeed.

The organization of vocational education needs to be knifed together.

The organization for vocational education is loosely held; several assistant superintendents now share the responsibility for its direction. This characteristic of the Boston school system is often mentioned in the Report. It is recommended that the administration of all vocational education be lodged with an assistant superintendent for secondary education, and that suitable directors of special fields be placed under his direction. There should be wider use of citizen advisory committees for the trades and commercial branches.

SUMNER TUNNEL IS PAYING ITS WAY—THIS YEAR.

Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland has reported to Mayor Tobin that the Sumner Tunnel will be self-supporting this year for the first time since it opened in 1934.

The receipts for the first ten months of this year total $1,088,444.75 for an increase of $238,238.45 in excess of the first ten months of last year. It is reasonable to expect, therefore, he informed the Mayor, that the tunnel will show a profit for the current year of approximately $20,000.

In 1943 a deficit of $215,573 resulted from the operation of the tunnel and the highest deficit was reached in 1937 when the tunnel showed a loss of $453,479.83.

The tunnel has heretofore been a burden on the real estate owners of this city because, up to January 1 of this year, real estate has had to shoulder a deficit of $2,600,734 which resulted from the operation of the tunnel up to that time.

TANKERS DO DOUBLE DUTY.

American shipyards are now making it possible for our tankers to carry extra loads. A scaffold-type extra deck enables a modern tanker to carry a load of extra freight the equivalent of 10 per cent of its normal load capacity. Some tankers now carry, in addition to its load of gasoline, deck loads of ambulances, planes, jeeps and trucks.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR HANLEY.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, leading up to my question I would like to say this for the record that I consider you a fine, strong, intelligent and able young man; that you have been honored by your colleagues by the election on two successive occasions as President of this Body; and that I have for you feelings of the deepest confidence and respect. I received many phone calls this morning and last night to the effect that my name was used in the Parker House as endorsing Maurice J. Tobin for Governor. I have before me what was published in the Boston Post this morning, purporting to give an account of a meeting that was held in the Parker House endorsing the candidacy of Mayor Tobin for Governor, in which your name appears as a speaker for the city group. I would like to ask you, Mr. President, about this. Whatever your answer is, I wish to say now that I still consider you the epitome of what a man in public office should be. But at no time, I wish to say, can any man speak for me on a matter of this kind without my consent. I always speak for myself, Mr. President. God has always given me the intelligence and the brains, if I may say so in all due humility, to express my own opinions and to state my own stand, in either public or private life. In the Boston Post of October 30, 1944, appears the following statement in regard to a reception given to Mayor Tobin at the Parker House:

"In the round of addresses which occupied a stiff twelve-hour schedule, Mayor Tobin received pledges of support from 400 present and former city, state and county office holders at a reception at the Parker House. Charles S. O'Connor, Clerk of the Supreme Court in Suffolk County, and Registrar of Probate Arthur W. Sullivan spoke for the county office holders and State Senator Joseph L. Murphy and Representative Michael Neville spoke for the state group, while City Council President John E. Kerrigan spoke for the city group."

Now, that matter of speaking for "the group" is, of course, a general term, but it is sometimes interpreted in a broad sense by the man in the street and sometimes by the intelligentsia. You, Mr. President, are the president of this Honorable Body. You have carried out the duties prescribed for you in the rules of the Council and according to the city charter. But at no time have you ever been entrusted with the delivery of this man or that man, at the Parker House or elsewhere. I do not believe that you ever intended to appear in such a role, and, not so believing, I can only direct this question to you from my heart and my brain. I am neither for nor against Maurice J. Tobin as Governor up to the present time. I have not been delivered by any man or any group of men, and I do not believe, Mr. President, that you intended to express the idea that I was so delivered, at the Parker House. Now, Mr. President, my question is this: In your speech—whether extemporaneous, prepared, ad lib, or whatever it may have been—did you mean that I am endorsing Maurice J. Tobin for Governor?

President KERRIGAN—No, Mr. Councilor, I did not.

Coun. HANLEY—In other words, Mr. President, you do now unalterably state that what appeared in the Boston Post is a lie, and by a lie I mean a discoloration of fact? Answer, Mr. President.

President KERRIGAN—I cannot say that it was a lie, that such was the intent. I don't know,—the press might have misinterpreted my appearance there, or may have thought that what was said by somebody else was said by me. I did not make any speech. It may have been somebody else who made a remark over there that was attributed to me.

Coun. HANLEY—It says here that "City Council President John E. Kerrigan spoke for the city group." But you say now that you never spoke?

President KERRIGAN—That is right, Mr. Councilor.

Coun. HANLEY—And my name was not used? President KERRIGAN—Not to my knowledge.

Coun. HANLEY—I was not present, Mr. President, and I defy any member of the City Council to say that he had authority to represent me in any such way. I have, however, received a number of telephone calls in regard to the matter and I wanted to have the fact correctly stated. Knowing your veracity, I want to thank you, Mr. President, for your statement, and to say that I never questioned your manhood or your forthrightness. I repeat, what I have said many times before, that I consider you, as President of the City Council, an epitome of the qualities that should be possessed by a man holding that office. You have shown a thorough knowledge of parliamentary procedure in presiding over the proceedings of this Body, and you have always been to my mind an example of what a man should be who has been taught in our public schools and who has been brought up in the American tradition that has come down to us since the sixteenth century. I thank you for making the statement you have made, which I duly appreciate, and I would like presently to make a report upon the duty that you and my other colleagues entrusted to me.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR COFFEY.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President KERRIGAN—If there is no objection, the gentleman will proceed.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I did not think when I came to the meeting today that I would do or say anything of a political nature. The fact is, however, that Councilor Hanley well brought out what was said, and which he quoted here, at a meeting at the Parker House, which was reported by the Boston Post, the occurrence being a meeting at the Parker House, a luncheon or banquet to which I was not even invited, but at which certain other members apparently made statements, or were reported to have done so, supporting Mayor Tobin's candidacy for the office of Governor of Massachusetts. As I say, I was not invited and was not present, and I understand that the same is true of some of the other members of the Council. However, I had occasion to insert advertisements in the Boston Post, twenty-seven in all, before the nomination of Mayor Tobin for the governorship and even after the nomination, paying $42 for some and $60 for others. Every one of those ads was censored by the city editor and approved and allowed to appear on the front page of the Post, and, as I say, they were duly paid for by me. As I have said, they also took money from me for ads even after the nomination and in which I opposed the Mayor, feeling that in doing so I was representing the people of my district. I went again to the Post, however, six weeks ago, on Sunday night, and submitted another ad which was to appear the following morning, and the young man at the desk, to whom I spoke, said, "I am sorry, but you are shut off; we don't take your ads any more." I went the following day and asked why my ads were stopped, and I was then told by Mr. Rogers of the Post that what had been before said by the young man was true, and he said, "Coffey, you are not going to get any more ads in the Boston Post." And even after I became a candidate for Governor and although I stood ready to pay for them, they would not accept my ads in the Boston Post. I said, "Listen, this is a publicity matter. I am going to run for Governor, and I stand ready to pay for the ads, which I feel that I have a right to have placed in your paper. So I will submit this ad for publication in your paper." But I was told that they were going to stop me and that I could not have the ad published. I said, "You received $279,000 in abatements on Post property from the City of Boston, and you will accept ads from Mayor Tobin, but I am going to run for Governor and I submit an ad to you and am ready to pay for it, and you will not accept it. I am going to have this ad in the Boston Globe, and if it appears in the Boston Globe tomorrow, will you take ads from me in the future?" The answer was "No, we will not take ads from you under any conditions." Cripes, talk about a free press! So I then went later to the Boston Daily Record-American and put an ad in and paid for it. A few days later on a Sunday afternoon I went up again to the Boston Record and paid $60 to print an ad, and then found that my ad was objected too. I said, "I am a candidate for Governor and my ads have never been vicious. I don't think they have. I have told the truth about the Mayor not freely opening the hospital in East Boston and about his not taking care of city employees in one way or another. I have simply told the truth." So I asked the young fellow if I could do anything about it. I had paid the $60, and I asked who had stopped the ad. He said it was Ernest Hoftzyer who had stopped my ad, although it had been accepted and I had paid the $60—which, however, was later returned to me from the Record-American, in a check signed by J. C. Acly. Hoftzyer said, "We are not taking any more ads from you, Coffey," so on October 27, 1944, I received a check from the Boston Record-American-Advertiser for $60, a check on the Meridian street, East Boston, First National Bank, signed by J. C. Acly. Freedom of the press, Mr. President! What are we fighting for in this war? I was in the first World War in 1917 and 1918, for three years, getting in before the draft, and I don't know now what the hell I fought for. We hear about freedom of speech and a free press and the four freedoms, and now you cannot put in a decent ad in a newspaper, an ad for which you are prepared to pay. I have had the ad in the Boston Globe, but I could not get an ad in the Boston Post or the Record-American? I am getting burned up by the condition of affairs here, so much so that I sometimes feel that I am getting to be a radical, a Red. What are our kids fighting for, if we do not even have the freedom to put a decent ad in our public press, in the Boston Post, or in the Record-American? What are we coming to? What are we fighting for? What have they got our kids into this war for? We have been told that we were fighting for freedom, freedom of speech and freedom of the press. We all know the statements that have been made from the platform and in the public press. I have a kid overseas, and four nephews, but that seems to make no difference. You would think that I was entitled to as decent treatment as anybody else, that I have a right to bring as much pressure as anybody else, that I had a right to have a decent ad taken by the Post or the Record-American. This is supposed to be a free country, and we are supposed to be fighting to maintain that freedom here and everywhere. Is this what our kids are standing up and being shot down for? We are told about democracy, but if this sort of thing is going on I say, "What the hell kind of a country is this, when Boston newspapers refuse to take a decent ad, when this Ernest Hoftzyer, wherever he is or wherever he comes from—I bet that he doesn't even live here—can treat a man in that way? Why should I receive such treatment when I go to the Record-American with a decent paid ad, saying "Print this ad and here is $60," and my criticism in the ad is simply of Mayor Tobin's refusal to open the relief station over in East Boston and also to take proper care of the employees of the city? I go there also as a candidate for Governor, and that is the treatment I receive. As I stated four weeks ago, I am not for Cahill, and in my ad I simply pointed out how the people of my district felt about Tobin, because of his not opening the Relief Hospital and because of his not treating city employees fairly. But I will say that the Boston Globe took and printed my ad. The Boston Post after having received and been paid for a number of ads of mine finally refused an ad and said they would take no more from me, announced that they would no longer take Coffey's ads, and as I say, the Record-American would not print my ad and returned the $60 I had paid to them; and it is disgraceful to see the writing up that they have been giving Tobin week after week. They spoke of the wonderful reception he had received in Springfield when he wasn't within 30 miles of Springfield. Well,

I will say one thing, that he is going to get a hell of an ovation in Boston on election day. He is going to be crucified here. Mayor Tobin has claimed to be the friend of the policemen and the firemen. In regard to the proposed 70-hour week law for the Fire Department, he went to the Legislature and had it postponed for six months after the war was ended, saying that he would then give it to them. You saw the Y D Association article in the Post yesterday. They crucified him in that because of the action he had taken on two occasions against a downtown memorial building, favored by 26 Y D posts in Suffolk County. I was a witness, as were other members, to the occasion where they were going to slug one of our members, and I had to intervene and stop them. There is the proposition in regard to the White Fund, where the answer was that we had no control over the White Fund, that under the will it was simply to be used for a certain purpose, and that is all there was to it. Mayor Tobin has also taken the same position in regard to school teachers that he has in regard to firemen and policemen. He told them that he was going to do what he could for them later on, but if they voted in favor of an increase of pay before that he would veto it. He had courage then, but he did not know then that he was going to be a candidate for Governor. Of course, he is glad to do whatever the bankers want done. Many a time when I have been down on the second floor in the past five years, I have had to cool my heels, while certain favored people of that stripe could quickly go in the other door. He does not waste his time with some of us, but he can give special treatment of that sort to Stuart Rand, a trustee of the City Hospital—black Republican that he is, while we are cooling our heels. As I say, of course, we all know how he has acted in regard to the Relief Hospital over in East Boston. I don't need to keep repeating that. Councillor Hanley has already told you how he feels about what appeared in the paper in regard to the reported endorsement of Mayor Tobin's candidacy by members of the Body, in a meeting at the Parker House. I think the Post reporter here may know something about that. But Councillor Hanley properly brought the matter up, as it involved the President of the Body, who says that he made no speech whatever at the Parker House. Of course, I was not there myself, but the President stated clearly that he did not make a speech at that meeting, and our President is always to be admired as a man who tells the truth. Last Friday there was an article on the front page of the Boston Globe out of which I got a kick. It spoke of the betting commissioner on Newspaper Row. I didn't know anything about any betting commissioner there. I didn't even know that such an official as a betting commissioner had been licensed. But it spoke of the betting commissioner on Newspaper Row, and I haven't been able to get information about any such person. But, speaking of betting, I would be willing to bet this $60 check against $10 that my name will not appear in the Boston Post tomorrow morning. Of course, Mayor Tobin's name can always appear there, or in some of the other papers, and he is always spoken of favorably. For instance, we were told what a wonderful appearance he had made in Springfield when he was not within a good many miles of the place and when he was probably down on the Cape for a weekend. He can always get a good write-up, whether the write-up represents the facts or not. I want to take time out to thank the Boston Globe. I think they were very good to me. I never went to the Herald to advertise, but the Globe has been good to me. I can't understand why I should have been treated as I have been by some of the other papers. I was in the first World War for three years and am a disabled veteran. I was fighting at that time for freedom, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of all kinds, the same as my kid and my nephews are fighting in this war; and I say that this is a pretty rotten country if it is going to allow this sort of thing that our kids are fighting against. I was a candidate for Governor and I was paying my bills, advertising and otherwise, and I see no reason why a man who presents a decent advertisement and is ready to pay for it should have that advertisement refused today by any paper. I have told what happened to me in this matter, even when I was a candidate for Governor, although no more so really than any man in this room. It did seem to me, however, that that fact should have some weight when it came to having a decent advertisement published in a Boston paper. As I have said, the Boston Post refused to receive my advertisement, although they had received and been paid for a number of my advertisements before, and the Record-American accepted the advertisement and the money, later returning the money and refusing to print the advertisement. I have simply made these remarks because Councillor Hanley brought the matter up today. As far as the result of the election is concerned, I think the mind of every man in the Commonwealth is made up. All voters know how they are going to vote today, as votes are rarely changed within the week before election. And it is seldom that votes are delivered. Martin Lomasney is the only man in my experience who could on the day before election deliver votes. Usually when this talk of delivering votes is indulged in, we take it with a grain of salt. I have simply stated these facts today, thinking you might be interested, but realizing at the same time that nobody cares what the Boston Post says or does.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. SCANNELL, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted report recommending passage of order for payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in City of Boston for month of October.

Report accepted; said order passed.

REPORT BY COUNCILOR HANLEY.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, I will now report what I did under my assignment. First, as a preliminary, I want to state this emphatically, as I would testify to my last breath for the Four Freedoms, among which is the freedom of the press. Without freedom of the press, the United States of America might as well change its name to Germany or to the Soviet Union, Italy, or Japan. The men who write for the press are usually talented, and for the exercise and utilization of their talents they receive due remuneration. They have been most kind to me in my few years of public life and for the kindness they have shown me I am grateful. In my few years of public life, as in private life, I have made friends and I have made enemies. That shows that I am human and that I have the same experiences as other men. The remarks I am about to make may have repercussions and they may destroy the man on the second floor, they may catapult him into the position of gubernator of our state. I do wish to say, however, that there is no malice in my voice or heart, in my lips or tongue. I know that Maurice J. Tobin is one generation removed from Ireland, that the only reason why he was born in this country is because his parents, like my own, left the shores of Ireland because they were denied there the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. They came to this land like many others, like the parents of my distinguished Italian friend, Councillor Joe Russo. There is the answer to what America is. The greatness of America lies in the fact that it epitomizes far more than any words of mine can express, and the spirit of America is exemplified in every member of the Boston City Council. The Boston City Council, of which I am a member,—and it is a membership which we all most deeply cherish—is a Body of which we may all be proud. It is a Body which has sometimes been vilified and which has been maligned by lying tongues; and yet there are and have been men in the Boston City Council, the present speaker notwithstanding, who could take their places in the halls of Congress, in the Governor's chair and the President's chair, more fittingly than a Roosevelt, a Hoover, or a Dewey. These remarks of mine are a prelude and are utilized as a vehicle for something I wish to say at this time. You may rest assured that I have enough courage to go to any part of the city and talk upon matters in which I am deeply interested and concerned, and I don't care what the result might be. Speaking on my assignment, I introduced an order five weeks ago asking the Mayor to take official steps in formulation of an arbitration committee made up of personnel of the Police Department, and I did it for the simple reason that the present Police Commissioner is always utilized in a sense because of his race and creed, and for no other purpose. He did not have the courage to state that it is an inalienable right of man to organize and to bargain collectively, but he refused to stand alone and reverted back to Commissioners Stephen O'Meara, Edwin U. Curtis and others, in trying to justify his action in the face of twentieth century progress in recognition of the right to organize and to bargain collectively. I took up the cudgels, introduced the order and spoke upon it, and one of our erudite members saw fit to amend it. It was referred to the Executive Committee, and later on the distinguished councillor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) saw fit to amend the order and ask that I be appointed a committee of one for the purpose of sitting down with his Honor the Mayor. I carried out the assignment which I was given under this order. Today we are to adjourn for two weeks, and so at this particular time I would like to refer to the Boston Post of October 12, 1944, which had an article with this caption: "Hub Police, Firemen, to Get Raise. Mayor Tobin tells of 'strong possibility' of increase."

The article goes on:

"Mayor Tobin last night announced that there is a 'strong probability' that surpluses in the budgets of municipal departments will make it possible for him to grant salary increases to the members of Boston Police and Fire Departments by December 1.

"The Mayor made his announcement after receiving a report from Budget Commissioner Herman L. Bush, whom he had assigned to make a study of the salaries paid police and firemen in other cities comparable to Boston, and following a conference with Councillor Matthew F. Hanley of Jamaica Plain, designated by the City Council, to meet with him on the matter.

"The Mayor said: Some time ago, after a conference with representatives of the Fire Department and members of the City Council, I instructed the Budget Commissioner to make a survey of the salary and working conditions of the uniformed forces of the Police and Fire Departments in cities with a population comparable to Boston. After this study was made, I definitely decided that I would give them an increase at the earliest possible moment during the present year.

"With this in view I requested the Budget Commissioner to ascertain whether or not any surpluses will be available for this purpose before the end of the year. I am now informed by him that there is a strong probability that surpluses may materialize sufficient to grant an increase to the uniformed forces of the Fire and Police Departments, effective during the latter part of November, but not later than December 1, providing that certain other factors, over which I have no control, prove favorable for the purpose."

Then, continuing:

"One of the major factors is the appropriation of accrued income from the Parkman Fund for the Maintenance and Improvement of Parks and Playgrounds in Existence in 1887, and which income was considered in the preparation of the Park Department budget. I feel confident, however, that the City Council will cooperate to make possible the accumulation of the necessary surplus. As soon as this surplus has been definitely ascertained to be available, it is my intention to take action relative to the Fire and Police Departments, and to also give consideration to other groups of low-paid city employees who have not as yet received sufficient consideration for further increases."

I gather from that that he intends to transfer a certain sum of money from the Parkman Fund to the Fire and Police appropriations, for the purpose of increasing the amount paid to the police and firemen after December 1. There are these figures that I have prepared, and which I would like to submit to you at this time as having a bearing upon this matter.

(Coun. HANLEY here submitted the following tabulation of figures):

	Fire Department.	Police Department.
A-1, Balance, October 10, 1944.....	$756,251 92	$1,358,005 52
Estimated Requirements to December 31, 1944.....	731,241 00	1,109,997 00
Apparent Surplus.....	25,010 92	248,008 52
Weekly cost of $200 increase
938 Privates and Patrolmen.....	1,985.....	$3,592 54
120 Lieutenants and Sergeants.....	178.....	459 60
81 Captains and Lieutenants.....	71.....	310 23
1,139.....	2,234.....	$4,362 37
November 29 to December 31, 4 5/7 weeks.....	$20,565 46	$40,336 48

So you can see from that what the present situation is in regard to the finances of both departments. These figures have been drawn up by me from the available figures, in my own time, to show what the situation actually is. There is one thing that I want to leave with the members of the City Council, and it is this, that the Police Commissioner of Boston was appointed by Governor Leverett Saltonstall. His name is Thomas F. Sullivan. He is evidently a man who fitted in very well at a propitious time, for political reasons. I have never yet met the man who felt that Thomas Sullivan was qualified for the position, and certainly a man holding that position should be qualified. We don't want a repetition of that sort of thing where oil dealers can put in their teams and practically call a strike on Beacon Hill, blocking traffic, or where there is similar trouble on Dudley street. We don't want any playing of politics which may cause people to freeze. Tom Sullivan ought to get down off his high horse and talk to people, using some common sense. Well, in any event, Tom Sullivan has been catapulted into the Police Commissioner'ship. He appeared before the Committee on Appropriations on the second of March of this year, and you find his statements in Volume 5, on that date. On page 395 we find the following:

"Coun. DWYER—Commissioner, could I ask you a question, and if you don't care to answer it, it is O. K. I was wondering if you discussed the possibility with his Honor the Mayor of an increase for the police.

"Colonel SULLIVAN—I would rather not say anything about that, because that is something where there is a joint responsibility on the Commissioner and the Mayor. For that reason I would rather not answer.

"Coun. DWYER—The reason I asked that question—and I am not going to press it—as I stated in the first place, you are probably aware of several orders that have gone in from the Council, have been unanimously passed, in the last few weeks as regards salaries of police officers and superior officers; and you are probably well aware of the intentions and the policy, if it was within their power, of the Council of putting the Boston police on a par with some of the other large cities.

"Colonel SULLIVAN—I have been working and gathering statistics that are not entirely complete yet. I have on my desk some communications received in reference to that.

"Coun. CAREY—I believe what Council Dwyer has in mind is that there have been several orders introduced, and we haven't been advised, and we are wondering if anything is being done.

"Colonel SULLIVAN—I know I am gathering information there which would permit me to discuss the matter intelligently when the question is raised with reference to other communities, and so forth."

Then, on page 415, the councilor from Dorchester, Councilor Fish, said:

"This may have been asked before I got in this morning, but Tom Hannon and I put in a joint order that the maximum police pay be reached in a three-year period instead of a five. May I ask, have you got any figures as to how much would have to be had if that were done?"

"Colonel SULLIVAN—Not on that particular item, but I have been going over that whole business, councilor, and I am, of course, a joint authority with the Mayor on the question of pay and the number of police officers, and it is being given very careful consideration."

Underline that, stenographer.

"Coun. FISH—Thank you."

"(Discussion off the record.)"

Well, gentlemen, I have submitted to you these figures that I have put together, which have a very important bearing, to my mind, upon this matter. Something should be done. Of course, if some people are trying to use the commissioner as a hatchet man to destroy the chances of the men in the department, that is one thing. But I think the figures do have a strong bearing upon the practicability of putting through these increases. I am not trying to put anybody on the spot. But clearly something should be done. There seems to be no one to speak for the members of the Boston Police Department. Really, there has been no one to speak for the members of the Boston Police Department, even though we had present on one occasion a Mr. Carley, a former police officer and an attorney, who said he was there for the purpose of representing the police personnel. I ruled him out in that capacity, while he might have the privilege of simply speaking, because it was an open session. But he has seen fit to stick a political knife in the back of the man on the second floor. That is why, gentlemen, you can never interpret me. You don't know whether I am with the Mayor or against him. But I don't like to see men act in that way. Maurice J. Tobin is fighting for the governorship. This meeting today may embarrass his candidacy, or it may help him. But I would not like to see the same result that we saw back in 1919, when we had a famous strike. I have prepared and given these figures to you today, gentlemen. You can accept or reject them. You can refute them, or you can take the matter up in open meeting or executive session and, if you wish, can interrogate me privately. We are told that the joint responsibility for the Police Department rests in the Mayor and the Police Commissioner. The Police Commissioner is a puppet of the Republican Governor, Leverett Saltonstall. His Honor the Mayor has taken the stoniest stride in the history of Boston police in setting up an arbitration committee, in answer to my order passed unanimously by you gentlemen, and everything has been recorded, starting with the introduction of my order. The money is there, and if the Mayor wants to give it to the policemen and the firemen at the present time it can be done. I can understand his position in some ways, but he did not have to wait so long. Those figures of mine are in the record, and I don't believe I can say any more. I have talked too much already, but nothing I have said will I either retract or take back. And I now repeat that I am neither for nor against Maurice J. Tobin at the present time, 3.16 p. m.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR DWYER.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a statement.

President KERRIGAN—If there is no objection, the councilor may proceed.

"Coun. DWYER—I have not been delegated by the Committee on Parkman Fund to make any public statement in their behalf, but, as the chairman of the Committee on Parkman Fund, I want it distinctly understood that that committee has absolutely nothing whatsoever to do with granting the police and firemen their raise. There is money, sir, interest that has accrued on the Parkman Fund, that the committee on Parkman Fund acts upon, but even if the committee wished to use that money for raising the pay of the police and firemen, they could not do so, because under the will of Mr. Parkman that money was left solely for the improvement and maintenance of parks and playgrounds in existence at the time of the will, in 1887. So, sir, without prolonging this discussion, I will merely close by wishing it understood that your honorable committee on Parkman Fund is in no way, shape or form, at this time or any time, responsible for the police and firemen not getting their raises. I thank you.

BALLOTS OF DECEASED SERVICEMEN.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Resolved, That it is the opinion of the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, that the Attorney-General of Massachusetts should revoke his ruling by which the ballots of servicemen known to have died since marking their ballots should not be counted.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, some time ago when there was a question raised about whether the ballots of absentee voting service men should be counted, where they died before election day, the Attorney-General of the Commonwealth, Robert C. Bushnell, rendered a legal opinion that the absentee ballots of service men whose death occurred before election day could not be counted. That is the ruling in regard to the votes cast by our service men who have cast their votes but who die before the presidential election day. We talk of patriotism and the furtherance of the war effort, about the wonderful services that G I Joe is performing; and yet that is the attitude that is being taken in regard to the votes being cast in the coming election by G I Joe, to the effect that his ballot will not be counted if he should die before the election takes place. He must be guaranteed to stay alive until after 8 p. m. in Boston voting places if his judgment is to be registered. Last Thursday or Friday I wrote a letter to Mr. Bushnell. He lost absolutely no time in answering it, and his answer was to the effect that while he personally would like to have ruled differently, he was trying to follow the language of the law. Mr. President, those boys at the front have deposited ballots expressing their final judgment in regard to who should be elected in the coming election. They are, of course, on the firing line, and many of them have been and will be killed before our election day takes place. But they are fighting our battles, under continual threat of death, they have expressed their judgment in their ballot, and I feel that their ballots should be counted. Those poor dead boys! They have been fighting for the very cornerstone of democracy, and they have registered their judgment just as definitely as if they were present themselves here in the voting booths. Why, in the name of heaven, should that judgment not be recognized and registered in our democracy? The judgment of men who are fighting our battles and who in many cases give up their lives in order that democracy may live. They have rendered, in the presence of their officers, their considered and solemn verdict just as much as if they registered it here in the polling booth, but the fortunes of war decree that they shall not live until election day. It seems hard that their judgment, so registered, should not be recognized, under the circumstances, simply because they cannot come back. We are told that there are upwards of 455,000 Massachusetts men in the service of our country in this conflict. How many of them are qualified voters I have no way of knowing, but it is certainly reasonable to suppose that over 50 per cent, and possibly 75 per cent, would if they were present vote the Democratic ticket. We have countless hospitals in Massachusetts, filled with men who in many cases are for all practical purposes dead, and yet while they have the breath of life they have the privilege of the ballot. It seems to me, Mr. President, that although Mr. Bushnell says that the votes of men who have died before election day should not be counted, looked at in a patriotic and commonsense way, the votes of these men who have voted under all the safeguards that ordinarily surround our voting should be registered. For Mr. Bushnell to say that they should not be counted represents, to my mind, narrow, selfish and unwarranted judgment, as applied to such men, who are fighting this war for us and who, at the time when they cast their vote, were exercising and performing their duty under their franchise. At the time when they cast their ballot they were alive and exercising their rights as American citizens. Mr. Bushnell says that that they must be alive at the time of the closing of the polls on election day. Their judgment is as truly and properly exercised on the fighting front as if they were present in our voting booths and died the moment after casting their ballot; and we should always remember that they are the ballots of men who are fighting our battles, who have registered their judgment surrounded by all the safeguards that would go with their voting in the voting booth, and that their ballots should be counted, once they have so voted and have signed their names. The proper voting machinery is set up in the service, and the men, with due regard for all the proprieties and requirements that go with voting in our voting booths, have registered their solemn will. As far as they are concerned, that is final, regardless of whether they die before the polls here close or not, and I feel most earnestly that that judgment should be registered. It seems to me that different considerations apply to the service men who are thus voting than to the ordinary citizen at home, whose judgment is not expressed or registered until he actually deposits his ballot in the box. Those men have deposited their ballots in this way while still alive, under a system which recognizes that, while they are necessarily absent fighting our battles, they shall still be given a right to vote in our elections. It seems to me, therefore, that humanity, decency and patriotism demand that their votes shall be counted. But Mr. Bushnell, when asked what he could do about it, says "Nothing." I feel personally, as I know many others do, that this, under the circumstances, is not the correct decision, and I hope, therefore, that the Attorney-General may after due consideration change his ruling. Let us make this a personal matter. Let us throw a sacred protection around our dead soldiers in times like these. Therefore, I have introduced this order, which I think represents a sound principle, and I trust that it will be passed.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

LIFE PASSES ON ELEVATED TO INCAPACITATED VETERANS.

Coun. CHASE offered the following:

LIST OF TEACHERS APPROVED FOR TEMPORARY SERVICE

The Superintendent submitted, under the provisions of section 265, paragraph 3 of the regulations, the following list of teachers approved by him from which assignments may be made for temporary service:

A detail of one patrolman for duty in parking area surrounding City Hall Annex at 4 o'clock p. m., Monday, November 6, 1944 (the night before election day), to keep the entire area clear for the following morning, so that motor trucks coming to the Election Commissioners' office for ballots at early hours on election morning will be able to park without interference or delay.

As twenty-four trucks arrive practically simultaneously in the early hours on Tuesday, it is essential that the entire area surrounding the Annex be kept clear throughout the night.

8. Commanding officers are to take notice that it is of the greatest importance, also, that the patrolmen herein detailed report at the polling places in the various precincts promptly according to schedule.

Failure for any reason of an officer to be on hand at a polling place at the appointed time delays the sergeant in the motor vehicle in his delivery of the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., and interferes as is plainly seen, with the balance of the delivery schedule.

9. This detail of patrolmen at the various precincts will continue until the ballots are counted and the results declared. The officers are then to bring the ballots and returns to the Election Commissioners' office.

10. Cards with the ward and precinct number and location of voting booth printed thereon will be forwarded to the several police divisions, on which the division commander will write the name, the division number, and the number of the officer detailed at the time stated on the morning of November 7, 1944, at the voting booth of each respective precinct on his division. This card, to be given to the officer so detailed at the voting booth, will be retained in his possession until delivered by him to an employee of the Board of Election Commissioners, who will arrive accompanying a sergeant on motor vehicle from the Election Commissioners' office on the morning of November 7, 1944, with the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., as hereinbefore stated.

This card, when returned by such employee to the office of the Election Commissioners will be its receipt that the ballot boxes, ballots, etc., have arrived at their proper destination.

11. On receipt by the patrolman from the sergeant, detailed on motor vehicle, as herein provided, of registering ballot box, ballots, voting lists and such other documents as may have been received from the Election Commissioners, the patrolman detailed at polling place will deliver same to the warden or clerk of the precinct, allowing no person to take or handle them before such delivery, and hand the key of the registering ballot box to the warden. On delivery of the ballots to the warden, the patrolman will take from him a receipt for the same, which receipt will be returned to the Election Commissioners.

12. After the warden has opened the box and allowed the election officers and the public to see that it is empty, the box is to be again locked and the key given to the patrolman who is to retain it until after the polls have closed, except that, at the request of the warden, the patrolman may allow him to open the box for the purpose of pressing down the ballots, in order to make room for more ballots after which the patrolman will see that the box is again locked, and the key returned to the police officer.

The Board of Election Commissioners state that if a heavy vote is cast, large ballots, such as those to be used on November 7, are apt to catch in the mechanism of the ballot box, and that if the ballots are not pressed down, there is danger that some of them may become mutilated.

13. The patrolman will obtain from the warden copies of poster, which will be sent to the latter, in relation to smoking and the use of liquor in polling places, and post same in conspicuous places where they may be easily read. Tacks will be sent for the purpose.

14. The warden will deliver to the patrolman detailed at the polling place for his use at that place a copy of the descriptive voting list, which must be returned to the warden at the close of polls.

15. When the polls are opened, the patrolman will mark in the place indicated on tag attached to the key the figures which the register shows before any ballots are cast.

16. At 8 P. M., Tuesday, November 7, 1944, when the polls close, one sergeant will report in each of the 22 wards (excepting Ward 1, East Boston, and Ward 18, Hyde Park, for which wards two sergeants and two motor trucks, each, are provided), to meet motor vehicle at last point of morning distribution; thence to proceed to each of the several precincts in his respective ward, and receive registering ballot box (which must be locked) and key thereof, voting lists envelope, signed by the warden and other election officers, receipts for ballots, unused ballot box, sealed and certified (containing unused and spoiled ballots), stamps for marking spoiled ballots and check-lists, carry them to the Election Commissioners' office and deliver same to some member of the Board of Election Commissioners.

17. When the polls are closed, the patrolman will mark on the same tag the figures which the register shows after all ballots have been cast. He will then hand the key to the warden, who will open the box and take out all the ballots to be sorted and counted. The warden will then cause the voting lists, including the list used by the police officer, to be sealed up in an envelope and the envelope certified by the signatures of himself and the other election officers and the same returned to the Election Commissioners, as described in section 16 of this order. The patrolman will not allow this envelope to be put into the ballot box. The sergeant who will report on motor vehicle will keep it about his person until delivery at the office of the Election Commissioners. The unused and spoiled ballots are then to be put into the box for unused ballots and the box sealed and certified, to be delivered to the office of the Board of Election Commissioners as set out in the paragraph immediately preceding.

18. When returning from polls, all motor vehicles must drive to the easterly side of City Hall Annex, Court square, where ballot boxes will be conveyed by chute to the basement.

19. It is important that the patrolman sees that the voting lists envelope is signed by the warden, clerk and all the inspectors. The patrolman will also see that the special box for signatures of voters is returned in the registering ballot box.

20. In case a patrolman is detailed to relieve another after the close of the polls, the commanding officer will see that he is properly instructed as to the duty of bringing the official return, the box of ballots cast, and the press return to the Election Commissioners' office as soon as they are delivered to him by the election officers.

21. When the ballots have all been counted, the ballots thus counted, tally sheets and nothing else, shall be placed by the warden in the leatheroid box sent for that purpose, which must be sealed up and signed by all the election officers. The patrolman will particularly see that this box is properly sealed up and that all the election officers have signed their names to the certificate on the box. The patrolman will then bring the box, official return, record book, and press return to the City Hall Annex, Court square, and deliver same to the election commissioners.

The Board of Election Commissioners announces that this year, the officer will, for the first time, also have to return to its office a large envelope containing so called "Service Absent Voters' envelopes."

The Board further adds that the officer should make certain that this large envelope is given to him by the warden.

The patrolman is directed not to allow the official return, press return or record book to be placed in the leatheroid box with ballots cast, but are to be returned by the officer to the Board of Election Commissioners.

22. While the polls remain open, an officer of rank will visit the polling place in each division at stated intervals, to be designated by the captain, and in case of any disturbance will report the fact to the commanding officer of the station house without delay. If additional men are needed beyond the number available in that division, the officer in charge will communicate immediately with Headquarters.

23. Attention is called to the fact that the polls at the State election on Tuesday, November 7, 1944 shall open at 8 o'clock a. m. and close at 8 o'clock p. m.

24. Commanding officers of divisions will see that the officers detailed for duty on State election Day are furnished with a copy of the circular issued by the Board of Election Commissioners, entitled: "Instructions to Police Officers on . . . Election Days."

25. The Board of Election Commissioners states it is appointing two extra inspectors to serve in each precinct from 6 p. m. until the count has been completed at the State Election, November 7. Therefore, the count of votes cast is to be done at two tables, the warden supervising one table and the clerk, the other.

Notes.

(A) Attention is again called to the last paragraph of the circular, "Instructions to Police Officers on . . . Election Days," which reads: "The police officer is directed not to allow the official return, press return or record book to be placed in the leatheroid box."

On this subject the Board of Election Commissioners wrote on a previous occasion:

" . . . This matter is very important and we have stressed it for years; still we have difficulty in respect to it at every primary and election. This year we are again giving our election officers special instructions, and we believe that if the officer is alert he can remind the precinct workers that the three items named . . . (official return, press return and record book) are to be given to him to return to the office of the Election Commissioners."

The officer of rank who will visit the polling places in each division (provided for in section 22 of this order) shall, at an appropriate time, call to the attention of the police officer and of the warden on duty at the polls, that the official return, press return and record book are not to be placed in the leatheroid box.

They shall be handed to the police officers who will deliver them as set out in paragraph immediately following.

(B) The officer going to the office of the Board of Election Commissioners with the leatheroid box, after the counting of the ballots, will take with him, in a separate package, the official return, press return and record book, which he shall safely deliver to the Election Commissioners with the leatheroid box, as provided in section 21 of this order.

(C) The police shall enforce the order that smoking is prohibited within the confines of the polling places, during the entire day, while the polls are open, as well as after they are closed.

The Board of Election Commissioners makes special request that the officers detailed at the 395 precincts be instructed to see that this is enforced.

As polling places and their approaches and exits are, in many instances, in buildings used for places of religious worship, to say nothing of the danger to valuable property from careless persons, the importance of these instructions is apparent.

Commanding officers will take notice of the following comments contained in a letter to the Police Commissioner, dated October 23, 1942, from the Board of Election Commissioners:

"The law prohibits smoking in any polling place—after the polls are closed as well as while they are open.

"We request that the officers be reminded that it is their duty to assist the warden in enforcing this law. Since the recent primaries we have received several complaints from owners of private property used for polling to the effect that smoking was prevalent at the primaries. This violation of the law must not be permitted to continue. We have had letters from members of the boards of two churches warning us that if smoking continues, we will have to vacate the premises.

"We trust that you will stress this matter with the officers."

(D) The following matter was on a previous occasion brought particularly to the attention of the Police Commissioner in writing by the Board of Election Commissioners.

Commanding officers will see that this cause of complaint, if it again occurs, is corrected.

"During the hours from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. there has been a large increase in the number of persons who congregate outside the polling places. This makes it disagreeable to voters who are entering and leaving the polling places. May we ask that the police use every effort to relieve this congestion?"

(E) Under date of October 27, 1939, the Board of Election Commissioners wrote to the Police Commissioner as follows:

"We also request that the officers assigned to the polls be reminded that it is the privilege of the voters to watch the count of votes cast; the law specifically states 'The voting lists and all ballots removed from the ballot box shall be kept in open view of the voters present until enclosed and sealed up, and all proceedings in the canvass and counting of votes shall be public and in open view of the voter.'

"It is understood, of course, that no disturbance or crowding is to be allowed and that the voters are to remain outside the rails."

(F) In letter dated April 3, 1944, to the Police Commissioner from the Board of Election Commissioners, the following comment was made:

"We also request that the officers be reminded of the necessity of handling ballot boxes with care.

"Under present conditions, this is more essential than ever, since we find that it is very difficult to replace boxes because of wartime shortages of materials."

(G) The Board of Election Commissioners calls attention to the fact that in seven instances there are two precincts now located in the same building.

The Board is of the opinion that officers assigned should be apprised of this fact, so that they may assist voters who are confused by proximity of such polling places. The locations are as follows:

The locations are as follows:

Ward 1. Precincts 2 and 3 are in the Samuel Adams School, Websters street, Precinct 2 in one section of the Assembly Hall, Precinct 3 at the other end of the Assembly Hall. (This is a new location for Precinct 3.)

Ward 1. Precincts 15 and 16 are in John Cheverus School, Moore street, corner McClellan Highway, Precinct 15 in the girls' basement, Precinct 16 in boys' basement. (This is a new location for Precinct 15.)

Ward 3. Precincts 13 and 14 are in Health Unit, North Margin street, two precincts in different ends of the same room.

Ward 3. Precincts 15 and 16 are in Mayhew School, 106 Chambers street, corner Poplar street, Precinct 15 in the boys' basement, Precinct 16 in the girls' basement.

Ward 5. Precincts 14 and 15 are in Martin Milmore School, Precinct 14 uses the Kilmarnock street entrance, Precinct 15 the Peterborough street entrance.

Ward 16. Precincts 18 and 19 are in Old Dorchester Post, A. L., 500 Gullivan Boulevard, Precinct 18 in hall on first floor, Precinct 19 in hall on second floor.

Ward 21. Precincts 14 and 15 are in Alexander Hamilton School, Chestnut Hill avenue, Precinct 14 in the Assembly Hall, Precinct 15 in the basement.

Change in the Law.

(H) The Board of Election Commissioners, under date of April 3, 1944, wrote to the Police Commissioner as follows:

"The officers should be reminded of a change in the law affecting the closing of the polls. (This law was operative at the City Election in November, but we feel it is well to bring it to the attention of the men again at this time.)

"At the close of the polls all voters who are waiting to vote (including any who might be in line at the entrance to the polling place) are to be given cards bearing their names by the Warden and placed in a line.

"A police officer is to stand at the end of the line to be certain that persons not present at the close of the polls are not permitted to join the line.

"All voters in the line are to be permitted to vote, and when the last group enters the marking compartments they are to be permitted five minutes to mark their ballots."

(I) The Board of Election Commissioners, under date of October 27, 1944, wrote to the Police Commissioner as follows:

"At the close of the polls the election officers will first count the vote for President and Governor and record the results of these two contests on the press return slip. This slip is to be given to the police officer on duty who is to 'phone' these figures without delay by police telephone to Police Headquarters.

"There was some difficulty in this connection at the recent State Primaries, and we feel that it is imperative that all officers be apprised of the necessity of complying with this instruction."

(J) The Board of Election Commissioners has voted to allow one representative of each of the two major political parties to act as checker for his party outside the rails in each polling place in the city on the day of the State Election.

The Board desires that officers assigned to the polls be informed of this vote, so that misunderstanding may be avoided.

Candidate Running on "Stickers."

(K) The Board of Election Commissioners has stated that a candidate running on "stickers" (or his representative may stand at the entrance to the polling place to distribute "stickers."

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Many an unusual item has crept into the shopping lists of automobile purchasing agents as a result of war production needs.

Toothpicks, dish mops, pure mutton tallow, dry ice, canvas foot covers, police whistles and razor blades are just a few of such implements being used by one company in its production of aircraft engines and combat vehicles. Toothpicks are used by the first-aid departments for medical dressings.

NO BUILDING IN ENTIRE SCHOOL SYSTEM STRUCTURALLY UNSAFE FOR EVERYDAY OCCUPANCY, JAMES J. MAHAR, SUPERINTENDENT OF CONSTRUCTION, TELLS BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS IN REPLY TO STRAYER REPORT TO FINANCE COMMISSION—INSPECTION SYSTEM FINEST IN COUNTRY AND SMALL DANGER OF CATASTROPHE BECAUSE OF ALERT AND EFFICIENT INSPECTION SERVICE, DRILLS AND ALARM SYSTEM—ORGANIZED PROGRAM OF REPLACEMENT OF OLD BUILDINGS WITH NEW HAS BEEN UNDER WAY, INTERRUPTED ONLY BY WAR—EVERYTHING DONE FOR BEST INTEREST OF BOSTON SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Superintendent of School Construction James J. Mahar has, for the Department of School Buildings, presented the following report to the Board of Commissioners in reply to the Strayer Survey Report:

Boston, November 3, 1944.

TO THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS,
ANDREW J. DAZZI, Chairman,
FRANCIS C. GRAY, Member,
ROBERT A. MACLELLAN, Member.

GENTLEMEN,—On Friday, October 27, at the monthly meeting of the Board, I presented that part of the Strayer Report pertaining to school building construction and repairs, and I was requested to submit at a later date a complete reply to the findings of the Survey Committee.

In the discussion which took place it was the consensus of opinion of all present that, because of the publicity given the Survey Report, great anxiety might be felt on the part of the parents as to the safety of the children who are occupying school buildings. I was therefore instructed to render immediately in writing to the Board my answer to some of the major criticisms.

There are today in the City of Boston two hundred and fifty-two buildings now in use for school purposes, divided substantially as follows: One hundred and five first-class or fireproof buildings, one hundred and twenty-eight second-class or semi-fireproof buildings, and nineteen third-class all wood constructed buildings. In the Report the Survey Committee recommends the immediate closing of thirty-five buildings classified as follows: Two first-class, twenty-six second-class and seven third-class buildings.

Many Old Buildings.

Eliminating the first-class buildings from this discussion, there remain one hundred and twenty-eight second-class buildings and nineteen third-class buildings. These buildings in general are old and have been in constant use for a great many years. Because of their age and type of construction, we have been zealous in our attention to them by having frequent inspections and by keeping them always in good repair. I know of no school building in our entire school system which I consider structurally unsafe for everyday occupancy by the pupils and teachers.

I have been interested in reading that part of the Survey Committee Report which recommends the immediate closing of thirty-five buildings. In no instance can I find where the committee states specifically that any one of these buildings is structurally unsafe. It gives as its reasons for closing them and for transferring the pupils to other buildings the following reasons: Decreased enrollment, better housing for children and a saving in the cost of maintenance. They do not charge that they are unsafe, as the recent publicity would indicate.

I repeat what has been said many, many times. We realize that Boston school buildings are old. We would all like to see the school children housed in modern structures. To accomplish this, however, would mean a large financial outlay which in my opinion the City cannot afford at this time.

After a careful study of the criticisms found in the Report I submit the following findings:

Fire Escapes.

STAIRWAYS.—In reference to the criticisms made of open stairways as a hazard in certain school buildings, particularly those not of fireproof construction, I would point out that other means of egress are provided for these buildings, namely, fire escapes, the use of which is in compliance with the requirements of the Boston Building Law. Because of the design of most of our buildings, it would be impossible to install interior fire wells without extensive alterations, and without a complete redesigning of the entire structure. If the City were to undertake this work, it would mean tremendous expense, and when the alterations were completed we would still have old buildings.

FIRE ESCAPES.—We have endeavored on all occasions to see to it that our fire escapes are kept in first-class condition by constant inspection, frequent repairs and painting. Even the Survey Committee offers words of praise for the fire escapes, where it states in its Report, "An inspection of fire escapes in the Boston schools reveals them in general good condition; fire escape structures are frequently well-designed, well-supported and carefully maintained."

REPORT OF STRAYER COMMITTEE URGES CLOSING OF BOSTON TEACHERS COLLEGE AS A MEANS OF IMPROVING EDUCATIONAL CONDITIONS AND FACILITIES IN CITY'S SCHOOL SYSTEM—REASON EXPRESSED IN REPORT IS THAT LOCAL TRAINING OF PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS IS UNNEEDED NOW AND LOCAL TRAINING WHEN DONE BY SCHOOL SYSTEM ITSELF DOES INJURY TO SCHOOLS—BY "IN-BREEDING" OF INSTRUCTORS.

In the third installment of the Strayer Report to the Finance Commission the matters of health education, physical education, and recreation were discussed as follows:

The full Report on health education, physical education, and recreation in the Boston schools begins with an acknowledgment of Boston's pioneering in this area of education; and this is proper, for here as in so many other educational matters, Boston once brilliantly pointed out the way that others have followed. Medical inspection, as an aspect of health education, began in Boston; the realization that the child was more than mind, and the first struggling effort to educate him as a being with physical experiences as well as mental, began here; and this City gave to America Joseph Lee, of the playground movement fame.

And then the Report goes on to deal with the present state of affairs, and finds some fine and commendable efforts, many real lacks, and some conspicuous failures.

Health services are fairly adequate.

Health service refers to examinations, administrative measures used to have defects corrected, regulations for the controlling of communicable diseases, and the performance of inoculations and vaccinations. Examinations are done by physicians in some Boston schools at the rate of one pupil per minute, long enough for a brief inspection but not an examination. A careful examination of every pupil every three years would be far more availing than a high-spot inspection every twelve months. The program of inoculations and immunizations is generally good. The high competence of the medical personnel is reassuring, but the physicians are employed on a part-time basis, and here public service necessarily contends with the demands of private practice. Nurse service is adequate in scope and is done with competence. Facilities for health work in schools were found to be spotty; in some schools the health room was well ordered, and in others it consisted of a hole under the stairs.

But health education is inexcusably poor.

Health instruction was deplorably bad. The teachers are not trained in the subject, or only partly trained, or badly trained. Textbooks and other vital teaching aids are lacking. There is no adequate curriculum.

The first need of the health instruction program is, of course, teachers with suitable preparation. The second need is a good course of study. It should deal with the scientific facts that relate to health, and it should provide for practice by children in the principles of health. It should not, as now, teach repetitiously the same health lesson in grade after grade, but should carry forward constantly into areas of greater maturity and interest as the pupil grows up.

The third need is a proper central organization, with an expert and competent person in charge of health instruction.

School living conditions are not kept on a high enough plane for healthful living.

The conditions of healthful school living are mentioned elsewhere in this Report, in the section on business administration. It is necessary to repeat that conditions are not good. Handwashing facilities, for example, are inadequate. In the intermediate schools, to choose an instance, twenty-five minutes are allowed the pupils to wash their hands, get into line for food and drink, obtain it, find a place to sit down, eat the lunch, and get ready for class afterwards. And this must be done without benefit of soap or towel. Here is a combination of lack of facilities and inconsiderate programming of the pupils' time.

The children sit, stand, and do calisthenics.

Physical education is conducted to insure the wholesome development of the vital organs of young children, to teach functional skills, to develop and maintain an interest in various forms of motor activity, and to teach generosity, courtesy, and the other humane values.

In Boston's elementary schools, physical education is inadequate. The emphasis is on posture training and formal exercise. These children should run, jump, dance, climb, and wrestle. But they seldom do; and so sedentary is their routine that when the teacher suggests as much of a game as passing a bean bag from seat to seat, the children hail it with enthusiasm. The elementary schools lack physical education facilities and time allotments for this work. Boston's schools are doing little to further the development of their pupils into sturdy, energetic children.

There are no showers in the intermediate schools, and so there can be no perspiring.

Some intermediate schools lack a gymnasium. The schools do not have lockers and showers, and therefore the teachers give mild forms of exercise that do not produce sweat and have little organic stimulation.

Physical education is confused with military drill.

It was noted that in the high schools the military program is considered to be the equivalent of physical education. This is a mistake. They do not accomplish the same thing at all. Said Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson in 1943:

The War Department does not want to appear to advise upon the makeup of a curriculum, nor to go beyond outlining some of the elements which the Army believes would be advantageous to its recruits. Of these a good physical condition is extremely important and a knowledge of basic military drill relatively unimportant.

The military program in high schools has a firm tradition in Boston, and the survey staff does not recommend its discontinuation, but it ought to be viewed in terms of its own objectives, and not as an equivalent substitute for physical education.

Recreation combats delinquency.

The Report recommends that a separate division of recreation should be organized, with an associate director who in addition to his other duties would achieve coordination between school and community recreational programs. The attention now being given to the problem of juvenile delinquency in Boston underscores the need of increasing the amount of wholesome play and recreational opportunities. Whether and how children play after school may be very much more important from this angle than anything that happens during the regular session of school.

Health, physical education, and recreation should be organized in a single division.

At present Boston has a Department of School Hygiene and a Department of Physical Education. It is recommended that a single unit be formed from these departments, preferably with the name "Division of Health and Physical Education." Recreational administration would naturally rest with this division.

With good leadership, substantial upgrading of some branches of personnel, and the provision of needed plant facilities over the years, Boston's schools may again achieve front rank in health education, physical education, and recreation.

GUIDANCE.

A pupil is obliged constantly to make choices, in school and out of school, and as he leaves school. He must decide what curriculum to follow, what job to prepare for, what college to enter, how to find work, how to conduct himself socially. And so the school provides educational guidance, vocational guidance, and social guidance. As used in educational parlance, guidance refers to the assistance which the teacher or the counselor gives to the pupil, to enable him to make the wisest choices from among many possible lines of action.

The guidance movement originated in Boston.

Like many another fruitful line of educational endeavor, guidance started in Boston. It began here as a formal and deliberate effort to help the individual student in his personal and social problems, through the aid of the ripened wisdom of his elders. This concept of guidance still prevails in Boston, although in most other cities the counselor now calls many more scientific processes to the aid of his judgment and the judgment of the pupils under his charge.

Boston should support her guidance program with research.

Boston's guidance program does not rest sufficiently on a scientific basis. To rely on hunches is as reprehensible in a counselor as it would be in a physician, and the consequences are likely to be disastrous in either case. Pupil personnel records are inadequate, and there is only a limited exchange of information among agencies interested in the welfare of pupils, inside and outside of the school system.

The success of the guidance program requires a central agency at school headquarters, although the actual guidance work, like teaching, is done in the schools, partly by special counselors and partly by teachers working under their direction. The central agency is needed for the stimulation of the development of testing programs and the conduct of guidance clinics, the cooperative exchange of information with various agencies, the solution of general juvenile problems, the provision of up-to-the-minute information on job opportunities, the placement of out-of-school youth, and leadership in the improvement of the program of guidance and of the skill of those who operate it.

The Report commends particularly the effectiveness of the Boston placement office and the attention being given to juvenile adjustment. It recommends that vocational guidance be retained in the child accounting unit, with a director in charge.

ADULT EDUCATION

Boston has today an adult education program of considerable size, enrolling over 6,500 adults, holding classes or programs in 38 school buildings, and using an annual appropriation of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

There was a time, not many years ago, when immigrants were arriving in Boston at the rate of a boatload a week. Then the adult education program was mainly one of giving instruction in English and citizenship to these immigrants. But the great wave of immigration has subsided, and the problem of adult education is not the same as it was. It has become one of providing for the enrichment of the lives of all of the people of Boston who seek greater competence in social, civic, vocational, and avocational activities.

Boston needs a plan for adult education.

The full Report deals at some length with the analysis and appraisal of the adult education program as it was in the school year 1943-44. The reader who is interested in this matter is referred to that document. The essence of the analysis is that the adult education program has not yet attached itself to its new task. Indeed, it is not certain that the Boston school system recognizes its new task. The School Committee has no stated policy relative to adult education, and if the administrative officers should wish to develop the program along new lines, they would have to proceed on their own responsibility in preparing a plan for the School Committee's approval. It is recommended that the School Committee should adopt a declaration of intent of this sort:

Adult education is provided in the Boston public schools to open classes, and to conduct activities and educational services for residents of Boston, wherever the demand warrants or may be reasonably anticipated in the light of community needs and problems, in any suitable accommodations at any hour of the day or evening.

Instructed by such a statement of policy, the administration could develop a plan of adult education in terms of the needs and desires of the public.

Many educational opportunities should be offered to adults.

Boston's adult education program should offer universal learning opportunity to its citizens. There should be chances for filling the gaps in previous schooling, for Americanization and up-grading of literacy, for civic and social education of the native-born resident, for education to broaden the culture of the individual, for education to increase job efficiency and availability. This will mean the maintenance of an adult school that is open from early morning until late at night. It will mean a flexible program, so that when war training is no longer needed, there can be immediate educational reconversion. It will mean a program that will count in the re-education of present workers who are going to be made idle when veterans return to their jobs.

A local study of adult education should be made.

All that is now being done in Boston's adult education program should be reviewed and reappraised, and a clear-cut program for the future should be prepared for the consideration of the School Committee. It is important that the growing and changing program should be under the direction of a competent, alert administrator, who will combine with the school offerings the programs of neighborhood groups already engaged in consumer education, parent education, health education, and the like.

Personnel problems are important.

The Boston school system has a curious rule of turnover in adult schools. A teacher may teach for a term of five years, and a supervisor may supervise for three. Then they must get out of this work and into something else, and whatever competence they have gained is lost to the adult education program.

Without intending any disparagement of public school teachers, it should be said that adult education requires qualities that not all of them possess. Proper selection of personnel is a most important key to the success of an adult program. The director, in his administration of personnel, should not be handicapped by such a rotation rule. In fact, it should be his business to obtain the most highly qualified adult teachers wherever they may be found, whether in the school, or the factory, or the business establishment, to develop them in service, and to retain them on the job as long as their work produces satisfactory results with students.

THE TEACHERS COLLEGE.

Boston used to train great numbers of her teachers, but the once large student body of Teachers College is vanishing.

At the peak, about seventeen years ago, enrollments stood at more than 3,000. Now they total less than 400, counting part-time as well as full-time students. And Boston's demand for new teachers is correspondingly down. Here as elsewhere, there is in normal times a chronic condition of oversupply.

The full Report presents many facts and offers many observations about Teachers College. Among them the following are of more than passing interest. As its enrollments have gone down, unit costs have risen. In 1933-34, when membership numbered 574 students, the cost per student was $327.35, and in 1942, with 124 students, the cost per student was $1,049.17. The median age of teachers in 1943 was rather high (56 years), suggesting a faculty point of view more conservative than progressive. Observers reported that extreme care was taken to avoid the discussion of controversial subjects in the classroom. The local school culture was strongly reflected in the teaching staff. Sixty per cent of the teachers had had some of their preparation in Boston's Teachers College, and 70 per cent had had their last public school teaching in the Boston schools. The educational facilities left some things to be desired. The library was neither well stocked nor greatly used. Textbooks were of old vintage. Those authorized in 1941 had a median 1924 publication date.

The Teachers College of the City of Boston should be discontinued.

The Report recommends strongly that Boston should close its Teachers College and stop training her own teachers. The real reason is not, however, that local training of teachers-to-be is unnecessary, although that is true. Local teacher-training, when conducted by the school system itself, does injury to the schools. It is not hard to understand why. The process feeds into an already inbred teaching staff more products of inbreeding. Boston's educational pattern is the main stock in trade of Teachers College. In the training process the notions and habits of Boston's older teachers are transferred to its beginning teachers. What the schools of Boston need — indeed, what all schools need — is the cross-fertilizing effect of a constant intake of sound, fresh ideas from the outside.

$100,000 per year may be saved.

Teachers College has an annual salary budget of more than $100,000 for administrative, faculty, secretarial, clerical, and other workers engaged in the conduct of the educational program, but excluding operation and maintenance of the school plant. The processes of retirement and resignation in other parts of the school system will make it possible to absorb these workers where their abilities and exertions can be used to good purpose, and the budget appropriation of $100,000 can at the same time be saved.

JAMES J. MAHAR, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION REPLIES TO CRITICISM IN THE SCHOOL SURVEY REPORT.

In the Report a criticism was made of gates at the base of our fire escapes. These gates are necessary, and are equipped with a proper latch which allows the gates to be opened from the inside of the fire escapes at all times. The fire escapes on our school buildings are used constantly by the children attending school, and when fire drills are sounded they are very familiar with the use of them.

Fire Extinguishers.—It has been the practice of this department to provide fire extinguishers in all buildings and in any part of the buildings recommended by the Fire Department. Each year, these extinguishers are recharged according to law by a reputable fire extinguisher company. The work is done regularly during the summer months and is supervised by a representative of the Fire Department. The Survey Committee makes this comment in reference to fire extinguishers in Boston schools: "Commendable progress has been made in the installation of fire alarm systems and soda acid extinguishers."

In the same part of the Report appears a suggestion that carbon tetrachloride extinguishers be used. Our answer to that suggestion is that the Boston Fire Department does not approve of this type of fire extinguisher for school buildings because of the danger attached. Our extinguishers are in accordance with the requirements of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Fire Standpipes.—When I took over the work of the department, I was much concerned over the condition of the fire hose in many buildings. I found that the hose connected to the standpipe equipment was constantly being tampered with and damaged by the pupils in the schools. I conferred with the chief of the Boston Fire Department and we both came to the conclusion that in the event of a fire occurring in a Boston school it was the chief duty of those in charge to escort the children from the building as quickly as possible and leave the fire fighting to the Fire Department.

Self-Inspection Blanks.—The suggestion has been made in the Report of the Survey Committee, page 61, chapter 4, that an inspection routine be established. The Report further states "one finds quite often in other communities provisions for inspection by a member of the school, the Custodian and a member of the Fire Department, using a blank form supplied by the National Board of Fire Underwriters." For the benefit of the Survey Committee, may I state that this form of self-inspection has been carried out regularly in all of the schools of our City for a long period of years.

FIRE STATIONS.

Fire Boxes.—Criticism has been made of the fire stations in school buildings. It is stated in the Report that the hammers, which sound the signals are missing in a great many instances. Our answer to this is as follows: Employed in this department are two specialists on fire alarm systems. The duties of both of these specialists are confined wholly to fire alarm systems and fire boxes. They make frequent inspections and are constantly in touch with the Fire Department officials. In reference to the lack of hammers, both employees are constantly replacing fire hammers which have been removed by the pupils during school sessions.

We pride ourselves on the manner in which our fire alarm systems are kept up. Every building contains a fire box connected directly with the Boston Fire Alarm Headquarters. Every station throughout every school building is connected to the existing fire boxes, making it possible to sound a signal from any floor in any building and notify the Fire Department in case of actual fire. The fire stations, of course, may also be used for fire drills within the building. The chief of the Fire Department of the City of Boston has declared on many occasions, that the Boston schools have the finest inspection and fire drill systems in the Nation. He has also stated that any school building, in his opinion, can be vacated in less than three minutes. He believes that our fire alarm and fire drill systems are the best.

In addition to the fire inspections by the members of the Fire Department, our own force of inspectors are constantly visiting schools and making inspections of fire hazards and other conditions, which might endanger the health or lives of the children occupying our buildings.

The Boston Building Department inspectors are also visiting our school buildings and they make known to us the results of their findings.

The inspectors of the Department of Public Safety also inspect our buildings.

The Wire Division of the Boston Fire Department has a corps of electricians who also make inspections of electrical equipment and who report to us any defects found.

In accordance with the requirements of Massachusetts State Laws all boilers in our schools are inspected twice each year by the employees of an authorized insurance company.

ON PLUMBING WORK.

I requested the Deputy Superintendent and the Supervisor of Plumbing to submit to me a report on the criticisms made by the Survey Committee regarding the sanitation in Boston schools. A copy of their report to me follows:

Toilet Room Locations.—There is something to be said for and against toilet rooms being located on upper floors of school buildings. It has been our experience, that unless a secluded section of the building is available for toilet facilities, there is always the danger of odors seeping into the classrooms.

Floor Drains.—Floor drains are always installed in toilet rooms except in cases where it is possible to pitch the flooring toward the urinals.

Type of Floor Surface.—The department in the past has experimented with various types of floor surfaces for toilet rooms. We are convinced that the use of asphalt is preferable to other materials because it is not subject to expansion cracks, as is, for example, ceramic tile and terrazzo.

Water-Closet Seats.—It is our experience that the integral type of water-closet fix-ture that is used in the Boston schools is superior to the type having separate seats. The integral fixture has been found to be sanitary and any soiling can be readily detected. We believe there is less danger from contamination in this type of fixture, than from that having separate wooden seats.

Toilet Compartment Partitions.—The use of marble in place of slate for water-closet compartment partitions is recommended in the Report. The reason given is that marble is non-absorptive, and that slate is absorptive and dark in color. We do not agree that marble is non-absorptive because from our experience we find it will easily stain and the stain cannot be removed. We have installed marble partitions and metal partitions, and have found out by trial and not by theory that slate makes the best partitions. It is a fact that while pencil marks show clearly on marble they are hardly noticeable when made on slate. Metal was found to be unsatisfactory because the finish of the metal could be marked by a sharp instrument and it is impossible to remove the mark. If slate is marked with a sharp instrument, the slate can be refinished and the mark removed.

ON DRINKING FOUNTAINS.

Drinking Fountains.—The Report says that "Boston drinking fountains do not provide: (1) inclined jet of water, (2) guard to prevent nose and mouth contact with nozzle and (3) an orifice located above the top of the basin. This statement is incorrect. We have been using for at least twenty-five years a "Donovan" bubbler head which has inclined jet, top wash, and orifice which is located properly. We do not approve of the guard because our experience shows that it is a source of, and not a protection against, contamination. For the past thirty years no drinking fountains have been installed in toilet rooms, neither have bubblers been installed in wash sinks.

Unnecessary Fixtures.—We do not agree with the statement on page 165, last paragraph, that the schools are generally oversupplied with fixtures (plumbing). Our experience proves that the use of many fixtures is not only desirable, but is in accord with State law requirements. We find in practice that our many fixtures work very well, and we certainly cannot agree with the recommendation to have one water-closet for each one hundred boy pupils, and one urinal for each thirty boy pupils.

Lavatories.—The type of lavatory wash bowl which is used in our schools is specified in our standard specifications. The specifications call for china and full description is given. The inference made in this paragraph that we are installing state or soapstone sinks is wrong. Slate or soapstone sinks have not been installed for washing purposes in our schools for at least twenty-five years. The recommendation that the lavatory wash bowl be placed inside toilet rooms is all right in theory but not in practice. Our experience has been that lavatories placed in toilet rooms are not used for the purpose for which they were installed, and as a result, unsanitary conditions exist.

Wash Sinks.—Service sinks and sinks for class activity rooms have been installed as requested by the School Committee.

Future Program.—This department has a program for replacing substandard toilet rooms. The plans are already drawn. This program has been temporarily halted for the duration because the critical material necessary to install new sanitation is unobtainable on account of the war.

MAHAR'S REPORT.

METHODS SCORED.

May I acquaint the members of the Board with the method used by the Strayer Committee in the evaluation of the school buildings now in use. To obtain all of the building data, the Strayer Engelhardt Score Card was used. Each building was visited and analyzed, and the information gathered was filled out on the questionnaire or score card. On each score card there are over two hundred items recorded. Each building could be given the mark of a possible one thousand, if perfect conditions were observed. As far as I have been able to learn, the scorers who collected the information on the various buildings are members of the teaching profession from outside the City who had little or no knowledge of Boston Building Law, schoolhouse construction, heating, electrical or plumbing engineering. The failure mark given each building was in each case the personal opinion of the scorer. I am frank to admit that the score card can give satisfactory results on schoolhouse construction when used by architects or engineers who know all the answers.

I haven't much faith in the opinions of the scorer who is responsible for the complaint so silly and untrue, that intermediate stair landings in our school buildings are cluttered with teachers' toilets and offices. I cannot understand why such an exaggerated statement is published in the Survey Report. There are other exaggerations and contradictions in the Report which have only resulted in portraying an entirely wrong picture of the safety of our school buildings.

We are not objecting to the recommendation of the Survey Committee that thirty-five old buildings be closed if the School Committee decides that they are no longer needed for school purposes. We would, however, ask these questions. Why is the Henry Abrahams School recommended for closing? This building is only fifteen years old, one-story high, and is of fireproof construction throughout.

Again if the age of the building is being considered, then why are no recommendations made for the closing of the Louisa May Alcott School in Roxbury which is ninety-nine years old, and the Parkman School in South Boston which is one hundred and two years old. The last two buildings referred to, are much older than many of the others named in the list of the thirty-five schools.

It is most unfortunate that the impression has been widely spread that the Boston school buildings are fire traps and unsafe for occupancy. Statements giving these impressions are untrue and are thoroughly unfair.

NONE UNSAFE.

I desire to repeat that I know of no school building now in use in our system that is structurally unsafe, nor do I know of any building which in my opinion is a fire trap or which constitutes a fire hazard.

The Fire Department, through its Fire Chief, District Chief, Wire Inspectors and members of the Fire Prevention Bureau is doing an excellent job. These men frequently visit our buildings and submit to our office detailed reports of their investigations.

May I cite below the opinion of Samuel J. Pope, Boston Fire Chief, on the safety of our school buildings:

"There is in the Boston schools the finest inspection system to be found anywhere in the country. Any Boston school can be completely emptied in three minutes or less in case of fire. To be sure there are some old buildings, but we do the best we can with what we have.

"There is little danger of a catastrophe in our schools, thanks to our alert and efficient inspection service, frequent drills and a large number of fire alarm boxes.

"We operate in accordance with the rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The school authorities make a monthly inspection and are accompanied every third month by officers of the Fire Department. The Fire Prevention Department maintains a permanent man, Lieut. Thomas Lane, on the job checking these schools. He does nothing but inspect."

From 1930 up to the time when the war started, this department carried out a well-organized program for the replacement of old buildings with new fireproof structures. During that time, twenty-six new fireproof buildings have been erected, and twenty-seven fireproof additions have been made on other buildings. In the same period, we have also disposed of two hundred fourteen portable wooden buildings, leaving only ten of this type for present use.

I wish to call your attention to the fact that you as Commissioners of School Buildings have always cooperated in every way with the School Committee and the Superintendent of Schools in the best interest of the school children of Boston.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES J. MAHAR,
Superintendent of Construction.

Wherefore, In view of this operation of law, the Police Commissioner states that on and after November 30, 1944, at the hour stated, the said police officers shall no longer be active members of this department, and it is hereby ordered that its records be so amended:

Patrolman Gust D. Janikas, Division 1.
Patrolman Albert F. Howard, Crime Prevention Bureau.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,

willingly in the policing of various events, including the visit of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the visit of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the Installation of Bishop Richard J. Cushing, the State Election and the Armistice Day parade.

In consideration of the extra services performed so efficiently by members of the Force, the commissioner is pleased to commend the personnel for their unselfish devotion to duty and grants all of them three days' extra vacation.

Commanding officers of divisions and units are hereby instructed to permit officers entitled to this extra vacation to take it in such a manner and at such times that the efficiency of the department will not be impaired in any way.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

No. 48

STRAYER COMMITTEE MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS FOR EQUITABLE SALARY ADJUSTMENTS FOR TEACHING STAFF — FIRST PROPOSAL IS ADOPTION OF BASIC SALARY SCHEDULE FOR REGULAR TEACHING PERSONNEL FOR A UNIFIED POLICY WITH SINGLE-SALARY SCHEDULE BASED ON EDUCATIONAL TRAINING AND EXPERIENCE — ALSO PROPOSES EQUAL PAY FOR MEN AND WOMEN, WITH BASIC TOP LEVEL OF $4,000 — INSTRUCTIONAL SALARY POLICY SHOULD PROVIDE FOR UPGRADING IN PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION FOR WORK OF TEACHING — GENERAL FINANCING OF SYSTEM ALSO DISCUSSED.

Salaries and salary schedules were the subject of the final section of the Strayer School Survey Report. It reads as follows:

In 1943, the salary appropriations of the Boston School Committee totaled $14,825,670. They constituted 87 per cent of all budget appropriations. Compared with national averages for large city school systems, Boston underpays its kindergarten, elementary, and intermediate school teachers, but it pays better than average salaries for such special positions as department head in a high school and principal of an elementary school.

BOSTON HAS A VAST NUMBER OF DIFFERENT SALARY SCALES.

The Boston school system has approximately 400 salary schedules or scales for its employees. There is no basic salary policy, and there are no basic salary schedules, even for teachers. For want of an established plan, the School Committee finds itself constantly maneuvered into the necessity, or at least the urgency, of making new scales and adjusting old scales in response to the special pleading of small groups of employees.

If there were a basic salary policy, there would not be 400 different salary scales. There would be two or three master salary schedules for teachers, with differentials for increased training and experience above the required minimum, and there would be perhaps fifteen other schedules for workers in classifications other than teaching. The adoption of a basic salary policy would enable the School Committee to deal with salaries as part of a general administrative plan, and to relate salaries to the financing of the schools. It would open the way to the elimination of many of the inequities now existing in the salary scales. This is important because inequities lead to the multiplication of grievances, and, as grievances are multiplied, the morale of the school system goes down. The School Committee should be able to review salaries from time to time in terms of policy, instead of dealing with them, as it now does, as administrative crises.

THE PRESENT SALARY ARRANGEMENT IS FULL OF INEQUITIES.

Today's salary scheme has many obvious inequities. Women teachers have reason to complain of sex discrimination. They receive less pay than men who bring the same preparatory qualifications into the same position. Teachers in elementary schools, or schools for children, receive lower salaries than teachers with equal training and experience who teach in intermediate and high schools, or schools for youth. Teachers who exert themselves to improve their training have reason to complain, because it is years of experience rather than years of training that count in getting a raise in salary. Clerks in one department are paid less than clerks of equivalent standing in another department. Custodians point out that their wages are based on no better system of equity than the former contract prices for the care of the buildings for which they are responsible.

A GOOD SALARY POLICY SHOULD LEAD TO IMPROVED SERVICE.

There is another reason why a basic salary policy should be adopted, equally as important as the matter of morale. A salary policy that pays adequately and fairly for services rendered will lead to better service, and a salary schedule that allows a worker to move from the minimum salary to the maximum salary as his competence increases will lead to better competence. These are matters too important to be disregarded in a salary budget of nearly $15,000,000.

RECOMMENDATIONS ON SALARY POLICY.

The following recommendations are offered concerning salary policy and administration:

1. A basic salary schedule for the regular teaching personnel should be derived. It is only through such a basic schedule that unified policy can be achieved. Essential differentiations can, of course, be made from a basic schedule.
2. The Boston school system should adopt a single-salary schedule, based on the educational training and experience of the teaching force, as contrasted with the basing of salaries on position or grade level.
3. Boston should adopt the principle of equal pay for men and women, and then proceed to develop a schedule which recognizes this principle to the greatest extent possible in the light of fiscal limitations. If full recognition of this principle cannot be achieved at once, the School Committee should seek to achieve it by steps, but in terms of a comprehensive plan for doing so.

SALARY BUDGET AND PERSONNEL STUDY MIGHT SAVE $702,400 PER YEAR, ACCORDING TO FINDINGS OF STRAYER SCHOOL SURVEY IN REPORT TO FINANCE COMMISSION — SCHOOLS OVERSTAFFED WITH TEACHERS IS ASSERTION IN STATEMENT — RECOMMENDATIONS IF ADOPTED MIGHT RESULT IN 239 FEWER TEACHERS FOR PRESENT EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM WITH PRESENT ENROLLMENTS — AVERAGE CLASS SIZE, EXCEPT IN SHOP WORK, SHOULD BE 32-33 PUPILS, REPORT CLAIMS.

In discussing Instructional Research the Strayer School Survey has presented the following digest of its Report to the Finance Commission:

Instructional research was given recognition in the Boston school system thirty years ago. For about fifteen years it infused the schools with the creative spirit, and then for some obscure reason the work of the research branch narrowed down mostly to individual testing and the clinical treatment of problem children. These are useful but limited areas of research activity.

INSTRUCTIONAL RESEARCH IN BOSTON SHOULD BE GREATLY EXTENDED IN SCOPE.

The Report recommends four bureaus in this division: (1) a bureau of group tests, (2) a psycho-educational clinic, (3) a bureau of social, educational, and occupational information, and (4) a bureau of publications. It recommends that the Department of Educational Investigations and Measurement and the Department of Specialized Instruction, now somewhat overlapping, should be dissolved and their present functions absorbed in a new Division of Instructional Research. It also recommends that overlapping functions of research and guidance be recognized and assigned so as to secure both the benefits of specialization in the central office and cooperation with teachers and officers of supervision and administration in the field.

The central research office is needed for the performance of a few functions that require technical expertness, and to provide leadership for teachers, principals, and supervisors, in solving the daily problems of teaching and learning. It should therefore be a service agency. Since its work will be constantly reaching into the classroom, it is recommended that classroom teachers and principals should be assigned to it from time to time, on a temporary basis, and that a substantial sum of money be regularly budgeted to provide substitutes for them.

PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION.

It requires in round numbers 5,100 employees to staff the Boston public schools. There are about 4,250 teachers, administrators, supervisors, and clerks, and 850 in the classifications of doctor, nurse, dietitian, custodian and custodian's helper, mechanic, attendance officer, and miscellaneous.

The management of these workers, in a school system the size of Boston's, is ordinarily the task of a personnel department. Such a department sees that, when there is a job to be done, a competent person is found to do it. It helps workers to improve themselves on the job. It readjusts and assigns employees as old positions close and new ones open. It falls on a personnel department to recommend the dismissal or retirement of workers when there is no longer work for them to do, or when through incompetence, prolonged ill health, or old age they are no longer capable of giving useful service.

There is no adequate provision for personnel administration.

The Boston school system has no personnel department. There is no one in the school system, except the Superintendent of Schools, who has general responsibility for the program of personnel administration.

In Boston the selection of workers in the educational department is made by the Board of Superintendents, with some assistance from the Board of Examiners. The Board of Superintendents submits a list of eligibles to the Superintendent of Schools, and he makes appointments from the top of the list. There is a Department of Practice and Training, responsible to an assistant superintendent, which carries on a program of orientation for beginning teachers. Apart from these aids, the Superintendent of Schools has to take over everything. He is responsible for assignments, for transfers, for in-service education, for recommendations for dismissals and retirement, for leaves of absence, and for sabbatical leaves. Doubtless if he had time, he would do other things equally vital to the personnel situation. He would certainly wish to seek persons well qualified to fill important positions, instead of letting the initiative rest with the seekers. He would want to make a fact-supported study of Boston's needs for school personnel. He would want to draw up specifications that would describe the qualifications of workers in various assignments. He might, in short, develop plans under which, over a period of time, Boston's schools would be assured of high competence in every position.

A superintendent of schools of a large city cannot devote his energies to the personnel problem unaided, no matter how important the personnel problem may be. But this does not mean that personnel administration should go by default. The Report proposes that personnel administration should be made the full-time responsibility of an assistant superintendent, under the direction of the Superintendent of Schools.

The Board of Examiners is not in a position to operate effectively.

The Board of Examiners was established in 1924, ostensibly for the introduction of merit procedures in the selection and promotion of personnel in the educational branches. It gives examinations to applicants, and uses other measures, such as interviews and classroom visitation, to determine the merit and fitness of applicants for positions. The influence of the Board of Examiners in the school system has been good. But its powers are meager. Administratively it is in a position of subordination to an assistant superintendent. It does not prepare lists of eligibles. It merely supplies the Board of Superintendents with data, and the Board of Superintendents prepares the lists of eligibles.

If the Boston schools are to have a system of personnel selection and promotion that is truly based on merit and fitness, it will be necessary to free the Board of Examiners from its subordination to the assistant superintendents, and allow it full power to prepare the eligible lists. And it should be established as a permanent agency. This will require an act of the Legislature. As constituted at present, the Board of Examiners may be dissolved at the pleasure of the School Committee. This situation is not conducive to the impartial and impersonal performance of its duties.

The assistant superintendents should be relieved of the duty of rating teachers.

The assistant superintendents, like the school inspectors of earlier days, are expected to rate all teachers in the Boston school system. It is an impossible assignment in terms of time demands, and its value is doubtful. Since the ratings are used for promotion, disappointed candidates may easily be disposed to charge favoritism and prejudice. As long as the assistant superintendents continue to be involved in the rating, their more important work in providing leadership for the school system will be handicapped because of the inevitable assumptions of unfairness.

If the practice of rating is to be continued — obviously it must be continued in some form for beginning teachers — it should be made the responsibility of the building principals.

It is the recommendation of the survey staff that the Board of Examiners be given full and unhampered authority to prepare lists of eligibles, both for employment in the first instance and for promotion, on the basis of such tests of worth and fitness as it may devise for the various types of educational positions. This process of selection should be followed for all positions below the rank of director. The Board of Examiners should present such lists directly to the Superintendent of Schools, who will nominate persons from these lists to the School Committee for appointment. The eligible lists will be reported to the School Committee, not for review, but as a matter of record. Until this procedure is followed the merit system in the Boston schools will continue to be called into question.

Beginning teachers deserve a better opportunity.

In teaching, as in most other occupations, the first two or three years are the hardest; the beginning teacher is more likely to break than the veteran. For this reason, the first years are considered to be years of probation, when beginners are given every opportunity to fulfill their promise of success, and when those who are not able to measure up are discovered and released. The present Boston policy of very low remuneration for beginning teachers, particularly for temporary teachers, militates against their success, as it causes them to seek additional work rather than to concentrate on getting off to a good start on the main job. Sometimes the period of temporary teaching is unreasonably prolonged for ten years or more.

Professional improvement of teachers needs better management.

Personnel administration should provide means by which teachers and other workers are helped constantly to move toward greater competence. The professional growth of teachers comes about through participation in creative work related to teaching, such as curriculum development, as well as from outside engagements, such as college or university attendance, and travel. The fact that during the school year 1943-44 only one teacher in every five hundred was on sabbatical leave suggests that the arrangements for promoting in-service improvement are not well planned. Responsibilities of this nature should be lodged with the Personnel Department.

The Personnel Department, when established, will administer the intake and release of employees.

Employees are constantly entering the service of the school system and are as constantly leaving. The intake and outgo of personnel should be orderly, purposeful, and impartial. The management of employment, assignment, dismissal, retirement because of age or ill health, leaves of absence, and sabbatical leaves for professional self-improvement, should be lodged with the Department of Personnel.

The local residence rule should be rescinded.

If a person wants to be appointed to a teaching position in the Boston public schools, he must first establish residence in Boston. This is the rule adopted by the School Committee in 1933 and still rigidly enforced. When taken, the measure was an act of reprisal against surrounding small communities that had taken similar actions. It has been harmful to Boston, as it has to the other smaller communities. Such a rule denies the principle of merit and fitness in original appointment, and here as elsewhere it has increased the amount of inbreeding. Boston's schools would profit greatly if they were able on occasion to draw upon the entire United States when seeking a highly competent person to fill a key position.

Boston's salary schedules for teachers are high enough to attract seasoned and able teachers from other school systems.

The study of the salary problem will be an important task of the Personnel Department.

The Boston school system has an overabundance of salary schedules. There are no fewer than 91 separate salary scales for teachers, as many more for administrative and supervisory officers, and over 200 others for other employees. This fact in itself shows the absence of a salary plan. It should be a part of the job of the Personnel Department to relate salaries to school policy.

It will be possible to save $702,400 per year from the salary budget.

A study of personnel requirements of the schools shows that they are overstaffed with teachers. If the average class size and pupil-teacher ratios recommended by the survey staff are applied, 239 fewer teachers would be required to carry the present educational program with present enrollments. The recommended average class size, except in shop classes, is 32-33 pupils. To support this class size in the high and Latin schools, a pupil-teacher ratio of 27 is sufficient. The present ratio is 24.2. To support a class size of 32-33 in academic subjects and of 20 in shop classes in practical arts and vocational schools, a pupil-teacher ratio of 23 is sufficient, provided a large enough number of pupils attend these schools. The present ratio is 14.8. To support an average class size of 32-33 in academic subjects and of 20 in shop classes in the intermediate schools, a pupil-teacher ratio of 27 is sufficient. An average class size of 32-33 in the elementary schools can be supported on a pupil-teacher ratio of 32.5, exclusive of special teachers. The annual pay roll savings resulting from the adoption of this recommendation would be $702,400.

The process of changing to the recommended ratios will require three or four years. In the meantime, some teachers will need to be transferred, and many will need retraining. There is no reason to suppose it will be necessary to dismiss any teacher of competence.

STRAYER SCHOOL SURVEY REPORT.

4. The cost-of-living problem as related to salaries should be studied with a view to incorporating into policy a differential for this factor, based on the known indexes of change in cost of living. This entails, first of all, a sound basic salary schedule, the development of which is more important than the differential. The present "emergency compensation allotment" is a crude and inadequate answer to this problem.

5. Salaries for personnel engaged in administrative, supervisory, and special services require a simplification which can stem only from better classification. These salaries should be considered as differentiations from the basic salary schedule. Fewer salary grades for these persons are needed.

6. A basic salary schedule with a top level of $4,000 for the teaching personnel is reasonable and educationally desirable for Boston. This should be ultimately attainable by all who come to possess the requisite education and experience, irrespective of whether they teach in the elementary schools or in the high schools.

7. Instructional salary policy ought to be so devised as to cause the large proportion of school money used for personal services to achieve a substantial and observable upgrading in the professional preparation of teachers for their work. This is the most important single outcome of good salary policy.

FINANCING BOSTON'S SCHOOLS.

During the past ten years the receipts of the Boston schools have hovered between $16,000,000 and $18,000,000 per year. Of these sums, nearly nine-tenths has come from the City of Boston, from eight to nine per cent has come from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, less than one per cent has been provided by the Federal government, and between one and two per cent was derived from miscellaneous sources.*

The financing of its schools is therefore seen to rest heavily upon the City of Boston, which has been obliged each year to tax the assessed property within the City to about one per cent of its value in order to support them.

The Boston School Committee is a State agency, not a City agency.

The School Committee of Boston is an agency of the Commonwealth rather than of the City, and enjoys a status of financial independence from the City Government. It may each year draw upon the City treasury, within statutory limits, for funds for three purposes: $15,160,000 for general purposes, plus the proceeds of a tax of fifty cents per thousand dollars of valuation to provide land and buildings, plus eighty-five cents per thousand for alterations and repairs.

The financial support of Boston's school system is not sound.

In making the School Committee financially independent of the municipal government and responsible directly to the State and to the people for its stewardship, the Commonwealth has followed sound and conventional American practice. This relationship should not be changed. But the Boston City schools, whose financing is provided for in the laws of the Commonwealth, rest on an unsound financial footing.

Ninety cents of every school dollar comes from the local property tax.

Nearly ninety cents out of every dollar appropriated for school support in Boston comes from the pocket of the local property taxpayer. This excessive reliance on the property tax reaches back many years to the time when the ability of Bostonians to pay taxes was reasonably well measured by the amount of taxable property they owned. But that condition no longer exists. It is well known that the basic source of taxes is current income rather than capitalized wealth; and the income from earnings in Boston, as elsewhere, is today immensely greater than the income derived from the ownership of property. Accordingly, modern tax systems, following the principle that wealth should be taxed where found, rely much more heavily on taxes other than those on property to produce governmental revenue.

*The amounts and percentages in this section are roughed out for the sake of simplicity and brevity. Exact figures are given in the full Report.

Boston is losing its ability to pay property taxes.

And the school support situation of Boston is becoming steadily worse, year by year. Ever since 1930, when assessments in Boston reached their all-time high, they have been declining. In 1943 they stood at $1,446,000,000 as compared to $1,972,000,000 thirteen years before. But the decline in the tax base has not been reflected in an equivalent reduction in the tax load. On the contrary, the amount of school taxes to be raised remains fairly constant, year after year, and the rate on each thousand dollars of valuation is correspondingly increased as the total amount of the assessed valuation diminishes. And there is no good reason to believe that the decline in Boston's assessments is a temporary and transient phenomenon. The same thing is happening in nearly all large cities, where property values are taking flight along with the exodus of residents to the suburban communities.

More school aid from the Commonwealth is needed.

The Boston schools should plainly be given much more financial aid from the Commonwealth than they are now receiving. Such aid is necessary not only for its contribution to local property tax relief, but also to enable the school system to face with greater fiscal confidence the educational challenges of the future. Neither of these needs can be realized while the Boston schools are obliged to rely for nine-tenths of their revenue on the shrinking property values within the City.

The rates of taxation on this property, unless the trend is arrested, will eventually reach the point where they will be confiscatory, if they have not already become so. This is a threat alike to the local economy and to the future adaptability of the school system. Clearly, this problem deserves the immediate attention of the Commonwealth, not alone to temper the economic exhaustion that impends with a falling off of prosperity, but also as a matter of simple justice to the people of Boston.

Boston should have a consolidated budget for its school system.

Under present laws, the Boston School Committee receives its local taxes in three separate levies, and is obliged under the law to maintain two separate operating departments, one of which lies outside the practical control of the Committee. It is impossible in this situation to conduct the financing, accounting, and budgeting of the school system as a single organic operation. Moreover, the City of Boston assumes the debt service expenditures of the school system, and some other minor items of cash outlay. All these matters are part of the schools' financial program and should be brought together.

Boston spends somewhat more than the average American city on its schools.

As is true in all American city school systems, the per-pupil expenditures in Boston are going up. Part of Boston's increase arises from a decline in the number of pupils. From 1933 to 1943 the membership fell from 136,000 to 102,000. As every businessman knows, expenses, particularly debt service, fixed charges, and overhead expense, cannot be reduced in proportion to a falling off in volume of operations. Part of the rise in costs has followed the upward trend in costs of living. Altogether, total expenditures per pupil rose from $115.33 in 1933 to $170.27 in 1943.

When the unit costs of the Boston schools are compared with those of cities of corresponding size in northeastern United States, it is seen that Boston supports its schools not lavishly but with somewhat more than average generosity.

Recommendations.

The survey staff recommends:

1. That the amount of State aid for Boston schools should immediately be increased to a level sufficiently high to carry from one-fourth to one-third of their expenditures, thus giving an opportunity for needed local tax relief and educational adaptation. This would bring State support into line with national averages.

2. That the lines of separation between the levy for general school purposes and the levies for land and buildings and for alterations and repairs should be dissolved.

3. That the School Committee should assume the debt service and other expenditures for schools that are now carried in the general municipal budget.

4. That the tax limitation, if one is to be set, should be changed from the present lump sum basis to a millage basis, and that it be placed high enough to allow tax leeway for the maintenance of a vigorous and adaptive school program.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

tions extended to April 30, 1945. The bids were publicly opened and read on October 23, 1944.

As the prices have been legally fixed by the Milk Control Board of Massachusetts, all bidders must submit the same prices.

The awards are based on the price quoted on eight-quart cans of pasteurized milk; the city, however, reserves the right to purchase at any time the forty-quart cans pasteurized milk at the price shown on the attached tabulation.

Permission is respectfully requested to award contracts as follows:

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, without advertising, as requested by the Superintendent of Supplies:

BOSTON, October 20, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Since the available supply of chestnut coal and range oil is very limited and since government regulation restricts and allocates even this quantity, it is necessary for the city to look to customary suppliers for a continued and assured supply of these fuels for the heating season of 1944-45.

The Boston Ice Company, the Everett Fuel Company, the East Boston Coal Company and the County Coal Company have supplied these essential fuels for the Overseers of Public Welfare and the Soldiers' Relief Department for the past several years and are willing to fulfill their obligation to the city by furnishing the necessary quantities of these fuels for the coming winter.

By executing contracts, we will help to avoid or lessen the distress of last year which was relieved only by the formation of the Emergency Fuel Committee.

With the foregoing in mind, your permission is respectfully requested to award contracts without publicly advertising for bids to the various contractors indicated in the following tabulation for furnishing chestnut coal and range oil for the Overseers of Public Welfare and the Soldiers' Relief Department for the quantities and at the prices shown:

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Joseph A. Singarella Company having entered into a certain contract dated September 25, 1944, for repairs to Kitchen Building, Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor, it is hereby agreed that said contract be, and hereby is, amended as follows:

Additions: Additional flashing and gunite work, $150; additional gunite work on wall areas of bakery, $2,640; total additions, $2,790.

The contractor shall furnish all labor and materials necessary for doing the work set forth in said items, and the city shall allow in full payment thereof the sums set forth therein.

Original contract, $12,600; additions, $2,790; total amount of contract, $15,390.

The reason for this additional cost is explained in the following letter:

Boston, November 1, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—In the original specifications, the figure on gunite in the section of the wall between the bakery and the kitchen, the necessary flashing between the wall and the bakery roof was inadvertently omitted. The additional cost of this flashing is considered reasonable at a price of about $150.

At the time of the drawing of the original specifications they were drawn on the very reasonable assumption that the wall areas of the bakery and kitchen were plumb and even. These specifications governing the work accordingly provided that the concrete shall be applied in two layers to a total thickness of one and one half inches. The original stucco appeared smooth and true so that there was no way in which the contractor or the superintendent of works could discover that this stucco varied in thickness. However, upon stripping the stucco it was found that between the coping and the foundation, the two points which control the location of the finished surface, there was a decided inward sweep to the tile wall. Because of these blocks being laid irregularly in the original instance without regard to line, resulting in numerous depressions and projections, in order that the work be properly done it is necessary to increase the gunite coating from the original provision of one and one half inch to two and one half inches in thickness. The cost of this additional work at a price of $2,640, after the careful taking of measurements, is deemed to be reasonable.

Respectfully,

HUGH J. CAMPBELL,
Commissioner.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

A. Piotti Company has been ordered to make the following changes and additions to the contract for rebuilding brick walls at Paris Street Gymnasium, East Boston, signed September 28, 1944:

Copper Flashing.—At the southerly wall at the pitch roof, counterflash with 16-ounce soft copper flashing instead of No. 12 gauge zinc metal flashing as called for in the contract. For this change in the substitution of copper flashing for zinc flashing, the sum of $15 will be added to the contract price.

Additional Roofing Repairs.—Make additional repairs and replacements of the slates on the slate roof than was originally called for in the contract due to the extra damage done to the roof during the recent hurricane. Remove ridge roll flashing which was dislodged by the hurricane and replace with a new three-pound ridge roll flashing to be securely fastened to the ridge pole and formed to fit between tiles on one side and slate on the other. Remove all loose brick in chimney and replace with brick of the same size and quality set in the same cement mortar specified in the terms of your contract. For making these additional roofing repairs the sum of $347 will be added to the contract price.

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

Animals Slaughtered.

Cattle, 43,158; calves, 75,675; swine, 27,505; sheep, 3,012; goats, 598.

Total Weight of Condemned Animals and Parts.

Whole animals, 21,676 pounds; parts of animals, 20,211 pounds; putrid meat, 615 pounds. Total, 42,502 pounds.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop.—American City Magazine.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout.—Municipal Review.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

SEEKS COMMUNITY AID IN ARMY CAMP CITIES.

The army welcomes the aid of civic organizations in helping to protect soldiers from intemperance and vice when they are away from their duty stations.

The War Department is endeavoring in various ways to protect its personnel from temptations while at military posts and camps. Healthful and wholesome entertainment is furnished. Commissioned officers are charged with the responsibility for the men in their commission. Understanding leaders offer them advice and counsel, and medical officers guard their physical well-being.—American City Magazine.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, November 13, 1944.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., President KERRIGAN in the chair. Absent, Coun. Carey, Russo and D. F. Sullivan.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

LOAN FOR PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 11, 1944.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached notification by the Overseers of Public Welfare from which it would appear that an additional appropriation of $550,000 must be made available in order to meet relief disbursements for Old Age Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children during the month of December. The following analysis indicates the basis on which the additional request has been determined:

	Aid to Dependent Children, F-10.	Old Age Assistance, F-14.
Balance from 1943..	$43,768 20
Appropriation, 1944, $1,570,000 00	3,722,000 00
Federal Grants received	356,000 00	3,144,983 92
Total Available..	$1,926,000 00	$6,910,752 12
Total Estimated Expenditures for 1944.....	$2,063,298 15	$7,345,312 93
Deficit.....	$137,298 15	$434,560 81

During 1943, Federal Grants actually received by the Welfare Department for Aid to Dependent Children and Old Age Assistance totaled $623,018.81 and $3,251,778.03, respectively. In preparing its budget estimates for 1944, the department anticipated receipt of approximately the same amount of Federal Grants. It is evident from the foregoing figures, however, that the payments anticipated for the current year will run $500,000 less than the actual receipts in 1943. It is this shrinkage which is responsible largely for the request for an additional appropriation made by the Welfare Department at this time.

In view of the fact it is too late to make provision in the current year's tax levy, I am recommending that the appropriation be authorized under the provisions of chapter 44 of the Acts of 1943. Under the provisions of this act, approval of the Emergency Finance Board is required in addition to the two readings by your Honorable Body specified in the City Charter. In view of the fact all approvals must be secured before December first in order that the Welfare Department may have the additional funds available at that time, I respectfully recommend early action by your Honorable Body on the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Welfare Department,
November 9, 1944.

To Hon. Maurice J. Tobin, Mayor of Boston.
From William G. O'Hare, Secretary, Public Welfare Department.

The Overseers of Public Welfare require an additional $550,000 in order to meet the payments due to the recipients of Aid to Dependent Children grants and Old Age Assistance grants. The deficit in money available for these two divisions is caused primarily because of the fact that the amount of Federal grants received for these two categories during the year 1944 has been much less than the estimate which we arrived at based on the moneys received in previous years.

When the budget was submitted we had thought that $4,000,000 would be available from this source and we now have definite determination that the total amount will be approximately $3,500,000.

We have sufficient funds to our credit to complete payments for November but the amount of $550,000 is necessary to make payments through December, 1944, beginning on December 1.

WILLIAM G. O'HARE, Secretary.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 44 of the Acts of 1943, the sum of $550,000 be and hereby is, appropriated for the Public Welfare Department, to be used for meeting appropriations for Old Age Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children hereinafter set forth, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

F-Special Items..... $550,000
F-10, Aid to Dependent Children..... $125,000
F-14, Old Age Assistance... $425,000
Referred to Executive Committee.

LIST OF REGISTERED VOTERS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
City Clerk Department, November 13, 1944.
To the Honorable City Council.
Gentlemen,—On November 10, 1944, the Election Commissioners filed with the City Clerk, in accordance with the provisions of General Laws, chapter 51, section 63, a list of the voters registered for the State Election of this year, by wards and streets.

The statutes require that this list form the basis of any action the Council may take under General Laws, chapter 54, section 1, which is, in part, as follows:

"In nineteen hundred and twenty-four, and every tenth year thereafter, in December, a city, by vote of its city council, may make a new division of its territory into such number of wards as may be fixed by law. The boundaries of such wards shall be so arranged that the wards shall contain, as nearly as can be ascertained and as may be consistent with well-defined limits to each ward, an equal number of voters."

The number of registered voters by wards set forth in said list follows:

Ward 1.....	22,188
Ward 2.....	12,561
Ward 3.....	19,131
Ward 4.....	16,611
Ward 5.....	18,460
Ward 6.....	11,993
Ward 7.....	16,756
Ward 8.....	11,236
Ward 9.....	13,093
Ward 10.....	15,159
Ward 11.....	14,163

CONTRACT WITH EDWARD W. HARNDEN.

President KERRIGAN offered the following:
Ordered, That the contract formerly made with Edward W. Harnden to report and index the Proceedings of the City Council be amended by increasing the yearly amount named therein as payment therefor from $5,250 to $5,750, to take effect January 1, 1945.
Referred to Executive Committee.

ZONING BOARD SALARIES.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, a point of information. Is the City Clerk in receipt of a communication from the Zoning Board regarding $1,500 back salaries?

President KERRIGAN—The City Clerk understands, councilor, that the message was to come up, but the Acting Mayor had no authority to sign it.

Coun. HANLEY—The only reason I rise is that I have been in receipt of some telephone calls in regard to the matter. The councilors are, of course, interested in giving those salaries, which I believe have accrued during the past year, and that is the only reason I rise at this particular time.

BATH HOUSE AT SAVIN HILL BEACH.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Park Commissioner to include in his annual budget sufficient funds to provide for the erection of a bath house at Savin Hill Beach in Dorchester.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RESURFACING OF SANFORD STREET.

Coun. KEENAN offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to resurface Sanford street, Ward 17.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION FOR ELECTION OFFICIALS.

Coun. CHASE offered the following:
Ordered, That the Election Commission be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to make arrangements for the granting of additional compensation to the wardens, clerks, election officers and extra counters who participated in the management of the election polls in Boston on November 7.

Coun. CHASE—Mr. President, we have something like 3,000 election officers who participated in the last election. Many of those people did not go home until late in the morning of November 8th, in many cases too late to be able to report for duty at their regular jobs, because of loss of sleep. The compensation given them, under the circumstances, is certainly inadequate. Extra counters were put to work at six o'clock and worked right through into the following morning, also losing sleep and in many cases being unable to report for their regular jobs. The extra counters were compensated at the rate of $6. I think the other members of the Council will agree with me that those counters also are entitled to more compensation, under the circumstances. Many of them, as was the case with the regular officers at the polling booths, were unable to report for their regular duties the next day. The result is that they lost money, through inability to take up their regular jobs. The election officers, wardens and clerks received $13 for the thirty-six hours that they worked in most cases, besides, as I say, being unable to report for their regular work the next day and having to go without sleep. I am sure that the city fathers will believe that these people are entitled to the additional compensation, and that it should be given to them.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RAZING OF BARN ON MAVERICK STREET.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Building Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, take steps to tear down the barn located at 249½ Maverick street, which has been condemned for years, before any more children in the immediate neighborhood are severely injured.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, of course everybody knows about ten days ago in our town we had a condemned building that caved in and killed a young boy. This barn here is in worse condition than the building that caved in some ten days ago and killed one of the boys in the neighborhood. I have introduced two orders already asking that this barn be torn down. I am not the only one that has ever taken the floor here and asked that property that has been condemned by the city, or taken over by the Tax Title Department, should have some action taken on it, and that these properties be torn down. I am asking now, before somebody else is injured or killed, that some action be taken on this barn. It is a wooden, very large structure, and has not been in use for some seven or eight years. It has been condemned by both the Building and the Health Departments, and I hope, before some one else is severely injured, action will be taken and this barn will be torn down in the near future.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

EAST BOSTON RELIEF HOSPITAL.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the trustees of the Boston City Hospital to take steps to open the East Boston Relief Hospital as a first-class hospital, before he takes office as the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, for about the seventy-third time since I have been in the Boston City Council, I have taken the floor here and asked that the East Boston Relief Hospital be opened on a twenty-four-hour basis as a first-class hospital. Now that the election is over, the votes are counted, and we know who our next governor is going to be. I hope, for humanity's sake, his Honor the Mayor, who is going to be the next governor, will open the Relief Hospital before he takes office as governor. I don't think I need say any more to say that two weeks ago today, and about six weeks ago today, I took this floor and said I was opposed to Maurice J. Tobin for governor, and said if he opened the Relief Station I would come out for him. I also made the statement I was not with his opponent, Lieutenant Governor Cahill. I think the election figures talk for themselves. The popular Saltonstall two years ago against a rank outsider, Mayor Putnam, got a measly 3,800 votes over our way. In the votes this year in East Boston, Horace Cahill received 8,000 votes in a district that has over 22,000 registered Democrats. I think that speaks for itself, and I think the one issue that took precedence over everything else was the reopening of the Relief Station. I hope that the Mayor does not wait until a new Mayor comes into office, and that the Relief Hospital will be opened on a twenty-four-hour basis.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

STEPS AT FRANCISCAN ORPHANAGE, ORIENT HEIGHTS.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to fix the steps at the Franciscan Orphanage at Orient Heights and to place lights there.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

HOME RULE FOR BOSTON.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to draw up legislation, before the Mayor takes office as governor of the Commonwealth, to provide home rule for Boston and to give the Mayor of Boston the right to appoint the Boston Police Commissioner.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I am not the first one to introduce this order, and it is not the first time I have introduced the order. I hope the Mayor, in his wisdom, before he leaves City Hall, will have the Corporation Counsel draw up legislation for the incoming Legislature, and draw up a bill to give Boston home rule. I need not go any further than state that right after the Coconut Grove disaster the Mayor himself made a statement that Boston should have home rule. Now, here is an opportunity for the Boston Mayor, going in as governor, to give us home rule and allow the Mayor of the City of Boston, no matter who he might be, to name the Police Commissioner. We foot the bills; we pay their salaries; and I think the Mayor, after seven years in City Hall, and now going to the State House, will see the wisdom of this order and have legislation introduced so that the incoming Mayor may name the Police Commissioner of Boston and give Boston its just due by giving us home rule.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RESURFACING OF ORIENT AVENUE.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:
Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to resurface Orient avenue, Ward 1.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LICENSES.

Coun. COFFEY, for the Committee on Licenses, submitted the following:

Report on petition of 35 Lansdowne Street, Inc. (referred October 16), for driveway opening at 35 and 37 Lansdowne street—that license be granted.

Report on petition of R. S. Brine Transportation Company (referred October 30), for driveway opening at West First street—that license be granted.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, on this license, first, I am opposed as chairman of the committee. It is for one opening, 160 feet, and I am told by the councilor in the district that it is in a deserted section of South Boston, and war work is going on there. The committee as a whole has voted favorably on it. It is just a matter of routine with me. They have asked for more than a thirty-foot opening, and I am going on record wholly as opposed because it is asking for more than a thirty-foot opening. The rest of the committee has passed favorably on it.

The permits were severally granted, under usual conditions.

ABOLISHMENT OF TAX APPELLATE BOARD.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor, upon assuming the official duties of the governorship of our Commonwealth, take initial steps in the abolishment of the Tax Appellate Board, thus relieving the small home owner of Boston from the crushing weight of an inflated assessment which the large tax abatements emanating from said Board produce.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

CLEANING OF CATCH-BASINS, WARD 11.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Public Works Commissioner to clean all the catch-basins in and on the area bounded by Atherton street, Washington street, Amory street, Green street, Ward 11.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

RESURFACING OF CERTAIN WARD 11 STREETS.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Public Works Commissioner to resurface with smooth surface Arcadia street, Dalrymple street, Spalding street, South street, Columbus avenue, from Jackson square to Walnut avenue, Ward 11.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

ACCEPTANCE OF CERTAIN WARD 11 STREETS.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the Board of Street Commissioners to accept, lay out School Street place and Atherton place, Ward 11.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

PLANT SITUATED ON ANSON STREET, WARD 11.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor request the proper officials to invoke the "Revised Ordinances of 1941, chapter 2, paragraph 9," relative to the plant situated on Anson street, Ward 11.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

INCREASES FOR POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS AND LOW PAID EMPLOYEES.

Coun. HANLEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor increase the salaries of all the personnel of the Police and Fire Departments and also to give financial increments to all other groups of low paid city employees.

Coun. HANLEY—Mr. President, the Election of 1944, the most important election, I believe, in the history of our great country, has now passed into the annals of history. No one, no mortal man, can look into the future and tell what is going to happen, but on last Tuesday the only distinguishing mark between us and our enemies was the action that took place in the ballot box. In that election my illustrious colleague from Ward 12 was elevated to the Massachusetts Senate, his Honor the Mayor, born of poor and humble immigrant parents, was elevated to the highest gift within the power of a free people of our great state, as the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. And I hope at this time his tenure of office will bring a harvest of blessings to all his constituents, regardless of political faith, racial descendancy or religious profession. And I hope that Almighty God descends upon him in all the arduous duties, which will fall upon him in the ensuing two years. This order of mine, Mr. President, if it was produced two or three weeks ago might have had political repercussions. It would have antagonized the man on the second floor, and would have given fodder to his Republican candidate. I deliberately refrained from using this amplifier in promulgating this order so that I would not antagonize or embarrass him. At the present time there is a sufficiency in the A-1 item of the Police and Fire Departments for the granting of the increment, and I do not see any reason why political procrastination should be utilized at this time, when no man can be injured. I could state many things that were said to me in private with his Honor the Mayor, but I don't believe that they are required at this time in asking you, my distinguished colleagues, to pass this order.

Coun. KELLY—Will you kindly read the order again?

President KERRIGAN—The clerk will read the order.

(The order was read by the clerk.)

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RECESS.

The Council voted at 3.05 p. m., on motion of Coun. DWYER, to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by President KERRIGAN at 3.43 p. m.

IN MEMORY

His ways were gentle, soft his words;

He loved the flowers, knew the birds.

His mind was keen, his heart was true;

Withal the joy of work he knew.

He served us well, and when he went

His smile was hopeful, confident.

Now all our hopes and his are dead,

And only mem'ries stretch ahead.

Our Sorrow flows from well-springs deep;

But he was brave—we will not weep,

But match the courage in his eyes;

He would not have it otherwise.

God be good to you for your thoughtful note of congratulations. It meant a great deal to me. I'll do the best I can in the new position which Our dear Lord knows I do not deserve. Confident am I that he will fit the back for the burden.

Be assured that your prayers and good wishes will always be cherished and recalled as most consoling supports for my new responsibilities.

May Our Lord and His Blessed Mother bless you and those near and dear to you in His Own inimitable way.

God love you all—If I can ever serve you please give me the opportunity. I was once like you.

PETITION OF BOSTON JUNIOR ELEMENTARY TEACHER'S CLUB.

The following was ordered spread upon the records:

BOSTON JUNIOR ELEMENTARY TEACHERS' CLUB.

The School Committee of the City of Boston

15 Beacon Street
Boston, Massachusetts
Honorable Sirs:

In meeting assembled at the Hotel Lenox, Wednesday, September 20, 1944, the members of the Boston Junior Elementary Teachers' Club voted to petition your honorable body to correct the following inequities in the present salary schedule.

Despite the unquestionable fact that the temporary teachers in the service do exactly the same work as the appointed teachers, are fully responsible for their classes from September through June, and are indispensable to the Boston school system, these teachers are still paid on a daily wage basis, which deprives them of the pension benefits which it is the inalienable right of every citizen of our progressive, democratic government to possess.

We, therefore, again request that you correct this untenable situation by granting to the temporary teachers an annual salary of $1248, with contributory pension rights.

The second inequity which we respectfully ask you to reconsider concerns the present salary status of the appointed Elementary teachers who are not on maximum salary, but who are paid according to an obsolete schedule which has existed for approximately twenty years.

Although the teachers in the Elementary grades undeniably perform the most essential work in the schools, that of providing the foundational education in what is universally recognized as the most important grades in a school system, it has not as yet been recognized that the cost of living has increased for these teachers during the past twenty years.

We therefore respectfully request that you act affirmatively upon the petition which we submitted to you last year, and offer the schedule following for your approval and sanction.

Offered: That the minimum salary of the Elementary teachers be established at $1440, with increments amounting to $144 annually for six years until the maximum salary is reached. Thus, the disparity between the increments received by the men and those received by the women teachers would be effaced.

Respectfully yours,
/s/ Marie L. Burke
President

/s/ Doris H. Beede
Secretary

By order of Fire Commissioner WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY.

SAMUEL J. POPE,
Chief of Department.

LAND-TAKING IN DORCHESTER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement consisting of the laying out and construction of Burmah street, Dorchester district, as a highway, from Edgewater Drive northwesterly, bounded and described as follows:

A highway named Burmah street is hereby laid out, from Edgewater Drive northwesterly, and ordered constructed.

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southeasterly by Edgewater Drive, by two measurements, forty-three and 28-100 feet, and seventeen and 50-100 feet, on a curve of sixteen hundred fifteen and 50-100 feet radius; northeasterly by the line of Burmah street, as hereby established, by two measurements, twenty-two and 89-100 feet on a curve of eleven and 60-100 feet radius, and three hundred four and 5-100 feet; northwesterly by land now or formerly belonging to Charles N. and Josephine S. Diminico, forty and 14-100 feet, and southwesterly by the line of Burmah street as hereby established, three hundred forty-one and 39-100 feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days, following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on both sides of Burmah street, from Edgewater Drive northwesterly, will receive benefit or advantage, beyond the general advantage to all real estate in said city from the improvement herein ordered; each of said lots to the amount hereinafter respectively set against it; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked, "City of Boston, Burmah Street, Dorchester, Assessment Plan, August 26, 1944, William J. Sullivan, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

ODD ITEMS FOR WAR PRODUCTION.

Many an unusual item has crept into the shopping lists of automobile purchasing agents as a result of war production needs.

Toothpicks, dish mops, pure mutton tallow, dry ice, canvas foot covers, police whistles and razor blades are just a few of such implements being used by one company in its production of aircraft engines and combat vehicles. Toothpicks are used by the first-aid departments for medical dressings.

MERCHANT SHIP PRODUCTION.

Merchant vessels built in the United States in 1943 numbered 1,896 with a total deadweight tonnage of 19,239,626, according to a report by Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission and administrator of the War Shipping Administration. Of these, 208, aggregating 2,044,238 deadweight tons, were completed in December. Of the 1943 production, 1,238 vessels were Liberty ships; 70 C-1 cargo ships, 53 C-2 cargo ships; 39 C-3 cargo ships; 5 C-4 cargo ships; 167 tankers; 28 coastal tankers; 57 Liberty tankers; 3 passenger-cargo vessels; 33 coastal cargo ships, including two concrete ships; 16 ore carriers; 27 concrete barges; 46 seagoing tugs; 114 military types, not transports; 53 special types and a considerable number of smaller types, including tugs, barges, etc. Late in 1943, Admiral Land said 2,900 ships were under control of the War Shipping Administration, operated by some 76 general agents of the W. S. A.

PORT STORAGE IMPORT ORDER.

The Office of Defense Transportation, in an amendment to its general order No. 16, has instituted a permit system for acceptance by railroads or truckers of shipments of domestic or import freight to specified port areas for storage for the account of a government agency in a public warehouse in such area. Growing volume of imports, due to decline in ship losses, the O. D. T. said, was putting added strain on port storage facilities, thus making the institution of a permit system necessary.

The application for the port storage forwarding permit the order says, must be made by the government agency for whose account the freight is to be stored, in accordance with procedures prescribed by the director of the division of storage of the O. D. T., in an administrative order.

The following port areas were named in the order: Baltimore, Bellingham, Wash., Boston, Camden, Everett, Wash., Galveston, Houston, Jacksonville, Los Angeles, Mobile, New Orleans, Newport News, New York, Norfolk, Oakland, Cal., Olympia, Wash., Pensacola, Philadelphia, Portland Ore., Portsmouth, Va., Richmond, Cal., San Francisco, Savannah, Seattle, Tacoma, Tampa, Vancouver.

SEA-GOING DRY DOCKS.

Bigger than a battleship! That's the rough proportion of some of the new Navy floating dry docks which can be towed or self-propelled at speeds sufficient to follow our fleet into action. Indeed, the dry docks are large enough to handle even a mighty battleship when it needs repairs or overhauling.

Never before have floating dry docks been built so large, taken so far. Never before have docks of this character been so mobile. The Navy has spent upward of $300,000,000 on their floating dry dock program and it has been a shrewd investment. Now, instead of damaged warships traveling the thousands of miles from the theaters of action to an American coastal dry dock for repairs, it can be placed in a floating dry dock on the spot in a matter of hours, thus saving precious time.

TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS.

A recent analysis of surface transportation by John A. Beeler, transit engineer and consultant, reveals noteworthy performance by trolley coaches in comparison to other public transportation vehicles. Comparison of results of operation of trolley coaches with those of street cars on four different lines in as many different cities, shows, according to Beeler, that trolley coaches are eight times as good.

The analysis shows that in 1942, 25,449 street cars carried 5,171,000,000 revenue passengers; 3,363 trolley coaches carried 765,000,000; and 42,458 motor coaches carried 5,427,000,000 revenue passengers; the average fare being 6.66 cents, 6.89 cents and 6.72 cents, respectively; and the revenues being $344,600,000, $52,700,000 and $365,000,000, respectively. Average revenue passengers per street car was 203,191; per trolley coach 227,475; and per motor coach 127,820.

PER CENT OF TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE
WAR JOB.

Behind current attempts to knock Germany out of the war by means of airpower, stands the teamwork of the automotive industry, which has done much to get bombers in the air over Hitler's domain.

The motor industry, starting as a scrub team in the aircraft field a year before Pearl Harbor has since attained major league stature.

In the two years since December 7, 1941, the industry's output of bombers and fighters has constantly soared. Measured in dollar volume, it rose from $400,000,000 annual rate of production on the day of the Japs' assault to $4,300,000,000 on the second anniversary of that "day of infamy."

The same upward spiral took place in deliveries of all forms of war materials by automotive plants. When Pearl Harbor news struck, they had reached an annual production rate of $1,777,000,000 for all forms of military requirements: aircraft, military vehicles, tanks, guns, ammunition, marine engines and other equipment. Today the annual production rate tops the $10,000,000,000 mark.

CITY RECORD

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE OF BOSTON MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

VOL. 36

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1944.

No. 49

BOSTON'S HEALTH CONDITIONS SHOWN TO BE IMPROVING STEADILY ACCORDING TO THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT FOR 1943 JUST MADE AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC BY HEALTH COMMISSIONER DR. G. LYNDE GATELY—MORE HEALTHY BABIES WERE BORN WITH NO EPIDEMICS OF CHILD DISEASES TO THREATEN THEM—BIRTH RATE RISE, AND DEATH RATE FOR CHILDREN UNDER ONE YEAR LOWEST, WITH ONE EXCEPTION, EVER RECORDED IN CITY'S HISTORY—OTHER FAVORABLE CONDITIONS SHOWN IN COMPILATION BY DEPARTMENT.

More healthy babies and no epidemics to plague them highlighted the picture of Boston's health in 1943, according to the annual report of the Boston Health Department released by Health Commissioner Dr. G. Lynde Gately. Some highlights of the report are:

The birth rate continued to rise, showing 19.8 births for every 1,000 of the population, a total of 15,184 babies in 1943. Deaths of infants under one year occurred at the rate of 35.5 for every 1,000 births, the next to the lowest rate ever recorded for Boston. This rate compared very favorably with that of any other large city in the country. Infant mortality by city districts was the lowest in Hyde Park and highest in the South End.

There were 13.8 deaths per thousand of the population, only a slight increase over the previous two years. The ten leading causes of death were (in order) heart disease, cancer, cerebral hemorrhage, tuberculosis (all forms), broncho-pneumonia, arteriosclerotic kidney disease and chronic nephritis, lobar pneumonia, diabetes, accidental fall and arteriosclerosis.

Less Whooping Cough.

There was a sharp decrease in whooping cough cases and deaths, believed to be the result of the program of immunization of infants begun two years ago by the Health Department.

Prior to the use of the sulfonamides, almost half of all cases of meningococcic meningitis died. In 1943, this rate had been cut to 20 per cent.

The total number of cases of syphilis reported to the Health Department was less in 1943 (1,840) than in 1942 (2,040). A greater proportion of the cases were in the early stage. Total cases of gonorrhea were 1,227, approximately the same as in 1942.

The death rate for pulmonary tuberculosis has increased from 61.3 in 1942 to 66 in 1943. This is 66 deaths for every 100,000 of the population. This is not a satisfactory picture and steps to remedy it were being planned.

Health committees of residents were organized by the Health Education Service in Charlestown, South Boston and the South End, in addition to one functioning in the North End. These committees first tackled the job of a program to keep Boston clean and were working closely with the Division of Sanitation and Housing.

Nursing Visits Shown.

Nurses made 171,133 visits to homes in Boston to aid in the control of communicable disease and in care of infants. An expansion of the school child health program in the parochial schools under the supervision of Reverend William J. Daly required more of the time of physicians and nurses of the Health Department.

The Milk and Dairy Division required that all milk sold in Boston must be pasteurized.

In 1943 the Food Division condemned 1,156,778 pounds of spoiled food.

A total of 67,378 laboratory tests for diagnosis of diphtheria, syphilis, gonorrhea, tuberculosis, typhoid and other conditions were performed for doctors, clinics and hospitals in Boston.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

From Boston Centennial Poem by

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 7.

CITY OF BOSTON,

MAYOR'S OFFICE, November 15, 1944.

Notice to Department Heads.

GENTLEMEN,—In connection with the 1945 session of the Massachusetts General Court, I shall appreciate it if you will give consideration to legislation which you think might be beneficial to your department or to the City of Boston generally.

From your experience you may feel that particular obstacles to the efficient functioning of your department might be removed or that the welfare of the community in general might be enhanced by the introduction of new legislation or a specific change in existing legislation.

If you have any ideas on these points I should like to receive them on or before December 4, 1944. Any ideas will be welcome but it will be of much greater help if your suggestions are specific and if, as far as possible, they are submitted in the form of drafts of the actual bill which you think should be introduced.

Respectfully,

MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

Permission to award contracts for work, materials and supplies, in accordance with recommendations of department heads, has been approved by the Mayor.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Upon October 13 the Mayor approved a contract as requested in the following letter from the Public Works Department:

BOSTON, October 9, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of October 4, publicly advertised proposals were opened in this office in connection with the awarding of a contract for bituminous concrete pavement in Pine Lodge road, West Roxbury; Southbourne road, Jamaica Plain, and Spice street, Charlestown.

The low bid was submitted by V. Barletta Company in the amount of $28,138. Immediately subsequent to the opening of the bids, however, a representative of this company informed me that they had made a mistake in submitting bids under Items 3A and 3B, which provided, respectively, for the furnishing and laying of 3,045 feet of straight edgestone and for the furnishing and laying of 750 feet of circular stone. The contractor assumed that the edgestone would be furnished by the department and, therefore, bid approximately $1.05 per foot less on straight edgestone and $1.40 per foot less on the circular edgestone than he would have bid if he had known that the contractor was required to furnish the edgestone. The above-referenced differential of $1.05 and $1.40 represents the approximate cost of new edgestone. Under the circumstances, therefore, the bid of the V. Barletta Company was approximately $4,200 less than that company would have bid had it been thoroughly familiar with the contract specifications. This mistake is understandable because in previous years it was the policy of the department to furnish the edgestone, and apparently the above-referenced contractor was unaware of the change in the specifications, which again is understandable, because the Barletta Company has never previously submitted a bid to the department for street construction or reconstruction work.

I have been requested by this company to release them from the bid and, in view of the circumstances, I do not feel that we should hold them to it, because, in my opinion, the error not only was understandable, but represented an honest mistake. In view of the circumstances, therefore, I recommend that the contract be awarded to the second low bidder, Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., of 95 Prince street, Jamaica Plain, at the bid price of $32,824.85.

The work to be done under this contract is to be completed December 31, 1944.

The following bids were received October 4 after advertising in the City Record September 16, 1944:

V. Barletta Company, $28,138; Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., $32,824.85; Baker & Co., $35,481; Coleman Brothers Corporation, $37,105.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUFFOLK COUNTY.

Upon October 3 the Mayor approved a contract with D'Amore Company for building new north wall at the Charles Street Jail, at the estimated price of $15,490. The following bids were received September 25:

D'Amore Company, $15,490; Farina Brothers, $16,200; Coleman Brothers Corporation, $16,281; Peter F. Rossi, $17,200; J. A. Singarella Company, $17,370; M. S. Kelliher Company, $17,800; Rich Brothers Construction Company, $19,422; John Hamre & Son, $20,650; Daniel Cunningham Construction Company, $21,400; Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., $21,600.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor approved contracts with firms, contractors, etc., for furnishing merchandise, labor, supplies, etc. Communications from the heads of the several departments interested were as follows:

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, October 30, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—It is necessary that the steamer "Stephen O'Meara" of this department undergo immediate emergency boiler and engine repairs, as required by the U. S. Steamboat Inspectors. Due to wartime activities and extraordinary demands on drydock facilities, the General Ship and Engine Works, 336 Border street, East Boston, is the only company at the present time with drydock available to perform this emergency work.

Because of present conditions there is nothing to be gained on the part of the city by advertising and I hereby respectfully request your authority to dispense with said advertising and to authorize the General Ship and Engine Works to perform this most necessary work in the sum of one thousand seven hundred seventy-one dollars and thirty cents ($1,771.30).

Respectfully,

HUGH J. CAMPBELL, Commissioner.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, October 13, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Park Commissioners respectfully requests your approval to award a lease of land located off Freeport street, Dorchester, and known as Mallock's Wharf, for a term of five years, from November 1, 1944, to October 31, 1949, to Vernon L. Hart of 7 Florence street, Wollaston, at an annual rental of $160 payable in advance.

Mr. Hart has had this concession since November, 1939, and his present five-year lease will expire on October 31. Mr. Hart has had the necessary experience to operate this wharf to the satisfaction of the Board of Park Commissioners, and as the rental paid is a very fair one for the property in question, and as the Board believes that no gain would be made by the city in advertising, it is requested that this lease be awarded to Mr. Hart, without advertising.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, November 27, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—A serious defect in the roadway of the East Boston approach to the Chelsea Street Bridge has occurred, with the result that the condition might become aggravated, thereby preventing the opening and closing of the drawspan to both vehicular and marine traffic.

In order to prevent any such condition, it is absolutely necessary that emergency repairs be made at this time to the concrete surface and part of the steel of the bridge structure. It is estimated that the work will cost approximately $2,000.

In view of the fact that this work is of an emergency nature and that it would not be practical, therefore, to publicly advertise for proposals, I respectfully request your approval to the awarding of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, at an estimated cost of $2,000, to the firm of Daniel Marr & Son, 394 Dorchester avenue, South Boston, for the effecting of repairs to the East Boston approach of the Chelsea Street Bridge, in accordance with plan that has been prepared by the department.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, October 25, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Since September 1, 1944, the Long Island Hospital Division of the Institutions Department has been without the services of a baker due to the death of the former occupant of that position. The commissioner of the Institutions Department has been unable to secure a replacement although he has made every effort through the Civil Service Commission to do so because of the fact that employees with this rating are able to obtain much greater financial compensation in private business and so are not interested.

Consequently, the Institutions Department has been obliged to purchase bread through the Supply Department from various baking companies in order to satisfy its requirements.

As the result of persistent interrogation and further investigation by the above-named officers, a number of major crimes, including armed holdup, breaking and entering in the nighttime and larceny of automobile, including crimes in adjoining cities and towns, have been solved resulting in the recovery of a large amount of the stolen property. Both men were sentenced to long periods in State Prison.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

Still others have passed on after illness or the natural course of years. All of these we remember in this religious service as we ourselves may wish to be remembered some day in years to come. The extent of the tribute and remembrance of our Fire Department dead in this instance rests squarely upon the department itself. By the response of members will be measured the depth of respect for our departed fellow firemen. All persons, all groups, and all organizations should combine in this activity to make the attendance at this service as large as possible. This will be the first formal appearance of the department before the newly appointed Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston. The preacher at the Mass is a brother of one of our department officers, and our Reverend Chaplain will offer up the Mass in our behalf. The attendance of Mayor Tobin will probably be his last official appearance with us until after he assumes office as governor. With encouragement from such distinguished persons, we of the department can do no less than attend this Mass.

Families, relatives and friends of members and former members are likewise cordially invited to attend the Mass.

By order of Fire Commissioner
WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY.

SAMUEL J. POPE,
Chief of Department.

TRANSFER OF CITY'S INTEREST IN ROWE'S WHARF.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 10, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I submit herewith an order for the transfer to Pearl F. Finger, c/o Atlantic Clothing Company, 328 Atlantic avenue, Boston, Mass., for the sum of $600, of the right, title and interest of the City of Boston in that parcel of land situated on the easterly side of and being numbered 350 Atlantic avenue, Boston, commonly known as Rowe's Wharf.

In my letter of January 17, 1944 to your Honorable Body I referred to the history of the title to this property. I also brought to your attention the fact that Daniel M. Driscoll, Chairman of the Board of Real Estate Commissioners of the City of Boston, had made an appraisal of the interest of the City of Boston in the parcel and recommended the transfer of the land at a nominal price. Thereafter the Committee on Public Lands recommended, and your Honorable Body adopted, an amendment to the order, increasing the consideration to $500. As amended, the order was given its first reading and passed on May 1, 1944, and its second reading and rejected on May 29, 1944.

The parcel of land has been held by the city since 1941. Since that time the parcel has not been utilized and has been held exempt from taxes. The title interest of the city in said property is no longer needed for public purposes and the transfer of the city's interest to private owners will facilitate the assessment and collection of real estate taxes thereon.

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully submitted,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Whereas, The City of Boston owns in fee a certain parcel of land and flats, together with that portion of the building standing thereon, commonly known as Rowe's Wharf, situated on the easterly side of and being numbered 350 Atlantic avenue, Boston, containing approximately four hundred fifty-seven (457) square feet of solid fill and two thousand eighty-eight (2,088) square feet of flats together with certain rights in tidal waters extending to the Harbor Commissioners' Line established under authority of chapter 170, Acts of 1880; and

Whereas, Pearl F. Finger desires to purchase the title of the City of Boston's interest therein; and

Whereas, The City of Boston's title interest in said property is not required for public purposes; now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor of the City of Boston be, and he hereby is, authorized in the name and behalf of the City of Boston, to sell and convey to Pearl F. Finger, by an instrument in writing satisfactory in form to the Law Department of the City of Boston and for the consideration of six hundred dollars ($600), the City of Boston's right, title and interest in and to the parcel of land and flats, together with that portion of the building standing thereon, commonly known as Rowe's Wharf, situated on the easterly side of and being numbered 350 Atlantic avenue, Boston, containing approximately four hundred fifty seven (457) square feet of solid fill and two thousand eighty-eight (2,088) square feet of flats together with certain rights in tidal waters extending to the Harbor Commissioners' Line established under authority of chapter 170, Acts of 1880, as shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Atlantic Avenue, Boston Proper, December 1, 1943, William J. Sullivan, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department."

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I would like to ask, was that order sent here by the Mayor?

President KERRIGAN—It was sent here by the Mayor.

Coun. COFFEY—Can you tell me what day it was dated?

President KERRIGAN—November 10.

Coun. COFFEY—Was the Mayor in Boston on that day?

President KERRIGAN—The Chair does not know. The Mayor might have taken it with him and sent it back.

Coun. COFFEY—I doubt very much if that is the case, and I am going to ask that the order be laid on the table until we find out definitely whether the Mayor or some $25 a week clerk sent it up. I think that is important. I move that the order be laid on the table.

Coun. DWYER—I wonder would the councilor agree to having it referred to a committee? If it went to a committee we would have time to find out the answers, and so forth, and rather than lay it on the table.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, what I am getting at is, whether the order was sent up here by the Mayor. It does not belong here. If it was just sent up by some stenographer, it is another question.

President KERRIGAN—The Mayor's signature is on here, and we have to assume that it is sent up by the Mayor.

Coun. COFFEY—Is it written or stamped?

President KERRIGAN—It is written.

Coun. COFFEY—May I see it? (Examining message from Mayor.)

The question came on Coun. Coffey's motion to lay the message and order on the table.

Coun. TAYLOR—Mr. President, I don't see what we are going to gain by laying it on the table. The year is coming to a close, and naturally the thing to do is send it to a committee, and if there is anything wrong we can inquire about it.

Coun. COFFEY—My only argument is that that is not the Mayor's signature. That is a stamp, and that was probably sent up by some clerk or stenographer that lives in Somerville.

President KERRIGAN—Councilor Coffey asks that the order be laid on the table.

Coun. COFFEY'S motion to lay on the table was lost.

Coun. FISH—I rise to a point of information.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. FISH—What do you mean by "laying on the table," if we haven't accepted it into the Council?

President KERRIGAN—It has been read; the communication has been read and is before the Body. Councilor Coffey made a motion to lay it on the table.

Coun. FISH—I think it ought to be rejected and sent back. Why lay it on the table?

President KERRIGAN—The Chair will state that the order was before the Council, and Councilor Coffey moved to lay it on the table. The Councilor had a right to move to lay it on the table, but the motion was lost.

The order was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

SALE OF CITY LAND ON COMMERCIAL STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 30, 1944.
To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I present herewith an order for the sale of a certain parcel of city-owned land containing approximately four thousand eight hundred forty-seven (4,847) square feet, situated on the westerly side of Commercial street, between Battery street and Salutation street, Boston Proper. The proposed sale of this parcel of land is to be held at public auction at an upset price of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

The City of Boston acquired this parcel of land by purchase in the year 1866 for the purpose of erecting thereon a station house for the harbor police. The station house building erected thereon has been used for more than twenty-five years and the land has remained unoccupied and unproductive. This parcel of land is no longer needed or required for any public purpose.

In the opinion of the Chairman, Board of Real Estate Commissioners, this property has a fair market value of $5,000, and I am of the opinion that a sale of this parcel of land should be made at public auction at an upset price of $5,000.

I recommend passage of the accompanying order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Whereas, The City of Boston is the owner of a certain parcel of land containing approximately four thousand eight hundred forty-seven (4,847) square feet of land situated on the westerly side of Commercial street, between Battery street and Salutation street, Boston Proper. This parcel of land was purchased by the City of Boston in 1866 and the deed thereto is recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 878, page 215; and

Whereas, This parcel of land is no longer needed for public purposes; now, therefore, it is hereby

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor of the City of Boston be, and he hereby is, authorized in the name and behalf of the City of Boston to sell at public auction at an upset price of five thousand dollars ($5,000) all the City of Boston's right, title and interest in and to the said parcel of land and to execute and deliver a deed thereof satisfactory in form to the Law Department of the City of Boston. This parcel of property herein authorized to be sold and conveyed is bounded and described as follows: Northerly by the southerly side line of Battery street, ninety-six and 35-100 (96.35) feet; easterly by the westerly side line of Commercial street as established under a resolve and order of the Board of Street Commissioners of the City of Boston, passed October 17, 1944, and approved October 23, 1944, by two measurements, thirteen and 24-100 (13.24) feet in a curve of ten (10) feet radius and thirty-eight and 58-100 (38.58) feet respectively; southerly by the northerly side line of Salutation street, one hundred seventeen and 44-100 (117.44) feet; westerly by land now or formerly of Jennie E. Wooley, forty-two and 76-100 (42.76) feet, containing four thousand eight hundred forty-seven (4,847) square feet of land, more or less. The above described parcel of land and all of said measurements are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Battery Street, Salutation Street, Commercial Street, Boston Proper, October 19, 1944, William J. Sullivan, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," on file in the office of said department, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I would like to know the date that that order was sent up here.

President KERRIGAN—It is dated October 30th, councilor.

Coun. COFFEY—October 30. Is it the Mayor's signature or a stamp?

President KERRIGAN—The Mayor's signature. The order will be referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

The order was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

REPORT OF PARKMAN FUND.

Coun. DWYER, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 9), recommending transfer of $22,000 from income of Parkman Fund to be expended under direction of the Park Commissioners—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, what is the order on? What is the money to be used for?

President KERRIGAN—The clerk will read the order.

(The order was again read by the clerk.)

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—Can this money also be used for other parks, other than the Common and the Public Garden?

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, speaking for the committee, I would say yes, it can be used for parks and playgrounds in existence in 1887, when the will was drawn or probated.

President KERRIGAN—The question comes on the acceptance of the report of the committee. All those in favor? The question now comes on the passage of the order.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. TAYLOR—What is this on?

PAYMENT OF PENSION TO WIDOW OF ROBERT A. MAYER.

Coun. CHASE offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston hereby favors the enactment of legislation to authorize the city to pay a pension to the widow of Robert A. Mayer, a court officer of the Municipal Court who died May 9, 1944, as the result of injuries received in the performance of his duties, provided that such legislation includes a referendum to the Mayor and City Council.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

REPAIRS TO BALLOT BOXES.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to instruct the Board of Election Commissioners to make the necessary repairs in the ballot boxes used in the various precinct voting places on election days.

Coun. KINSELLA—Just briefly, Mr. President. I think every councilor here has experienced the same situation in his ward as I have experienced in my three and one half years. When you come into polling places on Election Day and inquire how many votes have been cast at a certain hour you find that many machines do not register or have registered off. Sometimes in the polling places they have asked me regarding effecting repairs and, while I have been asked several times to speak on it, I have never gotten around to it until today. I recommend that repairs be made so that the machines will register correctly at any time.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REGULATION OF TICKET AGENCIES.

Coun. HANNON and SHANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the State Commissioner of Public Safety relative to more strict enforcement of rules and regulations pertaining to so-called ticket agencies located in the City of Boston or even the abolition of these agencies.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Corporation Counsel to prepare and present legislation which will transfer the powers of regulation of so-called ticket agencies in the City of Boston from the Commissioner of Public Safety of the State to the licensing authority of the City of Boston.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, many times it has been called to our attention that Boston suffers from too much intervention by the state. I was pretty much surprised, in checking up what we do to curb the growing practice of trimming people, or filching people, who try to purchase tickets for shows or sporting events,—I was surprised, because I naturally figured this was a local matter, something which might be licensed by the Mayor's office, or by the Police Department. But, through the kindly offices of the City Clerk, I found out that under the General Laws, chapter 140, section 185A,—ticket agencies in the various cities of the Commonwealth come under the direct supervision of the Commissioner of Public Safety. In other words, we are out. And, while there are certain laws and certain regulations enacted which are supposed to cover the existence and the workings of these agencies, you and I know, Mr. President, that these regulations are not merely disregarded,—they are openly flouted. A few weeks ago we had,—for the first time in history,—we had a Notre Dame football team here that was playing Dartmouth, and the local citizenry of Boston, in all fairness and honesty, tried to buy tickets, but they couldn't get them. We had to go to these ticket agencies to try to obtain them, and had to pay fabulous prices, even though the State Law regulate that these ticket agencies shall charge no more than 50 cents above the standard price. There is a show in town now called "Laffing Room Only," and you try to buy tickets for that. I wouldn't believe it. People from my district told me they went down there and tried to buy seats a week or two ahead of time, and they said, "There is nothing doing. We haven't any tickets here." I, myself, went down last Monday after the meeting, and I tried to buy tickets for the balcony for the following Tuesday night. They told me that the balcony was sold out. I said, "How about the next night?" They said, "That is sold out, too." I said, "Well, who has the tickets?" They said, "People have already purchased them." I said, "I will take them for any night that you have them." They said, "We haven't any balcony tickets at all." I said, "What have you in the orchestra?" "Nothing but the rear end of the orchestra." These so-called agencies have got them, and if you or I want to go to these shows we have to go down and place ourselves at the mercy and fancy of these ticket agencies. I am not going to say that they are in league with the theaters, but I might say I am very skeptical about the whole matter. One man called to my attention this morning that now there is much advertising about the Boston-Holy Cross football game. A week or two weeks ago, apparently this was not going to amount to much. But now, interest is being worked up, and a friend of this man went down to buy a ticket the other day for this spectacle that is not going to take place for more than a week yet, and even though he is buying tickets far in advance, all he can get is tickets in the end zone. Who has the tickets? Somebody has, and it seems that you and I, and everybody else who tries to pay a legitimate price for these tickets, is going to be hoodwinked into paying a much higher price than the law demands. This does not affect you and me only. Nowadays this affects fellows in the service. These kids who are fighting for us and might be in town for a day or two and might want to take a girl around are affected, too. They charge enough at regular prices. But these kids can't even get tickets unless they go to one of these agencies, and when they go to an agency half the time they will be told that even the agency hasn't any left. You must go outside and try to see some scalper who will take everything but your scalp for the price he will charge for these tickets. This thing is getting to be a racket, and it is a racket that must be controlled; it is a racket that must be stopped. When you begin to talk about this thing, I wonder how much good these ticket agencies do, anyway. As far as I can recall, they were established for the primary purpose of convenience. They were placed in one or two bookstores or railroad terminals in order to permit people who might make a hurried trip to the city to purchase there rather than walk uptown to the box office. But now they are beginning to spread out. They are beginning now to be in various types of stores in various locations. These stores where they are sold now are in no better location than the theaters themselves, and yet why do they sell them? If you can walk up to a store that is out of the way, you might just as well walk up to the box office itself. There is something else behind all this, and it has thwarted the growth of Boston. I believe in home rule. A little matter like that should certainly be under the rule of Boston. We should have police powers and regulations here to curb these people. I am not going, I repeat, to indict the theaters, but you don't have to be a college student to understand that there is something "rotten in Denmark." These spectacles are not sold out weeks ahead. You can go up to a theater within an hour or two of an opening for which you cannot buy tickets from the box office, and you go in there and you will probably get seats. The reason is that you don't go to the right place to buy them. I am asking that something be done to curb and cure a thing like this before it gets beyond control.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RAISES FOR POLICE LIEUTENANTS.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to include in any pay raise benefits for police and firemen the police lieutenants of the Boston Police Department.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I am not unmindful of the extensive bother and trouble to which Councilor Hanley went in the interest of the uniformed forces of the city in the matter of pay raises, but I don't remember that police lieutenants were particularly mentioned along with privates and others. Some time ago I put an order in asking they consider the advisability of narrowing the salary span between captains at $4,000, who receive also $200 ECA, and police lieutenants who receive $2,900 a year, but nothing on ECA. About a year and a half ago, or thereabouts, the Mayor granted an increase to the police and firemen, and the base pay of the police lieutenants then was raised from $2,700 to $2,900, but they were not made recipients of the benefits of the ECA to the extent of $200, in spite of the fact that the police captains received a base pay of $4,000 and got the $200 ECA. In other words, they get $4,200 in comparison with the $2,900 of the lieutenants. I think that anybody will agree that that is too much of a span for the responsibility that lieutenants have. I think there are about 63 police lieutenants in the Boston Police Department, and if they were given the same consideration as that planned now for the privates, a matter of $200, it would add only $12,600 to the total in a year. I hope that it meets with favor in the Mayor's office.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, may we have the order read again?

President KERRIGAN—The clerk will read the order.

The order was read by the clerk, and was then passed under suspension of the rule.

LOAN FOR PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

President KERRIGAN—Councilor Maurice Sullivan calls up No. 1 on the calendar.

No. 1 on the calendar, under unfinished business, was as follows:

1. Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 44 of the Acts of 1943, the sum of $550,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated for the Public Welfare Department, to be used for meeting appropriations for Old Age Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children hereinafter set forth, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

F. Special Items.....	$550,000
10. Aid to Dependent Children.....	$125,000
14. Old Age Assistance....	$425,000

On November 13, 1944, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 19, nays 0.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, on the record of last week, it says, on page 406: "The order will take its second reading and passage in not less than fourteen days."

President KERRIGAN—Whose remarks are those, councilor?

Coun. BAYLEY—On page 406 of the November 13 meeting.

President KERRIGAN—This order may take a second reading any time after 48 hours from its first.

Coun. BAYLEY—Is this statement incorrect?

President KERRIGAN—That statement is incorrect.

The question came on the passage of the order, and the order was passed, yeas 16, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kerrigan, Kinsella, Scannell, Shannon, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—16.

Nays—0.

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information, Mr. President.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—Councilor Bayley just called attention to the fact that after this order was passed last week, it says in the record that the order will take its second reading and passage in not less than fourteen days. How is it that we can pass this order within a week? Of course, I voted for the order and wanted it, because it is for the benefit of welfare recipients, but I would like to know why.

President KERRIGAN—Chapter 44 of the Acts of 1943, makes it an emergency order.

Coun. COFFEY—Why does this have to appear in print?

President KERRIGAN—It is incorrect. It should not be there. It is a mistake in the printed minutes.

INFORMATION AS TO CORRECT POLLING PLACES.

Coun. CAREY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Election Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to consider the advisability of equipping polling places on election day with local ward extracts of Boston street lists, and with copies of the "Polling Places" booklet, in order that those in charge of these polling places might be able to inform voters who go to the wrong polling places, the location of their correct polling place.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President, every election time it seems to happen that there is great confusion with the wardens or election officers in polling places to properly inform voters to go to the precinct or polling place where they should, and they are often sent to a polling place only to find out that they are not in the proper one. I don't care to see any heavy burden placed on the taxpayers of the city, but I do feel, for the protection of the voters, that those in charge of polling places should be equipped with extracts of the lists of the City of Boston in each ward, and with copies of the "Polling Places" booklet, so called, so that if they go to a wrong polling place it will eliminate the feature of going to five or six places before finding where they have to vote.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. COFFEY, at 2.50 p. m., to meet on Monday, November 27, 1944, at 2 p. m.

MERCHANT SHIP PRODUCTION.

Merchant vessels built in the United States in 1943 numbered 1,896 with a total deadweight tonnage of 19,239,626, according to a report by Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission and administrator of the War Shipping Administration. Of these, 208, aggregating 2,044,238 deadweight tons, were completed in December. Of the 1943 production, 1,238 vessels were Liberty ships; 70 C-1 cargo ships, 53 C-2 cargo ships; 39 C-3 cargo ships; 5 C-4 cargo ships; 167 tankers; 28 coastal tankers; 57 Liberty tankers; 3 passenger-cargo vessels; 33 coastal cargo ships, including two concrete ships; 16 ore carriers; 27 concrete barges; 46 seagoing tugs; 114 military types, not transports; 53 special types and a considerable number of smaller types, including tugs, barges, etc. Late in 1943, Admiral Land said 2,900 ships were under control of the War Shipping Administration, operated by some 76 general agents of the W. S. A.

PORT STORAGE IMPORT ORDER.

The Office of Defense Transportation, in an amendment to its general order No. 16, has instituted a permit system for acceptance by railroads or truckers of shipments of domestic or import freight to specified port areas for storage for the account of a government agency in a public warehouse in such area. Growing volume of imports, due to decline in ship losses, the O. D. T. said, was putting added strain on port storage facilities, thus making the institution of a permit system necessary.

The application for the port storage forwarding permit the order says, must be made by the government agency for whose account the freight is to be stored, in accordance with procedures prescribed by the director of the division of storage of the O. D. T., in an administrative order.

The following port areas were named in the order: Baltimore, Bellingham, Wash., Boston, Camden, Everett, Wash., Galveston, Houston, Jacksonville, Los Angeles, Mobile, New Orleans, Newport News, New York, Norfolk, Oakland, Cal., Olympia, Wash., Pensacola, Philadelphia, Portland Ore., Portsmouth, Va., Richmond, Cal., San Francisco, Savannah, Seattle, Tacoma, Tampa, Vancouver.

SEA-GOING DRY DOCKS.

Bigger than a battleship! That's the rough proportion of some of the new Navy floating dry docks which can be towed or self-propelled at speeds sufficient to follow our fleet into action. Indeed, the dry docks are large enough to handle even a mighty battleship when it needs repairs or overhauling.

Never before have floating dry docks been built so large, taken so far. Never before have docks of this character been so mobile. The Navy has spent upward of $300,000,000 on their floating dry dock program and it has been a shrewd investment. Now, instead of damaged warships traveling the thousands of miles from the theaters of action to an American coastal dry dock for repairs, it can be placed in a floating dry dock on the spot in a matter of hours, thus saving precious time.

TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS.

A recent analysis of surface transportation by John A. Beeler, transit engineer and consultant, reveals noteworthy performance by trolley coaches in comparison to other public transportation vehicles. Comparison of results of operation of trolley coaches with those of street cars on four different lines in as many different cities, shows, according to Beeler, that trolley coaches are eight times as good.

The analysis shows that in 1942, 25,449 street cars carried 5,171,000,000 revenue passengers; 3,363 trolley coaches carried 765,000,000; and 42,458 motor coaches carried 5,427,000,000 revenue passengers; the average fare being 6.66 cents, 6.89 cents and 6.72 cents, respectively; and the revenues being $344,600,000, $52,700,000 and $365,000,000, respectively. Average revenue passengers per street car was 203.191; per trolley coach 227,475; and per motor coach 127,820.

AIRCRAFT MATERIAL PRODUCTION 41
PER CENT OF TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE
WAR JOB.

Behind current attempts to knock Germany out of the war by means of airpower, stands the teamwork of the automotive industry, which has done much to get bombers in the air over Hitler's domain.

The motor industry, starting as a scrub team in the aircraft field a year before Pearl Harbor has since attained major league stature.

In the two years since December 7, 1941, the industry's output of bombers and fighters has constantly soared. Measured in dollar volume, it rose from $400,000,000 annual rate of production on the day of the Japs' assault to $4,300,000,000 on the second anniversary of that "day of infamy."

The same upward spiral took place in deliveries of all forms of war materials by automotive plants. When Pearl Harbor news struck, they had reached an annual production rate of $1,777,000,000 for all forms of military requirements: aircraft, military vehicles, tanks, guns, ammunition, marine engines and other equipment. Today the annual production rate tops the $10,000,000,000 mark.

FOOD INSPECTIONS.

Seventeen inspectors were employed in this division of the Boston Health Department in 1942 for the purpose of insuring the food supply of the city. During 1942 the various activities of the Division were as follows:

Inspections in market area, 75,916; inspections of markets, 17,729; inspections in districts outside of market area, 22,769; reinspections, 1,450; inspections of food terminals, 184; inspections of peddlers' vehicles, 13,579; inspections of food stands, 6,987; inspections for victualers' licenses, 932; inspections of bakeries, 1,834; inspections of ice cream plants and stores, 4,193; inspections, special, 798; inspections of retail milk establishments, 4,791; complaints adjudged, 280; nuisances abated, 390.

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

Animals Slaughtered.

Cattle, 43,158; calves, 75,675; swine, 27,505; sheep, 3,012; goats, 598.

Total Weight of Condemned Animals and Parts.

Whole animals, 21,676 pounds; parts of animals, 20,211 pounds; putrid meat, 615 pounds. Total, 42,502 pounds.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop.—American City Magazine.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout.—Municipal Review.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

SEEKS COMMUNITY AID IN ARMY CAMP CITIES.

The army welcomes the aid of civic organizations in helping to protect soldiers from intemperance and vice when they are away from their duty stations.

The War Department is endeavoring in various ways to protect its personnel from temptations while at military posts and camps. Healthful and wholesome entertainment is furnished. Commissioned officers are charged with the responsibility for the men in their commission. Understanding leaders offer them advice and counsel, and medical officers guard their physical well-being.—American City Magazine.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

STRAYER SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LEGISLATIVE CHANGES IN SCHOOL LAWS INTENDED TO BRING ABOUT IMPROVEMENTS IN EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM FOR BENEFIT OF CITY'S FUTURE CITIZENS AND PLACE BOSTON IN LEAD OF EDUCATIONAL CENTERS OF COUNTRY — ALSO SUMMARIZES FINANCIAL SAVINGS TO BE ACHIEVED BY SUCH A LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM AS IT PROPOSES.

The Strayer School Survey Committee has filed with the Finance Commission a set of recommendations for legislation looking to the improvement of the educational system for the city. With this set of recommendations the Strayer committee has completed its survey and the summary of their findings has been submitted to the Mayor and the City Council.

In the recommendations have been presented a legislative program for the improvement of the school situation and a list of the savings to the city to be achieved by the putting into effect of their recommendations. The legislative proposals are contained in the following summary:

BOSTON, November 28, 1944.

To the Chairman and Members of the Finance Commission of the City of Boston.

It has become increasingly clear that certain recommendations of the survey staff (1) as to improvements in the public schools of the City of Boston and (2) as to savings in annual expenditures for public education in the City of Boston depend upon the amendment of the laws of the Commonwealth as they relate to public education in Boston.

Education in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, as in all other states of the Union, is a State function. In Massachusetts, as in other states, the Legislature holds all subdivisions of the Commonwealth responsible for the maintenance of schools, and it generally delegates to these subdivisions authority commensurate with their responsibility.

The Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts prescribes for the local school districts of the Commonwealth a broad plan for exercising the authority granted for discharging the responsibilities placed upon them. In general, this plan consists of provision for a lay board, called in Massachusetts the school committee, and for a professional administrator, called the superintendent of schools. In the general law of the Commonwealth, the superintendent of schools is the chief executive officer of the lay board. In Massachusetts, as in most other states, there is special legislation applying to its largest city — in this case, the City of Boston. The plan for administering schools in the City of Boston is the special creation of the Legislature, and this plan can be changed only by the Legislature.

THE FINDINGS.

The survey staff finds:

1. That the method of electing the members of the School Committee of the City of Boston, at large, at municipal elections, as provided by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has failed for many years to give the City of Boston a satisfactory School Committee.

2. That the Legislature of the State of Massachusetts requires the City of Boston to have a Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, coordinate as to certain powers with the School Committee. In other words, the School Committee must, by law, share its power to determine certain vital policies with another board, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings. As a result of this division of authority, the school buildings provided for the children and youth of Boston are not suited to the program of education carried on in them, most of them are unsanitary and many of them are unsafe, and neither the School Committee nor the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings can be held directly responsible for these faults.

3. That, in the general law of Massachusetts, the Superintendent of Schools is the chief administrative officer of the School Committee, but that special legislation applying to the City of Boston compels the Superintendent of Schools to share his responsibilities and authority with a Board of Superintendents, a Business Manager, and a Secretary. The Rules of the School Committee require him further to share his responsibilities and authority with a Schoolhouse Custodian and with a number of administrative boards, namely, the Board of Apportionment, the Salary Board, and the Trial Board for Custodians.

4. That the Board of Superintendents is, by State law, an administrative board, coordinate in power with the Superintendent of Schools. Its members are elected directly by the School Committee without the intervention of the Superintendent of Schools. This makes for confusion in administration, as no one person exercises the authority which would permit him to be held responsible by the School Committee.

Political Pressure Possible.

5. That the Board of Examiners was created by the School Committee, and that the School Committee can abolish it. This leaves the Board of Examiners vulnerable to political pressure.

6. That the School Committee of the City of Boston is, by law, required to adopt a "list of appropriations" by May first for the fiscal year beginning four months earlier. This date falls one third of the way through the year for which the "list of appropriations," so called, is to be adopted. The law permits the School Committee to choose the form in which it presents its "list of appropriations," and practice permits it to delay the adoption of the list frequently until more than half of the year which it is to cover has passed.

SCHOOL SURVEY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS LEGISLATIVE CHANGES TO BENEFIT EDUCATIONAL AND FINAN- CIAL STRUCTURE OF CITY'S SCHOOL SYSTEM.

This means that the Boston school system does not have a budget in the ordinary sense of the term—that financial planning is absent in developing policy, and that financial control is lacking in administration.

7. That prior to the beginning of the war industries boom Boston was losing its ability to pay property taxes, and that the support of schools, as mandated by the Legislature, was becoming too heavy for the City to bear. This process will be resumed after the war.

8. That the Commonwealth of Massachusetts contributes from State funds only from 8 to 9 per cent of the current expenditures of the schools of the City of Boston, whereas the average of state contributions to the support of local schools, country wide, is from 25 to 35 per cent of current expenses. Some states contribute much more.

9. That, if the School Committee of the City of Boston is to discharge the specific responsibilities of a board of education, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts must provide, by law, the broad outlines of a responsible administrative organization for the school system of the City of Boston.

10. That, if the School Committee of the City of Boston is to discharge its responsibilities as a public board, some way must be found to free its members from the influence of small groups, within the school system and without, who seek only personal advantage, and to make them responsive to the will of a majority of the voters of the City of Boston.

The Recommendations.

In the light of these findings, as developed at length in the body of the Report of the survey, the survey staff recommends:

1. That, in order to insure a high degree of individual responsibility on the part of individual members of the School Committee of the City of Boston, the Legislature of the Commonwealth should provide, by law, for the nomination of candidates for the School Committee by an ex-officio board of representative citizens and their appointment from the list of candidates so nominated by the Mayor of the City of Boston.

2. That, in order to insure consideration for the needs of the City as a whole, the Legislature of the Commonwealth should provide, by law, for a referendum and possible recall, after two years of service, for each member of the School Committee appointed by the Mayor.

3. That, in order to secure efficient and responsible administration of the public schools of the City of Boston, the Legislature of the Commonwealth, by law, should make the Superintendent of Schools the responsible executive of the School Committee in all matters pertaining to the affairs of the Committee, with power to nominate to the Committee for their election his immediate assistants and, through them, all other employees of the Committee.

TRANSFER OF AUTHORITY.

4. That the Board of Commissioners of Schools Buildings should be abolished, by law, and that the functions and employees of that Board should be transferred to the jurisdiction of the School Committee under the administration of the Superintendent of Schools and of the Business Manager in his capacity as an assistant superintendent.

5. That the Board of Superintendents should be changed, by law, from an administrative body to an advisory and quasi-judicial body, that its membership should be increased by the addition of the Business Manager, in the capacity of an assistant superintendent, and that it should act as a cabinet of advisors to the Superintendent and as a trial board for employees.

6. That the office of Business Manager as an independent executive of the School Committee should be abolished, and the duties of that office and of the administrative offices of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings should be combined under a Business Manager who is, in rank, an assistant superintendent, serving under the administration of the Superintendent of Schools.

7. That the duties of the Secretary of the School Committee, who is now an administrative officer of the Committee, should be changed, by law, so that the Secretary shall be the recording secretary, only, of the Committee.

8. That the Board of Examiners should be established, by law, as a statutory body, that its members should have tenure during satisfactory service, and that vacancies should be filled from special eligibility lists established by examinations as described in the body of the Report of the survey.

9. That the Legislature should require, by law, that the Boston School Committee adopt a budget at least fifteen days before the opening of the fiscal year to which it applies. This budget should be in the form indicated by the financial reports required by the United States Office of Education.

10. That the Legislature should create a special commission to determine the proper division of responsibility as between the Commonwealth and the local school districts for the support of public education, to the end that an adequate plan may be developed for the financing of education in all parts of Massachusetts in the post-war period. The Legislature should appropriate for the use of the commission sufficient funds to defray the expenses of the members of the commission and to employ the necessary professional assistance to do the research and technical work needed in developing the plan.

Adequate Plan for the Management of the Schools.

After many months of close contact with the Boston public schools, the members of the survey staff emerge with the firm conviction that few school systems in the United States, if any, can claim as large a proportion of teachers, supervisors, and administrators of eminent character, sound learning, and high professional competence. But at the same time the survey staff is obliged regretfully to report that in a tragically large number of instances these qualities are not allowed to count—that the existing mechanism of organization and modes of administration give little assurance that merit will be properly recognized and that ability will bear fruit. This is due in large measure to the present inadequate plan—or lack of plan—for managing public education in the City of Boston. In addition—and what is even more important—this lack of plan results in poor school buildings, too many mediocre schools and services, and in excessive costs. For this condition past Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are in a measure responsible, although it must be said that these Legislatures have always acted with the best of intentions to correct manifest evils as they have appeared. It lies in the power of the Legislature to correct the present confused situation. If the next Legislature should accept its responsibility for providing the City of Boston with the minimum essentials of a workable plan for managing its schools, all needed improvements in educational program and in services, as outlined in the body of the Report of this survey, could be made. And what is more, operating expenses for the Boston schools could be reduced by nearly $1,250,000 a year.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. STRAYER,
Director of the Survey.

APPENDIX I.

SAVINGS RECOMMENDED IN THE REPORT OF THE SURVEY OF THE BOSTON SCHOOLS.

The Report of the survey of the Boston schools shows the possibility of savings in a number of areas. Among the more important of these are the following:

1. By closing 35 buildings not needed to house school children there could be effected on the costs of operation and maintenance of these buildings a savings of $140,000.

2. By reducing the overhead in the departments of maintenance and operation of buildings, which is altogether out of line with any criterion of good administration ($100,000), by requiring custodians to make minor repairs ($50,000), and by the employment of a maintenance crew of carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc., instead of letting by contract many small jobs, the cost of having work done this way being exorbitant ($100,000), a total saving of $250,000.

3. By adjusting the number of teachers to the normal load of 32-33 pupils per class in the elementary schools, 32-33 in academic subjects in the junior and senior high schools, and 20 in vocational classes, involving some reorganization of schools and classes, including the closing of the 35 buildings mentioned above, the saving would be the salaries of 239 teachers or $702,000.

4. By closing the Teachers College, $100,000.

5. By installing machines in the business office to take the place of manual work, $35,000. Total, $1,227,000.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. STRAYER,
Director of the Survey.

When the bids were called for in this contract, there was an alternate bid for either macadam or concrete base. Estimated cost of extra work, none.

CHANGE IN CONTRACT.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

A. D. Daddario has been directed to make the following change in the contract for construction work on the Malden Bridge, over the Mystic river, dated June 26, 1944. Items ordered: Substitute yellow hard pine in place of oak, under Item 10 of your contract. Oak was specified in the contract. At this time the contractor is unable to obtain oak but is able to furnish hard pine for the 4 inches by 8 inches cross braces required under the terms of the contract. This change is necessary due to the fact that the National Emergency makes the use of oak out of the question since there is none available in the market. Under the circumstances the city will not be affected by this change. The substitution will entail no change in costs. Estimated cost of extra work, none.

MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Ordered, That an additional sum of $1,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated, to be expended by the Park Department, for the extension and improvement of the temporary memorial erected on Boston Common in commemoration of all residents of the City of Boston who have or will have made the supreme sacrifice while in the service of their country during the present World War, said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

Referred to Executive Committee.

PARKMAN FUND APPROPRIATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the attached communication from the Board of Park Commissioners requesting the transfer of the sum of $23,000 from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund to the Maintenance and Improvement of the Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887.

I submit herewith an appropriation order and respectfully recommend its passage by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, November 2, 1944.
Hon. Maurice J. Tobin,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir,—By vote of the Board of Park Commissioners you are respectfully requested to ask the City Council to transfer from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund the sum of $23,000 which is now available, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Park Commissioners as follows:

Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, Maintenance and Improvement of $23,000

When making up the budget estimates for the year 1944, a sum equal to the total yearly income of the George F. Parkman Fund was deducted from Item A-1, Permanent Employees, with the understanding that this deduction was to be replaced by the total yearly income of said Parkman Fund for 1944, to be transferred as it accrued from time to time during the year to the regular maintenance appropriation of the Park Department.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $23,000 be, and hereby is, appropriated from the income of the George F. Parkman Fund, to be expended under the direction of the Park Commissioners, for the Maintenance and Improvement of the Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, as follows:

Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887, Maintenance and Improvement of $23,000

Referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

Coun. TAYLOR.—Mr. President, I would like to move that that be referred to the Executive Committee, because of the lateness of the date, as I am informed there are several things in the Parkman Fund now that have not come back to the Body, and it is going to be difficult for the Mayor to carry out the program of increases that he has in mind. It is very late in the year, and the Parkman Fund is an important fund. This is a procedure we have always gone through for many years. I move that it be referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. DWYER.—Mr. President, for the information of the Body, there are no orders pending before the Parkman Fund Committee at the present time. As a matter of fact, there was one order that the committee was reporting on favorably today, and money was available before that order was acted upon. It is going to be reported upon today. Mr. President, and, for the information of the Body—I think they all know it—the Parkman Fund money can only be used for the Park pay roll each week. Mr. President, I hope that the order will still be referred to the Parkman Fund Committee.

President KERRIGAN.—In view of that information, counselor, will you withdraw your motion?

Coun. TAYLOR.—Yes, Mr. President.
The message and order was referred to the Committee on Parkman Fund.

APPROPRIATION FOR CARE OF VETERANS' GRAVES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Chapter 115, section 22, of the General Laws, provides that the Mayor shall annually appoint a citizen, preferably a war veteran, who shall be charged with the duty of suitably keeping and caring for the graves of those who have served in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States in time of war.

The provisions of this statute have been complied with since 1942, and with the approval of your Honorable Body funds for the maintenance of this activity have been made available. The last order transferring the sum of $5,000 from the Contingent Fund was passed on November 15, 1943, by your Honorable Body.

The funds made available will shortly be entirely expended and believing this activity should be continued, there is forwarded herewith an order transferring the sum of $5,000 from the Contingent Fund. Your consideration and passage of this order is respectfully recommended.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of his Honor the Mayor, for the care of graves of soldiers, sailors and marines, as provided in chapter 115, section 22, of the General Laws, said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR ZONING BOARD.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, November 13, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—In compliance with the request contained in the attached communication from the Board of Zoning Adjustment for the appropriation of $1,500 to cover the Board's routine hearing operating expenses, there is forwarded herewith an order transferring this sum from the Contingent Fund, with the recommendation that this order be adopted by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Zoning Adjustment,
October 24, 1944.

Hon. Maurice J. Tobin,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—The Board of Zoning Adjustment, constituted under section 20, chapter 486 of the Acts of 1924, respectfully requests its annual appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars from the Contingent Fund to cover yearly operating expenses. This money is expended for necessary verbatim records of public hearings, required by law, blueprints, postage, personal service, including engineering, drafting, secretarial and clerical work, and miscellaneous expenses.

On August 5, 1943, a request for ninety-five hundred dollars, fifteen hundred dollars of which was for regular operation of the Board and eight thousand for a Re-Zoning Study, was approved by your Honor but was not acted upon by the City Council.

In January of this year this request was again submitted to your Honor and was approved, but has not yet been approved by the City Council. Consequently the annual appropriation has been delayed and no funds have been available for routine expenses. To correct this situation we are now submitting to your Honor a separate request for an allocation of fifteen hundred dollars to cover the Board's routine operations and outstanding obligations, about eleven hundred dollars of which is already past due.

Respectfully submitted,
DANA SOMER, Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Board of Zoning Adjustment, said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE MAYOR.

Coun. CHASE called up, under unfinished business, No. 1 on the calendar, viz.:

1. Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor November 20, 1944, of Gerard Colucci, Paolo A. Stancato and Clifford L. Smith, to be Constables authorized to serve civil process upon filing of bond, for the term ending April 30, 1945.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Coffey and M. H. Sullivan. Whole number of ballots 14, yeas 14, and the appointments were confirmed.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted the following:

1. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred July 24) for sale of city's interest in property of Samuel Gross Davis in West Falmouth, Mass.—that same ought to pass.

2. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred November 20) for sale of land on Commercial street—that same ought to pass.

On motion of Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN the matters were referred to the Executive Committee.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PARKMAN FUND.

Coun. DWYER, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor and order (referred October 30) for transfer of $23,000 from income of George F. Parkman Fund for Maintenance and Improvement of Common and Parks in Existence on January 12, 1887—that same ought to pass.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, before voting on that order I would like to tell the Council that the Parkman Fund committee held a meeting two weeks ago, or a week ago last Friday, on this particular order, and a majority of the committee present and voting voted to hold this order up at the time for reasons that are most obvious in regard to the way the Parkman Fund money is being spent. Now, Mr. President, after the committee so voted, they were informed by the Park Commissioner that they really needed money for the pay roll. So, out of the innocence of their hearts, knowing that additional money was coming in, the committee, without holding another meeting, and after polling the committee, voted to have this money available for the Park Commissioner. And, Mr. President, for once and for all, for the life of me, I cannot understand how members of this Body who are not members of the Parkman Fund committee can be so interested in their activities in matters that come before them, and will get up here, not once but on many occasions, and make false statements with regard to what is before the Parkman Fund committee. The Parkman Fund committee that you appointed, Mr. President, is well able to take care of its own matters without any help from any "buttinski." And, Mr. President, it is high time that members minded their own business and took care of their own committee work, without trying to butt in on the committee work of a committee that has been most honorable and most fair and most exacting in its work this year. And so, Mr. President, this matter that has come in today, sir, before our honorable committee, that was referred by you to it, I assure you will receive proper attention, that a meeting will be held, and maybe several members of the Parkman Fund committee will have something to say about it.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 13, nays 0.

EAST BOSTON RELIEF STATION.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the trustees of the Boston City Hospital be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to reopen the East Boston Relief Station on a twenty-four-hour a day basis.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I think this is my seventy-fourth order in the five years I have been here requesting his Honor the Mayor to open the East Boston Relief Station as a first-class hospital for twenty-four hours a day. The Mayor has a little more than a month before he goes out of office. Three years ago last October 11th, at a banquet attended by some 900 people, the Mayor made the statement that he had made a mistake in closing the East Boston Relief Hospital, and that he was going to reopen it. We have lived in hopes in the past three years that he would keep his word and open the hospital on a twenty-four-hour basis. As I stated a moment ago, he has only five or six weeks to go before he resigns and goes up to Beacon Hill to become the Governor of the Commonwealth, and I hope, for the sake of the 70,000 people in East Boston, that the Mayor will see fit to order the trustees of the Boston City Hospital to reopen the East Boston Relief Station. And I might say that he might reopen it and give it to us as Christmas present, and at least have the good will of some of the 8,000 people who did not want to, but who saw fit to go to the polls and vote against him in the last election on Election Day. It was not just a case of not voting for Mayor Tobin, but of voting against the closing of the Relief Hospital. I know of what I speak, because of the hundreds of people I have come in contact with in the last five years. It has been on everybody's tongue. As soon as anybody asks for a vote for Mayor Tobin in East Boston, they say, "Why did he close the East Boston Relief Hospital? Let him open the Relief Hospital, and I will consider him for a vote." I hope, for the consideration of everyone in East Boston, that, being the one that closed the East Boston Relief Hospital several years ago, he will see fit before he leaves the Mayor's office, and before he walks up to Beacon Hill the first week in January, to at least try to rectify the mistake he made some seven years ago, and open our hospital on a twenty-four-hour basis.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

FIRE STATION IN ORIENT HEIGHTS.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Fire Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to establish a fire station in the Orient Heights section of East Boston.

Coun. COFFEY—I have introduced half a dozen of these orders asking the Mayor to build a firehouse in the Orient Heights section of East Boston. This is a congested area. It takes in four precincts with well over 1,000 votes in each one of these precincts. We had a fire in this section about two years ago, and one person was burned to death. Another person, a woman, had to jump off a second floor piazza and she broke her leg and has been so seriously ill for several months that, as a result, there is another tragedy in the family, which I don't care to go into at the present time. Mayor Tobin and myself went over through this section, and I pointed out the congested area and told him how far away the nearest firehouse was from the Orient Heights section. That was on a Saturday morning. It was a day like today; it was raining. I was told to introduce an order in the City Council on the Monday following, and he would do his best to see that some action was taken on it. I introduced the order, of course, the following Monday, and up to the present no action has been taken. We certainly do need a firehouse in this Orient Heights section of East Boston. As I have said previously, it would take anywhere from 10 to 15 minutes for the nearest fire apparatus to get to the Orient Heights section in case there was a fire. I hope the Mayor will take some action and consider the people in this district and, in the event there is a fire up there, try to prevent any more loss of life in that neighborhood. I hope the order will pass, Mr. President.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

REPAIR OF MERIDIAN STREET FENCE.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to immediately repair the fence on Meridian street which leads to the Meridian Street Bridge in East Boston.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, a few weeks ago I introduced a similar order. The fence at that time needed repair on the left-hand side of Meridian street, going from East Boston to Chelsea. The fence has since been repaired there. I wish to thank the Commissioner of Public Works for that, because it became a dangerous hazard for children walking over Meridian street to Chelsea, or for anyone doing shopping there. Last night, walking to Chelsea from East Boston, I noticed on the right-hand side of Meridian street, going from East Boston to Chelsea, that the fence is in bad need of repair. In fact, in some places the children could walk right over and fall into the Atlantic Ocean. I hope the order will be passed and receive favorable action.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

PAYMENT TO SOCIAL LAW LIBRARY.

Coun. TAYLOR offered the following:

Ordered, That there be allowed and paid to the proprietors of the Social Law Library the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for the maintenance and enlargement of said library, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for County of Suffolk, Social Law Library.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

CREDIT IN PROMOTIONAL EXAMINATIONS.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor confer with the Police and Fire Commissioners as to the advisability of recommending to the next General Court the enactment of legislation which will provide proper credit in promotional examinations for all members of these departments who are the recipients of public commendations.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, the members of the Fire Department and the Police Department many times are called upon to risk their lives. Each of them has a hazardous occupation, and there is no doubt about it that some of the members are much more interested in their work than other members of these departments are. Every so often we read after a great fire or after a particularly meritorious piece of police work that certain firemen who may have risked their lives in saving the lives of others, or certain policemen who may have been responsible for the arrest or capture of hardened criminals, have been commended. They are the recipients of a note of thanks from the commissioner, and sometimes they get a day or two extra vacation. However, Mr. President, that is as far as it goes, and oftentimes these men who really are the backbone of the Police and Fire Departments are cast aside and their deeds of valor are forgotten. I think that something more should be given to these men. I think these men who constitute the real backbone of the Fire Department, and these men who constitute the real backbone of the Police Department, the men who really perform their work in such a manner as to merit commendation from their superiors, should be given some special consideration when they go up to seek advancement. I remember a few years ago when I was in the Legislature when the Faber and Millen boys were at large, a policeman, an ordinary cop, walking a beat, was commended in the Post, for being responsible for the solution of that case. We even had to go before the Governor's Council to get the reward money for the Boston cops. They wanted to give it to everybody else. Policemen came on here from New York, and they were given reward money without any difficulty. But the Boston cops were hemmed in, restricted, and covered by laws, and we had quite a fight before we got the Boston officers their fair share of the reward money. After that was over, they were cast aside, and I still believe the man who was commended for solving the Faber and Millen case is no more, even yet, than a private in some outlying district station. Some of these men who are good firemen and policemen are no good at anything else. They are not good students, they are not bookworms; but they are fellows who do the work. And I think it is a matter that should be taken up by the heads of these departments. If a man does his work in such a manner that he is commended, he should be given some advantage in any promotional examination. The fact that he is commended shows that he is performing his work in a better and more meritorious manner than somebody else. How much credit he should be given I am not prepared to state, but I am offering this as a matter for consideration for the Mayor and heads of the Police and Fire Departments, to see that those men who receive these honors shall receive something else besides an empty note or a meaningless note, that says, "Well done, brother; you have performed your work well." They have performed well, but if they have performed well, why not give them some credit? They are the type of men who should work their way up and become leaders in the Fire and Police Departments.

Coun. COFFEY—I have to congratulate the councilor for thinking of this. In the Army when a man receives a citation you will notice that he usually receives a promotion with it, and I think that it is just as fitting for the Boston policemen and the Boston firemen. I know in East Boston we had a police officer, who is now dead and gone, who was considered one of the greatest crime experts in the entire city. It was nothing to have the Police Commissioner in those days call him in and send him to Florida or some outlying state and have him come back with somebody that was wanted. And still that man was in the department for some thirty years before he retired—he now has passed away—and he never was anything but just an ordinary patrolman. Another thing came to my mind in talking to a police officer the other day, and I couldn't help thinking of this matter as Councilor Hannon was on the floor talking. A police officer who has a horse was given special detail up at Mechanics Building a few weeks ago. When he arrived there, he put in his four hours' work and went in to get his pay, and he was given $3.25 for his services and $6.50 for the horse.

SOLDIERS' AID.

Coun. KEENAN, for the Committee on Soldiers' Relief, submitted report recommending passage of order for payment of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families in the City of Boston for the month of November.

Report accepted; said order passed.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

President KERRIGAN appointed Councilor M. H. Sullivan as temporary chairman of the Executive Committee.

RECESS.

On motion of Coun. COFFEY, the Council voted at 3.14 p. m. to take a recess subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by President KERRIGAN at 4.15 p. m.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN, for the Executive Committee, submitted the following:

4. Report on message of Mayor and orders for transfers within and between departments—that same ought to pass.

Report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the orders.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I am going to ask the clerk to read the orders separately.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, did the Executive Committee pass on these separately?

President KERRIGAN—No, they did not.

Coun. SCANNELL—Then I would move that they be taken up together as they were in the committee.

President KERRIGAN—The councilor has the right to ask for a separate vote on these orders.

Coun. SCANNELL—The orders cannot be passed upon together, in a bunch?

President KERRIGAN—The councilor has the right to ask for a division of the question.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, I would move that we have a roll call on that question.

President KERRIGAN—The motion is out of order, as the councilor has the right to ask for a division.

The question came on passage of order for transfer of $2,300 from appropriation for Institutions Department, Long Island Hospital, Supplies, to Steamer "Stephen J. O'Meara," Contractual Services.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, before voting against this transfer I wish to record myself as against transferring money from the food item at the Long Island Hospital. I am consistent in now voting against this transfer from the food item, as I did the last time.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 15, nays 1:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Coffey, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—15.

Nay—Coun. Dwyer—1.

5. Report on transfer of $15,500 from Police Department, Personal Service, to Election Department, Personal Service and Supplies.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I am going on record as voting for this transfer from the Police Department, A-1, Personal Services, to the Election Department, for the reason that the City Auditor informed us that there is $199,000, roughly speaking, in the balance of the budget A-1 item of the Police Department, even if the so-called increase in salaries is going to be granted. Therefore, I am willing to vote for this transfer at this time.

The report was accepted and the order passed, yeas 17, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, J. Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—17.

Nays—0.

6. Report on transfer of $50,000 from appropriation for Police Department, Personal Service, to Park Department, Personal Service.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I am also going on record as voting for this transfer of $50,000 from the Police Department to the Park Department, for the same reason that I gave on the previous transfer.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 17, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—17.

Nays—0.

Nays—0.

8. Report on order for transfer from appropriation for Public Works Department, Ferry Service, Personal Service, of $3,700, to Bridge Service, Personal Service.

The order was accepted and the order passed, yeas 16, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Coffey, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—16.

Nays—0.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, I just rise to a point of information, whether it might not be well, in order to expedite matters, for the clerk to read the reports and orders where there is no objection and pass upon them together?

President KERRIGAN—That can be done, councilor, if there is no objection.

On the following reports and orders there seem to be no objection to a collective vote:

Ferry Improvements, $980, to Ferry Service, Contractual Services.

Ferry Improvements, $3,700, and Ferry Service, Supplies, $3,300, to Sanitary Service, Contractual Services, $7,000.

Paving Service, Personal Service, $9,000, to Sanitary Service, Personal Service.

Sewer Service, Personal Service, $14,000, to Sanitary Service, Personal Service.

Emergency Compensation Allotment, $26,000 to Public Works Department, Sanitary Service, Personal Service.

Suffolk County Court House, Custodian, Personal Service, $896.85, to Municipal Court, Dorchester District, Personal Service.

Superior Court, Civil Session, General Expenses, Contractual Services, $175, to Associate Medical Examiner Service, Southern District, Contractual Services.

Superior Court, Civil Session, General Expenses, Contractual Services, $854.39, to Penal Institutions Department, Steamer "Michael J. Perkins," Contractual Services.

Reports on the above were severally accepted and the orders were passed, yeas 16, nays 0:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Coffey, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—16.

PROTECTION FOR PEDESTRIANS IN SOUTH BOSTON.

Coun. SCANNELL offered the following:

Ordered, That the Police Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to give proper protection to children and adults using the thoroughfares of South Boston; and be it further Ordered, That the Police Commissioner confer with the military authorities in South Boston with a view to securing their cooperation in this matter.

Coun. SCANNELL—Just a few words on this order, Mr. President. The reason I present this order is that in South Boston we have many military bases, and it seems that they don't care anything about the civilian personnel in our district in South Boston, that they race through the streets of this district at 50 to 60 miles an hour, and the result is that in the past month they have killed two children within two blocks. I think this is an outrage, and we should have the Police Commissioner give us proper protection. I know that I can't go to the police captain in South Boston, because he says he doesn't like politicians. Well, as long as I represent the people of South Boston, I am going to find out why we do not get police protection, and why military authorities don't cooperate with the civilian personnel of South Boston. Now, the result is there have been two children killed within the past month on the same street, and other children have been maimed in the past couple of years. This is an outrage, and it has to stop. I am going to ask the Police Commissioner's cooperation and also ask the military authorities of this section to cooperate and see if we cannot save some of the children's lives in the South Boston section.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SAFETY MEASURES BY 'OWNER OF METROPOLITAN HILL "DUST BOWL."

Coun. FEENEY offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to take the necessary legal action to force the owner of the land in the Roslindale-Hyde Park-Metropolitan Hill "Dust Bowl," so-called, to do the following in the interest of public health and safety: To erect a suitable restraining safety crash fence for automobile traffic, and a suitable safety fence to protect children and adults from danger to life and limb, around the excavation which borders Beech street extension, near Asheville road, in Hyde Park; to erect a suitable restraining safety fence around the edge of the high cliff bordering Beech street extension in order to protect children and adults from death or serious injury; to erect a suitable restraining safety fence in the rear of the small homes on Halloran street, in Hyde Park, where excavations by contractors have gouged out dangerous cliffs which now constitute a menace to the safety of small children and adults alike who live in the immediate vicinity; and to post suitable danger warning signs throughout the area in the interest of public safety.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I have filed this order several times before. I filed it early in the year when I became a member, and I filed it again last September, September 21st. Each of these orders has been substantially the same. I have called upon the responsible department heads of this city to post suitable danger warning signs throughout this so-called "Dust Bowl" area. I have called for the erection of suitable restraining crash fences to protect motorists who drive on the edge of a precipice day by day when they pass this area. I have asked for a safety fence to be erected to protect the little children who live in the area of this "Dust Bowl." I have warned in my remarks previously that some little child or some adult would possibly be seriously injured or lose their life, and only yesterday, Mr. President, the Boston newspapers carried a story about a little girl who was very nearly buried alive in quicksand in the very area that was dug out by those careless and callous contractors who took away from that beautiful district over two million cubic yards of fill and left the most desolate and dangerous excavation hole in any district in this Commonwealth. And so, Mr. President, I once more rise to my feet in the sincere hope that his Honor the Mayor will once more prod the responsible department heads, and see to it that something is done immediately before many more weeks have passed to protect the people and the children who live in this area, before we have one or more fatal accidents, which I say, once more, Mr. President, will happen unless something is done to alleviate these dangerous conditions.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

COMMENDATION OF POLICE COMMISSIONER FOR ACTION ON TAXI FARES.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:
Resolved, That the City Council, in meeting assembled, commend the Police Commissioner of Boston for his speedy action in accepting the order of the City Council to establish a standard rate for taxi fare in contradiction to the existing maximum and minimum rates.

The resolve was passed under suspension of the rule.

EMERGENCY ALLOTMENT TO BE MADE PERMANENT INCREASE.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to declare the so-called $200 emergency allotment to be a permanent increase in salary.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

ADHERENCE TO TERMS OF THEATER LICENSES.

Coun. HANNON and SHANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That the Licensing Division of the Mayor's office confer with the Police Commissioner to see that the terms of the license granted to a theater are adhered to strictly.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, last week, because it was called to my attention, many of the residents of the City of Boston were unable to buy tickets for plays and sporting events which were performing in the city, I, in conjunction with the councilor from Ward 20 (Coun. Shannon), filed an order that this matter be looked into. And, much to my surprise, during the course of the week I received many letters commending me for this action. I believe my brother councilor likewise received some letters. And they informed me that I was right when I thought that this practice was degenerating into a racket. And these letters have almost convinced me that it is a racket. It is one of those rackets that may be a little beyond our reach for the present. However, we have some control over some of these things. The Mayor's office downstairs licenses theaters. Now, a theater, as far as I can learn, is a place for a public performance, a place for a show, but instead of that, according to some of my informers, the proprietors of these theaters are also the proprietors of these ticket agencies. They tell me that you can't buy tickets for shows a week ahead. I know of my own experience, as I stated here last week, I couldn't buy tickets for a performance ten or twelve days ahead. I have one letter from a man who tried to buy tickets two days after the show was posted, after tickets went on sale, and you couldn't buy them unless you went to a certain agency in that district, which agency, I am informed, is likewise under the control of the theatrical owners. Now, it is tough enough to try to get together $3 or $4, which they charge for a regular seat at a regular performance, but when you go up to the window and wait in line for fifteen or twenty minutes, and then you are told they have no seats at any price, but you can go down the street and buy them, I say it is about time that we, here in Boston, took some action. I don't think these people are local men. I don't think they are local theatrical men. They are men from out of town, men, I understand, who have been driven from other cities, and they have come here to Boston and are laughing at the way we conduct things here, because even though the box office says the tickets shall cost $3.30 or $4.40, you can't get one for that price. You have to go up the street to some agent, controlled, my information tells me, by the same theatrical management, and pay the added fee or premium in order to get a ticket. Now, we can stop that. We can even exclude these theatrical agents from selling tickets. We can get rid of these ticket agencies, if need be. But I don't think we have to go that far. We license these theaters, and we can make it a condition of the license that they retain such and such a percentage of the tickets for their own particular selling. People in our city here have to pay premiums for every event or theatrical pageant they give us. Our people are entitled to some consideration, to the same break that they get in every other city of the country. The state law puts the control of the ticket agencies in the Department of Public Safety. I think with a change of administration next year we can remedy that in the State House. At the present time we here can control the theaters. We give them the license. We should see that the license is lived up to in every respect. And I think it should be made part of the license that these men who run these theaters retain a proportion of the fair share of the tickets to be sold at the theaters themselves.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

Adjourned, on motion of Coun. SCANNELL, at 4.44 p. m., to meet on Monday, December 4, 1944, at 2 p. m.

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

Animals Slaughtered.

Cattle, 43,158; calves, 75,675; swine, 27,505; sheep, 3,012; goats, 598.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop.—American City Magazine.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout.—Municipal Review.

$50,000,000 WATER-SUPPLY PROJECT IN CALIFORNIA.

The city of San Jose has entered into contract with the Water Properties Company, Ltd., of San Francisco, to provide the city water from the head waters of the American river in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe. The agreement is for thirty years, during which time the municipality will acquire title to the local distribution system and receive a proportionate share of the production and transmission systems.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

TO PROTECT MINORS.

Buffalo is considering an ordinance, similar to the one in effect in New York City, for the protection of minors in theaters. It permits children, unaccompanied by adults, only in theaters licensed as to adequate sanitary and safety provisions, sets aside a certain section for them and requires the presence of a licensed matron.

No. 51

REPORT OF ELEANOR D. UPHAM, DIRECTOR OF SCHOOL LUNCHES, ON ATTENDANCE AT CONFERENCE OF FOOD SERVICE DIRECTORS, AT CLEVELAND, OHIO, NOVEMBER 17 AND 18, 1944, INCLUSIVE.

The following copy of the report of Eleanor D. Upham, Director of School Lunches, on Conference of Food Service Directors, has been received by the School Committee:

On November 17 and 18, 1944, I attended the conference of Food Service Directors in Cleveland, Ohio, held at the Hotel Statler. The program had been arranged by Miss Edna Gilbert, general chairman, assisted by members of her committee.

Many of the people in attendance at this conference were connected with school feeding projects in different sections of the country, and the speakers and discussions which followed were a real source of inspiration.

I had the opportunity to visit two school cafeterias in the senior and junior high schools, located in Shaker Heights, a suburb of the City of Cleveland. These cafeterias had modern equipment in the kitchens, up-to-date monel metal serving counters, and attractive, well-lighted lunch rooms. The fact that there were trays enough for each student proved their value, as records showed that of an enrollment of over eight hundred students approximately five hundred complete lunches were served each day.

The prices of various food items on the menu were much higher than ours, although the foods were similar to those which we serve. The lunchrooms, therefore, operate at a profit, building up a fund for replacement of worn-out equipment and for other improvements in the lunchrooms. Higher prices are being charged for food items in school lunchrooms in other cities, and this fact is warranted in these days of higher food costs and wages. In view of this fact, I believe that the prices on food items in Boston school cafeterias should be raised slightly, at the beginning of the fall term in 1945, to help offset, in part, the expenses which are being incurred during this reorganization period.

Wages and Hours.

The hourly wage paid employees in lunchrooms figured considerably higher than ours, but they are not appointed from Civil Service lists and do not receive pay for days which they do not work. Student helpers in the lunchrooms are paid in cash, which necessitates their obtaining a working certificate and in some cases permission from parents to do the work.

A practice which is in effect, and one which I have hoped could be established in our schools, is to have all food handlers given a monthly physical check-up by the school physician. The health of pupils eating in the lunchrooms is more safely guarded and the possibility of the spread of certain contagious diseases is reduced.

Another problem which was discussed at some length at this conference was the manner of having an insurance policy covering workers in school lunchrooms for accident or illness incurred during working hours. There were several cases given where a student had claimed injury or sickness from eating food containing foreign matter such as a piece of metal which may have been sealed into a tin can. Another case mentioned was an injury to the hand of a student helper in the lunchroom. In this latter case, suit was brought by the parents and a lengthy court case followed, as neither the school principal nor the Board of Education was willing to accept the responsibility for the accident. Some sort of insurance covering accidents of this kind is recommended for the Boston schools.

The forecast by speakers at the conference of many improvements in post-war equipment and methods of food production would lead one to believe that the problems of operating any mass feeding project would be greatly reduced in the future. One speaker predicted that we would possibly order a complete meal, which had been cooked and frozen, delivered to our establishment ready to heat and serve at mealtime. Another possibility for post-war feeding programs is low-cost fresh orange juice, as well as low-cost milk, vine-ripened fresh fruit and vegetables with much higher nutritive value, made available by air-cargo transportation.

We can look forward to the time when we will be able to obtain equipment and utensils of a type that will improve working procedure in all school feeding projects.

The privilege of attending this conference of Food Service Directors in Cleveland is greatly appreciated.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, November 16, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I respectfully request your approval to the award of a contract, without advertising, to the firm of J. M. McCusker Company, plumbing contractors, 1140 Columbus avenue, Boston, Mass. The work to be done consists of installing at the George T. Angell School, Hunneman street, Roxbury, a main sewerage system consisting of a six-inch cast-iron sewer main, and a six-inch cast-iron surface water drain together with connections to inside plumbing fixtures and outside conductors and catch-basins complete. To do this work in accordance with our specifications will cost approximately $6,000.

The reason for this request is as follows: The present Akron sewer system from this building has collapsed within the school property line because of the settlement due to soil conditions in this area.

The work involved constitutes an extreme emergency and will not permit of delay, therefore I have ordered work started subject to your Honor's approval of this request. A resident inspector has been assigned to this work and a strict account will be kept of all labor and materials used on the job.

I feel that the best interests of the city are being served by the approval of the awarding of this contract.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES J. MAHAR,
Superintendent of Construction.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, November 21, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of September 18 of the current year I wrote to you and requested that you approve the awarding of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, in the total amount of $6,000, to the contracting firm of Appel & O'Toole Company, 78 Moreland street, Roxbury, to replace, regulate and repair Water Division structures in the City Proper, South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown and Roxbury (Water Division) districts.

The amount provided under the provisions of that contract has been expended, but it is absolutely essential to continue this work for the remainder of the current year. The prices for which this contractor is doing the work are exceptionally reasonable, and I know from past experience, that no lower prices could be obtained if publicly advertised bids were requested. Aside from this point, the work of this contractor has been most satisfactory and he is very well qualified to prosecute the work required under the provisions of the contract document.

I respectfully request, therefore, your approval to the awarding of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the firm of Appel & O'Toole Company, 72 Moreland street, Roxbury, to replace, regulate and repair Water Division structures in the City Proper, South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown and Roxbury (Water Division) districts, in the total amount of $3,000, with the understanding that the work will be done at the prices provided for in the current contract and in accordance with the contract specifications of the department applicable to this kind of work.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, November 13, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—This office has been informed by Dr. Edwin N. Place, Physician-in-Chief of the South Department of the Boston City Hospital, that the twenty-two-year-old sterilizer now in use there has developed corrosion defects which make its continued use for essential sterilization of various items—mattresses, blankets, clothing, etc.—extremely inadvisable.

The sterilizer in question was manufactured by the American Sterilizer Company and an informal investigation into the possibilities of securing a replacement discloses that only this company is prepared to make immediate delivery on a sterilizer suitable for the needs of the hospital.

Because of the very evident need for immediate action in this matter and inasmuch as the American Sterilizer Company is the manufacturer and no advantage would be gained through publicly advertising for bids, permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without public advertisement to this company for furnishing the following to the Boston City Hospital:

One 42 by 18 by 96-inch rectangular steam sterilizer, complete with loading car and pressure type formaldehyde ammonia generator and recording thermometer, f. o. b. the hospital yard, $3,242.05.

Respectfully yours,
FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, November 13, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of February 16, 1943, a contract was awarded to E. W. Systrom Company, 15 North Beacon street, Watertown, for furnishing to the Public Works Department seventeen Walsh-Holyoke reversible snowplows, Model W. H. D-1, at a cost of $410 each, less 2 per cent for payment in ten days. The Public Works Commissioner informs this office that these plows have proved satisfactory in every respect and are, in his opinion, the best snowplow for use in Boston.

The Systrom Company has notified this office that it has in stock and can furnish ten more plows of this model at the same price within the next two weeks. In view of the above information, permission is respectfully requested for the award of a contract to the E. W. Systrom Company for furnishing to the Paving Division of the Public Works Department, ten Walsh-Holyoke reversible snowplows, Model W. H. D-1, at a price of $410 each, less 2 per cent for payment in ten days.

As this price was obtained by this department as a result of open competition on publicly advertised bids, I do not feel that any lower price could be obtained at this time and as the E. W. Systrom Company is the direct agent for this equipment, no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,
FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

VII. COMMENDATIONS.

At 5.43 p. m., December 5, 1944, the department responded to an alarm from Box 2329 which was sounded when a twelve-year-old boy fell through the thin ice of Muddy river, about thirty feet from the west bank, at a point opposite 1167 Boylston street.

Upon reaching the scene Hoseman George J. Roy of Engine 33 immediately went to the bank of the river and plunged in, breaking the ice as he advanced toward the boy. He had nearly reached the boy when a ladder was slid out on the ice by the members of Engine 33 and Ladder 15. Hoseman Roy was then able to direct the ladder to the boy who grasped it and both were pulled ashore.

In breaking the ice while trying to reach the boy, Hoseman Roy suffered bruises to both arms and a cut to his right leg.

Because of Hoseman Roy's prompt action and the risk to which he exposed himself in making this rescue, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to commend him highly and his case is referred to the Board of Merit for further consideration.

Military Substitute Joseph A. Lucas of Engine Company 2 is hereby commended for responding to and working at fire, Box 7422, on December 3, 1944, while off duty.

By order of the Fire Commissioner
WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY.

SAMUEL J. POPE,
Chief of Department.

General Order No. 232.

A Board of Merit, consisting of Superintendent Edward W. Fallon, Deputy Superintendents James F. Daley, Thomas S. J. Kavanagh, James J. Hinchey and James T. Sheehan, has brought to the attention of the Police Commissioner the following outstanding cases in which police officers of this department have especially distinguished themselves in the performance of their duty during the year 1944.

The commissioner therefore makes the following awards:

The Walter Scott Medal for Valor for 1944 and a Department Medal of Honor to Patrolman George F. Dyer of Division 16.

Patrolman George F. Dyer of Division 16 is hereby awarded the Walter Scott Medal for Valor and a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious duty performed in the early morning of April 2, 1944.

Patrolman Dyer while patrolling his route discovered a store door unlocked. Disregarding his own safety in entering the premises, he was viciously attacked by a man who had been hiding in the darkness. The officer discharged several shots from his revolver before finally overcoming his resistance and effecting his arrest. The captured man was later identified as a notorious criminal.

Department Medals of Honor.

Patrolman Charles J. McIntyre, formerly of Division 13, now attached to Division 4, is hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed in the early morning of November 9, 1943, in accomplishing the arrest of a culprit, after a battle, whom he discovered in the act of breaking and entering a drug store in the Jamaica Plain district.

Patrolman John L. M. Fournier of Division 7 is hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed on January 2, 1944.

Patrolman Fournier, while on duty and in uniform, in response to a radio alarm that a man was drowning, removed his overcoat and hat and dove into the harbor, disregarding his own safety in an attempt to save a human life.

The presentations of the Walter Scott Medal for Valor and the Department

Medals of Honor to the officers mentioned herein were made by the commissioner at the concert and ball of the Boston Police Relief Association at the Boston Garden on the evening of December 6, 1944.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

THOMAS F. SULLIVAN,
Police Commissioner.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

SEEKS COMMUNITY AID IN ARMY CAMP CITIES.

The army welcomes the aid of civic organizations in helping to protect soldiers from intemperance and vice when they are away from their duty stations.

The War Department is endeavoring in various ways to protect its personnel from temptations while at military posts and camps. Healthful and wholesome entertainment is furnished. Commissioned officers are charged with the responsibility for the men in their commission. Understanding leaders offer them advice and counsel, and medical officers guard their physical well-being. —American City Magazine.

FOOD INSPECTIONS.

Seventeen inspectors were employed in this division of the Boston Health Department in 1942 for the purpose of insuring the food supply of the city. During 1942 the various activities of the Division were as follows:

Inspections in market area, 75,916; inspections of markets, 17,729; inspections in districts outside of market area, 22,769; reinspections, 1,450; inspections of food terminals, 184; inspections of peddlers' vehicles, 13,579; inspections of food stands, 6,987; inspections for victualers' licenses, 932; inspections of bakeries, 1,834; inspections of ice cream plants and stores, 4,193; inspections, special, 798; inspections of retail milk establishments, 4,791; complaints adjusted, 280; nuisances abated, 390.

MILK PLANT INSPECTION SERVICES IN BOSTON FOR THE YEAR 1942.

Total number of services, 170,516; dairies inspected, 126; inspections of country creameries, 1,054; bacteriological examinations at country creameries, 8,931; milk cans inspected, 108,371; milk cans condemned, 6,443; milk temperature tests, 47,804; inspections of licensed dealers, 2,563; inspections of establishments for pasteurization of milk, 1,414; inspections of ice cream plants, 98; investigation of high counts, 149; laboratory inspections, 6; abatement notices served on licensed dealers, 719; dairies excluded because of poor quality milk, 945; dairies readmitted after compliance with requirements, 822.

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

Animals Slaughtered.

Cattle, 43,158; calves, 75,675; swine, 27,505; sheep, 3,012; goats, 598.

Total Weight of Condemned Animals and Parts.

Whole animals, 21,676 pounds; parts of animals, 20,211 pounds; putrid meat, 615 pounds. Total, 42,502 pounds.

A NEW POSITIVE WATER-METER TESTER.

The large majority of waterworks, particularly the smaller ones, seldom have accurate or positive means of testing their meters. Often when a meter is repaired, the man making the repairs simply blows through the meter to see if it runs, when it is again put into service with the assumption that it is accurate. Sometimes meters are hooked up in series with a new meter and water is run through to see if the readings check. This is better than the lung-power method, but still is far from accurate or dependable, in that the test meter may be in error by 2 per cent or even more. Several states have regulations governing water utilities, both municipal and private, and require a positive method of testing water meters in every meter shop. —American City Magazine.

BOND SALES.

Labor, farm, school and women's groups were responsible for 1943's greatest sale of E Bonds.

Using the person to person approach, Payroll Savings added two million workers—bringing its ranks to 26.4 million. Payroll Savings allotments jumped from 355 millions in December, 1942, to 445 millions in October, 1943. Thousands of labor-management War Bond committees were organized.

Farm committees worked intensively through personal solicitation and farmers' organizations to convert a large share of the largest farm income in history into War Bonds.

In the schools, the nation's youngest group of Bond buyers is rapidly enlisting every pupil in America.

MODEL FOR BLACKOUT ORDINANCES.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers has prepared a blackout ordinance, approved by the Office of Civilian Defense; it delegates reasonable administrative powers to the proper executive officer and contemplates both actual air raid conditions and those of practice blackouts. Several state leagues of municipalities have also prepared model ordinances.

The first city to enact a blackout ordinance was Seattle, Washington, early last year. Many others have done so more recently, the ordinances ranging in character from the type that delegates all authority to the mayor or city manager to those providing no delegation of power but outlining completely the rules for civilian conduct during blackouts. In some cases, at least, the city is declared not liable for damage to persons or property resulting from an authorized blackout. —Municipal Review.

LEGAL ACTION RE ROSLINDALE-HYDE PARK "DUST BOWL."

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 4, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Corporation Counsel, relative to your order of September 25, 1944, regarding the taking of necessary legal action to force the owner of the land in the Roslindale-Hyde Park Metropolitan Hill "dust bowl," so called, to do the following in the interest of public health and safety: to erect a suitable restraining safety crash fence, to protect children and adults from danger to life and limb, around the excavation which borders Beech Street extension, near Asheville road, in Hyde Park; to erect a suitable restraining safety fence around the edge of the high cliff bordering Beech Street extension in order to protect children and adults from death or serious injury; to erect a suitable restraining safety fence in the rear of the small homes on Hallron street in Hyde Park where excavations by contractors have gouged out dangerous cliffs which now constitute a menace to the safety of small children and adults alike who live in the immediate vicinity; and to post suitable danger warning signs throughout the area in the interest of public safety.

I have instructed the Building Commissioner to view the site and then to confer with the Corporation Counsel to explore the possibility of bringing a bill in equity, referred to by the Corporation Counsel in his attached opinion.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, November 29, 1944.
Hon. Maurice J. Tobin,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor,—You have referred to me for consideration and report an order of the City Council passed September 25, requesting that you take certain legal action with respect to the so-called Roslindale-Hyde Park Metropolitan Hill "Dust Bowl," to the end of compelling the owner of the land in question to erect fences on certain parts of the said land in order to protect members of the public.

The situation which now exists at the location referred to originated as a result of excavations made in 1942 by the land owner or persons acting under his authority. The purpose of the said excavations, as I understand it, was to secure "fill" which was sold to various persons including the United States Navy Department. In the fall of 1943 it appeared to the Health Commissioner that as a result of the said excavations water had collected and ponded at various places on the land and had produced or was likely to produce a serious mosquito menace. This was called to the attention of the land owner. Subsequently, in a conference between the land owner and the Health Commissioner, in which this department participated, the land owner agreed to take measures to prevent the collection of water on the land. This agreement was not carried out. In the spring of this year, with the coming of warm weather, the danger of a mosquito menace once again became acute. The Health Commissioner served upon the land owner a notice to abate the nuisance in question pursuant to the terms of General Laws, chapter 111, section 121. Such order not being complied with, a complaint against the land owner was brought in the West Roxbury District Court. Upon the land owner's undertaking to commence abatement of the nuisance at once and to prosecute such abatement speedily, the case was continued for one week, and subsequently, in view of the progress being made by the land owner, further continuances were had from time to time. The work done by the land owner consisted in grading and draining the land in question so as to prevent the ponding of water. I am informed by the inspectors of the Health Department in charge of this matter that the said work was, during the course of last summer, completed to their satisfaction although it was delayed from time to time by inability of the land owner to obtain necessary equipment, including bulldozers. The West Roxbury District Court was informed of the completion of the work and at the request of the land owner the complaint was dismissed.

At the present time it appears that there is danger of persons falling into the said excavation, and also I am informed by persons who have inspected the premises that there may be some danger to structures situated near the excavation from possible landslides into the said excavation. In my opinion this condition is not within the jurisdiction of the Health Department, and it appears to me that the Health Department has taken all steps open to it with respect to the said land so far as now appears. So far as I am informed, there is no present danger of damage to public ways as a result of the said excavation and therefore there appears to me to be no basis for proceeding against the land owner on that ground.

After full consideration of the question, it appears to me that the only remaining basis for proceedings by the city against this land owner is to be found in Part 29 of the Boston Building Code, section 2901, which provides in part as follows:

"(a) Until provision for permanent support has been made, excavations shall be properly guarded and protected by the persons causing them to be made so as to prevent such excavation from being dangerous to life or limb. Excavations shall be sheet-piled, braced or shored, and permanent excavations shall be protected by retaining walls or other permanent structures, where necessary, to prevent movement or caving of adjoining soil.

"(c) If the person whose duty it shall be under the provisions of this section to guard and protect an excavation, or to prevent adjoining soil from moving or caving, . . . shall neglect or fail so to do, the commissioner may enter upon the premises, and make safe such excavation, . . . as provided in section 116 of Part 1."

While it may be argued that the word "excavation" in the section just quoted is limited to excavations made for the purpose of constructing a foundation for a building or structure, in my opinion a court may well hold that the meaning of the word is not so limited and therefore may hold that the excavation now in question is a "permanent excavation" within the meaning of the language just quoted.

Such being the case, it seems to me that a bill in equity against the land owner to compel him to comply with section 2901, above quoted, might well be commenced under section 123 (a), with some prospects of success.

Yours very truly,

FRANK J. MURRAY,
Corporation Counsel.

REIMBURSEMENT FOR LEGAL EXPENSES OF LIEUTENANT LINNEY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Lieutenant Frank J. Linney of the Fire Department has requested that he be reimbursed for legal expenses incurred by him, in the amount of $5,000, in his defense, resulting in his acquittal, of charges of willful neglect of his official duties as inspector in the Fire Prevention Division and of charges of being accessory after the fact to manslaughter, as contained in indictments dated December 31, 1942, in the proceedings respectively numbered 5865, 5866, 5867 and 5868 of 1942 on the docket of the Suffolk Superior Court for Criminal Business.

Indictment No. 5865 was tried before a Suffolk County Jury, commencing on October 25, 1943. On November 4, 1943, after presentation of all of the Commonwealth's evidence, the jury found Lieutenant Linney not guilty of all of the counts of that indictment.

On October 20, 1944, the Attorney General, for reasons affecting the merits of the remaining indictments, filed a Nolle Prosequi in each of cases numbered 5866, 5867 and 5868.

It is a fact that Lieutenant Linney has for many years served the City of Boston well and truly as a member of the Boston Fire Department. I believe that the City of Boston has a public interest to be served by the reimbursement of its officers or employees for the expenses incurred by them in the successful defense of criminal prosecutions based upon allegations of criminal conduct in the performance of their official duties.

I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Whereas, Frank J. Linney, Lieutenant in the Boston Fire Department, attached to the Fire Prevention Division thereof, with inspection duties, was on December 31, 1942, indicted under four certain indictments, as follows:

(a) An indictment charging said Linney with willful neglect, omission and refusal to perform his duties as such officer, being No. 5865 of 1942 on the docket of the Suffolk Superior Court for Criminal Business;

(b) An indictment charging said Linney with being an accessory after the fact to manslaughter by one James Welansky, being No. 5866 of 1942 on said docket;

(c) An indictment charging said Linney with being an accessory after the fact to manslaughter by one Barnett Welansky, being No. 5867 of 1942 on said docket; and

(d) An indictment charging said Linney with being an accessory after the fact to manslaughter by one Jacob Goldfine, being No. 5868 of 1942 on said docket; and

Whereas, A full trial upon the merits of said indictment No. 5865 was had before a jury, commencing on October 25, 1943, at which all of the evidence of the Commonwealth was adduced, at the conclusion of which trial the jury returned a verdict that said Linney was not guilty of all the counts of said indictment; and

Whereas, On October 20, 1944, the Attorney General of the Commonwealth filed a Nolle Prosequi in each of said cases Nos. 5866, 5867 and 5868, for reasons going to and affecting the merits of said indictments against said Linney; and

Whereas, Said Frank J. Linney has incurred expenses of five thousand (5,000) dollars for legal services and costs in his defense in the proceedings under said indictments and has requested to be reimbursed therefor; and

Whereas, Said Frank J. Linney has faithfully and impartially performed his duties and trust as Lieutenant in the Fire Department of the City of Boston; and

Whereas, The City of Boston has an interest to be served by such reimbursement and the public good will be benefited thereby; therefore, be it Ordered, That there be and hereby is allowed and there shall be paid to Frank J. Linney, Lieutenant in the Fire Department of the City of Boston, the sum of five thousand dollars as reimbursement for legal expenses incurred by him in his defense, resulting in his acquittal, of charges of willful neglect, omission and refusal to perform his official duties as such officer and of being accessory after the fact to manslaughter, in the proceedings respectively numbered 5865, 5866, 5867, and 5868 of 1942 on the docket of the Suffolk Superior Court for Criminal Business; said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

ROBERT E. CUNIFF,

November 28, 1944.

To the Chairman and Members of the Finance Commission of the City of Boston.

It has become increasingly clear that certain recommendations of the survey staff (1) as to improvements in the public schools of the City of Boston and (2) as to savings in annual expenditures for public education in the City of Boston depend upon the amendment of the laws of the Commonwealth as they relate to public education in Boston.

Education in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, as in all other states of the Union, is a State function. In Massachusetts, as in other states, the Legislature holds all subdivisions of the Commonwealth responsible for the maintenance of schools, and it generally delegates to these subdivisions authority commensurate with their responsibility.

The Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts prescribes for the local school districts of the Commonwealth a broad plan for exercising the authority granted for discharging the responsibilities placed upon them. In general, this plan consists of provision for a lay board, called in Massachusetts the school committee, and for a professional administrator, called the superintendent of schools. In the general law of the Commonwealth, the superintendent of schools is the chief executive officer of the lay board. In Massachusetts, as in most other states, there is special legislation applying to its largest city—in this case, the City of Boston. The plan for administering schools in the City of Boston is the special creation of the Legislature, and this plan can be changed only by the Legislature.

Findings.

The survey staff finds:

1. That the method of electing the members of the School Committee of the City of Boston, at large, at municipal elections, as provided by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has failed for many years to give the City of Boston a satisfactory School Committee.
2. That the Legislature of the State of Massachusetts requires the City of Boston to have a Board of Commissioners of School Buildings, coordinate as to certain powers with the School Committee. In other words, the School Committee must, by law, share its power to determine certain vital policies with another board, the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings. As a result of this division of authority, the school buildings provided for the children and youth of Boston are not suited to the program of education carried on in them, most of them are unsanitary and many of them are unsafe, and neither the School Committee nor the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings can be held directly responsible for these faults.
3. That, in the general law of Massachusetts, the Superintendent of Schools is the chief administrative officer of the School Committee, but that special legislation applying to the City of Boston compels the Superintendent of Schools to share his responsibilities and authority with a Board of Superintendents, a Business Manager, and a Secretary. The Rules of the School Committee require him further to share his responsibilities and authority with a Schoolhouse Custodian and with a number of administrative boards, namely, the Board of Apportionment, the Salary Board, and the Trial Board for Custodians.
4. That the Board of Superintendents is, by State law, an administrative board, coordinate in power with the Superintendent of Schools. Its members are elected directly by the School Committee without the intervention of the Superintendent of Schools. This makes for confusion in administration, as no one person exercises the authority which would permit him to be held responsible by the School Committee.
5. That the Board of Examiners was created by the School Committee, and that the School Committee can abolish it. This leaves the Board of Examiners vulnerable to political pressure.
6. That the School Committee of the City of Boston is, by law, required to adopt a "list of appropriations" by May first for the fiscal year beginning four months earlier. This date falls one third of the way through the year for which the "list of appropriations," so called, is to be adopted. The law permits the School Committee to choose the form in which it presents its "list of appropriations," and practice permits it to delay the adoption of the list frequently until more than half of the year which it is to cover has passed. This means that the Boston school system does not have a budget in the ordinary sense of the term—that financial planning is absent in developing policy, and that financial control is lacking in administration.

7. That prior to the beginning of the war industries boom Boston was losing its ability to pay property taxes, and that the support of schools, as mandated by the Legislature, was becoming too heavy for the City to bear. This process will be resumed after the war.

8. That the Commonwealth of Massachusetts contributes from State funds only from 8 to 9 per cent of the current expenditures of the schools of the City of Boston, whereas the average of state contributions to the support of local schools, country wide, is from 25 to 35 per cent of current expenses. Some states contribute much more.

9. That, if the School Committee of the City of Boston is to discharge the specific responsibilities of a board of education, the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts must provide, by law, the broad outlines of a responsible administrative organization for the school system of the City of Boston.

10. That, if the School Committee of the City of Boston is to discharge its responsibilities as a public board, some way must be found to free its members from the influence of small groups, within the school system and without, who seek only personal advantage, and to make them responsive to the will of a majority of the voters of the City of Boston.

Recommendations.

In the light of these findings, as developed at length in the body of the Report of the survey, the survey staff recommends:

1. That, in order to insure a high degree of individual responsibility on the part of individual members of the School Committee of the City of Boston, the Legislature of the Commonwealth should provide, by law, for the nomination of candidates for the School Committee by an ex-officio board of representative citizens, and their appointment from the list of candidates so nominated by the Mayor of the City of Boston.
2. That, in order to insure consideration for the needs of the City as a whole, the Legislature of the Commonwealth should provide, by law, for a referendum and possible recall, after two years of service, for each member of the School Committee appointed by the Mayor.
3. That, in order to secure efficient and responsible administration of the public schools of the City of Boston, the Legislature of the Commonwealth, by law, should make the Superintendent of Schools the responsible executive of the School Committee in all matters pertaining to the affairs of the Committee, with power to nominate to the Committee for their election his immediate assistants and, through them, all other employees of the Committee.
4. That the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings should be abolished, by law, and that the functions and employees of that Board should be transferred to the jurisdiction of the School Committee under the administration of the Superintendent of Schools and of the Business Manager in his capacity as an assistant superintendent.
5. That the Board of Superintendents should be changed, by law, from an administrative body to an advisory quasi-judicial body, that its membership should be increased by the addition of the Business Manager, in the capacity of an assistant superintendent, and that it should act as a cabinet of advisors to the Superintendent and as a trial board for employees.
6. That the office of Business Manager as an independent executive of the School Committee should be abolished, and the duties of that office and of the administrative offices of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings should be combined under a Business Manager who is, in rank, an assistant superintendent, serving under the administration of the Superintendent of Schools.
7. That the duties of the Secretary of the School Committee, who is now an administrative officer of the Committee, should be changed, by law, so that the Secretary shall be the recording secretary, only, of the Committee.
8. That the Board of Examiners should be established, by law, as a statutory body, that its members should have tenure during satisfactory service, and that vacancies should be filled from special eligibility lists established by examinations as described in the body of the Report of the survey.
9. That the Legislature should require, by law, that the Boston School Committee adopt a budget at least 15 days before the opening of the fiscal year to which it applies. This budget should be in the form indicated by the financial reports required by the United States Office of Education.
10. That the Legislature should create a special commission to determine the proper division of responsibility as between the Commonwealth and the local school districts for the support of public education, to the end that an adequate plan may be developed for the financing of education in all parts of Massachusetts in the post-war period. The Legislature should appropriate for the use of the commission sufficient funds to defray the expenses of the members of the commission and to employ the necessary professional assistance to do the research and technical work needed in developing the plan.

The Legislature of the Commonwealth should provide an adequate plan for the management of the schools of the City of Boston.

After many months of close contact with the Boston public schools, the members of the survey staff emerge with the firm conviction that few school systems in the United States, if any, can claim as large a proportion of teachers, supervisors, and administrators of eminent character, sound learning, and high professional competence. But at the same time the survey staff is obliged regretfully to report that in a tragically large number of instances these qualities are not allowed to count—that the existing mechanism of organization and modes of administration give little assurance that merit will be properly recognized and that ability will bear fruit. This is due in large measure to the present inadequate plan—or lack of plan—for managing public education in the City of Boston. In addition—and what is even more important—this lack of plan results in poor school buildings, too many mediocre schools and services, and in excessive costs. For this condition past Legislatures of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are in a measure responsible, although it must be said that these Legislatures have always acted with the best of intentions to correct manifest evils as they have appeared. It lies in the power of the Legislature to correct the present confused situation. If the next Legislature should accept its responsibility for providing the City of Boston with the minimum essentials of a workable plan for managing its schools, all needed improvements in educational program and in services, as outlined in the body of the Report of this survey, could be made. And what is more, operating expenses for the Boston schools could be reduced by nearly $1,250,000 a year.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. STRAYER,
Director of the Survey.

APPENDIX I.

Savings Recommended in the Report of the Survey of the Boston Schools.

The Report of the survey of the Boston schools shows the possibility of savings in a number of areas. Among the more important of these are the following:

1. By closing 35 buildings not needed to house school children there could be effected on the costs of operation and maintenance of these buildings a savings of $140,000.
2. By reducing the overhead in the departments of maintenance and operation of buildings, which is altogether out of line with any criterion of good administration ($100,000), by requiring custodians to make minor repairs ($50,000), and by the employment of a maintenance crew of carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc., instead of letting by contract many small jobs, the cost of having work done this way being exorbitant ($100,000), a total saving of $250,000.
3. By adjusting the number of teachers to the normal load of 32-33 pupils per class in the elementary schools, 32-33 in academic subjects in the junior and senior high schools, and 20 in vocational classes, involving some reorganization of schools and classes, including the closing of the 35 buildings mentioned above, the saving would be the salaries of 239 teachers or $702,000.
4. By closing the Teachers College, $100,000.
5. By installing machines in the business office to take the place of manual work, $35,000; total, $1,227,000.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. STRAYER,
Director of the Survey.

SOURCE OF SUPPLY OF CERTAIN CIGARETTES.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following: Whereas, Thousands of cartons of cigarettes are given away weekly as prizes by the proprietors of the game known as "Fascination" at Revere Beach; therefore, be it

Resolved, That, in view of the present acute shortage of cigarettes the Office of Price Administration be requested to investigate and ascertain the source of supply; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Office of Price Administration in Boston.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, it was called to my attention last night that a woman from my district was down at Revere Beach last Saturday night and played a game known as "Fascination," which in some respects is taking the place of Beano. She herself won nineteen cartons of cigarettes. She sold back ten of the cartons at $1 each, having no use for them, because she has nobody in the service, having recently lost her brother. For the life of me, I can't understand how the proprietors of these places get away with it. If you know them as well as I do, you will know that they are racket men, and have been for years, of the same type as the fellows running the shooting galleries on Tremont street and in Scollay square. They have been operating illegally and getting away with it because no action has been taken by the Mayor's office or the city censors for operating after hours, which they do. Getting back to the game of Fascination at Revere Beach, we know ourselves it is pretty hard to get a package of cigarettes. I parked my car near City Hall last Friday, and got out and went to six places around City Hall and couldn't get a package of Old Golds in any of the six places. But still these people can give away those cartons each week. And I would like to know how they can do it and, if they do, who has been selling them to give away. I know proprietors in my ward can't get cigarettes for their customers. It seems to me damned funny you can go down and have those cigarettes given away as a prize in that way. I think something should be done about it. Those cigarettes should be taken away from them and either given to the stores to sell to the general public, or shipped to the boys overseas. And, if my information is correct, the boys overseas are not getting them.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

CONSTRUCTION OF SEA WALL, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to draft a bill for presentation to the incoming Legislature providing for the construction of a sea wall in the rear of Neptune road and in the rear of Bennington street, East Boston, similar to the sea wall in Winthrop, to prevent further flooding of cellars in the neighborhood.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, this has been going on for some time now. Every time we have a hurricane or a severe storm the cellars along Bennington street and in the rear of Neptune road have been flooded. Last week we had a storm which didn't seem much of a storm in the rest of the City of Boston but we, being on the Atlantic coast over there, got kind of a severe one,—so severe, in fact, they are still pumping the cellars out along this Neptune road section and along Bennington street. And the same situation has prevailed for years in Winthrop, but they built a sea wall down there four or five years ago at the State's expense, and it has helped bring relief to these people who own homes in that vicinity. I hope that the same thing can be done, and that a sea wall can be constructed in the East Boston area, so that these people won't suffer any damage in the future.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

RECORDS OF RENT AND HOUSING DIVISION, O. P. A.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the proper Federal authorities to determine if it would be possible to obtain for the use of the City of Boston Assessing Department the records of the Rent and Housing Division of the Federal O. P. A.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, one of the greatest sources of inconvenience to every politician is the annual request for tax abatements. And when we go over to the Assessing Department we are confronted with the fact that they don't know very much about the properties throughout the city. I get letters from people who tell me that there are houses that are better than theirs, that contain more rooms, or have a different type of heating, that are assessed much less than their own home, and they can't understand it. And we go in and ask for abatements, and we are confronted with the fact that the record there states that this house contains so many feet of land and that house contains so many feet of land, and the assessment is justified on the basis that each one contains approximately the same amount of land. Now, the Office of Price Administration, despite its many shortcomings, has accomplished something. They have on file down there records that contain practically every item of benefit in each and every piece of property in the city. They tell you how much the rent is; they tell you what is furnished for the rent; you know how many rooms, what kind of heat is in that house, and whether or not they have garages. And if we had those records here in the City Hall, I think the Assessors would be better able to determine the proper assessment for each piece of property. And I think when we go down there, or anybody else goes down, to look up a record it could be determined in an equitable manner whether this piece of property should be assessed lower than the adjacent piece of property. Sooner or later these reports will be destroyed, and I think now is the time to act.

Then if a person is going to buy a house, he could go down to the Assessors' office, he could look up the property, he could find out whether or not the facts held out to him by the seller were true, he could determine whether or not the house he was buying was approximately of the same value as the assessment, or the same value as the house next door. Nowadays, if you want to find out how old a house is, you can't determine that in the Assessors' office. You have to fuddy-duddy around the Building Department, and they will think that you are pretty nosey if you want to find out if that house is older than the house next door. These records, I think, would be of inestimable value to the city. In a couple of years they will be destroyed. I think if we could obtain them now, and put them on file, they would be a benefit to the city and a benefit to the Assessing Department, and a benefit to the property owner and the prospective property owner.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

ACCEPTANCE OF WATERMAN ROAD.

Coun. McCORMACK offered the following:

Ordered, That the Board of Street Commissioners be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to accept and lay out Waterman road in the Rosindale section of Ward 19 as a public highway.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

RESURFACING OF LONSDALE STREET.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be instructed by his Honor the Mayor to resurface Lonsdale street, Ward 16.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

MINIMUM HOURLY PAY FOR CITY AND COUNTY EMPLOYEES.

Coun. FISH and COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the minimum rate of pay to per diem and hourly paid City and County employees shall be set not less than seventy-five (75) cents per hour, and be it further,

Ordered, That Department heads be requested by his Honor the Mayor to provide sufficient funds in their 1945 budgets to cover the cost of same.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, very briefly on that. This is to reach down to those employees of the City of Boston, particularly the Park Department, the Public Works Department, and the Hospital and Institutions Departments, who are receiving just a bare, scant wage. Seventy-five cents per hour would figure, on an eight-hour basis, $6 per day. And I think in these present days of high living that $6 is the minimum that any man should receive for his daily work. I sincerely hope that this order will pass and that immediate action will be taken to provide sufficient funds to have it become effective the first of the year.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

TANKERS DO DOUBLE DUTY.

American shipyards are now making it possible for our tankers to carry extra loads. A scaffold-type extra deck enables a modern tanker to carry a load of extra freight the equivalent of 10 per cent of its normal load capacity. Some tankers now carry, in addition to its load of gasoline, deck loads of ambulances, planes, jeeps and trucks.

BATH HOUSE, SAVIN HILL BEACH.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 11, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Park Commissioner, relative to your order of November 13, 1944, regarding the inclusion in his annual budget of sufficient funds to provide for the erection of a bath house at Savin Hill Beach in Dorchester.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Arthur C. Carey,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir,—I have your memorandum of November 15, with inclosure, order from the City Council requesting sufficient funds to be placed in the annual budget to provide for the erection of a bath house at Savin Hill Beach in Dorchester.

Please be informed this should be a loan; there is no place in the budget for a sum of this kind. Furthermore, nothing can be done until the war is over—we could not obtain the material.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION FOR ELECTION OFFICIALS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 11, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Election Commission, relative to your order of November 13, 1944, regarding the granting of additional compensation to the wardens, clerks, election officer and extra counters who participated in the management of the election polls in Boston on November 7th.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Board of Election Commissioners,
November 28, 1944.

Arthur C. Carey,
Chief Clerk, Office of the Mayor.

Dear Sir,—This is in reply to your communication of recent date with attached City Council order relating to the payment of additional compensation to all election officers employed at the recent State Election.

May we explain that, in cognizance of present conditions, the compensation of wardens, clerks and inspectors was increased by $2 at the time of the State Primaries in July and that of special inspectors (so-called "counters") was increased $1.00 over that paid in the past. (Special inspectors are employed at elections only.) It is difficult to set a fair scale of wages for this election work since the hours of employment vary not only from function to function but even from one precinct to another.

We believe that on analysis our present scale of payments would be found to be fair. In making such an analysis, however, one must bear in mind that essentially the same group of election officers serve year after year. Thus, the warden who received $13.00 for a long and tedious job at the State Election will receive the same amount for a short and comparatively simple task at the Special City Election to be held this spring.

We trust that the foregoing will make it clear why we do not believe it necessary to pay additional compensation to the precinct workers at the recent State Election.

Very truly yours,
BOARD OF ELECTION COMMISSIONERS,
WILLIAM A. MOTLEY, JR., Chairman.

FREE LIFE PASSES ON ELEVATED TO INCAPACITATED VETERANS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 11, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Boston Elevated Railway relative to your order of October 30, 1944, regarding the granting of free life passes to those war veterans who have been so seriously incapacitated by their service in the armed forces that their freedom of locomotion has been seriously impaired.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

Boston Elevated Railway,
November 24, 1944.

Mr. Arthur C. Carey,
Chief Clerk, Office of the Mayor.

Dear Sir,—The Trustees have considered the request contained in order of the City Council, received with your letter of November 14, that the Railway "secure state permission to grant free life passes to those war veterans who have been so seriously incapacitated by their service in the armed forces that their freedom of locomotion has been seriously impaired."

While the Trustees recognize the spirit which prompts the request, they feel that the granting of privileges to veterans free of charge is a matter for general determination by the Government rather than one for decision by an individual transportation company.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD DANA,
President and General Manager.

Yours very truly,

SEWER PIPE IN ORCHARD STREET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 11, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Public Works Commissioner, relative to your order of October 9, 1944, regarding the laying of a sewer pipe in Orchard street, in the Mattapan section of Ward 18, to eliminate the use of cesspools which are a constant health menace.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
November 6, 1944.

Miss Ellen M. Shine,
Acting Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Miss Shine,—This is in reference to the following order that was passed in the City Council: "Ordered, That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested through his Honor the Mayor to lay a sewer pipe in Orchard street, in the Mattapan section of Ward 18, to eliminate the use of cesspools which are a constant health menace."

Upon investigation, I find that there are four houses located on this street, all of which use cesspools. The houses are located, however, at the further end of the street, with the result that it would require the laying of approximately 400 feet of sewer pipe to service them.

We cannot undertake this project at this time, due to the lateness of the season, but I assure you that consideration will be given to effecting the above-desired improvement early next year.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Public Works Commissioner, relative to your order of October 23, 1944, regarding the installation of two street lights on Madison street, in the Clarendon Hills section of Ward 18, in the interest of public safety.

City of Boston,

November 9, 1944.
To Ellen M. Shine, Acting Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.
From George G. Hyland, Commissioner, Public Works Department.

Subject: Street lights on Madison Street.
I return herewith order in City Council that the Commissioner of Public Works install two street lights on Madison street, in the Clarendon Hills section of Ward 18, in the interest of public safety, and this will advise you that this street is a private way.

There are no buildings of any description on the street, and the street line is very vague between Huntington avenue and Bradlee street. In fact, it is heavily wooded and there is no immediate necessity for street lights.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am forwarding herewith an order transferring the sum of $520 from the Reserve Fund to the F-11 Workmen's Compensation item in the Park Department, Cemetery Division budget. This transfer is necessary in order to provide for the payment of compensation to an injured employee in accordance with the settlement made by the compensation agent for the City of Boston.

Consideration and passage of this order is recommended.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

the City Auditor be, and hereby is, authorized to ESTABLISHMENT OF BOARD OF RECREATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, December 11, 1944.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am informed that an order for the acceptance of chapter 451, Acts of 1943, is now pending before your Honorable Body. This is an act for the establishment of a Board of Recreation in the City of Boston.

In my opinion, the creation of such a Board would enable our city government to plan for and provide recreational opportunities not now possible under existing administrative agencies of the city.

Under present conditions, several city departments have a share in the obligation of providing recreational opportunities and facilities. There is not, and has not been any cooperative or coordinated plan by which these various departments might furnish the utmost in recreational opportunities.

It is evident that with proper coordination and direction it will be possible to make far greater use of our existing facilities for recreation. The congested areas in our city, where there is need for additional recreational services and facilities, can be far better served if the duty of providing such services is imposed upon one body rather than upon several departments. It is well recognized that adequate recreational opportunity is one of the best deterrents to juvenile delinquency.

I believe that the adoption of the order now before your Body is a step in the right direction.
I believe the creation of a Board of Recreation will stimulate and coordinate our efforts toward the fullest use of our existing facilities. It is imperative that we do all within our power to encourage both the mental and physical development of the children in our city. I am confident that by the acceptance of this act and by the establishment of a Board of Recreation we will make it possible for many children in our city who have heretofore had little opportunities for recreation to receive the benefits which can be made available to them if all our existing facilities are put to their fullest use.

In view of the fact that the establishment of this Board will be delayed another year unless acted upon by your Honorable Body before December 31st of this year, I most respectfully request prompt consideration of this matter by your Body.

Respectfully,
MAURICE J. TOBIN, Mayor.

The communication was declared referred to the Executive Committee.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I am certainly surprised and amazed that the Mayor would have the audacity to send in such a recommendation as this one before us now. He is heartily in favor of this Board; still, we have passed appropriation after appropriation here for a number of years asking that the Mayor use those funds for recreational facilities throughout the entire twenty-two wards of the City of Boston. Speaking about my own ward, which is in a deplorable and disgraceful condition as far as parks and playgrounds are concerned, I spent a whole morning with the Mayor going around to these parks and playgrounds, pointing out the things that we very much needed;
and at that time he promised me that he was going to take some action. He was going to fix up the Noyes Playground, for one; he was going to give us a playground at Wood Island Park, which was taken by the soldiers, and he approves it being taken by the airport for their enlargement of facilities there. I pointed out small places, and he said he would take care of one known as "Mothers' Rest." I have shown him others in vacant land where all he would have to do is go in, soften up the ground, put up a fence, give us some benches for the mothers, put in sand, a seesaw and swings for the children—they wouldn't ask for any more.
If I am not mistaken, he has $25,000 at his disposal that he has never used for the children of the twenty-two wards of Boston. Of course, I would like to have some of that money spent for my ward, but, if it couldn't be, I would like to see the money spent in some other wards in Boston, so that the children would at least benefit by some of the appropriations that we have been passing here yearly. Now, the Mayor sends an order up.
He is in favor of this Recreational Board. Last year I opposed this for several reasons. One reason was—you can dig it out in the minutes of the meeting—that I would like to know if the Mayor was going to appoint members of this Board from the City of Boston. That is one thing I insisted on,—that they all be Boston men.
If I am not mistaken, we tried to amend it so it would read that the members of this Board to be appointed, or the members that would be appointed, would come from Boston. We never received a reply from the Mayor on that. Now, this is just a case of taking what little power the City of Boston has away from it. The Park Department at the present time is in control of parks and playgrounds. The School Committee is in charge of school yards and whatever playgrounds come under their jurisdiction. I won't say that they have done a good job. I will say, however, that they haven't had the facilities or they haven't had the equipment to do a good job, and the sole blame of that is not on any recreational board; it is right on the Mayor of Boston's shoulders. He is responsible. We have appropriated money here from year to year that the Mayor never saw fit to use for equipment for playgrounds for the entire twenty-two wards of Boston.

And now he has the gall to send up a request today that we pass this order creating a Board of Recreation, and at the same time he never has mentioned in any of the statements that he sent up to us today the fact that he would appoint Boston men. He might appoint one or two, but, for my money, I would say the majority of this Board would not come from Boston. They are the type of people that, in my opinion, would give out beanbag games, or something else, when the kids might want to play football. They probably would want to put concrete in these yards, when the children would rather have dirt for baseball or football. And at the same time this could be flooded in the winter months for skating. I don't think this order should pass. I think the blame belongs on the Mayor's shoulders, and on nobody else, if the City of Boston has not suitable playgrounds. He has been Mayor for seven years, and he now must admit that he is wrong, not only with the Park and School Departments, but in his own office, for not taking suitable steps to make playgrounds for the children of the City of Boston.
Quite a few of us have lost playgrounds because of the army stepping in and taking over. Others have lost playgrounds because of their being given up for war plants or something else. There is one in Charlestown, down on Medford street, loaded with equipment that belongs, I imagine, to the United States government. There are other places throughout the entire city where playgrounds could have been made—honest-to-God playgrounds—if the Mayor had the foresight and the courage to spend the money that we appropriated for him to spend for equipment and for fixing up these playgrounds. I hope, Mr. President, that the order is defeated. I think it should be. It is another case of taking what little remaining power that the Council has away from them, and, as I have said here several times today, after seven long years the Mayor admits he must be wrong when he wants to set up a Board of Recreation to take care of the recreational facilities in the City of Boston. We have a Park Department and a School Department that could work together if the Mayor had got them together any time in the past seven years and asked them to work together.
He could have sent up an order for all the money he wanted, and we would have been glad to give it to him, especially in the last few years, when so much talk is going around about juvenile delinquency—providing places for the children to keep off the streets, places enticing them to go in and play. As I say, in my own ward we don't want anything elaborate. All we want the Mayor to do is fix up the playgrounds that we have, take land that the city owns that is in a disgraceful condition, and in some cases it is dangerous for pedestrians and other traffic that might go by those places. There are two places on Maverick street alone. There are two places in West Roxbury, and there are places in every ward in the entire city. I think, Mr. President, as I stated before, that the bill should be killed for one reason, if for no other. I say that the Mayor has been lax in his duty for the past seven years if he couldn't get the School Committee and the Park Department together, getting them to work together. They could improve these playgrounds.
It would keep the children off the streets. It would cut down juvenile delinquency. And God knows, for the last seven years—for the five years I have been here, anyhow—every year we have passed appropriations for playground equipment and for moneys to be spent on improvement of playgrounds throughout the entire twenty-two wards, and the Mayor has done nothing about the spending of that money.

Chairman DWYER—In answer to the gentleman from Ward 1, the Chair will state that the Chair was probably in error in not explaining fully that this communication should have been placed on file. There is no order before the Council at the present time. This is merely a communication, but, having in mind that maybe an order will come in here later on in the day, the Chair did refer that communication to the Executive Committee for their perusal, if an order does come in later in the day.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—In view of the fact there is the right to appeal under the rules of the City Council when the President refers anything to the Executive Committee, I now appeal from the ruling of the Chair, submitting that to the Executive Committee, and ask that it be placed on file.

Chairman DWYER—We will carry on, please.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I appeal here now, gentlemen.

Chairman DWYER—The gentleman is out of order.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I am not out of order.

Chairman DWYER—The gentleman is out of order.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I don't care if I am out of order, although I know that I am not.

Chairman DWYER—The gentleman is out of order.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I want to go to the City Clerk.

Chairman DWYER—The Chair will inform the gentleman that he has the rules of the Council, and if the gentleman knew the rules of the Council he would know that he is out of order.

Coun. HURLEY—May I ask that the City Clerk give his opinion on this matter now?

Chairman DWYER—The Chair has ruled the gentleman out of order.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Does he rule that gentleman (Coun. Hurley) out of order?

Chairman DWYER—He now rules Councilor Sullivan out of order and asks that he take his seat.

Coun. HURLEY—On the motion made by Councilor Sullivan, would you ask the City Clerk if that motion is in order or not?

Chairman DWYER—I don't need to ask him, Councilor. I know it is not in order, and if you, sir, don't know that it is not in order, why, I am rather surprised. If you want me to help you, I will be glad to help you. When a man appeals from the decision of the Chair and makes a motion, as such, the first cardinal rule is that it is to be seconded. Up to date this motion has not been seconded.

Coun. HURLEY—I second the motion.

Coun. BAYLEY—I arose to second that motion but I was not recognized.

Chairman DWYER—I didn't see you arise, sir, but I do say now it has been moved and seconded that the decision of the Chair has been appealed from, and a vote will be taken. All those voting Yes will sustain the Chair; those voting No are against the decision of the Chair.

Coun. RUSSO—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman DWYER—State your point, Councilor.

Coun. RUSSO—Am I correct in stating that the President has ruled that he was in error when he referred that to the Executive Committee,—what was a communication of His Honor the Mayor—when he should have placed it on file?

Chairman DWYER—That is right Councilor.

Coun. RUSSO—Is there any motion now before the assembly here whereby it is referred to the Executive Committee?

Chairman DWYER—Councilor, the Chair stated that he was in error and that he should have placed it on file, but there was no motion or order before the Council at the time. I have sent it to the Executive, and my decision has been appealed from, and appealed legally, and at the present time, if it will be of any help or benefit to the gentleman who made the motion, the Chair is most happy to have a vote taken at the present time. All those in favor?

Coun. RUSSO—It isn't clear in my mind yet. You stated that you were in error at the time you referred it to the Executive Committee, and then you changed it to place it on file. Is that right?

Chairman DWYER—That is right.

Coun. RUSSO—If it is placed on file, I don't know that there is any motion before the assembly.

Chairman DWYER—There is a motion, moved and seconded, and we will take a vote.

Coun. RUSSO—From the decision of the Chair on placing it on file?

Chairman DWYER—The Chair originally sent it to the Executive Committee, and made a public statement that he was in error in so doing.

Coun. RUSSO—I don't see any reason for appeal.

Chairman DWYER—There has been an appeal made. We will take a vote.

Coun. RUSSO—Will you express to me what is the appeal at the present time?

Chairman DWYER—The idea of the appeal is to have the message of the Mayor placed on file.

Coun. RUSSO—Wasn't that your ruling?

Chairman DWYER—My ruling was originally to send it in to Executive, and then I admitted that I was in error.

Coun. RUSSO—Well, when you changed that, you placed it on file.

Chairman DWYER—If there is a motion before the house, I will be happy to have a vote taken on it.

Coun. TAYLOR—Do I understand that the President has placed that on file?

Chairman DWYER—He has not as yet; he admitted that he was in error when he so referred it to Executive.

Coun. TAYLOR—Do I understand the President has erred and that he now changes his mind?

Chairman DWYER—I would be glad to take the vote and then be glad to make my decision.

Coun. TAYLOR—The vote may not be necessary if you admit you have erred. You now say your decision is to place it on file?

Chairman DWYER—I made the admission before the motion was made.

Coun. TAYLOR—I don't understand what the reason for the admission is, if you don't act on your admission.

Chairman DWYER—I publicly admitted I had made a mistake before the motion was made, and before the spectacle that was created in this Chamber had occurred.

Coun. TAYLOR—A point of information?

Chairman DWYER—The Chair will rule that he made a mistake and will be glad to place the matter on file. There is a motion made and seconded before the Council.

Coun. COFFEY—Point of information?

Chairman DWYER—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—Have you the power to send this message from the Mayor to Executive?

Chairman DWYER—Well, no.

Coun. COFFEY—May I ask for a ruling from the Corporation Counsel?

Chairman DWYER—It is a communication from His Honor the Mayor with no order attached.

Coun. COFFEY—I was wondering if you did have power to send it to Executive. May I have a ruling from the Corporation Counsel as to whether that can be sent to Executive on your decision?

Chairman DWYER—If you care to have that from the Corporation Counsel, you can file an order, as such, as far as my interpretation of the rules goes. The Chair was in error when he referred the matter to the Executive Committee, and he should have placed it on file, where no order is attached to it.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, I withdraw my motion in view of the fact that the matter will be placed on file.

Coun. BAYLEY—I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

Coun. COFFEY—I doubt if the message should be placed on file. I make a motion now to ask the Corporation Counsel to give us a decision whether or not you have the power to send this message to Executive.

Chairman DWYER—You may put that in the form of an order.

Coun. COFFEY—I put it in the form of a motion. I make a motion verbally.

Chairman DWYER—Councilor Coffey moves that the Corporation Counsel be consulted and an opinion be obtained from him as to whether or not the Chair has a right to refer that matter to the Executive Committee. All those in favor say aye. (Response.) Those opposed, no. (Response.) It is not a vote.

Coun. RUSSO—I would like to amend the order, if I may, and ask if the City Clerk may be able to give us a ruling at the present time.

Chairman DWYER—The City Clerk, Mr. Councilor, should have been consulted at an earlier date in the matter. The Council has just voted no on the matter. There is no doubt of the vote, so that is the way it stands.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, Johnny Hynes is not going to run this Council Chamber.

Chairman DWYER—The Councilor will be in order.

Coun. COFFEY—Just because they are trying to make you a scapegoat—

Chairman DWYER—The Councilor will be in order.

Coun. COFFEY—I will take this floor every time I want to take it, and I am not going to have Johnny Hynes telling us what to do.

Chairman DWYER—The Councilor will be in order.

Coun. COFFEY—I will keep talking, too. They are getting away with too much down here, running out to the telephone, running downstairs and telling what is going on, and some Councilors call up and say, "What will I do on this, Mr. Mayor?" What are you sent up here for, if not to represent the entire City, not the Mayor? Hereafter when anyone tries to take the play away from me, I will hold the floor if I have to hold it with my fists or any other way. I am still not satisfied with the last order. I want to know from the City Clerk whether you have the power to send the message from his Honor the Mayor to the Executive Chamber.

Chairman DWYER—I don't think it is necessary that the City Clerk give an opinion. The Chair will rule he cannot give an opinion.

Coun. COFFEY—Then he will give no opinions on anything in the future. The Chair has made that ruling. No matter who is in the chair, that goes.

The message of the Mayor was placed on file.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PARKMAN FUND.

Coun. DWYER, for the Committee on Parkman Fund, submitted the following:

Report on message of Mayor and order (referred November 27) for appropriation of $23,000 from income of Parkman Fund to be expended on maintenance and improvement of Common and parks in existence on January 12, 1887—that same ought to pass.

Coun. COFFEY—Will you give us some information on this order—what the moneys are to be spent for?

Chairman DWYER—The Clerk will read the entire order and the communication also to the Council.

(The order and communication are read by the Clerk.)

Chairman DWYER—For the benefit of the Councilor from Ward 1, the Chair will state that on last Friday afternoon the secretary of the Park Department called here and stated that the department was sorely in need of funds for the A-1 Personal Item, and that unless they received this money this week from the Council they would be unable to meet the pay roll next week, and it was too late to send out notices for a meeting. But the Chair did contact three members of the committee, and a committee meeting of four was held, and, while the committee felt that they should at the last of the year, when the last money was sent to them, make a report to state that they believed this money should be spent in another way, in view of what the secretary had communicated to the Chair, they decided they would report this order out at this time. Today I contacted the fifth member of the committee, and he also voted in favor of it, knowing the facts of the committee meeting.

The clerk will call the roll and the councilors will answer in the usual manner.

The roll was called, and the order was passed, yeas 17, nays 0.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, Shannon, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—17.

Nays—0.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ORDINANCES.

Coun. RUSSO, for the Committee on Ordinances, submitted the following:

Report on ordinance (referred Oct. 23) concerning displaying of flags—that same ought to pass.

Report on ordinance (referred Oct. 23) concerning flagpoles and flags—that same ought to pass.

Both reports accepted and ordinances passed.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

Coun. BAYLEY, for the Committee on Parks and Playgrounds, submitted the following:

Report on order (referred May 15) accepting chapter 451 of Acts of 1943 establishing Board of Recreation in City of Boston—that same ought to pass.

The report was accepted, and the question came on the passage of the order.

Chairman DWYER—Do you care to make any statement on that?

Coun. BAYLEY—I hope that this order will be passed today. The committee has had this for nearly six months, and gone into it exhaustively. I move its passage.

Chairman DWYER—The Chair calls Councilor Hannon to take the chair while I take the floor on this order.

Coun. HANNON in the chair.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I had the privilege and the pleasure of attending a meeting on Parks and Playgrounds the other day. While I am not a member of the committee, I attended the entire session that the committee held, and, if my memory serves me correctly, Mr. President, I believe that that committee said that they would refer this matter to the Executive Committee and have several people invited before the Executive Committee. And, Mr. President, if it is going to be referred to the Executive Committee before it is going to be voted upon, I will reserve my statements until I get into Executive. If it is not, I will tell my story here.

Chairman HANNON—The question comes on the acceptance of the report recommended by the committee.

Coun. FISH—I move that this order be referred to Executive.

The motion to refer the order to Executive was lost.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, speaking on the order. Some weeks ago—

Coun. TAYLOR—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

Chairman HANNON—State your point of order. Coun. TAYLOR—I don't know whether or not the matter has been put to the Body, as to whether or not we accepted the report of the committee.

Chairman HANNON—The question now is on accepting the report, as the committee has made a favorable report. The question now comes on rejecting or debating the order as recommended by the committee.

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman HANNON—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—Could you tell me how many of the committee voted in favor of this, and if there are any that voted in the negative? Will the chairman of that committee answer that question?

Chairman HANNON—Councilor Bayley?

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. President, at the meeting held on Friday the vote at that time, with a quorum of three, was two in favor. Since that time I have polled the committee, and the committee now stands four to one in favor of the passage of that order. Do you wish the name of that member?

Coun. COFFEY—Could I have that information, please—who voted in favor?

Chairman HANNON—If the committee wishes to give that information to the Chair, the Chair will relay it to the Councilor from Ward 1. Councilor Bayley, do you wish to state the name of the member of the committee who was opposed?

Coun. BAYLEY—I wish to know if the dissenting member has any objection.

Chairman HANNON—The Chair will pass the matter by, and give you an opportunity to interview the member to see if he has any objection. Is that satisfactory, Councilor Coffey?

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President,—

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, will the gentleman yield?

Coun. DWYER—I will yield for a question.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. Chairman, I wish to inform the chairman of the committee, through you, sir, that there is no objection on the part of the dissenting member to stating his name to Councilor Coffey, through you, sir.

Chairman HANNON—Does the gentleman wish to inform the President?

Coun. BAYLEY—I do.

Chairman HANNON—Who is the dissenting member?

Coun. BAYLEY—Councilor Bayley and McCormack were in favor; Councilor Feeney was against. And since that time, in a poll, Councilor Russo and Hannon have voted in the affirmative.

Chairman HANNON—Is that satisfactory, Councilor Coffey?

Coun. COFFEY—Yes.

Coun. DWYER—Some weeks ago—in fact, some months ago—the Committee on Parks and Playgrounds held a meeting on this particular order. I attended that meeting. While not a member, I brought a message to that committee from one of the public officials of the city of Boston, one Joseph B. McKenney, director of physical education for the City of Boston, and Mr. McKenney asked me, or requested me, to ask the Chair or the chairman of that committee to allow him to appear before the committee and state his views on this matter before it was brought into the Council. At that time the chairman of the committee took the stand that they had heard Mr. McKenney once and they knew how he felt. And my answer was, "When you heard Mr. McKenney, you heard him as the assistant director and as the man who was not in charge of the department." And I said, "In fairness to a man of Mr. McKenney's type, a Bostonian, a credit to our city, and the head of the physical education department in the schools of Boston, it is only fair that the committee of the City Council hear Joseph B. McKenney before they report the matter out." And as a result of my plea they voted at that time to hold another meeting on the Friday following election day. Election day, I believe, was November 7th, Tuesday. So the meeting was scheduled to be some time around the 10th or the 11th of November, and they were going to notify Mr. McKenney in plenty of time so that he could be heard on this matter, and notify anybody else who was opposed to it or who was with it. Well, the meeting was never held on the Friday after election, and I ran into Mr. McKenney, not once but several times, and Mr. McKenney called it to my attention that he didn't receive a notification on the Friday following the election, to be heard by this committee. I said, "I found out that the committee held no meeting, but you will be notified." One day last week I was walking down Beacon street. Mr. McKenney was on his way to the offices in the School Committee, in his automobile, and he stopped and called me over to his car, and told me he still had not heard from the committee, and he still would like to appear before it. So I informed this committee at their meeting Friday, and the committee voted on Friday, around 3 o'clock in the afternoon, to notify Mr. McKenney to be here today, because previously the committee had voted to send this matter into the Executive Committee today. "Let it go into Executive," they said, "and everybody can be heard—those in favor and those against—and the whole Council will know what is going on here. Some of these members that are new in the Council don't know this bill. This is the first time it has come before them, while some who have been here before know it and know the whole story on it." So, Mr. President, I was very much surprised, sir, when a member of this Council came to me today and said that Mr. McKenney did not want to appear. I said, "Is that so?" He said, "Yes." I said, "How do you know that?" He said, "Councilor Bayley told me." Well, I rushed to the telephone, and I called up Mr. McKenney's office. He wasn't there, but I did get his secretary, and Mr. McKenney's secretary said that the letter notifying him to appear before the committee got to his office this morning, that Mr. McKenney was not in his office, and that she read it to him over the telephone, and that Mr. McKenney had a previous engagement at two o'clock today, that had been made some months ago. So I say, if the Council gives notices on a matter that has been before it for a whole year, and gives a man a few hours' notice to appear before it, it is high time they changed their actions, and especially that committee. And I said to the Councilor who informed me, "You call up Mr. McKenney if you wish and get his secretary, and find out if those are the facts." And the Councilor called up. And then I found out later, in talking with the chairman of the committee, Councilor Bayley, that he never talked with Mr. McKenney, but that Mr. McKenney called up when he got the notice and talked with another Councilor and said he would be unable to be here today. I say, Mr. President, in fairness to a man of the type of Joe McKenney, we ought to hear him. And I hope when there is a meeting of a committee of this Council and they agree they are going to bring it into Executive and allow everybody to be heard one way or the other, that the members of that committee in fairness, whether they are for it or not, will stand up and let it go to Executive. And there are members in the Council here today that are on that committee and they know whether or not it is to go to Executive. I hope it goes to Executive, and we can discuss it a little more.

Chairman HANNON—The question comes on the adoption or rejection of the order.

Coun. BAYLEY—Mr. Chairman, as chairman of the committee, I would like to inform the Councilor that Mr. McKenney was invited to appear before the first meeting of our committee, and Mr. McKenney came down for over an hour and talked over this bill in its entirety. He expressed his opinion. He already had expressed his opinion in December of last year, which is in that book. Since that time he never has notified me he wished to be heard again. The Councilor from Ward 21 said he did wish to be heard again, although I was unable to get any confirmation of that fact. At that time it was agreed if he could come down here Monday we would be willing to hear anything he cared to say at that time. The meeting was held Friday, and a letter was sent that night, which I believe would be dispatched Saturday. Due to the fact that the city officials are not here Saturday, it may have been delayed. There is very little time for it to become effective. It must be passed this year. Christmas comes on Monday, and there will be no meeting at that time. We have asked everyone before the committee at some time during the year if they were for or against it, and we have given them ample time to express themselves. Lest there be any question, I wrote the School Committee a letter asking them to state their opinion, whether they were for or against this bill. A meeting was held, and I will read a communication from the Secretary of the School Committee:

"The School Committee of the City of Boston, June 14, 1944.

Mr. James C. Bayley, Jr.,
City Councilor.

Dear Mr. Bayley,—At a conference of the School Committee held on June 9, 1944, I presented your communication of June 8, relative to chapter 451 of the Acts of 1943—"An Act Establishing a Board of Recreation in the City of Boston, and Setting Forth its Powers and Duties."

After discussion of the Act, the members of the Committee directed me to inform you that they saw no objection to its acceptance by the City Council.

Very truly yours,

LOUISE KANE,
Secretary."

Coun. CAREY—When this matter was first presented to the City Council several months ago, I was very vigorous in my opposition, and I intend to remain the same way. I notice this matter first came before the Council during the month of May, and I never saw legislation passed by anybody, any legislative body, that used the word "may" and, purposely, I believe, avoided the word "shall," so many times as did this particular bill. It was the cutest and the most cunning way of foisting any legislation on a municipality, or attempting to foist it on, rather, that I have ever seen. May I ask the members of the City Council, mature-minded men, even though this matter has presumably been before the Body since last May, to take their time and not record themselves hastily? Boston as a city was not set up yesterday, last week, or last year. And even if the City Council were to take ten years before finally passing on a measure of this kind, I think the Council would be showing wisdom. There is no better place to provide recreation, and I believe it was the intent of those who first had this idea of setting up this recreation board to provide this recreation for the younger element. The only place for the younger element of Boston, or any other community, to be at night is in the home. Why do we need a recreation board? We have had a recreation department connected with the Boston Park Department for years. Time and time again, recognizing that the proper facilities have not been placed at the disposal of the younger element, or even the more mature element of this city, I have asked here, as a member of the City Council, that sufficient money be provided to properly equip playgrounds throughout the city. I don't know myself what use school buildings or any other buildings should or could be put to during the day, excepting on a rainy day, for recreational purposes, because, God knows, the best place for one to obtain the best in recreation is out of doors. There have been both public and private schemes of recreation offered up to the present time, and whether or not a recreation board is set up in the City of Boston, you are always going to find certain organizations endeavoring to promote their own original recreational facilities. Why haven't the playgrounds of the City of Boston been properly equipped? Why hasn't sufficient money been made available? I come from a rather congested district of the city. I have had to go to Roxbury Court, to the juvenile session of that court, week in and week out, at the request of a father or mother of some young boy or girl who was in trouble, and I have asked that boy or girl, "Why weren't you on the playground when you got yourself into this trouble?" And on more than one occasion the answer has been given to me by that boy or girl, "Why wasn't I out there?" "On the playgrounds" was my question. And that boy or girl has said to me, "Where are those playgrounds? You don't mean to tell me that Mission Playground or Parker Hill Playground or Jefferson Playground, so called, are playgrounds, do you? What is there there for me to use in order to enjoy myself? I can't even play baseball on those playgrounds, because if we hit a foul ball it goes through somebody's window and the cop is brought over, and we are driven off the playground." Mr. President, time and time again I have had young boys and girls in my district tell me that, yes, they would have been out on the playground if there was any equipment there with which they could find the recreation so necessary to work off the energy that they found it necessary to work off. I am for the very best that Boston can provide in the way of recreational facilities, but nothing has been shown to me so far that is going to convince me, or that has convinced me, rather, that any new recreation board will do anything to further the recreational facilities of this city that the present setup would not have and could not have done if proper money had been made available for our part and recreation department. I remember very well a few months ago a great deal of time was spent in arguing as to whether or not the City Council should provide a curfew in the City of Boston. The purpose of that curfew was to get the younger element off the streets of the city by nine o'clock at night. And yet we have sponsors of this recreation board who, by the very purpose of that board, are going to try to drain those children out of their homes at night—attract them to the street when they should be home at night, under the guidance of those parents to whom they are responsible and who, in turn, are responsible for the proper safeguarding of those children. After all, the school day ends in the vicinity of three o'clock in the afternoon. Some time is necessary at night for children to prepare studies at home. Those who sponsor this recreation board want to, on the one hand, provide some recreation during the hours when those children should be home studying, in that way interfering with their scholastic necessities, for the sole purpose of bluffing and setting up some recreational scheme in order that they, the sponsors, or those pressure groups who seem to be so heartily in favor of this bill, may use it as a means of providing a job for themselves. We have now suitable recreation grounds, and proper use of those grounds has never been made, because proper money was never made available to equip those grounds, those playgrounds, so called, in order that they might be properly utilized by the younger element. Time and time again I have said on the floor of this Council that if the money that was used to defray the expenses of a juvenile court was put to the use of providing proper recreation facilities we soon would not need any juvenile court, I believe. I don't like to use snap judgment in deciding any matter. We all must use common sense; we all should try to be fair. But I say, Mr. President, that we have not been fair with ourselves, with the children of the city, or with those attaches of the Park Department who have been trying to do the best they could do, when we have failed to provide the necessary money to properly equip the playgrounds of the city that we now have. We hear more today about juvenile delinquency than we ever heard before. We didn't hear it years ago to the extent that it is heard today. And why not? Because the youngsters of the city, whether it was Boston or whatever community, were home at night where they should be. Every possible means in the form of pressure has been used on this City Council in order to approve the setting up of this recreational board, and I well remember a few weeks ago, when I was a candidate for higher office, that a certain group met in this city—and the members of this Council know the group I have in mind, because each of them received the resolution adopted, or the preamble adopted, by that group—and that group viciously condemned me and the members of the City Council because a marine had been murdered up in the Back Bay by four or five young men. And this particular group said that, if the City Council had approved a new recreational board for the city, that murder never would have been committed. There have been other murders committed since that marine was murdered. There have been murders committed by adults. I wonder, if this recreational board had been functioning, whether those adults would have been using these new found recreational means at the time that they committed the murder. Such nonsense! If those five young men had been home the night of that murder, the night that that murder was committed, it would not have been committed, and the opportunities would not have been before them. One of these boys said—rather the parents of one of those boys said—"Why, I thought my boy was at"—mentioning a certain recreational organization that has been going on in Boston for years, "I thought my boy was down there tonight. I thought he had been down there last night and the night before. He told me that was where he was nights." What are we going to do? Instead of making excuses for these young boys, and girls as well, to get out of their homes at night and onto the streets, by refusing to approve a recreation board that, as I see it, is going to do nothing else but provide more means of boys and girls having excuses to get out of their homes at night, are we going to be a part of the committing of murders in the city, or are we going to use a little bit of common sense? It has always been believed that sufficient time should be afforded these youngsters between the time they leave school in the afternoon and the time that they must seek their study period at night for the use of these playgrounds, if properly equipped. And, as a matter of fact, it would deny them any excuse whatsoever for wanting to leave their homes at night. Or, are we going to do our little bit here and break up more homes and more hearts by affording more excuses for that younger element to leave their homes at night? Let us be not too hasty in acting upon this recreation board today. It has taken several months for this committee to bring back a report. That in itself ought to indicate sufficiently to the members of this Body that, if it was such a splendid idea, the committee would not have found it necessary to delay this length of time. But there has been great doubt in the minds of the members of the City Council as to whether or not it would be a good idea to approve the setting up of a new recreation board in the city. There is not a member of this Council that can tell the taxpayers of the city at this moment what the expense is going to be for operating this new recreation board. Those who are interested in the idea might tell us it is not going to cost us a great deal of money. We have not been given facts and figures. Aren't we going to retain home rule in the City of Boston? I think the time has come when we should make every effort to bring back to Boston, to keep within the City of Boston, its own right to make its own decisions. Section 1 of this Act provides for a board of seven members, four of whom are to be appointed by the Mayor, two by the School Committee, with the chairman of the Park Commissioners serving ex officio. As was said by one member of the Council today, no provision whatsoever has been made that any of the members of this board shall be residents of the city of Boston. Section 3 of the Act empowers the Board to superintend all recreation, but no set salary has been designated so far. At the present time we have a director of recreation in the Park Department. Why is there any necessity to change his title if he is to be given that new job as superintendent? Section 3A provides "The incumbent on the effective date of this act of the office of director of recreation of the park department of said city may be transferred to the office of superintendent of recreation established by section three." It doesn't definitely say that he shall be transferred from director of recreation of the Park Department to superintendent of recreation in this new setup. Let us be fair. Let us not be too hasty. Let us give, first, to those who have worked hard to provide some kind of recreation facilities in the city the proper money with which to operate to equip these playgrounds with whatever these youngsters need, and then, if it is felt we can, at that time talk about a new recreation board. But in the meantime let us do nothing to attract from those homes in the evening hours those young boys and girls who should be home.

Chairman HANNON—The question comes on the adoption of the order recommended by the committee.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, when this committee held a meeting last week I voted in opposition to this bill. I was the sole member of the committee present who opposed it. And I said at the time that for the time being I would vote against it, until I learned more about it. And at that meeting, sir, we talked about an executive meeting today, at which time Mr. McKenney and others, whoever might care to come before the committee, would appear and enlighten us as to their points of view. I wanted to hear Mr. McKenney because I know that in his present capacity as director he controls the recreation of thousands and thousands of our Boston youth. And I, sir, as one member of that committee, certainly wanted to hear from an authority on recreation, such as he, before I fully made up my mind whether I was going to be with this bill or against it. This bill—the general thought of this bill—has a great deal of merit in a sense. I am not entirely against doing something about our recreation problem in Boston. I know that we have one. But there are certain aspects about this bill which cause me at this time to be less confident, perhaps, than some of the other members of your Council, sir. And I thought at that hearing, when we agreed upon going into executive session today, that perhaps I could have been convinced, because I have an open mind. When people came to me and asked me to consider this further, I said I would consider it further, and, honestly, I have kept an open mind on this bill. And so at this point, in view of the fact that it was agreed upon that we would meet in executive session on this bill, and in view of the fact it was agreed upon that certain people who were interested in this bill would appear before us and enlighten us as a committee, I would like to ask through you, sir, at this time if the chairman of the committee—in view of the agreement, the prior agreement of the members of the committee to meet in executive session—would have any objection at this time if this bill were laid on the table until next week, which would give us plenty of time to act on the bill. Would he object to laying this bill, I repeat once more, on the table so that next week those interested parties will have sufficient time to make their plans accordingly to appear before the Executive Committee? I make this request because, as a new member of this Council body, I have never sat in a public hearing involving this bill. Now, you may yet not know the reaction of the different people interested in this city unless we have a public hearing, at which time all of the various factions of this city could come before us and give us their point of view. What took place a year ago is no concern of mine. I was not here; I don't know what they were thinking of, notwithstanding the fact that there is a report available of the proceedings of the committee here a year ago. Why, it is fantastic to discuss a bill here where we have never held a public hearing. You would not think of doing that in any other legislative body, notwithstanding the fact that a bill might perhaps be brought in five or six consecutive years. The appointed committee should have an opportunity to hear from the people of this city. And so, sir, I ask you to convey that question to the chairman, and I now pause for an answer.

Chairman HANNON—The councilor from Ward 18 wishes to ask the chairman of the committee if the chairman has any objection to the placing of this matter on the table until the next meeting, in order that the parties may be heard in the interim.

Coun. BAYLEY—Inasmuch as the next meeting may be the final meeting of the year, and inasmuch as the bill failed partly to pass last year because it was kept until the last meeting, I do object, and ask for its passage here today. I also bring to the attention of the—Chairman HANNON—That is all. Does that answer your question sufficiently?

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I regret to say it is quite final. Speaking on the bill, I regret that I must give my impressions at this time. I had hoped to be better informed through a public hearing, but, if there is not going to be an executive hearing, as there was agreed upon by the committee, then there is nothing I can do to force it. But I do want to say a few words to the members of this honorable body. Remember this, Mr. President and members of the Boston City Council, that when you act on this today, if you act favorably, it is the last day you will ever act on recreation matters in this city. Regardless of how loosely drawn this bill is, you are all through with it. Your day is gone. From then on this law will be amended—not by permissive legislation, necessarily—but by mandatory acts of the Legislature, by people who represent not Boston particularly, but represent every city, town and hamlet in this Commonwealth. I don't care who is asking for this bill—yes, demanding it. I don't care what their purpose is. The time hasn't come for final action by this Body because we don't know what is going to happen when it leaves this chamber. I don't want recreation in this city handled by men from Maine, New Hampshire or Vermont. And that will can happen. There is no provision in this act to appoint Boston people. I have talked to those who have come to me asking me to keep an open mind, and I pointed that out to them, and they have been shocked to learn that there is no provision in this act to appoint Boston people to care for Boston children. This is sickening, to give away that which belongs to us—we, the elected representatives of the people of Boston, throw our children into the hands of outsiders. I am not entirely in disagreement with those who want to do something about recreation. I know that there is a lot to be desired. But is this the time? Is this the time? Two members shall be appointed by the School Committee; four suitable persons—suitable persons—shall be appointed by the Mayor of said city, in accordance with chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, as amended—the city charter. Whom is he going to appoint? We don't know. We know that he is honorable in every sense, but that has nothing to do with the appointment of Boston men, notwithstanding how many of the members of this Council might stand up and debate in favor of this bill, motivated as they are by the communication that is before this Council today. This is whether or not we, as City Councilors of Boston, are going to give up forever one of our vital functions, that of control over the youth and the children and the recreation of this city. I believe that we as a City Council have sufficient authority in the city charter to act without legislation such as this coming down to us, loosely drawn as it is. If they meant for Boston people to govern Boston children, why didn't they say so? The Mayor of this city and the City Council have the authority in the Acts of 1909 to set up a recreation board of their own and we can amend the action ourselves, whenever and however we wish, to conform to present day needs and the future needs of the youth of this city. Sirs, I once more reiterate, this is the last day—this is the last day—to act. If you pass this bill, you lose control of that which the people gave to you. If you throw away that authority, that is your responsibility. If this recreation bill, loosely drawn as it is, results in the appointment of outsiders, that is your responsibility. Mr. President, I hope that the members of your Council will act intelligently on this matter, consider it and think that it is an encroachment upon their rights and their function, consider the fact that they have the power and the authority to set up such a board, and, in view of those facts, that they today reject this bill and then proceed to take whatever steps they, as a Council, deem necessary to set up a recreation committee of their own in this city.

Coun. TAYLOR—Mr. Chairman, I very seldom rise to differ with the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) because on every occasion he has spoken on the floor there has always been logic and reason to his argument, and we have certainly to give a lot of respect to what he says on each occasion. But on this particular bill it is too bad that he has not been informed by those who came here on the last occasion to say something on behalf of the bill, because I firmly believe that undoubtedly he would have been convinced by the merits of this particular bill. While it may be loosely drawn as he so states, by reason of the fact it does not specifically say that Boston men should be appointed, I for one, firmly believe in home rule. I firmly believe that the people of Boston are big enough and intelligent enough to handle the problems of this city, and they are big enough and intelligent enough to handle the recreational problem. But I can't for the life of me stretch my imagination that far, as to think that elected officials of the City of Boston, such as the Mayor and the members of the School Committee, will dare attempt to appoint as members of this board, persons, particularly the majority, who are not familiar with our local problems in so far as recreation is concerned. They are elected officials. They differ from appointed officials. They must come to the people when they want to be re-elected again, and certainly if they are smart and wise politicians they are not going to allow themselves to have these things thrown at them when they seek re-election. I have every confidence in the world that, whoever the new Mayor may be, he will appoint Boston men or women, because it would be to his political disadvantage to do otherwise. And I believe that the members of the School Committee will do the same. The only problem that concerns me is whether or not the passage of this bill and the adoption of it by the City Council is going to benefit the people, particularly the children, of the City of Boston. That is the big problem. I have heard various members of this Council get on their feet and complain as to the present recreational facilities. They don't seem to suit the great majority of the members of the Council, myself included.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President.

Chairman HANNON—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. COFFEY—Will the gentleman yield for a question?

Chairman HANNON—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. TAYLOR—I will yield.

Coun. COFFEY—I would like to ask the gentleman, through you, in view of the fact that he made a statement that he doesn't know whom the new Mayor is going to appoint, if he has any advance information that the present Mayor is not going to make these appointments?

Coun. TAYLOR—In answer to the gentleman's question, I wasn't even thinking about the present Mayor appointing, but, now he brings it to my attention, he probably will have the right to appoint, and I have every confidence in the world to believe that if the present Mayor appoints them he will appoint men or women from the City of Boston. At least, I am confident he will appoint people who will have the interest of the City of Boston at heart. And, as I was saying, the only thing that concerns me is as to whether or not this new bill, if adopted, will better recreational conditions in the City of Boston. Many—most of us—are dissatisfied with the present conditions. I have been a member of the Council for seven years. Many of us have been members for a longer period of time. And I don't know whether or not they are satisfied with what improvements we have. I am not particularly satisfied. As far as the powers of the City Council are concerned, what powers have we in so far as changing the conditions of recreation are concerned, conditions in the City of Boston? The Councilor from Ward 18 says we will have nothing further to say about it. He says we will lose all our rights pertaining to it. Well, if we lose whatever rights we have now, we haven't lost anything. The only power that we have is to either offer an order or a resolution seeking improvements of the present recreational conditions. If they are adopted by the Park Commission or the Mayor, we will have them; if they are not adopted, we won't have them. Some duties will devolve upon us in the new system if they are adopted. We can get up on this floor and can offer orders. If they see fit to adopt them, we will do something; if they don't, we will still have the same amount of power. They are taking nothing away from us because we have nothing now. I say this, if the members of the City Council feel that the present recreational system is inadequate, and we have a bill which must have been studied and thought out by men who understand recreation—if they feel, with those who have sponsored this bill, that by the adoption of the bill we are going to have better recreation facilities—I don't think we could have much worse. I say we are giving up nothing. We are sacrificing something, but we may obtain something that will bring a solution of the recreational problem. That is the reason that I am going to vote in favor of this bill.

Coun. FISH—Mr. Chairman, I believe that anybody who has condemned the conditions of the playgrounds has not condemned them because of the qualifications or the ability of those presently in charge, but rather because of the lack of funds. I have been in this Body for seven years, and I have never heard a more sincere plea than I heard just a few moments ago from the Councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney). He may vote altogether different today than he will next week, and I think you will all agree he doesn't want to vote wrong. He may be inclined today to vote against the measure. That would be my guess. Yet I think he has fairness enough in him that if he were given this opportunity to hear what most of us did hear last year he, and possibly four or five other new members, would be able to make up their minds in the next week much more clearly than they are today. The proponents of this measure may receive three or four more votes in favor of it, and it is up to this entire membership of the Council, in all fairness, to give those newer members the opportunity to be heard. Don't take any advantage of them and allow them to vote the way today that they would regret two weeks from now. We owe it to them. I am going to request, before making the motion to lay on the table for a week, which would stop all debate—I am going to make that motion, but in the meantime I want an opportunity given to any member of the Council who would like to get up and speak.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, fundamentally I have not changed my views as expressed on December 21st, a year ago, and again on December 31st, a year ago, when this matter came up for final vote at the last meeting of the year. But there are some developments in the course of the year that have, in a sense, affected my stand of a year ago. I am not at all unmindful of what I said then, nor am I making any admissions now, because they are a matter of record. But concerning Councilor Paul Feeney's objection, that he is not sure that the directorship won't be composed of men from outside Boston, I would ask if the Councilor will hear two or three lines of question and answer—I have asked the questions and Representative Shattuck having answered, a year ago. I said to him,

"Mr. Shattuck, there is nothing there in that bill from start to finish that says anything at all about the residence of the directorship. It is a Boston bill and yet it is not carefully guarded in there that Boston shall produce the directors. Now, what is the danger of them being remote from Boston?"

"Mr. Shattuck—The Board of Recreation? I should think the danger was very slight."

At least he admitted to a slight danger. Then my statement is:

"Well, if it is slight, there is some chance that somebody who is not a bona fide resident of Boston might find a position on that board of directorship."

His answer to that was, "I should think it was very unlikely, but possible."

Mr. President, Councilor Carey made a statement that the place for the children was in the home. I agree with Councilor Carey fundamentally, but if Councilor Carey has any method by which they can be kept at home in this day and age he might offer it to the parents who are perfectly willing that their children enjoy supervised recreation, almost under the civil service agency conditions which, of course, I am opposed to. However, I had a sample of what supervised recreation would do for children as recently as Thursday night, November 30. I was instrumental in getting some equipment for a sports night at the men's club in the Charlestown Housing Project, which they put on. I was invited down there to note the results. And when I got there, I found that a time that was designed primarily for adults was almost overwhelmingly patronized by youngsters ranging in age from 12 to 18 years. By actual count of those who put the show on, there were 48 adults in the hall, people who lived in the project and the others to the number in my opinion of approximately 200 to 250 were youngsters, as I say, between the ages of 12 to 14 up to 18 years of age. And while I was waiting to speak to them, by invitation, I thought if it wasn't for a night like this, on this particular, precise occasion, some of those girls and boys, too, might have been getting themselves embroiled with the law. I thought that if supervised recreation—and that was of the hit or miss variety that night—was handled a little better than that, it might be extremely successful on a city-wide scale. The boys and girls appeared to enjoy themselves and appreciated everything that had been done to give them a few nice hours of entertainment. But if it had not been for that night I doubt exceedingly if the parents could have kept them at home. The style of a few years ago was for us to get home from school at 3 or 3.30 and go out and play until supertime, and then stay in and do our home work and go to bed at 9 o'clock. But I defy anybody to tell me today he knows children who do that, who are required to do it, who are compelled to do it. It just really is not done these days. Now, if parents are going to turn their responsibility of giving their children a decent name, a name they are going to carry all their lives—having once given them a decent name and then seeing them endanger it—if they are going to make that a function of a public service, then I claim we should try supervised recreation and see what the results are. There is no point in arguing, as there might have been a year ago, in the first flush of enthusiasm for home rule rights in Boston—there is no point in continuing the argument that we are being denied consideration in Boston because of the fear that the directorship will originate amongst other than non-residents in Boston, when we see evidence every day in the week around us that more and more people are making their children community problems and not a home problem. And, while I vigorously opposed this measure one year ago on two occasions, at a public hearing and at a public meeting of the Council, I can't in conscience go along resisting the best efforts of the parents to ruin their children. They seem to be making a studiously concerted effort to rid themselves of all responsibility. Now, some agency answerable to the law ought to undertake the task and be given an opportunity. That doesn't fundamentally change my view, that I don't believe in giving the thing a social agency status. I am sick of regimentation. And as the remarks of last December 31st show, I have my bellyful of regimentation from the New Deal, and I don't think we ought to foist that on anyone. But if no other measures work, let us try this. We will not ruin kids by giving them directors that come from outside of Boston as quickly as their own parents will do it, and seem determined to do it. And on that I am going to vote for the passage of this order.

Coun. COFFEY—I move that the order be laid on the table.

Chairman HANNON—Coun. Coffey moves the order be laid on the table. There is no debate on the motion. All those in favor of the order being laid on the table?

The motion was declared lost.

Coun. COFFEY—I doubt the vote and ask for a roll call.

The roll was called, and the motion was lost, yeas 7, nays 11:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Keenan, Shannon—7.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hannon, Hurley, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

Coun. FISH—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman HANNON—State your point of information.

Coun. FISH—This vote to lay on the table. Couldn't it be reconsidered later?

Chairman HANNON—The motion to reconsider is out of order.

Coun. SCANNELL in the chair.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I didn't do that to shut off debate, because I want to talk on it myself. I only did that to see how certain Councilors were going to vote. We have had a lot of hokum handed to us today, and that hokum came in various forms. One Councilor who voted against this bill last year—and I don't mean the Councilor next to me (Coun. Kinsella)—is going to vote a different way this year, I can see, only because we have a message here from the Mayor requesting that this piece of legislation be passed. I did want it laid on the table for the sake of the five new members here who have not had an opportunity to hear this order in full. I have to take sides with the gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor). In answering the gentleman from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney), he made the statement that we haven't any powers. What will be taken away from us, he said, will be nothing, because we haven't anything now. I certainly disagree with that gentleman in full. We have plenty, but there are not enough of us with the courage to use those powers. Twelve members of this City Council can run this City of Boston if they have the courage to do it, but so far we have not had the courage. I am not going to say, for one, that I have, because there are fellows in this Council chamber with as much, and probably more, courage than I have. They don't take the same views that I do because they don't come from the same kind of a district as I come from. I probably would take the same kind of view that they do if I came from their districts, but there is one thing I always would do, and that is, get up and oppose the Mayor any time that I think that the Mayor is wrong. And I think he is wrong now. And the gentleman from Ward 12 will have to admit that he hasn't got one playground in his whole district, in the entire Ward 12 district. There is not a playground now in the entire Ward 12 district. Now, if the Mayor wanted to do anything for recreation, at least he would have put a playground in Ward 12; but he has never wanted, as I have said before, to do anything for recreation. We have hollered our heads off. I have seen Councilor Carey get red in the face, begging for money to be appropriated for a small equipment to keep these children off the streets. Several others have done the same thing, but we have never got a request, except the measly $25,000 for equipment of playgrounds throughout the entire city; and, when that appropriation was passed, the Mayor tried to spend that money on the "Gay Nineties," where he had signs out because he was a candidate for office; "Go along to the Gay Nineties with Mayor Tobin." And he wanted to pay the bill with that $25,000 that we appropriated. And the Councilor from the Back Bay himself, who is the sponsor of this bill, was the gentleman who hollered to high heaven that that money should be spent for playground equipment and not on the "Gay Nineties." And then they found the funds from some item that the Mayor has free use of. Others have given reasons here why they have changed their mind, and I don't believe their reasons. Their reasons are the same reasons that we have always been getting here for the five years that I have been here. So that we haven't got a voice because we haven't the courage to raise a voice. When Henry Shattuck sat on that seat he made the statement that you gentlemen don't realize your powers. You are the power of Boston if you have courage to use your powers and vote in this body. The Real Estate Division has stepped in and taken things from us without our having one word to say. This department created over here, the Americanization Bureau, created by the Legislature—not permissive legislation, not with our consent—and not one of us had a chance to put anybody in there to work. That was legislation that came from fellows up in the sticks that don't know what is going on in Boston and don't care. The Superintendent of Markets was made permanent, but the Auditor downstairs had to go on the ballot before his job became permanent. That is the Legislature stepping in and taking the powers from us as fast as they want to. The Employment Bureau is another act of the Legislature—not permissive legislation, but legislation passed by them, making all those jobs permanent whether we wanted to say anything or not. We don't have any opportunity. The bill was passed, the board became recognized as a city board, and members who were there at the time had a loophole, as usual—several loopholes—for several others to be appointed by the Mayor, and the only thing we could do was pass the money for their salaries. And, being Councilors and not wanting to see anybody walk the streets of Boston, or not wanting to take anybody from the pay roll, there was nothing else we could do but vote in favor of this. I say that the ones in favor of this are a bunch of parlor pinks. They are queers, and I will prove it by a statement made by one who sponsored the bill. Joe Lee was talking before the body a year ago, and Joe Lee said: "We finally built a fleet of boats in old cellars and turned out a fleet of twenty boats finally, and I can say, having done that, and taking in about 700 boys in the summer, boys and girls, teaching them how to sail, and they having gone through with the Governor and got a new boathouse there, which was then turned over to a private social agency"—this is a quotation from the remarks of Joe Lee, one of the sponsors of this bill. Continuing, Joe Lee said: "I could tell you things that would make your hair stand on end, and I won't go into it now." That is a statement made by one of the sponsors of this bill. That is the type of legislation that they want to put through now. And, as Councilor Feeney has brought out, it is just one more step to take away powers of the City Council, and we have powers if we have the guts to use those powers. We could stop the Mayor from spending one cent for the entire year of 1945 if we wanted to. Is that power? I repeat that question: Is that power, when we can stop his Honor the Mayor from spending one cent in 1945? That is power; that is plenty of power, and all you have to do is refuse to pass that budget and he can't spend a nickel. Don't say we have no power; we have power, plenty of power. And next year watch some of the boys who said we haven't any power; watch how they act with a new Mayor in here. Watch how they do an about-face. I am just warning you, but I don't care what they do. That is their privilege, Mr. Chairman. I probably may be against the new Mayor, I am that type if I don't see eye to eye with him I holler like hell, and I think you will agree that I have hollered, and hollered in the interest of my district. Now, I asked the question here on the floor of the Council last year, when this measure was defeated. I can see a change now. I can see some of the councilors who no more want this bill than I do. But, as the councilor from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey) has said, there is the old pressure group—the pat on the back, lunch at the Parker House—when I would rather eat in Joe-Nemo's.

Coun. TAYLOR.—Will the councilor yield to a question?

Coun. COFFEY.—Gladly.

Coun. TAYLOR.—Was this bill really defeated last year? Wasn't it a question of bringing it up onto the floor that requires a two-thirds vote? Wasn't it a question of whether or not it was taken out of the hands of the committee?

Coun. COFFEY.—I am looking it up. I will take the Councilor from Ward 5's word on it. The Councilor from Ward 5 informs me that we needed a two-thirds vote to take it from committee, so it didn't pass. So that that probably is so; I don't know. I haven't it here before me. All I have is the vote. It doesn't say, unless I go through the whole thing. But I would like, while on my feet here now, to ask the gentleman two questions and hold the floor—just yield for those two answers, if he cares to answer.

Chairman SCANNELL.—Whom are you referring to?

Coun. COFFEY.—The chairman of the committee, councilor Bayley.

Chairman SCANNELL.—Does the chairman of the committee wish to answer Councilor Coffey's questions?

Coun. BAYLEY.—Yes.

Coun. COFFEY.—The two questions are these: No. 1, does he know what the board is going to do as far as recreation is concerned?

Coun. BAYLEY.—The main purpose of the board is explained in this bill, especially in section 4 of the Act:

"The board shall study the recreation needs of said city and shall formulate plans for adequately distributed, coordinated and diversified recreational services. Such plans, with recommendations of the board, shall be submitted to departments of said city empowered by law to provide recreational services. The board shall encourage the establishment of voluntary committees to advise and cooperate with the board in respect to the operation and supervision of neighborhood play areas. The board may submit recommendations to any licensing authority or authorities."

There are other provisions in there, too, as to what this board will do, but I don't wish to waste the time of the Council.

Coun. COFFEY.—The second question is: Do you know whom the Mayor is going to appoint—whether they are going to be Boston men?

Coun. BAYLEY.—To that I answer that I don't know whom he is going to appoint, but I have every confidence he will appoint residents of Boston.

Coun. COFFEY.—Continuing, a year ago on the floor I made this statement: "We don't know who the board members are going to be. We haven't been told that up to today." In fact, we haven't been told yet, and that was a year ago. So, if the Mayor was vitally interested in this board being created—and I think that was the consensus of the opinion of the councilors at the time—No. 1, they wanted a Boston board; No. 2, the way the bill was first drawn up, everybody was under the impression that Bill Mullen of the Park Department was going to get the appointment. Henry Shattuck made a statement that he thought he was going to get the appointment and, if I am not mistaken, he thought he was entitled to it. So they changed that little word from "may" to "shall"—the word that should be in there to protect Mr. Mullen, as they did when they first filed the bill and Joe Lee was in favor of Mr. Mullen, if I am not mistaken. The word they should have had in there is "must." I suppose that I could go on for the rest of the night. The councilor from Ward 10 has brought out pressure groups, editorials in newspapers, pressure being brought to bear on Councilors here, editorials and news statements. And it is just a matter, as I claim, of giving more of our powers away. The Legislature has stepped in once too often, and, if we are to continue and come in to things such as this, you are going to have Plan E in Boston, and we will all be cutting each other's throats, twenty-two of us, or nine members elected at large. You will have Plan E, and the Mayor will sponsor it and sign it, and I hope if we do have a new Mayor next year we can get somebody to introduce a bill in the Legislature. I introduced a bill six weeks ago asking for home rule for Boston and the Mayor being allowed to appoint the Police Commissioner, but I have had no reply from downstairs up to today. I would like to see home rule in Boston. I would like to see us given veto power over the Mayor. We should have it. If they have veto power over the President of the United States, we certainly should have veto power over the Mayor of the City of Boston. And I hope some of the members of this Body here, and also members of the Legislature, will introduce legislation to that effect, that we City Councilors have the power of veto. We deserve it, and we are entitled to it, and that is the only way you will get proper legislation here, because if something goes through and he vetoes it, and we still think it is a good thing, we can override his veto and make it become a law.

Coun. HANNON.—Mr. President, I agree with the last remarks of the gentleman from East Boston. And, in fact, I would be willing to join with him to sponsor the order that we be given the power of veto. We certainly should have some power. What powers we have, as he says, undoubtedly are being taken away from us, not by power of legislation, but by power of lack of it. We have seen bills come up through the Legislature, and the approval of the City Council is taken out of that bill. We are left out of it altogether. Sometimes it is the lack of legislation that is depriving us of power. Now, I didn't intend to take the floor on this bill. When the gentleman from Ward 16 (Coun. Fish) said he was going to make a motion that this matter be laid on the table, I asked the councilor from Ward 6 (Coun. Scannell) to replace me for the time being so that I, too, might express my views on this matter. I am not opposed to laying it on the table for a week. I voted against it because that is the only way I would be able to state my views, and, after all, I am a member of the committee now and there has been much said relative to members of the committee, both pro and con. I think this is a matter on which we might all have an honest difference of opinion. I think the fellows here are honestly divided in their enthusiasm, both pro and con. As far as pressure is concerned, I weigh over two hundred pounds, and I can stand a lot of pressure, and pressure doesn't bother me very much. Last year I refused to vote either pro or con on this matter because I didn't know enough about it, and I sympathize sincerely with the gentleman from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney). I believe he is right in wanting to know more about it. However, we have had this matter before us now for over a year. I attended the hearing last year, and everybody who came in there, apparently—or mostly, anyway—was in favor of this bill. They were recording themselves in favor, but then they were gradually grabbing the individual Councilors outside and telling us that they had to say that publicly, but they wanted us to vote against it in here. I know that that happened. It happened not on one occasion alone, but on three or four occasions in there. And we came out here and we refused to take the matter from the committee, and it was my understanding that the bill, not in its present form, but the bill in its practical application to the City of Boston, was going to be adopted and was going to be put into practice and used by those in authority. Now, those in authority are the School Committee and the Park Commissioner and, if they have put it into practical use, then I have failed to see it. When I was a kid, years ago, the Park Department was not the Park Department. It was the Park and Recreation Department, and I don't know who changed it, or when it was changed, but I do know this, that there is no more recreation department up there. Oh, I admit that Bill Mullen has done a good job. He has done an exceptional job and deserves every bit of credit we may heap upon him. But he is not getting the money. What is the sense of kidding ourselves? That department is the Park Department primarily, and there is not a man in this body who doesn't blush with shame when he goes out in his district and shows people the mud-holes that we call playgrounds. Only last week when the gentleman from Hyde Park was talking about his dust bowl the thought came to me, "They will make a playground out of that." All you need for a playground in this city is to chop down a few trees and put up a sign, "Playground." That is the beginning and that is the end of it. Playgrounds in other cities mean something. There are swings and there are tilts. There are means of entertainment for the kiddos. I even asked for a sand box for the playground, and they told me that they are unhealthy now, that they don't use them; and in a few weeks a sand box was installed in another playground. I asked for something else, and they said they didn't use that because dogs got more use of it than children. That is the kind of rot that we have been getting for years. Look at the School Committee. You take other cities and they have sent those kids into athletics, to become something. You read in the paper this morning that the Salem football team has arrived in Miami to play another team down there. Why, what a treat for those kids! What a thrill for them! They get a trip to Florida. Why can't our kids get that? The kids in our high schools are just as good as the kids in other high schools. Don't we develop and produce the same stuff that they have everywhere else? We produce it, but we don't develop it. We let it go by the wayside. In other places, they take those kids in and they teach them something, they encourage them. They become athletes, and it means more to them, too, than a trip to Florida. Look at the kids, sons of our poor parents, who because of their athletic ability get their way paid through college, through the best colleges in the country. And how very seldom do you hear of a boy from Boston schools who is selected at Notre Dame or other places that have great renown in the field of learning or the field of athletics. No, gentlemen, there is something lacking here. We certainly are not doing right by the kids. There is no gentleman in here whom I respect more than I respect the gentleman from Ward 10 (Coun. Carey), and I know he is every bit as sincere in his position as to this measure as I am. There will be ills come out of this thing, I know that. We won't get the right man appointed. I know that, but I think, anyway, if we have a Board of Recreation we can at least have some place to which we can go and ask them what they are doing for the kids or ask them if they won't please do something for the kids in this or that neighborhood. The gentleman from East Boston (Coun. Coffey) is perfectly right. They need a playground in East Boston. Over there they have kiddos who play in the streets, and the first thing you know they are in trouble with the law. People nowadays are not even as considerate as they were when we were growing up. In the old days, if you broke a window and would come in and tell your mother or father, they would pay for it. You might get rebuked in the house, and it would be forgotten. But nowadays if a kid is unfortunate enough to be playing ball and the ball goes through a window, the first thing you know someone goes down to the police station or the court, to have that kid in the toils of the law, and in addition they want to complain that somebody in the house got hit with the ball and is suffering personal injury. I don't know what we can do, but at least, to my way of thinking, this is a step in one direction. I am not going to say it is the right direction, because I agree with those who are in a position that many times in the past, although we vote for these matters, they don't live up to our expectations. But I feel this way, in all sincerity. We had this matter last year. Those who were opposed to this matter knew right well that this matter was staring us in the face and was going to be acted upon this year. I would like to hear Joe McKenney. I know Joe, and Joe is a fine fellow, and a very capable fellow. But what can Joe offer? Joe has had the job, and I think Joe is trying to do a good job. But my thought is this: This bill has been here for over a year. If the people who are opposed to it, if those who felt they might suffer by its adoption, knew that, and they did know it, why haven't they done something to justify me and the other members of this Council in voting against it? Conditions have not improved in the year. If anything, they are getting worse. It is not totally a lack of money. Any time they want money for recreation or for the kids we will give it to them. They haven't come down here and asked for any. They let us hold the bag a year ago. Now, again, we are supposed to hold it. It is a question of voting for those who came before us, who say publicly they favor this, and grab you on the side and say that they are against it. It is a question of voting for them or voting to improve conditions for the kids in the City of Boston, and I, for one, am sticking with the kids.

Coun. RUSSO.—Mr. President, of course we have taken sufficient time to argue on this bill. And, as I have always been, I shall continue to be, and will give recognition to the right of every person to his opinion. I haven't changed my opinion from one year ago. In answer to my good friend and colleague from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey), in so far as the ordinary use of the word "guts" is concerned I think I have always spoken my mind, regardless of whom it hurts, when I believed that I was right. As I said last December, right here on this floor—and it seems to happen again—I was sick at that time, when I knew this bill was coming before us, and I got out of a sick bed in order to be here to express my opinion; this time, unfortunately, again I am in very bad shape, as you can well see. However, knowing that this bill was coming in before us, I couldn't help but be present again to express my opinion once more. This bill has been drawn up by men in whom I have great faith, by men I believe have had the children's best interests at heart. One of them is my neighbor, Joseph Lee. And I stated last year, and will reiterate again, that I don't always stand on the same side as that gentleman. However, I can't help but say that in so far as he is concerned, it was his father who was the father, and is the father, of playgrounds and recreational facilities in the entire City of Boston, if not throughout the nation. And I know that he has the children's best interest at heart. Another gentleman whom I have had the great pleasure of serving with is the Honorable Mr. Shattuck. I believe that he has demonstrated time and time again that he has the best interests of the children at heart, and that he will try to do everything within his power and means to carry out those ideals he has always demonstrated. You and I know that he has given money and land to the City of Boston in order to see that our children were more properly taken care of. We know, Mr. Chairman, that in the five years that I have been a member of this Council there hasn't been one week that some Councilor hasn't spoken in regard to the recreational facilities of the City of Boston and of his district. They are always trying to get some improvement in their districts. And we at one time or another have always argued on those points. I believe that the Park Department has not fulfilled its obligation in so far as our children of the City of Boston are concerned, in so far as the upkeep of even those few small playgrounds that we have, which are inadequate at the present time, in our various sections of the city. And that was the reason why I was in favor of it from the beginning, hoping that perhaps this recreational committee might carry forth the intention of the City Council and the intention of the entire City of Boston and its people to do something for the children of our city. What have we got at the present time? Yes, I have three playgrounds in my district, if you want to call them playgrounds. They are just holes in between streets. And still, small as they are, if we only had the proper facilities, if we only had the proper supervision of these playgrounds, we would have at least something more than what we have at the present time. You and I recall that $25,000 was adopted and was given to the Park Department in order to see that some of our playgrounds were given some facilities, some equipment. What have we had up to the present time? Nothing. Isn't it high time that we ought to take some of the steps in order to try to improve the conditions of the past? How long must we wait? I believe that this bill has been studied. And, as I said before, I have no ill feelings in regard to the individuals who are going to vote against this bill. I believe in their sincerity. I believe that they believe that this bill may act contrary to what we had in mind. Well, let us analyze it. The Mayor of the City of Boston is going to appoint four of the individuals on the board. The School Committee is going to appoint two. I ask you if we haven't the same power, and I disagree with the gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) when he states here that the City Council hasn't any powers whatsoever. He is perhaps right in saying and making that statement at the present time, perhaps because he is going to leave us on January first. Good luck to him if he is. However, we know that we have power, although it is limited. But if we could only exercise that power at the right time—yes, I have never been with the Mayor of the City of Boston at all times. I have opposed him, and I told him to his face, and I will tell him regardless of who the Mayor may be tomorrow, that if I don't see eye to eye on certain bills I would be against him. But on this particular bill I am for it because I believe that a change will be for the best interest of the children of our city. So perhaps, as the first one—if I may use that word—perhaps not the first one, but one of the members of the Council, I have stated on this floor four years ago that the thing that is lacking here in the City Council is the veto power over the Mayor. We are the only city of the entire United States that has not the veto power. I have made the statement before, and I will say it again. If the State Legislature did not have the veto power over the Governor of this Commonwealth, what form of government would we have in this Commonwealth? If the Congress or the Senate of the United States didn't have the veto power over the President of the United States, what form of government would we have here in America? I ask you, what have we got here now for the City of Boston? That is one thing that I would love to see come into the city, to give to the Councilors veto power, and then we will be a body of legislators, a body of men that could stand up on their two feet and express their opinion and make it be heard and make it become law. However, getting back to this bill, Mr. President, I say that ample time has been given and study has been made, and I know, for one, as a member of the committee—I honestly believe that the Park Department has not fulfilled its obligation to the City of Boston. And, therefore, I am for this bill, and I hope that it will pass today.

Chairman SCANNELL—The order of business is the motion to vote on this present bill. Shall there be any further debate?

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, I find myself in a very regrettable position. I don't like to differ with my distinguished colleague from Ward 13 (Coun. Hannon) or my distinguished colleague from Ward 3 (Coun. Russo), but I have to take issue with both of them on statements they have made recently to the Council. In my district, Mr. President, I have two playgrounds where the entire playgrounds are in my district, namely, Cleveland Circle and the Ringer Playground. Also, part of another playground is in my district. And I want to assure you and all the members of this Council that those playgrounds are not mudholes. They are beautiful playgrounds, and they are kept up. And the Park Department, with what little they have in the line of help, and what little they have in the line of money, do a swell job there. Also in my district, Mr. President, I have several schools. During the summertime in those schoolyards Mr. McKenney, the director of physical education in the City of Boston, does a great job. He has teachers there. He has games and swings, and so forth, for the children. Likewise, the Park Department has games on both those playgrounds. But, Mr. McKenney furnishes some of their help to the Park Department, and a good deal of the equipment. Now, I have had the privilege, Mr.

President, of following the high school football games in the last season that has just been completed. And I have seen every high school team in Boston play. I am one councilor that goes for the high school games. I have on one or two occasions seen one or two other councilors there but never any one of them has been consistent in attendance, like I have been, myself. And I say, Mr. President, the rules and regulations in the Boston high schools, as regards the years old or the weight, are probably very strict in comparison to what suburban schools call for. I know some of the boys in the suburban schools are not to be compared to the fellows you see in the Boston schools, and I know they are much older. And I say that this school team—and they deserve all the credit in the world—that is leaving our state and going down to Miami is positively facing boys, according to the papers, much larger in size and probably much older in years. Maybe the regulations stop the situation on our boys competing in certain places, because they might get hurt, they might get into a serious injury, if allowed to compete with these big fellows. Some high schools do take their teams—English High School does play some team out of the city and has a trip; and I think some of the others do. Latin School does. I know that English does. So I have to take issue with those facts stated by my colleague who spoke on the matter. I know that the Park Department does a great job with very little money and very little help, and I say if we are going to give money to an outside board, why not give the same opportunity to the Board of Park Commissioners or the School Committee. Let them have what they ask for, and see what they can do with it. Each year they submit a budget to us. We don't cut it—no, we give them what is left, after the Mayor and the Budget Commissioner have cut it to a point where they get nothing. So I say it would be a great thing, Mr. President, if the Park Department, the School Department, and the physical education director could have the money that they would ask for, and not have it thrown to the board to see what they could do with it. I think they could do a great job. They really know what the kids need. They know the "kiddos," they have had some of these "kiddos" under them for two or three years, and they are better qualified to take up things with children they have had for two or three years as they get older than some new body that has never had the children and doesn't know the children in one locality from the children in another. I am sure that in some parts of the city the children are more interested in a certain type of activity than they are in another. So I say, before we create any new fanciful ideas we ought to give those who have been with us for a good many years an opportunity once and for all to see what they can do. Mr. President, I would like to be able to be heard here, and I am going to ask that the Council be in order.

Chairman SCANNELL—I think that the Council is in order.

Coun. DWYER—Thank you. I think I have the floor. I give way and listen to individuals when others speak. I can't help but remarking while I am on my feet what a deplorable situation we face today when a member of this Council, a member who doesn't very often take the floor, and when he does it is for something very sane and sound, asked a member of his committee, Mr. President—asked the chairman of his committee—for the opportunity to have more information on a matter, and he was refused, not alone by the chairman but by the members of this Body. Oh, what a shameful thing. I say, Mr. President, that I hope the day won't come that some of those members who voted against giving this member an opportunity of having more information so that he could vote intelligently on the matter won't find themselves in the same predicament he is in, and face the same shameful treatment that he has faced today.

Chairman SCANNELL—The order of business is the motion.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I respect deeply the interest of those people who sponsored this legislation with the intent to provide our children with better recreation. But this whole matter can be summed up, to my mind, in a nutshell. Very briefly, Mr. President. We have in front of us chapter 451, a special act of the Massachusetts Legislature. That is what we are voting on today. Some of us are for this bill, and some of us who don't thoroughly understand it are against it. But we have before us a communication from his Honor the Mayor asking for the passage of this act, asking for the establishment of a recreation board in this city. The Mayor right this minute can set up a recreation board exactly as provided for in chapter 451 without this special act. Imagine that. There is no need of this legislation, then, is there? This is unnecessary legislation. The Mayor, under the Acts of 1909, right this minute can create a board identical with this, to the very letter and to the very comma and period. Now, what is the need, then, of chapter 451? The only difference is this. Here is the difference. That tomorrow, if the Mayor sets up his own board, identical with this—that tomorrow he can abolish it if it does not work. That is the difference. This new board can never be abolished by the Mayor of Boston. That is what you are voting on today, gentlemen. Everything you have spoken about for your districts can be done without this special act. So why is it before us here? Why is it worded as this is here? Why is it that we are being deluded into something we don't know anything about? Mr. President, in view of the fact that I don't thoroughly understand the purpose behind it, and in view of the fact I have never had the opportunity to sit down in a public hearing as a member of your Committee on Parks and Playgrounds, and in view of the fact there is no guaranty contained herein that Boston people will govern Boston children, I am going to vote no.

Coun. CAREY—I am reluctant to take the floor again, because debate has been lengthy. However, it has just been running through my mind here today as I have listened to the debate this afternoon that we have, as we have said before, the authority to provide a proper set-up. As a matter of fact, the set-up is existing. And I have been greatly amazed at the remarks of members of the Council this afternoon, who are trying to convey to us the impression that this new board is going to be so perfect in its administration that it could not possibly make a mistake. It is infallible in its ability to decide what is good and what is bad from the recreational standpoint for both adults and children alike in the City of Boston. I have never yet seen a body, whether it was a legislative one or an administrative one, the members of which did not disagree. And I will go further and say that any body, legislative or administrative, that didn't disagree to some extent, was not worth its existence. Therefore, how could we expect, or who is there amongst us that expects that this new recreation board is going to be so perfect in devising new schemes and new recreational boards for the City of Boston that it cannot make a mistake? What nonsense! I was thoroughly amused by the remarks of my good friend from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) when he spoke about a sports night that he attended recently. I, too, have attended sports nights with my youngsters. They are very splendid gatherings, and it is very impressive to see what can be put on in the line of athletic performance from these who are exhibiting at those sports nights. Of course, they are a great thing, and I hope there will be more sports nights throughout the city. But is there an organization in this city, whether it is conducting a sports night or opening its doors every night of the week for recreational facilities, that is going to accept the responsibility that this certain pressure group that met in the Parker House placed upon my shoulders when it tried to blame me and the members of the City Council for the murder of a marine in the Back Bay Pens last summer? These recreational organizations are responsible for what happens upon their own premises. They have nothing to do with what trouble a young man or a young woman will get into going to that headquarters or going home from that headquarters. If we had more sports nights, when the fathers, or mothers, possibly might accompany their youngsters to these recreational activities that are given at a sports night, I would agree that there would be less juvenile delinquency in this city. But we can't expect that the fathers and mothers are going to be able to accompany those sons or daughters of theirs to these recreational headquarters wherever they might be for seven nights of the week. None of us have been fully satisfied with what has been provided by the present recreational set-up, but it has been said on the floor here today, and at previous meetings, that the present set-up has been handicapped. Are we going to be more liberal with the new set-up than we have been with the present one? If so, we have not been fair with the present arrangement. I fully believe that the members of this Body are taking upon themselves altogether too much responsibility for making any attempt to change the present set-up, because, as the father of one of the young men concerned with that murder in the Back Bay said to me only last Saturday,—"Damn these recreational boards. They are provided for youngsters at night. If my boy had not had that attraction, whereby he found an excuse to leave home night in and night out, he would not be down at the Charles Street Jail tonight." What is this recreational set-up going to provide, as I said when on the floor before? Nothing but more opportunity, if we are to believe what has been forecast for us by those interested in it—and I don't mean to be misunderstood in this matter—of finding fault with the sponsors of it. They, no doubt, have good intentions, but what has that same group done in years past to see that proper money was made available in order that proper equipment could be provided to, in turn, furnish proper recreation facilities in the playgrounds of the city? Two years ago, as a matter of fact, I had a petition given to me by a group of young men whose homes are in the neighborhood of Huntington and South Huntington avenues in Roxbury. In the rear of those youngsters' homes is a large area owned by the city. I was given to understand at that time that within a short while a playground would be laid out there and these youngsters didn't ask for anything elaborate. All they wanted was a layout for soft ball, with a tennis court. At that particular time some of the youngsters in that neighborhood were involved in trouble because they were breaking windows because they tried to play baseball in that vacant lot. An investigation was made, and it was determined that that would make an excellent space to provide for soft ball and tennis courts for those youngsters, with which they would have been fully satisfied. Up to the present time nothing has been done. I don't condemn the present Mayor because nothing was done, because he each year has been faced with the same pressure that the members of the City Council have, and that is to cut the budget in order to satisfy certain elements who want certain functions provided in this city, but still don't want to pay for them. It is my honest belief that before the members of this Council take final action on this new recreational board that either a plebiscite or at least public hearings should be conducted in their districts, in order that the fathers and mothers who, after all, are those most vitally concerned, should become acquainted with the provisions of this act. Let us find out fully, and let those fathers and mothers find out, if there is going to be more anxiety brought into their homes through the worry of their sons and daughters being attracted out in the evening. If this recreational set-up is to provide nothing but evening recreation, give the money and the opportunity to the present set-up in this city, and then, that having failed, that would be a proper time to consider a new recreation board. It matters not whether this matter has been before this Body a year, Mr. President. It might well stay here for ten years. I don't remember, and I am a member of the Committee on Appropriations, any member of this Council, with the exception of two or three, who appeared at the budget hearings last spring and insisted at that time that proper money be furnished in the way of a supplementary budget in order that these proper facilities be provided in these playgrounds. The time is not yet too late. It will be too late, as Councilor Feeney well said a few minutes ago, once the Council votes on this recreational set-up. Your opportunity of objecting will be gone. Now is the time to delay, and I defy anyone who wants to be honest with me, or any other member of this Council, to criticize any member here for asking the opportunity to be provided them to give sufficient and further study to this matter. I sincerely hope that no action will be taken here today, and that the matter will be tabled, in order that Councilor Feeney and Councilor Shannon, and other members of this Body who were not here a year ago will be given the time that they are rightly entitled to, to get all the information they feel is necessary before being asked to vote on this matter.

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, if what the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) has said is true, that the Mayor himself can set up the identical same board, performing the same functions, I think that would clarify in the minds of many here just how they are going to vote. It would at least throw out the window the argument of home rule. If the Mayor has that power and it can be done, and we go ahead and accept the act of the Legislature, then they are all guilty of voting against home rule. And I don't believe anybody here wants to vote against home rule. I ask whether or not we can have the opportunity again to present an order here—this is a point of information—to send this into Executive Committee, or a motion to lay it on the table for a week.

Chairman SCANNELL—The question before the Body is the passage of the order.

Coun. FISH—I ask if we can reconsider the motion and lay on the table for a week.

Chairman SCANNELL—The motion is out of order, councilor. The motion to refer it to Executive is in order.

Coun. FISH—Well, I would like to make a motion. It is to take a recess for the purpose of going into Executive to find out whether or not what the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) has said is true, in fact, that the Mayor himself can set up this identical board. And I venture to say this: I know for my own self it may change my vote, and I venture to say that there will be no question about the passage of this order.

Chairman SCANNELL—The question before the Body, Mr. Councilor, is the passage of the order, and if you wish to make a motion.

Coun. FISH—I have made the motion to send to Executive.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Fish has made a motion that we take a recess for the purpose of going into Executive. All those in favor? The Chair is in doubt and asks for a roll call.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of information.

Coun. KINSELLA—Is that motion in order, the motion that Councilor Fish made, in view of the fact we have not yet settled the original motion on the acceptance of the committee's report?

Chairman SCANNELL—A motion for a recess is always in order. The clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called, and the motion to go into executive session was lost, yeas 9, nays 10:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, D. F. Sullivan—9.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—10.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, there are only a few points I want to touch on. Nearly everybody that spoke here today admitted the fact that Bill Mullen has done a good job. They didn't say that Joe McKenney has done a good job, but they are all in agreement if they had sufficient funds they could do a good job. So, then, what is the sense of passing this bill today? If a good job can be done, and everybody here honestly believes it can be done by the Park and School Departments, then all they need is funds. All that they need is money to do that good job. We know that if funds are appropriated and they have the authority to spend them that our parks and playgrounds could be fixed up, and we don't need outsiders to come in and tell our children how or what games to play. In my own district, you put a steam roller in there, even off the ground, fence it in,—that is a playground to them. Then, if you want a smaller space for the smaller children so that the larger boys can't molest them, make a place inside that playground and let the smaller boys go in there. I brought out the statement that Joe Lee made at the hearing. Joe Lee worked hard for that boys' club, and he finally accomplished his purpose. They finally went to the Governor and got legislation passed so they could build a bathhouse and have funds appropriated to build boats that they could sail on the Charles River. And after he went all through his hard work, and expended his money, they took the powers away from Joe Lee and, as he said himself, they created what you might call a social agency. He said himself that the things that happened there under that social agency would make your hair stand on end; and I guess Joe Lee knew what he was talking about. I wouldn't oppose Joe Lee being appointed to that board. I know that Mr. Shattuck has refused the opportunity to be on that board. I know that that is a fact. He said he couldn't give it the full time he would like to give to it. I would like some names brought out like Tacks Cornell or Jerome Sacco,—some names connected with the Recreation Department for years, that have given everything they have for recreation. Those are names that I understand. Those are the kind of people I know best. And those are the kind of people I like to hear mentioned for a recreational board if we have one. I am not going to change any votes, so I won't take too much time, but my argument is the same as the argument of others who are opposed. Give the money to the Park Department and the School Department and you will get the facilities and you will get the equipment, and you will get the children to go into those playgrounds, because it will be an incentive to them. At the present time, there is nothing to induce them to go into the playgrounds. They might as well kick a football in the street. Now, the sad part of this whole thing is this—and I do hope in all sincerity that I am wrong, but I think I am right,—that when the vote is taken—and I say that I hope that I am wrong, but I think I am right,—if nineteen vote, the vote will be thirteen in favor and six against; and if twenty vote, the vote will be fourteen in favor and six against. And I hope, for the sake of a legislative body like ours, with twenty-two members, I am absolutely wrong.

Coun. DWYER—I make a motion that the meeting adjourn.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Dwyer makes a motion that we adjourn. All those in favor. (Responses.) It is not a vote.

Coun. DWYER—I doubt the vote and ask for a roll call.

The roll was called, and the motion to adjourn was lost, yeas 1, nays 18.

Yeas—Coun. Dwyer 1.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Coffey, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—18.

Chairman SCANNELL—The question before the Body is the passage of the order.

Coun. BAYLEY—We have consumed now nearly three hours in debate, and everybody except the distinguished councilor from Ward 15 (Coun. Kelly) has been heard. Unless he wishes to be heard on this subject, I move the previous question. If he wishes to be heard, I yield.

Coun. KELLY—I will be heard now, Mr. President. I was not going to speak, but I have always been against moving the previous question since I have been in the City Council. I believe that everybody should have an opportunity to speak on a matter. Mr. President, I have been absent most of the meeting because I have been down to the Election Department, so I don't really know what has been going on, but I can recall when this order was in committee last December that I got up on the floor of the Council and, although I thought the bill was drawn up very loosely, at that time I was in favor of the bill. I voted to take it from the committee the last day of the Council because I thought the bill had some good qualities, but I also thought it had some bad ones. I really believe that included in the bill there ought to be a section as to whether the seven members of the board ought to be residents of the City of Boston. I say that, Mr. President, because Coun. FISH—I was wondering if the councilor from Ward 15 would yield.

Chairman SCANNELL—Do you wish to yield?

Coun. KELLY—I will yield for a question.

Coun. FISH—The question, not pointed at me, although I should be interested in the answer—the question is: Will the Councilor from Ward 18 read that portion of the charter that states that the Mayor can set up the board?

Chairman SCANNELL—Is that a request?

Coun. KELLY—I am willing to yield to a question. I think I will ask the question myself, if I know what the question is, as we go along. I am just getting started. I have been a little late in getting here. Now, Mr. President, I said last December that I felt that the seven members that were appointed on the board should be residents of Boston. I felt the same way when the appropriation for $75,000 came up before the City Council, for the Finance Commission. I said on the floor of this Council, and it is a matter of public record, that if the $75,000 was passed, in my opinion, there would be a man outside of the City of Boston appointed, and we all found out what happened when Dr. Strayer was appointed. The $75,000 only passed the Council 12 to 10. If we had secured one more vote it would not have passed. I said at that time that I felt that the members of the Boston School Committee were well qualified, if there was any survey of the Boston School Department made, to make it themselves. I still feel the same way, Mr. President. I feel the same way on this bill today. Although I feel the same way that I felt last December on it, I feel that the seven members should be residents of the City of Boston. I trust that his Honor the Mayor will appoint residents of the City of Boston. Of course we don't know, Mr. President, who the members of the Boston School Committee will be three or four years from now. Your guess is as good as mine. We don't know who the Mayor of Boston will be next year, or the year after. Your guess is as good as mine, there. But I say the bill itself, Mr. President, is very loosely drawn up. There could be a lot of improvements made by the people that drew up the bill. I said that in the Council last year. Now, I am wondering, just as a point of information—I haven't been here too long—I want to get posted before I cast my vote. I know there has been a lot of argument pro and con. I understand that the Councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) has some information. I am going to ask you, Mr. President, if I may ask the Councilor from Ward 18, through you, for some information that might enlighten me about the bill. Councilor Feeney, would you please read the portion of the charter which grants the right of the Mayor of Boston to establish this recreation board?

Coun. FEENEY—Section 5 of the Acts of 1909, the charter of the City of Boston, states as follows:

"Except as otherwise provided in this act, the organization, powers and duties of the executive departments of the city shall remain as constituted at the time when this section takes effect; but the mayor and city council at any time may by ordinance reorganize, consolidate, or abolish in whole or in part departments whether created on or before or subsequent to the first Monday of February in the year nineteen hundred and ten, including the transit department; transfer the duties, powers and appropriations of one department to another in whole or in part; and establish new departments; and may increase, reduce, establish or abolish salaries of heads of departments, or members of boards."

Coun. KELLY—Thank you very much, Councilor. Now, in conclusion, Mr. President, as I said last December and as the Councilor from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey) has so ably stated, there is no question in my mind but that this bill is going to pass. But I trust that his Honor the Mayor and the members of the Boston School Committee in appointing the men will appoint seven men on that board that will be residents of Boston. I have always fought for Boston people to be appointed to Boston positions. I remember when the Superintendent of Nurses was appointed at the Boston City Hospital. We made a fight here year after year to have a Boston girl appointed. We were told that in the Trustees' opinion there wasn't one girl in the whole City of Boston qualified. I said, some time this year, when the $75,000 appropriation came up for the Finance Commission, that in my opinion men from outside the City of Boston would be appointed, and that is why I was against it. I didn't see any need for a $75,000 appropriation at that time. This board may accomplish something if Boston people are appointed to it, but, in my opinion, if outside residents are appointed to it, the bill won't accomplish its purpose. So I say to the members that I feel the same way I felt about the bill last December, only I hope and trust they will appoint seven members who are Boston men to that board.

Chairman SCANNELL—The question before the Body is to move the previous question.

Coun. FEENEY—Not the previous question.

Chairman SCANNELL—The Chair didn't hear Councilor Bayley withdraw that motion. Did you withdraw that motion?

Coun. BAYLEY—I did.

Coun. KINSELLA—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of information.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I would like to ask the City Clerk, through you, sir, if the City Clerk can say that the chapter in the charter just read by Councilor Feeney would accomplish the same purpose for the city through the Mayor and Council as this bill, chapter 451 of the Acts of 1943?

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Kinsella, the City Clerk informs me that he is perfectly willing to answer any questions in executive session.

Coun. FEENEY—I move we go into executive session.

Coun. TAYLOR—I would like to speak on the motion. Mr. Chairman, as I read this part of the charter: "Except as otherwise provided in this act, the organization, powers and duties of the executive departments of the city shall remain as constituted at the time when this section takes effect."

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of information.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I believe the Councilor from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) asked the City Clerk and not the Councilor.

Coun. TAYLOR—I am speaking on the motion.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—You are speaking on his question.

Coun. TAYLOR—It says: "Duties of the executive departments of the city shall remain as constituted at the time when this section takes effect."

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, will you make a ruling?

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Taylor is speaking on the motion.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—On what motion?

Chairman SCANNELL—On the motion before the Body.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—What is the motion?

Chairman SCANNELL—To go into executive.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Councilor Kinsella asked a question directed at the City Clerk. He was informed that he would answer that in executive, and that is the reason it was moved that we go into executive. I don't believe the Councilor is in order. He can talk against going into executive, but not to answer the Councilor from Ward 2.

Chairman SCANNELL—The Chair has not called for a roll call for the purpose of going into executive session. Councilor Taylor will speak on the motion.

Coun. COFFEY—If the gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) is going to talk on the city charter, what bearing has that on the motion to go into executive?

Chairman SCANNELL—There hasn't been a roll call. I recognized Councilor Taylor before the motion to take a recess.

Coun. TAYLOR—As I was going to say, the charter says here: "Except as otherwise provided in this act the organization, powers and duties of the executive departments of the city shall remain as constituted at the time when this section takes effect; but the mayor and city council at any time may by ordinance reorganize, consolidate, or abolish in whole or in part departments whether created on or before or subsequent to the first Monday of February in the year nineteen hundred and ten, including the transit department; transfer the duties, powers and appropriations of one department to another in whole or in part; and establish new departments; and may increase, reduce, establish or abolish salaries of heads of departments, or members of boards." That, to me, Mr. President, seems to be very clear. It would appear from that section of the charter that we would have the right to do it. I may be wrong in my interpretation, but that is not the question here. This charter has been in effect since 1909, and from 1909 to 1944 nobody in the City Council or from the Mayor's office has attempted to change that portion of the charter and organize a new department. The reason for it is easily explained. The recreation department has always been a part of the Park Department. The Park Department has the same responsibility of taking care of the recreation of the City of Boston. Now, this new bill that has been introduced is not going to take all the powers away either from the Park Department or the School Committee. This is going to give the authority to the members of this particular board, one of whom will be a paid member, which will bring into the City of Boston men and women on this board who live in the City of Boston, I hope, who will give their counsel and advice to the chairman of that board and to the other members of the board, for the purpose of doing something, advising those in power, the Mayor of the City of Boston, to appropriate money for the purpose of helping out our recreational problem. I don't think it is necessary to create a new department, and I don't think that question is the one before us. But I think it is a waste of time to go into executive session, where in that executive session we will not receive any more information pertaining to matters that are before us. We will receive advice from the City Clerk, and undoubtedly good advice, but it does not affect the question before us. I think that we have argued and debated on this matter long enough. It is a question of staying until all hours of the night, a question of wearing down the members. When the time comes that the motion comes up by those in opposition to adjourn the meeting or take it back into executive on any slight pretence, it shows those tactics are adopted for the purpose of delaying our action. Ordinarily I don't want the previous question. I believe in giving every member an opportunity to debate a question fully upon the floor. But when tactics are adopted for the purpose of delaying the vote and not for giving any more information, I think we have reached a climax. I certainly am against going into executive for this purpose.

Coun. FEENEY—I am glad to see the esteemed and honorable gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) is in agreement with me, that the charter in that section provides his Honor the Mayor the power to set up this board, and that is all the more reason why we should avail ourselves, as an intelligent body of men, of the decision of the City Clerk or the Corporation Counsel for an answer as to the accuracy of my contention that there is absolutely no need of this kind of legislation; that the Mayor himself has the power under the charter of this city to set up a recreation board identical with the provisions of the recreation bill that is now before us. I am glad that he, like myself, feels the same way. Just to clear up any doubt in the minds of anybody, this setting up of a committee, a recreation committee, is not any different from setting up a department, or if the Mayor were to set up, under the provisions of the city charter, a similar committee, identical with the provisions of the bill before us. Neither would that be necessarily a department. So I hope, Mr. President, in view of the question being propounded by the gentleman from Ward 2 (Coun. Kinsella) as to the correctness of the statement, and in view of the willingness of the City Clerk to answer the question in executive session, and in view of the fact that the esteemed and honorable gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) is of the same mind, I think, in fairness to everybody concerned, that we should go into executive session and learn once and for all just where we stand on the law itself, just whether or not the charter provides that which I claim and that which apparently members of this Body are beginning to agree with, that the Mayor himself has the power without special act to set up a recreation committee. So I move that we proceed.

Coun. TAYLOR—Mr. President, I would just like to add one thing. While the Mayor has the right to set up the board, the Mayor and City Council, it is a little bit different from the bill which has been introduced in the Legislature. We, under our charter, if we make a new department, have no right to take anything away from the School Committee, and you might have two departments working at loggerheads. In other words, in this particular part of the charter, it says: "Nothing in this act shall authorize the abolition or the taking away of any of the powers or duties as established by law of the school committee, the board of commissioners of school buildings, the department of school buildings, the election department or any department in charge of an official or officials appointed by the governor." So that, while we may have the power, as the councilor so well expressed, we can't take away the powers of the School Committee. As a matter of fact, the School Committee have the right to appoint two members on this particular board, and that being so you might have different organizations in the City of Boston working towards opposite ends.

Coun. FEENEY—The Mayor, acting under the Acts of 1909, can set up an identical recreation board and give to the School Committee, as I see it, the same right to appoint members to his committee as the provisions of this act does in chapter 451. So, all the more reason why we should go into executive and get a decision. Let us find out where we stand. Let us get the law.

Coun. CAREY—I have been on the floor twice already, and I have no intention or desire to prolong the debate here on this matter, but I sincerely hope that the day has not come when the members of the City Council refuse to go into executive session for the purpose of obtaining information which is as essential as I believe it is in this case here. If they do refuse to go into executive, I have never yet seen so deliberate an attempt in that line as this, and I certainly hope there won't be any precedent established here, of refusing to go into executive.

Coun. COFFEY—I was glad to hear Councilor Taylor agree with Councilor Feeney. He made the statement earlier today that we didn't have any powers, and we wouldn't lose any. He kind of contradicted himself, agreeing with Councilor Feeney. If we have the powers, and he says we have, let us take advantage of them. Let us and the Mayor set up this board ourselves. Isn't this what we have been hollering for? Everybody has been hollering for home rule in here. Here is a chance for home rule. That proves that we have got the power to set up boards. Let us do it, and then we will know what we are getting. We don't know what we are going to get from this new board, but we will know what we will get from the board we will set up, because we can demand things from that board, as we know who the men on that board will be. Let us take advantage of it. Let us go into executive and come back and kill this bill and send down a special ordinance to the Mayor of the City of Boston. And he has plenty of time before he goes to Beacon Hill to set up this board. He can call a meeting, and we can do it in an hour's time. I think we can all agree who the new members shall be, and agree if there is to be a salary attached. But at least we will know then we have the power, that we are using it and taking advantage of things that are ours, and that no man will be appointed from outside of Boston. And we can demand things that we want in our city.

Coun. TAYLOR—I don't like to be contentious, but I must again disagree with the councilor from Ward 1 (Coun. Coffey). First of all, it must be with the consent of the Mayor that we set up this board, and then after the board is set up the Mayor would have the full right of appointment, not the City Council. We won't know any more then than we do now as to who will be members of the board. And, again, we won't have any more power concerning that board than we have now. It gives nothing more, and takes nothing away from us, if we pass this bill. All we can do is suggest, make orders and pass resolutions. Further than that you will have two departments in the City of Boston working on the same thing, and probably working against each other on many occasions. While we have the power to set up, we haven't the power to take away from the School Committee. The Legislature has that power, and that is why I say it is a waste of time to consider it, because you will have two boards instead of one.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, towards the end of his statement he kind of contradicted himself. He said at the beginning of his statement that we had no power; we can suggest and submit to the Mayor. And then at the end he says again, we can set up the board. I recall that he read out of the city charter that the Mayor with the City Council can set up boards, and that refers to the board of recreation we are talking on now. We don't care who the Mayor appoints. If he wants to appoint four or seven men, that is up to the Mayor. But there is one thing we can insist on, because we can refuse to approve salaries if we want to. We can insist that they be Boston men. We can have a finger in the pie when it comes to taking care of playgrounds throughout the entire district. And we can be assured that if we did appoint Boston men they would have the interest of Boston at heart. Another thing, it seems that everybody is in a hurry to get this thing over with. Why, I don't know. We only meet once a week, and if we do stay till seven or eight o'clock it won't affect us too much. We ought to be glad to stay here, especially on such an important matter as this. As the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) has stated, we don't know what will take place after we pass this, because we pass control into the hands of these four private individuals who will be appointed by the Mayor, as they will have a majority vote. It doesn't mean that two members are to be appointed by the Mayor and one from the Park Department and one from the School Committee. It means that four members shall be appointed by the Mayor, and those shall have a majority vote. And if you will look that up you will find out they can also appoint people to work. That is something else we should take into consideration. They can appoint supervisors and instructors, and they can come from outside of the City of Boston. You go down to Hudson or some other small city or town, and try to take a civil service examination, and they will tell you you have not been a resident of that city or town for five years and you can't take it. But you can come into Boston after being a resident of six months. So I say, go slow, this is a very serious matter.

The roll was called on the motion to go into executive session, and the motion was lost, yeas 9, nays 10:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, D. F. Sullivan—9.
Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—10.

Coun. CHASE—I believe this matter has been fully debated, and I believe both sides are fully conscious of the merits concerned. I therefore move the previous question.

Chairman SCANNELL—There is no debate.

Coun. DWYER—I move that we now adjourn.

Chairman SCANNELL—The motion is out of order. The motion before the Body is to move the previous question. All those in favor.

Coun. DWYER—I believe at all times, Mr. President, a motion to adjourn is in order.

Chairman SCANNELL—There is a pending motion before the Body, and it is the previous question, and a motion to adjourn is out of order. The Chair is in doubt as to the vote and asks for a roll call.

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—What is the purpose?

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to doubt a quorum.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Coffey doubts a quorum. Will the members please rise and the Chair will count them? There is a quorum in attendance.

Coun. COFFEY—I doubt the quorum and ask for a roll call.

Chairman SCANNELL—The clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called, and a quorum was found to be in attendance: Coun. Bayley, Carey, Chase, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—17.

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point.

Coun. COFFEY—In view of the fact that I don't like to see anybody shut off from debate, especially when a fellow wants to get home and is only doing this to get his vote in, I would like to know if I can repeat and ask for the doubt of a quorum again?

Chairman SCANNELL—The councilor is out of order.

Coun. COFFEY—I thought that the doubt of a quorum is always in order and takes precedence over all other matters.

Chairman SCANNELL—Not unless other matters intervene.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President.

Chairman SCANNELL—There is no debate on the previous question, Councilor Dwyer. The clerk will call the roll.

Coun. DWYER—I rise to a point of information. Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of information.

Coun. DWYER—What status is the situation in now?

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Chase moved the previous question. The clerk is about to call the roll.

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information. Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—After the roll is taken the motion then goes before the Body. That would shut off all debate. Is that right?

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Chase moves the previous question. Then you get down to the order.

Coun. COFFEY—If it passes there will be no more debate on the subject matter before the Body? Is that it?

Chairman SCANNELL—Yes.

Coun. COFFEY—Then we can move reconsideration and raise hell for the rest of the night.

Chairman SCANNELL—The next vote will be on the passage of the order.

Coun. COFFEY—Then we can move reconsideration and raise hell for the rest of the night.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President.

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of order.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of order.

Coun. TAYLOR—The roll has just been started, and is about to be called.

Coun. DWYER—I rise to a point of information.

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of order.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, rule out the gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor).

Chairman SCANNELL—The councilor from Ward 21 (Coun. Dwyer) has asked a point of information. The members of this Body will be in order.

Coun. TAYLOR—I submit that the clerk had already called Councilor Bayley's name, and anything after that is out of order until the roll has been completely called.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Dwyer is on his feet, and the Chair will recognize him.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, what are we voting on now, sir?

Chairman SCANNELL—The previous question, and there will be no further debate.

Coun. DWYER—Then after that?

Chairman SCANNELL—You shall vote on passage of the order.

Coun. DWYER—This is just on the previous question?

Chairman SCANNELL—Yes.

The roll was called, and the previous question was not voted, yeas 6, nays 12.

Yeas—Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Muchnick, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—6.

Nays—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, McCormack, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan—12.

Chairman SCANNELL—The question now comes on the passage of the order.

Coun. DWYER—I make a motion we now lay the order on the table for one week.

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of order. I think there was a previous motion to the same effect that was defeated.

Chairman SCANNELL—The motion is now in order because there have been intervening motions.

Coun. DWYER—I have made a motion we lay on the table for one week.

Chairman SCANNELL—Those in favor say aye, opposed, no. It is not a vote.

Coun. DWYER—I doubt the vote and ask for a roll call. The roll was called, and the motion to lay on the table for a week was lost, yeas 8, nays 11.

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Keenan, Kelly, D. F. Sullivan—8.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hannon, Hurley, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

Coun. COFFEY—May I ask reconsideration?

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of order. I doubt very much whether there is ever reconsideration of a motion to lay on the table.

Chairman SCANNELL—The motion to reconsider is out of order.

Coun. COFFEY—Talking on the order. I am going to talk on it, too, Mr. President. A year ago this order came before us and we had a public hearing on it. Councilors Shannon, McCormack, Feeney, Keenan and Bayley are here this year for their first year. They were not here then at all. They didn't have any opportunity to hear this argued at length. At the public hearing held in the executive session Mr. McKenney was present, representing the School Committee. Mr. McKenney said at that time that although he was not representing them, as a figure of speech, he was representing himself, and then he was opposed to this particular bill coming down from the Legislature to be acted upon by members of the City Council. At that time Mr. Shattuck was present, Mr. Lee was present. Mr. Mullen was present. There was somebody else there present from the Park and Recreation Departments. They didn't want to take sides one way or another. They said that we were the law-making body and it was up to us to pass our own legislation. But they were sadly mistaken, because we are not a law-making body and we don't make our own legislation, as it has been proven here today. Our legislation is made for us. In my opinion, anybody that fits can call at the second floor, and the second floor, in turn, can call up the fourth floor, and probably get anything passed that he wants passed. That is something I have never approved of, and no matter who the next Mayor may be, whether I am friendly with him or not—and I think I am going to be friendly with him—that is something I will not approve of. As was well brought out here by some of the councilors, pressure has been brought to bear. They have brought out the sad fact that a marine was killed up in the Fenway, and they tried to draw a red herring across the trail by saying that if this recreation board had been created, that tragedy would not have taken place. Little did we know about what is in store for us in the near future. It is probably just as well none of us do know, because if we did we might act in a different way. But from what I have seen up here today, I know some of the councilors have changed their vote and they don't want to vote in favor of it, but they are going to vote in favor of it. That is why, earlier in the afternoon, before I got my licks in myself, I asked that this order be placed on the table, and I only asked that it be placed on the table so that I could find out if certain councilors here—and I am not referring to those who voted in favor of this legislation last year; I am not referring to those who remained neutral regarding this order last year, but I am referring to those who have changed their vote here today from the stand they took last year. One of them hasn't taken the floor at all to give any reason. That is the sad part, being a silent member of the Boston City Council, or being a member of any other branch of City government or State government or Federal government. When you take a stand you have a right to change your opinion. Everybody makes mistakes. None of us are infallible. But when a person gets up and deliberately changes his vote from one day to the next, he at least ought to have the good grace to get up and give a reason as to why he is changing his opinion and why he is changing his vote. I know pressure has been brought on members of the Council. Pressure has been brought on members of the Council in an indirect way, by editorials in Boston newspapers, which goes to show that whoever is behind this bill has influence in Boston. And in my opinion, which doesn't amount to much, I will admit, it is the blue bloods that have had a grip on this city for the last few years, and they are going to have a grip on this state. And thank God that as yet they haven't got a grip on the nation. But this city has changed radically, I might say, in the past seven or eight years, and it has only changed for one reason, that the bankers can pretty nearly buy what they want in this city. They can pretty nearly buy anything they want and get away with it, and they have done it, and they have proved to us that they have done it. It is easy to go along with the wind, but give me the fellow that will once in awhile get up and buck either the wind or the tide or the Mayor or the Governor or anybody else. Give me that type of fellow, not the fellow that is going to be called out in that room and told, "Do this or do that."

I know a number of fellows here that have gone along with the Mayor. That is their business. I have never criticized them for it. If they see eye to eye with the Mayor, that is their business. I have never had anything to say about it. But I will have something to say when we have an order come up here one day and have councilors vote one way and have it come up another day and have them turn a complete about-face, and vote another way. I think the best argument given here today by any member of the Council was given by the councilor from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor). I think he gave the best argument to all of us here. The best argument, I mean, as to why we should kill this bill here and now, when he admitted that Councilor Feeney in his opinion was right, that the Mayor could set up this board along with the members of the Boston City Council. And as I said before, it is high time that we exert the powers that we have. We have been hollering for a number of years that our powers are being taken away from us gradually, either by direct legislation or indirect legislation by the Legislature. As much as to say, "Let us pass this; there is nothing the members of the City Council can do about it." But this happens to be one piece of legislation that is permissive, and it has to have the sanction of the members of the Boston City Council. Now it didn't have it last year. The vote last year, taken in executive, was 10 to 6 against. If we have only five new members now, the way those five new members have been voting today—3 in the negative and 2 in the affirmative—I can't see for the life of me why this thing is going to pass so easy. But it is going to, because, as I said a moment ago, the pressure has been brought, and it is a crying shame to think that an order or a bill cannot go through this Body honestly and fairly without pressure being brought to bear. They even brought it to bear in the Congressional fight last year. And where do the majority of those votes come from in that Congressional district? They come from Brookline, Newton. They don't come from Boston. Now, if that pressure group has the press, and they did have a certain newspaper in Boston that printed that story about the marine being killed, and mentioned a councilor in this Body who was a candidate for Congress, and stated he and his colleagues were responsible for this marine's death, because we didn't pass that foolish—and I can't call it anything else—Board of Recreation. We don't need a Board of Recreation. For seven years—I can cite one example—Maurice J. Tobin has been Mayor of Boston and his closest friend in Boston, a friend who fought tooth and nail, was Councilor Taylor. Do you hear him deny it? He hasn't one playground in his district—not one in Ward 12. If the Mayor was on the job, if he had the interest of the children at heart, he would have seen that there would be playgrounds in the Ward 12 district of Boston. We knew that our playgrounds would be taken away from them. We couldn't help that. In the case of Wood Island Park, it was a case of giving it to the soldiers or taking it by eminent domain. And if it was taken by eminent domain the only way our people of East Boston could get it back would be by an act of Congress. Now the agreement is that when they are through with those grounds and those facilities, they put them back in the same first-class condition that they found them in when they first went in there. That is the only reason why I voted on giving the soldiers Wood Island Park, and it is a darned good thing we did give the soldiers Wood Island Park, because every week for the past two years 800 soldiers have landed in Wood Island Park and stayed there less than one week, and were then shipped across. That is what happened, and there is no denying it is a darned good thing we gave them Wood Island Park to make barracks to house those soldiers, because in that one area the biggest shipments were being made, with the possible exception of the Los Angeles area.

Coun. FEENEY—I rise to a point of order. I doubt a quorum.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Feeney doubts a quorum. The clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called and a quorum was in attendance, Coun. Bayley, Carey, Dwyer, Feeney, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—16.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Mr. President.

Coun. COFFEY—I yield to the gentleman if he wishes to make a statement.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Mr. Chairman, I move reconsideration of the vote taken of going into executive session, and move that we go into executive session.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Sullivan, it would expedite matters if you would separate the motions and have a roll call. Make a new motion and have a recess for the purpose of going into executive session.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—And the order being referred to executive?

Chairman SCANNELL—If Councilor Sullivan wishes to be in order, he will ask for a recess for the purpose of going into executive. You also can make a separate motion to refer the order to the Executive Committee.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Councilor Feeney has made a motion to refer the order to the executive session, and get an opinion from the City Clerk.

Chairman SCANNELL—The motion to refer the order to executive session is in order if you wish to make it.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Was Councilor Feeney's motion at that time acted upon?

Chairman SCANNELL—It has been, and it has been defeated.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I am asking reconsideration.

Coun. KEENAN—I have not spoken all afternoon.

Chairman SCANNELL—Just let me explain. There is a point of order being made. Do you wish to raise a point of order?

Coun. KEENAN—Yes, I do. I have sat here all afternoon and listened to everyone from Ward 1 to Ward 22, and I think there are about three councilors that have not spoken on the order all afternoon. I was one. Now, it has been well stated that there have been five councilors, including myself, that don't know very much about the bill, and I would like to be enlightened, personally, myself, before I vote for it. If I think in my opinion, after it is explained to me, that it is going to benefit my ward, I will be happy to vote for it. It has been stated by the councilor from Ward 13 (Coun. Hannon) there have been so-called parks, mud holes, in his ward. The councilor from Ward 21 (Coun. Dwyer) praises the playgrounds in his ward. Now, after listening to arguments pro and con, of money spent and given to the Park Department and spent on playgrounds, I say that the money we give as an appropriation to the Park Department—instead of spending that money for tulips, flowers and flags made up in the form of flowers on the Public Garden—I say they should take part of that money for playgrounds. I hope they do, and that they spend it in Ward 17, where we have only one playground that is positively not only a disgrace to Dorchester but a disgrace to Boston. I hope that after all the debate we go into executive and find out the information we want and come out and vote on it.

Chairman SCANNELL—The Chair will state that that speech was not a point of order.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I ask that the vote on Councilor Feeney's motion be reconsidered, because if that motion is reconsidered to go into executive session, the order will go in with it.

Chairman SCANNELL.—No. But if you wish to expedite matters, you can make a motion to have the order referred to executive, and then move we take a recess for the purpose of going into executive session.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—I move the order be referred to the executive session, and the request of Councilor Feeney be answered by the City Clerk.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Sullivan moves the order be referred to executive session. All those in favor? The Chair is in doubt.

Chairman SCANNELL—The Chair is in doubt. The clerk will call the roll.

The roll was called, and the motion to refer the order to executive session and to take a recess for the purpose of going into executive session was lost, yeas 9, nays 9:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Russo, D. F. Sullivan—9.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—9.

Coun. KEENAN—I rise to a point of information. If we go into executive again, do we get the information from the City Clerk?

Chairman SCANNELL—The City Clerk has volunteered to give the information if we go into executive session.

Coun. KEENAN—I make a motion we go into executive session and the clerk will give us the information.

Coun. HANNON—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point of information.

Coun. HANNON—For the exclusive purpose of getting information?

Chairman SCANNELL—For the exclusive purpose of getting information.

Coun. KINSELLA—I rise to a point of information.

Chairman SCANNELL—State your point.

Coun. KINSELLA—Are we to understand that nothing else will be discussed in there?

Chairman SCANNELL—The Chair will so rule. It was the motion of Councilor Keenan that we go into executive session for the purpose of getting voluntary information from the City Clerk.

Coun. KINSELLA—I rise to a further point of information. Are we to understand that that ruling applies also to unfinished business of a prior date?

Chairman SCANNELL—If the motion is passed, we can only consider one thing.

Coun. KINSELLA—And we can't be in action except on that motion?

Chairman SCANNELL—If this motion is passed, we can't take up other business.

The motion to go into executive session for the purpose of getting information was carried, yeas 11, nays 6:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Russo, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Kinsella, McCormack, M. H. Sullivan—6.

RECESS.

The Council took a recess to go into executive session at 6.30 p. m., subject to the call of the Chair. The members reassembled and were called to order by Chairman SCANNELL at 6.50 p. m.

Chairman SCANNELL—The Council will be in order. The Chair will state the question. It is on the passage of the order.

Coun. DWYER—I make a motion we now adjourn, Mr. President. Well, I withdraw my motion.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President—

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Dwyer withdraws his motion. The Chair will recognize Councilor Feeney.

Coun. FEENEY—We have just come back from executive session, and I know that the votes on the primary question are not changed in the slightest. However, I am happy and glad to have heard the answer of the City Clerk coincide with the contention I made earlier today, that the Mayor has the power to appoint a recreation board, and that, notwithstanding the action of the Council here, the School Committee would not be affected in the slightest, because it is within that section that deals with the School Committee. So I am happy at least to know that so far as we stand this legislation is unnecessary. It never was needed. The purpose obviously is something we know nothing about today, notwithstanding the fact we are going to vote for it. I am prepared, without further debate on my part, to let the matter go to a vote, because I know it is going. As I said, the bill can easily be summed up. It is exactly what I said it was in the beginning, except that. And might I add at this time that we don't know what the purpose is behind it, in that we don't know who is going to be appointed to it. And the remarkable part of it is this: That we don't fully understand it, because there are five of us here anyway who have never had the public come to us and tell us what it is all about. And it is regrettable further because we, as the City Council, on a request or specific order by the Mayor, could do exactly the same thing; and the Mayor, in the event that the recreation committee didn't work out as its sponsors claim it would work out, could abolish it. And I just want to clear up in the minds of my colleagues here that I am not against action by us today, to do something about the playgrounds of the City of Boston and the recreational facilities in them. I am interested very much in the children of my district and the children of all districts, as a matter of fact. And I don't think there is any councilor here, in his public life, who has plagued playground officials any more than I have. If this bill was perhaps set up differently, more specifically, without there being permissive words, I probably would be standing fast with the majority of the members here today in favor of the bill. However, I want to make clear my objections, and I am glad my contention has been borne out by the City Clerk, that we as the Council, along with the Mayor, could set up a board similar to this.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President, at this time I will make a motion to lay this on the table so that we can have Mr. Joseph B. McKenney, Director of Physical Education, before us next week to give him an opportunity to say what he wants to say on this matter.

The question came on the motion, and the motion was lost, yeas 6, nays 12:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, D. F. Sullivan—6.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—12.

Coun. DWYER—Mr. President—

Chairman SCANNELL—The question comes on the passage of the order. All those in favor?

Coun. DWYER—I was on my feet before you asked any such question.

Chairman SCANNELL—You are recognized.

Coun. DWYER—I make a motion that we now adjourn.

Chairman SCANNELL—Councilor Dwyer moves we do now adjourn. The Clerk will call the roll.

The motion to adjourn was lost, yeas 4, nays 14:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish—4.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Coffey, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—14.

Chairman SCANNELL—The question comes on the passage of the order. The Clerk will call the roll.

Coun. CAREY—Mr. President—

Chairman SCANNELL—For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Coun. CAREY—On the motion. As a matter of fact, I simply want to say, in fairness to all members of the Council who have opposed and who will vote against this bill, I think it should be made clear that any opposition registered by any member of this Council should not be interpreted by anyone that those who are against this particular recreation board are necessarily against or opposed to anything that can be afforded in the line of recreation for those in the city, be they children or adults. There has been some vicious criticism laid at the door of members of the City Council because of their position against this recreation board in the past. No such vicious condemnation should be laid on the shoulders of any member of the Council who sincerely opposed this bill, feeling within himself that sufficient opportunity had not been given to those who had previously been in charge of recreation in this city. We all want the best that can be had in recreation facilities. I, together with practically every member of this Council—not only this Council, but of the councils for the seven years I have been here—have from time to time introduced orders here asking for improvements in playgrounds or recreational facilities, and asking for sufficient funds to provide the best in recreation. But I do think, for the record, it should be made known that those of us who do not favor this particular board necessarily should not be charged with being against the best that can be provided in the way of recreation facilities in this city. We all want the very best that can be had.

Coun. HANNON—I think that the Councilor from Ward 10 has spoken the truth, and I think that everybody here, whether on one side of the fence or on the other, is equally sincere. And while this debate has been long, I think every member here deserves congratulations for keeping the debate above board. I think the debate has been made on its merits and based on the facts, however the vote goes. I think that each and every one of us knows that every other member here has just as much at heart the interest of the children of Boston.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I have heard some of the councilors state they would stay all night if necessary. I hope that if this order is passed they don't take a walking powder and leave us. We haven't had any opportunity today to introduce what orders we have before us and, regardless of how the vote goes, I hope that I don't have to feel they have only stayed here for this one particular reason. Maybe they were asked or told to stay here, but I hope they stay until all business is taken care of before this body today.

The question came on the passage of the order, and the order was passed, yeas 14, nays 5:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hannon, Hurley, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—14.

Nays—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish—5.

Coun. BAYLEY—I move reconsideration.

The question came on reconsideration and reconsideration was refused, yeas 6, nays 11:

Yeas—Coun. Carey, Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, D. F. Sullivan—6.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Keenan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

Ordered, That the sum of twenty-six dollars and twenty-seven cents ($26.27) be allowed and paid to John F. Kovalski in reimbursement for amount of execution issued against him on account of his acts as a member of the Boston Police Department, said sum to be charged to the Contingent Fund.

Reports accepted; said orders passed.

EXTENSION OF PRADO.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Real Estate Division of the City of Boston to deed the city-owned land at Hanover and Charter streets, adjacent to the Prado, to the George Robert White Fund for the purpose of extending the Prado.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

CONSTRUCTION OF WADING POOL ON PRADO.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Trustees of the George Robert White Fund be requested to consider the advisability of constructing a wading pool for small children on the Prado.

Passed under suspension of the rule.

BATH HOUSE AND SOLARIUM, NORTH END PARK.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Ordered, That the Trustees of the George Robert White Fund be requested to arrange for the erection of a bath house and solarium at the North End Park, Ward 3.

PAYMENT TO FATHER OF KENNETH BALDASSARI.

Coun. RUSSO offered the following:

Passed under suspension of the rule.

WREATHS AND CHRISTMAS TREES IN HOSPITAL.

Coun. COFFEY offered the following:

Ordered, That the Trustees of the Boston City Hospital be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to furnish and place wreaths on the outside of the windows of each ward and room occupied by patients and also to provide and set up a Christmas tree in each ward.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I will speak very briefly on this order. I spent most of Christmas Day last year in the City Hospital, and I asked at that time why they did not have Christmas trees and wreaths, in commemoration of the day. I thought then that it might be a good thing in the future to provide for such decorations, and that is why I have introduced this order at this time.

The order was passed under suspension of the rule.

SHORTER TIME BEFORE REACHING MAXIMUM SALARY FOR COURT OFFICERS.

Coun. KINSELLA offered the following:
Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to consider the possibility of permitting the court officers in the district courts of Suffolk County to reach the maximum salary in four years from date of appointment rather than in the present customary seven years.
Passed under suspension of the rule.

INCREASED PENSIONS FOR INJURED MEMBERS OF POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

MERCHANT SHIP PRODUCTION.

Merchant vessels built in the United States in 1943 numbered 1,896 with a total deadweight tonnage of 19,239,626, according to a report by Admiral Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission and administrator of the War Shipping Administration. Of these, 208, aggregating 2,044,238 deadweight tons, were completed in December. Of the 1943 production, 1,238 vessels were Liberty ships; 70 C-1 cargo ships, 53 C-2 cargo ships; 39 C-3 cargo ships; 5 C-4 cargo ships; 167 tankers; 28 coastal tankers; 57 Liberty tankers; 3 passenger-cargo vessels; 33 coastal cargo ships, including two concrete ships; 16 ore carriers; 27 concrete barges; 46 seagoing tugs; 114 military types, not transports; 53 special types and a considerable number of smaller types, including tugs, barges, etc. Late in 1943, Admiral Land said 2,900 ships were under control of the War Shipping Administration, operated by some 76 general agents of the W. S. A.

PORT STORAGE IMPORT ORDER.

The Office of Defense Transportation, in an amendment to its general order No. 16, has instituted a permit system for acceptance by railroads or truckers of shipments of domestic or import freight to specified port areas for storage for the account of a government agency in a public warehouse in such area. Growing volume of imports, due to decline in ship losses, the O. D. T. said, was putting added strain on port storage facilities, thus making the institution of a permit system necessary.

The application for the port storage forwarding permit the order says, must be made by the government agency for whose account the freight is to be stored, in accordance with procedures prescribed by the director of the division of storage of the O. D. T., in an administrative order.

The following port areas were named in the order: Baltimore, Bellingham, Wash., Boston, Camden, Everett, Wash., Galveston, Houston, Jacksonville, Los Angeles, Mobile, New Orleans, Newport News, New York, Norfolk, Oakland, Cal., Olympia, Wash., Pensacola, Philadelphia, Portland Ore., Portsmouth, Va., Richmond, Cal., San Francisco, Savannah, Seattle, Tacoma, Tampa, Vancouver.

AIRCRAFT MATERIAL PRODUCTION 41
PER CENT OF TOTAL AUTOMOTIVE
WAR JOB.

Behind current attempts to knock Germany out of the war by means of airpower, stands the teamwork of the automotive industry, which has done much to get bombers in the air over Hitler's domain.

The motor industry, starting as a scrub team in the aircraft field a year before Pearl Harbor has since attained major league stature.

In the two years since December 7, 1941, the industry's output of bombers and fighters has constantly soared. Measured in dollar volume, it rose from $400,000,000 annual rate of production on the day of the Japs' assault to $4,300,000,000 on the second anniversary of that "day of infamy."

The same upward spiral took place in deliveries of all forms of war materials by automotive plants. When Pearl Harbor news struck, they had reached an annual production rate of $1,777,000,000 for all forms of military requirements: aircraft, military vehicles, tanks, guns, ammunition, marine engines and other equipment. Today the annual production rate tops the $10,000,000,000 mark.

TANKERS DO DOUBLE DUTY.

American shipyards are now making it possible for our tankers to carry extra loads. A scaffold-type extra deck enables a modern tanker to carry a load of extra freight the equivalent of 10 per cent of its normal load capacity. Some tankers now carry, in addition to its load of gasoline, deck loads of ambulances, planes, jeeps and trucks.

SHIPBUILDING IN 1943.

In 1943 the privately operated shipyards of America came up with another miracle, shattering all world records, producing merchant shipping of approximately 19,000,000 deadweight tons, a volume equal to one fifth of total world shipping at the outbreak of the war and about two and a half times the tonnage built in 1942. Private shipyards also built about 90 per cent of all of the new U. S. Navy ships built during the year. If the man-hours utilized in building naval ships could be translated into merchant ships, the combined volume would be in excess of 40,000,000 deadweight tons. Privately operated ship repair yards repaired and made seaworthy about 23,000 ships in all classes during the year. Total employment generated by the industry is approximately 3,000,000. Private yard and Navy yard 1943 pay rolls, at the prevailing wage rates, are more than $4,300,000,000 paid to labor and shared by almost every state.

STATE AID AND LOCAL REVENUE.

Study of the Division of State and Local Government from the Bureau of the Census shows that in 1941 state aid took 29.5 per cent of the revenues of the forty-eight states and amounted to 24.3 per cent of the total revenues of local governments.

The relative importance of state aid to local government varied widely from state to state, however, ranging from a low in Oregon, where only 5.9 per cent of state revenues were turned over to the localities and accounted for only 6.1 per cent of all local revenues, to a high in Colorado, where state aid took 44.5 per cent of all state revenues and accounted for 36.6 per cent of all local revenues. In Delaware state aid accounted for the highest percentage of local revenues—48.8 per cent, but it represented only 33 per cent of the state's revenues. In all the study shows, state aid to local governments amounted to $1,697,814,000.

SEEKS COMMUNITY AID IN ARMY CAMP CITIES.

The army welcomes the aid of civic organizations in helping to protect soldiers from intemperance and vice when they are away from their duty stations.

The War Department is endeavoring in various ways to protect its personnel from temptations while at military posts and camps. Healthful and wholesome entertainment is furnished. Commissioned officers are charged with the responsibility for the men in their commission. Understanding leaders offer them advice and counsel, and medical officers guard their physical well-being. —American City Magazine.

SLAUGHTERING OF ANIMALS IN BOSTON.

In Boston all slaughtering of animals and dressing of meat must be conducted at the Brighton Abattoir. This establishment, known officially as the Butchers' Slaughtering and Melting Association, was founded in 1870 by an act of the General Court in order to prevent the existence of numerous slaughterhouses within the city limits. Private individuals, if living within six miles of Faneuil Hall, were required to bring their animals to Brighton for slaughter. This step was taken since the very nature of the business frequently gives rise to public health problems, chief of which are noxious odors and rodent control.

In 1876 an inspector of the Board of Health was first stationed at the Abattoir to supervise slaughtering operations and to prevent the use of diseased or under age animals for food purposes. At that time the Abattoir was the main source of meat supply for the entire city, since transportation facilities did not yet permit the shipment of dressed meat for any distance. During 1876 approximately 74,000 cattle, 274,000 sheep and 8,000 calves were slaughtered. In 1942 the Brighton Abattoir handled a total of 149,948 animals.

REFRESHMENT LEASE EXTENDED.

The Mayor has approved the following request of the Park Commissioner:

BOSTON, December 5, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—This department awarded, with your approval a three-year refreshment license to James P. Hoar, 1662 Columbia road, South Boston, for the booth adjacent to the Head House in South Boston.

This license was issued June 1, 1942, and will expire May 31, 1945. The rental of same is $1,300 a year.

The Board of Park Commissioners now respectfully requests that this license be canceled and a new one issued starting with December 15, for a period of five years, and expiring December 14, 1949, the rental to be at the same figure that Mr. Hoar is now paying, namely, $1,300 a year.

The booth which Mr. Hoar uses for the sale of refreshments is of fire-proof construction. It was erected at his own expense and is owned by him. It is on land owned by the City of Boston.

For several years Mr. Hoar has had refreshment concessions in this department and has always paid his rent promptly. His reputation for operating concessions is of the highest. At the present time he operates lunch concessions in Boston and Cambridge schools.

The Board believes this is a fine opportunity to retain a good tenant for the city, and accordingly requests your permission to cancel the present license and issue a new one.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM P. LONG, Chairman.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

The Mayor has approved the following vote of the Board of Street Commissioners:

MAYOR TOBIN'S CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

Mayor Tobin's Christmas message to the people of Massachusetts follows:

"As we observe Christmas—our fourth in the maelstrom of war—our hearts, our hopes, our prayers will be with the men far from home—the men who are suffering not only separation from their loved ones on this holy day but who are knowing, too, the hardship that war has imposed upon mankind.

In countless homes throughout the United States, Christmas, 1944, truly will be reverently dedicated to Him who is the Prince of Peace. Reverently and humbly we join in the prayer that this be our last wartime Christmas.

To all the people of Massachusetts, particularly to the men and women in uniform and to their families, I extend the earnest wish that they may know the true blessings of the day—blessings which will include above all a speedy and successful conclusion of the war."

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Upon varying dates as indicated the Mayor has approved contracts with business firms, contractors, etc., for furnishing labor, supplies, etc. Communications from the heads of the departments interested were as follows:

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 1, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Your approval is respectfully requested for the award of a contract, without advertising, to the Otis Elevator Company for furnishing Otis elevator service to elevators in the Boston City Hospital for the year beginning January 1, 1945, and ending December 31, 1945, in the sum of $985 per month or $11,820 for the entire year. This price is the same as that paid for this service in 1944.

The trustees feel that nothing can be gained by advertising, in as much as the majority of the elevators were manufactured and installed by the Otis Elevator Company. Moreover, the service rendered by them for the past eight years has been satisfactory in every respect.

It is therefore strongly recommended that you approve the award of this contract without advertising.

Respectfully yours,

CARL DREYFUS,
President, Board of Trustees.

INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 4, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—As a result of the hurricane which struck Boston Thursday evening, September 14th, and the more recent severe wind and rain storm, the very large sanctuary stained glass window back of the altar in the chapel at Long Island was dislodged from its sash and is now hanging dangerously in towards the altar. The next heavy wind may blow it in, causing far more serious damage.

The windows, sash and doors in the engine room of the power house at the other end of the island, beneath the laundry, were also blown in, putting our generators out of service, causing water leaks. A serious amount of water came through the laundry from above. With winter coming this must be immediately attended to.

Estimates have been received from John Marshall Company, 150 Tyler street, for the necessary repair work on these two matters:

Chapel, $825; power house, $410; total, $1,235.

M. P. Horan & Co., 34 Oak street, Boston:

Chapel, $980; power house, $550; total, $1,530.

Since both these repair jobs are now very much of an emergency and the estimate of the lowest bidder, John Marshall Company, is considered reasonable at this time, there is nothing to be gained by the city in advertising. I am therefore respectfully asking permission to authorize this work by the John Marshall Company under service orders 77 and 78 in the total sum of $1,235, without advertising.

Respectfully yours,

HUGH J. CAMPBELL,
Commissioner.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 6, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America has a contract with this department which terminates on December 31, for furnishing illuminating gas, equipment, etc., for the lighting of streets by means of approximately 9,200 gas lamps at a rate of $23 per lamp per year.

This is the only company in this section of the country qualified to furnish this service and, in view of this, no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for bids.

The above-referenced price, in my opinion, is reasonable, and resulted from months of negotiations in the spring of 1942. It is my opinion, therefore, that the interests of the city would be best served by awarding a new contract for the year 1945 at the same price for which the service is being rendered at the present time.

I respectfully recommend, therefore, for reasons as outlined above, that a contract be awarded, without publicly advertising for bids, to the Welsbach Street Lighting Company of America, for the furnishing of illuminating gas and equipment, and for the lighting and servicing of approximately 9,200 gas lamps, for the year 1945, at a rate of $23 per lamp per year.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 12, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I recommend that contracts, without publicly advertising for bids, be awarded to the following-named contractors for the removal of snow from the districts designated, and at the prices per cubic yard, as shown below:

Area No. 1, Edward M. Matz, Inc., 25 Huntington avenue, City, 51 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 2, Walter Reed Corporation, 1078 Boylston street, City, 50 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 3, Baker & Co., 1335 Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, 63 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 4, Hugh Nawn, Inc., 77 Floydell street, Roxbury, 51 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 5, Callahan Construction Company, 28 Sharp street, Dorchester, 51 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 6, Baker & Co., 1335 Hyde Park avenue, Hyde Park, 56 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 7, John Deveney Company, 17 St. Ann street, Jamaica Plain, 55 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 8, Coleman Brothers Corporation, 245 State street, City, 57-cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 9, Ward General Contracting Company, 157 Hampden street, Roxbury, 57 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 10, Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., 95 Prince street, Jamaica Plain, 55 cents per cubic yard.

Area No. 12, Joseph P. McCabe, Inc., 500 East First street, South Boston, 60 cents per cubic yard.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

There is no advantage in publicly advertising for bids for this work because the above-referenced list contains the names of all the qualified contractors in this city who own snow removal equipment and who are experienced in doing this kind of work. The prices are the same as those that were agreed upon two years ago as a result of negotiations and, in my opinion, no lower prices could be obtained if bids were publicly advertised for.

These contracts will terminate on December 31 of this year, with the option on the part of the city of extending them to May 1, 1945.

Respectfully,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 13, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Under date of November 10, publicly advertised bids were opened in this office for sewerage works in Austin street, Hyde Park.

The low bid in the amount of $3,745.66 was submitted by the firm of R. Zoppo of 44 Ramsdell avenue, Roslindale. I rejected the bid submitted by this contractor, however, because it was unbalanced, in that he submitted a bid on four items at a unit bid price of 1 cent each, when obviously the work could not be done for such an insignificant amount, because the items provided, respectively, for earth excavation in outside trenches by the cubic yard, rock excavation per cubic yard, sheeting left in place per thousand board feet, and for the laying of brick masonry per cubic yard.

Unbalanced bids, in general, are to be discouraged because, more often than not, they work to the financial disadvantage of the city and it has been the general policy, therefore, since May of the current year, for the department to reject unbalanced bids.

The next low bidder, the N. Cibotti & J. Andreade Company, submitted a bid in the amount of $4,846.25, and I did not feel that it would be to the best advantage of the city to accept the bid of this company, in view of the big difference between that bid and the low bid submitted by the Zoppo Company. I, therefore, rejected all bids and ordered them readvertised.

As a result, therefore, of the readvertising for proposals for this work, bids were opened in this office on November 27 and the low bid in the amount of $5,158.50, was submitted by Baker & Co. In examining the bid submitted by the latter-referenced contractor, I found that he was required to carry in his bid price the amount of $900 which the department had inserted in Item 15, which provided for the leaving in place of 15,000 board feet of lumber for sheeting. This total amount was based on an itemized price of $60 per thousand. The department very often follows the practice of inserting fair and reasonable prices in items that contractors might be inclined to bid in at 1 cent in order to unbalance their bid. In this particular case, however, the Division Engineer of the Sewer Division informs me that he does not contemplate leaving any lumber in place, and, in view of this, I do not feel that the sum of $900 should be included for this work, and it should not have been included in the contract price. I, therefore, rejected not only the low bid of Baker & Co., but also all other bids submitted by contractors on November 27.

It is absolutely essential, however, that the work provided under the provisions of the above-referenced contract should proceed as soon as possible, because the work provides for the installation of a sewer in Austin street to service a group of two-family houses that are now provided with cesspools that are not functioning properly and constitute a menace to the health of the residents in the neighborhood.

While I have rejected the latter-referenced publicly advertised proposals, I feel that a contract should be awarded to Baker & Co. based on the bid prices submitted on November 27, less the $900 that the department inserted in Item 15. Under the circumstances, therefore, the total contract price will be $4,258.50, which is a reasonable price and, in fact, is the price that this company submitted on the publicly advertised bids that were opened on November 27, because, as stated above, the department inserted the amount of $900 for an item that will not have to be used in connection with the prosecution of the work provided in the contract document.

For reasons as stated hereinbefore, therefore, I respectfully request that you approve the awarding of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the firm of Baker & Co., 1335 Hyde Park avenue, in the amount of $4,258.50, for effecting sewerage work in Austin street, Hyde Park, in accordance with the standard specifications of the department, and at the itemized bid prices submitted by that firm on November 27, less the bid price inserted by the department in Item 15.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 21, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The Brighton district paving yard is responsible for the clearing of all snow from the business areas in the Brighton and Allston district.

There are at least six or eight different business areas in this district that require the clearing of snow as soon as possible after the end of a particular storm in order to make certain that local business firms resume normal activities as soon as possible after the cessation of a particular storm. It is a physical impossibility, however, for the local yard to render adequate and reasonable speedy snow removal service to the establishments in all of the business areas in the Brighton-Allston district.

In view of this, it is my opinion that a contract should be awarded to a contractor for contract snow removal in the very important business area in the Harvard avenue section of Allston. I, therefore, have made arrangements with the Hancock Construction Company of 5 Hampstead road, Jamaica Plain, to remove snow from that section of Harvard avenue, Allston, that extends from the Brookline line to Braintree street, from that section of Brighton avenue that extends from Commonwealth avenue to and including Union square, and from any other sections designated by the commissioner in the Brighton-Allston area, at an agreed price of 60 cents per cubic yard. This contractor has a mechanical snow loader and the removal work, therefore, should be conducted expeditiously.

There is no advantage, of course, in publicly advertising for bids for this work, because this contractor is the only one in the city, to my knowledge, who has a mechanical snow loader available for use, and I am certain that no lower price would be obtained if publicly advertised bids were requested.

I respectfully request, therefore, your approval to the award of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the Hancock Construction Company of 5 Hampstead road, Jamaica Plain, for snow removal work, at a price of 60 cents per cubic yard, in the section of Allston designated above, and also in any other sections of Brighton and Allston designated by the Commissioner of Public Works.

It is to be understood that this contract will terminate on December 31 of the current year, with the option on the part of the city of extending it to May 1 of next year.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, December 21, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—For the past several years, the contracting firm of Appel & O'Toole Company, 73 Moreland street, Roxbury, has had contracts with this department in the Dorchester district and also in the district covering the City Proper, South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown and Roxbury involving earth excavation and refilling and trench resurfacing work which called for the laying of bituminous cold patch material.

The work of this contractor has been exceptionally satisfactory and the firm is available at all hours of the day and night on emergency work occasioned by breaks in the water mains. It has trained personnel and facilities not only to perform the provisions of the above-referenced contracts but also to assist the department, if necessary, in repairing the damaged mains. This latter-referenced factor is an important consideration although it has no direct bearing on the two contracts.

The prices for which the contractor is doing the work are very reasonable, and I am absolutely certain—on the basis of past experience—that no lower prices could be obtained if publicly advertised bids were requested. In view of the circumstances, it is my unqualified opinion that the interests of the city would be best served by awarding contracts, without publicly advertising for bids, to this contractor on the basis of the current prices for which that firm is doing the work and in accordance with the current contract specifications.

I respectfully request, therefore, your approval to the award of a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the contracting firm of Appel & O'Toole Company of 78 Moreland street, Roxbury, in the amount of $15,000 for earth excavation and refilling to allow the Water Division employees to replace, regulate or repair Water Division structures in City Proper, South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown and Roxbury (Water Division) districts at the itemized prices of the current contract, and I also recommend that a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, be awarded in the amount of $12,000 to this same firm for earth excavation and refilling to allow the Water Division employees to install, regulate or repair Water Division structures in the Dorchester (Water Division) district, at the itemized prices of the present contract and in accordance with the provisions of the existing contract document.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, December 2, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—This department is in receipt of requisition No. 3429 of the Boston City Hospital calling for one NTW tractor chassis and one 16 cell, 19 plate XL Exide battery for use in the hospital laundry and general utility purposes around the hospital.

Because the manufacture of this equipment has been drastically limited by the War Production Board, public advertising was dispensed with and informal quotations were solicited. The following three bids were received:

Crescent Truck Company: One Model NTW twin front wheel tractor, $1,650; one Exide TLM battery (16 cell, 19 plate), $714.55 (above prices f. o. b., Lebanon, Pa.); approximate freight to Boston, $50; total, $2,414.55.

Mercury Manufacturing Company: One Model A-540736-33 medium duty twin three wheel electric tractor, $17,36.72; one Exide TLM battery (16 cell, 19 plate), approximately $725; total, $2,461.72 (above prices delivered in Boston).

Yale and Towne Manufacturing Company: One Yale Model K24F two wheel drive, two wheel steer tractor, $1,725; one Exide TLM battery (16 cell, 19 plate), $714.55 (above prices f. o. b., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania); approximate freight to Boston, $50; total, $2,489.55.

In conjunction with representatives of the Hospital Department a thorough and detailed investigation was made of the three tractors offered and the general consensus of opinion is that the equipment of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company—although $75 higher than that of the Crescent Company and $28 higher than that of the Mercury Company—is the most suitable for the needs of the hospital for the following reasons:

1. The two wheel steer on the Yale tractor is more practical than either the twin front wheel or the three wheel drive; and

2. The Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company is the only bidder with Boston representation and local service.

With the best interests of the city in mind, therefore, your permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, for furnishing one tractor and battery, in accordance with the above specifications, to the Boston City Hospital. As this company is the manufacturer, no advantage would be gained by public advertisement.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, December 4, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the Worthington Pump Company, 10 High street, Boston, for furnishing to the sewerage works of the Public Works Department parts for the Worthington 34-inch vertical centrifugal pump located at the Calf Pasture pumping station.

Inasmuch as the Worthington Pump Company is the manufacturer and holds the patent on these parts, no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for bids.

The approximate amount of the contract will be $1,434.

• Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, December 4, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—At various intervals throughout the year it becomes necessary to purchase repair parts on an emergency basis for the American LaFrance fire apparatus in use by the Fire Department, and on many occasions such repair parts—when the central maintenance system of the Fire Department is anticipating major repairs on several pieces of apparatus—exceed the sum of $1,000 and are subject to public advertising for bids and the subsequent public opening, awarding, and drawing up of formal contracts.

Since these parts are of special manufacture and can be obtained only from the American LaFrance Foamite Corporation and since they are usually purchased on an emergency basis, we have found that the formality of publicly advertising for bids serves no purpose insofar as competitive prices are concerned and results only in a delay in obtaining the equipment with the inevitable slackening of efficiency of the fire apparatus in question.

During the year 1944 this department has, under your approval of February 28, 1944, obtained these parts as they were requisitioned for by the Fire Department, dispensing with public advertisement and formal contracts. Your permission is respectfully requested to again follow this procedure for the year ending December 31, 1945.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, December 5, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Under date of May 1, 1944, your Honor approved the awarding of a contract to Howe & French, Inc., for furnishing sundry drug items to the various city departments until December 31, 1944, and during any extension of such period as provided in the proposal. The approximate amount of the contract was $1,693.80.

The Auditing Department has notified this office that Howe & French failed to file a duplicate copy of the original proposal with that office, although the Supply Department received its proposal at the proper time and place.

In order to clarify the records of the Auditing Department, permission is respectfully requested to award the contract, without public advertisement, to Howe & French, Inc., for furnishing drugs to the various city departments in the amount of $1,693.80, as required, until December 31, 1944, and during any extension of such period as provided in the proposal.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, December 7, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Under date of August 23, 1944, your Honor approved this department's request for permission to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the American LaFrance Foamite Corporation for furnishing three 1,000-gallon triple combination pumping engines to the Fire Department on its requisition No. 1435 calling for five engines. At that time it was deemed expedient that these three engines be awarded without public advertisement but recommendation was made and approved that the two remaining units be awarded as the result of public advertisement. Bids were subsequently opened on September 12, 1944, for two 1,000-gallon triple combination pumping engines.

Attached is copy of letter of recommendation covering this bid received from the Fire Commissioner. Inasmuch as these recommendations are based upon years of experience with and complete technical knowledge of the types of equipment upon which bids were submitted, I am sure that such recommendations are for the best interests of the city and I fully concur with them.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Your permission is, therefore, respectfully requested to award contracts for the purchase of two 1,000-gallon triple combination pumping engines: one from Peter Pirsch & Sons Company, Kenosha, Wisconsin, at $12,095, net delivered; and one from Great American Industries, Inc., Ward LaFrance Truck Division, Grand Central avenue and Eleventh street, Elmira, New York, at $11,700, net delivered, less 2 per cent cash discount for payment in thirty days.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, November 24, 1944.

DEAR MR. LANG,—In response to your letter dated September 27, 1944, inclosing a tabulation of the bids which were publicly opened and read in your office on September 12th, on proposals for furnishing two 1,000-gallon triple combination pumping engines for the Fire Department, I submit the following comments:

A few months ago we awarded to the American LaFrance Company, without advertising, an order for pumps at a price which did not exceed the price quoted on their last delivery of apparatus, and which was approximately the same as their present quotation. The pumps ordered were two 240 horse power motors. Among the present bidders the American LaFrance Company is well known to us through favorable service in the past. The Ward LaFrance Company has no equipment in our city service at the present time but an investigation indicates that it has equipment in some other cities which is giving satisfactory service. It appears also that their ability to deliver equipment has improved to some extent since the time of their last bid and for that reason I am inclined to give them a trial order of at least one of these two pumps. Theirs is the lowest bid received and I would like to obtain one of their pieces of equipment and use it for comparison against other equipment which we now have or expect to have in our possession.

This will be consistent with my policy of opening up the department purchases to various companies in the field so that we may gain actual experience with the different types of equipment and be better able to judge their relative merits on future bids. With that in mind recently equipment by the Mack Motor Company has been purchased and by the Pirsch Company. With the Ward LaFrance Company product being acquired in 1945 we will have a good cross section of the best known pieces of modern fire apparatus available on the present market.

The Pirsch Company offers a 257 horse power motor at a price less than that of the 240 horse power motor offered by the American LaFrance Company. The Pirsch Company offers delivery in a hundred and fifty days as against two hundred days for the Ward Company and five months for the American LaFrance. A distinctive feature of the Pirsch equipment is that it contains a Hall-Scott motor. This motor has proven to be very successful in Pacific Coast cities where it has been purchased and, because of the testimonials from fire chiefs in this respect, it is my opinion that the public interest would be served by the acquisition of a Pirsch pump containing a Hall-Scott motor, likewise for the purposes of obtaining comparison in actual use in this city. The Pirsch Company recently delivered the first piece of equipment which it has sold to the City of Boston but it is only just now being put into service. Based on the preliminary impression which I have received from this new equipment of the Pirsch Company, I would like to have another piece of the same type with the 257 horse power motor for our city.

Accordingly I recommend the purchase of two 1,000-gallon triple combination pumping engines, one from Peter Pirsch & Sons Company, Kenosha, Wisconsin, at a net cost of $12,695, and the other from the Ward LaFrance Company at a net cost of $11,466 delivered in Boston.

Very truly yours,

W. A. REILLY,
Fire Commissioner.

BOSTON, December 20, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Following receipt of requisition No. 718 of the Penal Institutions Department calling for one 1½-ton truck chassis for use at Deer Island, informal quotations were opened at this office under date of December 8, 1944. The following bids were received:

International Truck Company, bidding on International, $1,118.93; John J. Delaney, Inc., bidding on Chevrolet, $1,290; Cote Motor Company, bidding on Ford, $1,314; General Motors Truck Company, bidding on G. M. C., $1,411.12; White Motor Company, bidding on White, $2,003.

After careful consideration of all specifications and the purposes for which the chassis is required, it is the unanimous opinion of the Penal Institutions Commissioner, the Master at Deer Island, and myself, that the White chassis is best suited for use at Deer Island and, notwithstanding the fact that its price is higher than that of the others, would constitute the best value in the long run.

Since the White Motor Company is the manufacturer, no advantage would be gained through publicly advertising for bids, and your permission is requested, therefore, to dispense with public advertisement and award a contract to the White Motor Company for furnishing the following to the Penal Institutions Department:

One Model WA-14, 1½-ton White chassis, equipped with inclosed cab, cab lights, extra windshield wiper, 17-plate battery, booster brake and vacuum reserve cylinder, 7.00 by 20 tires single front and dual rear, including transfer of platform body from trade-in to new chassis, $2,179.04; less Federal excise tax, $76.04; trade-in on 1935 1½-ton Ford, $100—$176.04; net delivered price, $2,003.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

BOSTON, November 21, 1944.

HON. MAURICE J. TOBIN,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract without publicly advertising for bids to the White Motor Company, 930 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, for furnishing the following to the Boston City Hospital:

One White Model WA-14 chassis ambulance, with streamline body by Farnum and G. M. C. chassis; gross vehicle weight, 14,000 pounds; wheelbase, 158 inches; tires, 7.00 by 20 (single front, single rear); heavy duty generator; 19 plate battery; hydraulic brakes with booster and vacuum reserve tank; ambulance type spring hydraulic shock absorbers; and the following extra equipment;—siren, defrosters, oscillating roof light, rear view mirror, spotlight, dual automatic windshield wipers, lock on gas tank, fog lamps; printing and lettering according to Supply specifications, $4,350; less trade-in on two Model 701 used ambulances, $100 each, $200—$4,150.

This price is exclusive of Federal excise tax. The Boston City Hospital is endeavoring to standardize on White ambulances as they have proved most satisfactory in the past and, as the White Motor Company is the manufacturer, no advantage would be gained through publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS X. LANG,
Superintendent of Supplies.

EVALUATION OF PARKING SPACES.

Coun. HANNON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor confer with the Board of Street Commissioners and the assessors relative to the evaluation of parking spaces, so called, and the fees to be charged for the licensing of same.

Coun. HANNON—Mr. President, a few years ago the City of Boston suffered from a shortage of parking spaces. Now I think we are going to suffer because of a superabundance of them. I was down today to the Post Office square section of the city. Already they have started taking down the New England Mutual Life Insurance building. There is a building that I suppose was assessed in the neighborhood of $100,000. It is empty now; it is of no value to the owners, yet the owners have to pay an assessment in the neighborhood of $100,000. So they tear down that structure and put in a parking space, and the parking space becomes profitable to them, and yet we in the city only have the assessment on the land. They make money by tearing down these buildings, and putting in parking spaces. I don't know on what basis we assess parking spaces. As far as I can determine, a parking space is no different from any other piece of vacant land. It is merely assessed as vacant land. The Street Commissioners get a fee for these parking spaces, but these fees are not based on the location of the parking spaces. They are merely based on the number of cars that can be accommodated in there. Some of these parking spaces charge 25 cents an hour, some 75 cents a day, and some only a dime for all day, but, regardless of how much money they make, the city only gets the same fee for every parcel of land used for a parking space, and that fee is based on the number of cars the parking space will accommodate. Now, we are making it too attractive for people to tear down property and put in parking spaces, and I think the city, in the interest of fair play, should reassess these parking spaces, or should establish some form of license fee, so it would be according to the space it makes for parking or according to its location. We have to do something about taxing property in the City of Boston. The tax burden is becoming more and more heavy on those who have to bear it, and if we still encourage them to tear down buildings and put in parking spaces we will find ourselves devoid of all buildings and have nothing but parking lots.

Coun. COFFEY—I have to congratulate the councilor from Ward 13 (Coun. Hannon) for bringing this order up. The statements that he has made are only too true, that Boston is fast becoming a center—the downtown district is fast becoming a center—for parking lots. The last few years I have been attacking these parking lot owners, for several reasons. One reason is, as I said before, and I repeat again, that not only racket men but politicians own these parking lots. I explained that on the floor of the Council here, but nobody seemed to pay much attention to me. The press never prints anything said that is detrimental. Whether it is afraid of lawsuits or not, I don't know; that may be so. But I told about one man who came down here from Providence, Mr. President. He rents about four parking lots from the City of Boston, and a fair estimate is that he makes something in the vicinity of $600,000 a year on those parking lots. One of the parking lots that he hires is up across from the Park Square building, quite a big lot. There is another one down off Federal street, another one down in the vicinity of Albany street—and the funny part of it, they come in here for sidewalk openings. Being chairman of the committee for the past three years, I have never granted one unless the councilor from the district said, "All right, go ahead." I have always gone to the councilor of the district and asked his opinion, whether he wanted to grant the opening or not. But they don't seem to pay too much attention to our committee. If they want sidewalk openings, they go out and take them, as much as to tell us to go to hell, in plain English. They have done it before, and I suppose they will do it again in the future. For example, we had two men come before our committee once and ask for three openings for a gasoline station, and I asked those men why they came in, why they asked for the openings, and they said, "We need the openings." I said, "You have had the openings for the past six weeks, and why appear before this committee now?" And they had to admit they had had the openings for the past six weeks. Not only did they have the openings but in spite of the rules and agreements made at one time by the Mayor that the openings would be only 30 feet and no more, these three openings that I refer to were over 40 feet. I think something should be done regarding this order that Councilor Hannon has brought before us, and I think that a fair fee should be set up whereby the City of Boston should receive a fair return. All we have to do is go around to shipyards to see the three shifts there of cars parked in these lots, getting anywhere from $2 up to $2.80 a week. I have only got one in my ward. I have opposed that, and in return, giving credit where it is due, Commissioner Hyland did open up an old, abandoned wharf over there, and made it into a free parking space for the workers of the Simpson yard. As to this other parking lot they have there, I was the only one that appeared in opposition. The petitioner did bring in the names of people who wanted to get the lot open to get cars off the street, but at the same time something was accomplished by getting the Simpson workers a free parking lot. I think that should take place in every ward in the entire city. As far as the downtown section of Boston is concerned, it is a shame and a disgrace. They are tearing down buildings. They have torn down a hotel across the street from us. The next thing we know a parking lot space appears in its place. Now, there is a place on Federal street where they are tearing down a building in the heart of the business district, and they have sent in a petition for a sidewalk opening. They intend to make a parking lot out of that now, the one that Councilor Hannon referred to. They seem to think there is more money in a parking lot than trying to get money from bankers or brokers or people in that section to build a building. So I think that we either ought to have a meeting of the Committee on Licenses or the entire Body in executive session and do something about stopping these parking lots, or put a tax or fee on them so that the city will at least get some revenue. But, for the life of me, I can't understand why the City of Boston will take property they own and let it out for parking lot purposes, either to politicians or racketeers—and I think everybody knows who I refer to; if they don't, they should—when those parking lots could be well used for play areas, definitely could be used for play areas. I am going to ask that this order be referred to the Executive Committee, Mr. President, so we can talk further on it.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

RESURFACING OF LONSDALE STREET, WARD 16.

Coun. FISH offered the following:

Ordered, That the Public Works Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to resurface Lonsdale street, Ward 16.

4. Report on order (referred June 19) relative to Dedham and Hyde Park Gas and Electric Company recommending passage of accompanying new draft:

Ordered, That the City Council and Mayor hereby accept chapter 369 of the Acts of 1941, extended by chapter 163 of the Acts of 1943, entitled "An Act Providing for the Acquisition by the City of Boston of the Property of the Dedham and Hyde Park Gas Company Located Within the said City and the Lease Thereof to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company."

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. Chairman, we have gone into this matter pretty thoroughly in executive session. Its purpose is to help the people in half of my ward to receive the same benefit as those having the Boston Consolidated service, as is experienced by every other consumer in the City of Boston, and I certainly hope that this order will pass.

Coun. SCANNELL—Mr. President, I don't like to get up here and oppose anything that would be of benefit to the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) or to the Hyde Park district of Boston. But, I want to have it known here that I am not going to vote for anything that will throw a burden upon the whole City of Boston. This matter has been in before the committee for the last three or four months, I understand, and, lo and behold, at the second last meeting of the year it comes into executive session. This is such a bill as the Boston Elevated put over on the taxpayers of the City of Boston 22 or 24 years ago, where they threw the Boston Elevated and their deficit over to the taxpayers of the city. I don't intend to vote for a bill such as this unless I have further information. If I know that it is only to help the Hyde Park section of Boston, then I am for it, but if it is going to affect the taxpayers of the City of Boston, I am not for it. I want further information on this bill, and maybe on December 28th we can act on this, just as we act on the extension of the West Roxbury cemetery. I don't know anything about this matter, and I would like further information on it. I, therefore, move that this bill be laid on the table until the meeting of December 28, so that we can get further information upon this matter.

Coun. FEENEY—I will be only too happy to answer any questions, if the councilor from Ward 6 (Coun. Scannell) might care to ask them. I have not the slightest doubt he is not thoroughly—

President KERRIGAN—Councilor, there is no debate on the motion to lay on the table. The question is on the motion to lay the matter on the table until the next meeting. All those in favor? The Chair is in doubt and will ask for a roll call.

The roll was called, and the motion to lay on the table until the next meeting was lost, yeas 8, nays 11.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Chase, Hurley, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan—8.

Nays—Coun. Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Russo, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

Coun. COFFEY—I would just like to make a statement here, and I think the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) could answer me when I get through talking. All I want to say is that this is permissive legislation. We pass it and it goes to the Mayor. If we pass it today, I think we will be doing the Mayor a favor—that is, in the event that we pass it today, and not wait until the 28th of the month,—because if we pass it then he won't have much time to act on it; but if we pass it today, it is only permissive legislation, and that would give him more time to get in touch with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Dedham-Hyde Park Gas Company, and find out if they can come to some agreement; and if they can't, no harm has been done. The Mayor can then just drop the matter in the waste basket, or send it up to us in the form of a veto, with a statement that he can't get the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Hyde Park-Dedham Gas Company together. But if we do pass it today, as I say, it will give him more time to do that, and maybe he can get them together. Maybe the Dedham-Hyde Park Gas Company wants to get out of the business in this section, and if they do the Boston Consolidated Gas Company can come in and take over. But we must consider what the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) has said, that they are charging excessive rates—rates much larger than the rates of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company to the people in that district. And, as the councilor has brought out, more than half the people in his district are served by the Dedham-Hyde Park Gas Company, and he thinks it is to their benefit, and a saving to their pocketbook, that this matter be given action today. If possible, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company should take over this other company. They could serve the people of that district, the same as they are serving the people throughout the rest of the entire City of Boston, and much cheaper. I think those people in that section are entitled to the same consideration we are giving any other part of the city.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I wonder if the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney) will answer a few questions?

Coun. FEENEY—Yes, I will be only too happy to answer any questions. I had intended to answer several questions which were in the mind of Councilor Scannell.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I appreciate the courtesy of the councilor from Ward 18. I desire to formulate an opinion on the matter, which necessitates asking questions. I wonder how the cost is assessed, according to the stipulations of the bill?

Coun. FEENEY—I didn't get the question clearly from the gentleman from Ward 22 (Coun. M. H. Sullivan).

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—How much will the property cost, councilor?

Coun. FEENEY—The approximate cost of the property is $500,000.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What is the assessed value of the property?

Coun. FEENEY—The assessed value of the property is very close to the same amount. Unfortunately, councilor, the assessed valuation of the company in its annual report embraces three communities—two towns and one city. It is not broken down, so I could not give you the exact valuation, but in answer to your question I will say that that approximately is the same amount.

Coun. M. B. SULLIVAN—What is the total valuation of the property, councilor,—of all the properties of the company?

Coun. FEENEY—I would say in the neighborhood of $650,000 or $660,000.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Is there any manufacturing plant that, according to the bill, would come to the City of Boston because of the purchase?

Coun. FEENEY—No.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What would come to the City of Boston as a result of the purchase?

Coun. FEENEY—The lines, the mains, the control stations, the office, and its equipment.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—How much is the office assessed for, while the property is there at that site?

Coun. FEENEY—That I can't say, because my answer to that question would have to be identical with the answer I gave to your previous question, when you asked the assessed valuation of the entire property. I haven't any figures broken down on the valuations.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What was the original cost of all the properties, councilor?

Coun. FEENEY—The original cost of all the properties—the original cost of the property was $896,000.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—How old is the property, councilor?

Coun. FEENEY—You are speaking now of the company itself?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—No; how old are the real properties of the company?

Coun. FEENEY—I would say in the neighborhood of 20 years. I can't give you the exact date, but I would say in the neighborhood of 20 years.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What was the original cost of the properties involved in the proposed transfer to the City of Boston?

Coun. FEENEY—I am afraid I will have to give you the same answer once more to that, the same answer which I gave you when you propounded the question of the total assessed valuation. Neither is that broken down.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What does the bill provide relative to the amortizing of the debt involved in the purchase of the property?

Coun. FEENEY—It provides for bonds to be issued by the City Treasurer not in excess of 45 years.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—And when bonds are issued is ten cents to go on to the tax rate as a result of this loan?

Coun. FEENEY—Not to my knowledge. There is nothing in the bill that provides for—

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—You know, as far as our public utilities are concerned, the water, the sewerage, and so forth, in the City of Boston—in the event there is a loan for public utilities a ten-cent cost must be assessed on the tax rate?

Coun. FEENEY—That I am aware of. But this company pays to its parent body 56 cents per thousand cubic feet before it sells to its consumers, compared to 29.5 paid in other sections.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What is the total figure of the gas supplied by the Boston Consolidated?

Coun. FEENEY—77.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—77 what?

Coun. FEENEY—77 cents per thousand cubic feet.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—The Boston Consolidated Gas is going to charge—

Coun. FEENEY—I misunderstood the question.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I duplicated myself; it was my fault. What will be the cost for the Boston Consolidated Gas Company?

Coun. FEENEY—It will be the same cost the Boston Consolidated is charging its Boston consumers.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—In view of the fact there is special legislation, isn't it possible they might charge some other fee?

Coun. FEENEY—No, there is no other fee unless his Honor the Mayor in conference with the officials of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Department of Public Utilities do so determine.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—The present pipe lines to this company, the outlets, draw their supply from where?

Coun. FEENEY—From Framingham, at the Dedham line.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Is that a municipal concern in Framingham?

Coun. FEENEY—No, private. And I would add that there are times when the Hyde Park company sees fit to purchase additional gas over and above that which is supplied to them from their parent body, and their manufacturing source, at which time they take the gas out through the Mattapan intake, which is on the Boston line.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—But at that Mattapan intake have they sufficient lines at the present time to accommodate themselves in the event they were to be lined up with the Boston Consolidated?

Coun. FEENEY—Yes, in the matter of an emergency they can open intakes of Mattapan and supply Boston from Consolidated.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Does the bill provide for any definite reduction in cost to the people of Hyde Park?

Coun. FEENEY—No, that is understood by the price Boston charges its consumers.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Of course it is conjectural, as far as its value is concerned, just what the cost might be?

Coun. FEENEY—No, I wouldn't say so, for the simple reason that there is no reason in the world to believe there will be any difference in the price of gas charged to the Boston consumers now than will be charged to the Hyde Park consumers.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Human frailty notwithstanding?

Coun. FEENEY—Human frailty notwithstanding.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Does the bill provide for the employees of the Hyde Park area or the Dedham area?

Coun. FEENEY—No, it didn't provide. It makes no provision, but I can assure you, sir, that his Honor the Mayor would not approve this bill, knowing his Honor the Mayor as I believe I do,—he would not approve this bill if it meant that any person would lose his job. Secondly, it would be to the advantage of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company to keep those employees on the pay roll, by reason of the fact that they, better than anybody else, understand the setup in the Hyde Park district. And their employees out in the streets know better than anybody else the locations of their mains, and where work must be done.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I am not legal-minded, but can you tell me if there is not written into this bill the essence of what the Mayor will adopt if he signs it, and that there are no extraneous papers involved, so there can be any assurance that these men would not be fired?

Coun. FEENEY—Well, Mr. President, if the councilor from Ward 22 is on a fishing expedition, I will say that thus far he has only got a very, very flimsy reason to oppose this bill, because he is perhaps one of the strongest supporters of his Honor the Mayor in this city, and I am certain he will agree with me that his Honor the Mayor would have no part in any legislation, either as Mayor in his remaining days or as Governor during the next two years, in laying off or having anything to do with any legislation which might result in firing people who hold jobs.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I will not attempt to engage in any speechmaking for the moment but, on the other hand, I still want to obtain certain knowledge. I am on no fishing expedition, and if I can see any more reason for voting for this than for the cemetery I will vote for it. But I merely want to ask this, and want your point of view. I want to know what information you may have at your command, and I want to know if it will stand up. I am trying to clear it in my own mind. Now, I want to know if there is any possible way these men can be assured they are to be safeguarded in their jobs. You don't know, and I don't.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, yes, there is all the reason in the world why I can say yes, these men will have legal protection.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I asked you that before.

Coun. FEENEY—I said not in the bill. I am speaking of the agreement the Mayor would enter into, as Mayor, with the officials of both companies.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—It is not guaranteed by the bill that we are asked to take in toto this very day?

Coun. FEENEY—In answer to the gentleman from Ward 22, I would say there were similar guarantees made by the City of Boston and the then Mayor of Boston in 1924, to provide certain guarantees in the old Eastern Massachusetts Railway Act, passed in 1924, and upon which this act is based, practically word for word.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Mr. President, is this act mandatory upon the Boston Consolidated Gas Company to furnish gas out there?

Coun. FEENEY—In answer to that question, I would advise the councilor no, there is nothing mandatory upon the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, so that, if the Mayor in his wisdom saw fit to reject the provisions of this bill or in the event that the Boston Consolidated Gas Company would enter into an agreement with his Honor the Mayor, there would be no compulsion for them to take from the company.

Coun. KINSELLA—I wanted to ask Councilor Sullivan if he would yield for one question.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I am sorry, but it would break up my line of thought. I wonder if the councilor would tell me if it is mandatory according to the provisions of the bill. I am confident as to the mentality of the councilor from Ward 18. I don't think we gain anything from the last seat on the right.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I want to serve notice on the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. M. H. Sullivan) that I resent personalities, and the inference of personalities, when he is questioning me. I don't think he is being entirely fair with his comments in his line of questioning, when he makes those remarks. I think, councilor, you should confine yourself to the questions, and I will continue to answer them to the very best of my ability, and I don't think you should make inferences. If the question is asked of me by some other councilor, and I inadvertently turn my head toward him, I don't think it is any cause for you to make any insinuations or inferences whatever that I am not capable or am relying on the help of somebody else.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I am making no inferences. When I stipulated and agreed that he was competent to take care of himself, I thought probably some other person thought that he was not. Councilor, will you tell me if it is mandatory on the Dedham Gas Company to sell this property in the event we adopt this act?

Coun. FEENEY—Will you please repeat that?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Is it mandatory?

Coun. FEENEY—In the event the Council passes it and the Mayor approves it, councilor, I would inform you that the city has the right under eminent domain, under the provisions of chapter 79 of the General Laws.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Will you cite that to us, councilor, please?

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, under the provisions of chapter 79 of the General Laws—

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Is it lengthy, councilor?

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President—

President KERRIGAN—The Chair will declare, councilor, that is the act that pertains to eminent domain in general in all propositions.

Coun. FEENEY—In answer to the gentleman, I will add that it is lengthy. It takes about 35 to 40 pages.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—That is not the special act; that is the General Laws?

Coun. FEENEY—Yes, you asked me if the city would be empowered?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—That is right.

Coun. FEENEY—If it would be empowered to take it, notwithstanding the attitude of the Dedham-Hyde Park Gas Company?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—What provision is made for the taking of the properties in the event they are under it?

Coun. FEENEY—In the event they are under the chapter dealing with eminent domain, they have the power to take by eminent domain.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I would ask in view of the fact there was no statement in the present bill which is proposed to us today for the city to take this over under eminent domain, in view of the fact that chapter in the General Laws has existed some time, haven't we legislation to care for it, in the event we wanted to take it under eminent domain and lease to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company?

Coun. FEENEY—The eminent domain provision is in the bill.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Thank you, councilor.

Coun. KINSELLA—Will the councilor yield?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Yes.

Coun. KINSELLA—In view of the long drawn-out comment on the possibility of unemployment, I would like to ask the gentleman from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeny) if the Dedham-Hyde Park Gas Company is presently a going concern?

Coun. FEENEY—In answer to the gentleman from Ward 2, I would answer in the affirmative.

Coun. KINSELLA—I have another question.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I yielded for a question which I thought was directed at myself.

Coun. KINSELLA—It is principally a second question designed to answer your original question.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I yield for another question.

Coun. KINSELLA—I was going to offer a suggestion that if the company is a going concern, as Councilor Feeny has said, the question of unemployment ought to be a minor question, in view of the fact that physical property must be maintained and operated. If they discharge that personnel, they must take others in. The property is out there and the personnel will continue.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—The physical properties are now going, but those are going to be going in the future, and we certainly are not going to tell the Dedham company, from whom we are buying something, just who they are to keep in their employ. I don't know whether there are any physical properties in Ward 18, but in the event there are physical properties it is possible those might be used for other purposes, or might be closed, in view of the fact that the Boston Consolidated Gas Company is going to line this in from some other section.

Coun. FEENEY—I would inform the gentleman at this time, if I may, the only piece of equipment that might not be used would be the intake and control of the Dedham line. All other pieces would be in use.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—May I direct this question to you? Have you any knowledge of how many men are used to maintain the pieces of equipment you make mention of in the Boston area?

Coun. FEENEY—I would advise the gentleman the equipment is automatic, and, if it is maintained at all in the way of care and attention, it is only given that care and attention perhaps once a week, to take care of the load.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—It is an old story to some of us. Some years ago the present member of the School Committee, Mr. Norton, from Ward 18, introduced a similar order, as I recall, and I believe that there was the same objection voiced relative to the cost of this property. It is $500,000, and from the answers I get no evidence of what the property is worth. We don't know whether the good will is five cents or whether the pipe lines are rusty, and yet we are asked to spend half a million dollars on the information we have had in a few minutes. I have a high, personal genuine regard for the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney). I believe he is an able and honorable man, and if we differ on this matter it is a matter of viewpoint, and I make no personal inference toward him when I debate the matter. I still say we don't know what we are buying, and we are buying a pig in a poke. We are asked to buy gas pipes that in all probability are old. From statements made I would say the good will there is not worth too much. This involves $500,000, and $500,000 is half a million dollars, and it amounts to about 37 cents on the tax rate. In one year it amounts to perhaps 10 cents on the tax rate. It involves a payment over a period of something like two-score years. We don't know just whether the properties are worth $500,000. It is a long term investment. We don't know what we are buying this afternoon. Here is a public utility. I do know what the City of Boston is asked to buy, and I don't know what every member of the Boston City Council is asked to put his name to. I only know they are saying, "Here are some pipes and some good will."

It amounts to plenty for the taxpayers of Boston, not only for one forty-fourth of the city, but for forty-four forty-fourths—and I represent two forty-fourths of it. We are asked to buy something here this afternoon, and God knows what we are buying. He spoke about some control station out there, and when we were informed it was automatic it was a surprise to every member not living in the immediate area, because they didn't know what we are asked to buy. We are asked to buy this for half a million. We have to be consistent. Laying it on the table is consistent with good judgment, good faith and good conscience. I will not put my name onto any bill here this afternoon, any bill such as this, although I would like to do it for the benefit of certain members. I don't like to vote against it; I don't like to vote against the councilor from Ward 18, because I know he is a hard and energetic worker in his district. This is in its essence, possibly, a good bill, but you can't do good by doing bad, and you may be doing something very, very, very bad here this afternoon, spending half a million dollars, if you are going to recommend the passage of this order. If you recommend the passage of this order, you are recommending that the City of Boston expend $500,000. Your father will pay for it, your mother will pay for it, and the kids will pay for it, and you don't know what you have given them. This is something demanding all consideration. This is an investment of forty years, and possibly four hundred years, if it lasts, but we don't know whether it will last four days after it is purchased. This is something that demands real consideration, and not consideration of 48 minutes. I read it for the first time here this afternoon, and I know it has been in committee for quite some time. I read it approximately 48 minutes ago, and with no reflection on the judgment of the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney)—I am not going to argue that again—I have a solid basis for the position I take today. You can't properly go out and invest half a million dollars if you don't know what you are buying. If it was your own money you wouldn't do it. This is a bond issue, and the kids will be paying for it from two to four score years. But it is wrong unless you know what you are voting for, and there isn't a man here this afternoon that knows what this is. And I have heard more of it than most of the members, because I remember when Clem Norton brought it in years ago. But, not knowing what it is and seeing that it will cost a lot of money—and we are the conservators of the people's interest and the trustees of their rights—we haven't any right to vote for it; and any man that votes for it not knowing more than I do will be voting wrong. It may reflect itself in the attitude of the public for years to come. They got the Boston Elevated some 25 years ago, and over the years the people have not been satisfied. And how does the Boston Consolidated Gas Company fit here? Again, if we are politically ambitious, this is throwing half a ward away. It is something we don't know anything about, and I would rather be impolitic once more than vote wrong on the measure.

Coun. MUCHNICK—To carry on further, I don't know, after hearing the questions and answers, and after the few minutes that were taken up in Executive Committee—I don't know whether this is a good thing either for the people of Hyde Park or for the general public of Boston. I too have a high regard for the councilor from Ward 18 (Coun. Feeney), and I have something of affection for the people there. With all due modesty, and due respect to my colleague on my left, (Coun. Taylor) that is also my future Senatorial district. I would like to know whether, in voting for or against this bill, I am doing the right thing either for them or for the city. It seems to me that, rather than take only the secondary evidence which we were able to obtain in a hurried fashion this afternoon from the councilor, it would have been much wiser to call the officials of both of the companies, or more if there may be more—I haven't even had a chance to read the bill—in before us at a public hearing, and get all the facts which we could muster there either for or against it. As it is now, if the matter does come to a vote, I am forced to vote against the bill only because I do not know enough about it in order to vote for it. And if there is any way, even now, of putting this over for another few days, after the vote has been lost on tabling—of putting this over another few days for the purpose of calling in the officials of the company and seeing what they are going to do with the employees, or who is going to buy, or how much is going to be paid—if there is any way of doing that, I am in favor of it. There are some long-term leases involved. All these things should be considered and, if possible, should be considered in the future. And if a motion to reconsider the motion to table is in order, I would like to make it at this time. If that motion is out of order—as I can see from the activity—I would like to make a motion to refer it to executive.

President KERRIGAN—The question is on the motion to refer back to executive.

Coun. MUCHNICK—With invitations to be extended.

Coun. FEENEY—It is to be regretted, of course, that some of the councilors haven't more thorough knowledge of this bill than they possess at the present time. I can sympathize with them because I have been very much that way on a bill, when I didn't know too much about it. The gentleman who just took his seat, I believe, was present, but I don't believe he was prone at that time, if my memory serves me correctly, to delay that bill another day until some of those people for and against could go before the committee and express their viewpoint. This bill, Mr. President, will die by statute limitation on the last hour of this year. That gives you some idea of its urgency. That was not true of the bill we had before us previously. There was no time limit on that bill, if my memory serves me correctly. And I want to be fair with the Mayor. Without going into it in detail, summon those here in this chamber who are friends of his. They know that I have been extremely fair. There isn't any one of you who can stand on his feet and say that I have not been fair. I know that I will embarrass people. I am just as old a hand as any one of you, but, Mr. President, I have been fair. I don't want to embarrass myself, however, by agreeing to send this into committee for another week and then throwing it on the Mayor's desk with a matter of a few days, or thereabouts, for him to give consideration to it. I am a reasonable man, and I have always been reasonable in this body. I have always gone along on matters that I thought were a benefit to the people of the district from which they came. I have done the best I could to answer the questions that have been asked of me, not only here but in executive session. It isn't my fault that this bill wasn't heard last week. It was unfortunate, but conditions prevented it from being heard last week. The people of my district suffer from most unsatisfactory conditions in so far as the price rate for their gas is concerned. It may interest you, Mr. President and members of this Honorable Body, to know that if the petition of the Hyde Park Company for increases to the people of my district should go through, then we will have the highest price in the entire United States, no city or other town excepted. That is why I am sincerely interested in at least sending this to his Honor the Mayor for his consideration and his study. I know that he will be fair and he knows that I am reasonable. We are in the unfortunate position in our district that one half the ward is in the grasp of one of the most difficult situations concerning any people of any part of this city. They are forced to pay the greatest price along the Atlantic seaboard for gas. And if I am not mistaken, sir, I will unqualifiedly assert that we pay one of the very highest, not only along the Atlantic seaboard but in the entire United States. Serving the people of Hyde Park is nothing new to the Boston Consolidated Gas right now. They are under contract to serve us, but not at the price that they pay to their parent body of 29.5—but, rather, sir, 77 cents per thousand cubic feet. Is it any wonder, then, that we are paying the terrific prices that we are forced to pay? There was a time when a councilor or alderman, whoever he might have been, stood where I am and asked you, asked those who represent the districts you represent, to go along with him and give the people of Hyde Park a chance to grow, with a single fare to Boston. This was the bill that brought in all of them. And, sir, that body of men had confidence in Hyde Park, and it has paid dividends. It is one of the finest districts in this entire city. It has grown and it has become the third largest taxpaying ward in all of Boston. Sirs, in executive, I pointed out the wide discrepancy between the rates of both companies. I showed where, for example, the figure of 3,000 cubic feet, which I am informed by competent authorities is the average consumption for the average home—and I quote as my authorities the United States Department of Labor and the National Association of Gas Industries—it appears that Boston charges $3.60 and Hyde Park charges $4.53. Their proposed schedules which will go before the Department of Public Utilities at the conclusion of hostilities are $4.75. That is why I am fighting here for the people of my district. And I think it would be a poor councilor indeed who did not stand up in his boots, being subjected to every type of questioning, to put through something that would benefit his people, the people that sent him here. Mr. President, I could bore you and the members of the Council for hours on the general gas structure because I have a pretty good knowledge of it for a layman —as good as any layman you might have in this body. But I am not going to plague you and the members of your Council by taking up your time in further discussion. Suffice it to say that we, the people of Hyde Park, deserve some consideration, and we will be satisfied if the Council at least sends it along for further consideration. If this bill is put over for another week, how can the Mayor give any real, reasonable period of time to its consideration, bothered as he is with multiple matters of business that concern him in the closing hours of his administration and his preparation for taking his seat on Beacon Hill? I say to you that good public service and the people will be served if this bill is passed by this Honorable Body. As I said before in executive, this company made money last year, and they are making money this year. It is a growing concern, and that notwithstanding the fact that the Framingham Gas Light Company through its parent body, the Worcester Gas, is siphoning out profits. That, sir, is the reason the people cannot go to the Department of Public Utilities and petition for decreases in the price of gas, because they are able to show excessive charges by their parent body. That is not so in Boston. Boston pays 29.5, and if this company were absorbed a price commensurate with that would be charged to Hyde Park, and savings would be reflected in the bills sent to the people of Hyde Park. And, likewise, savings and profits would be reflected at the end of the year when the report is made to the Department of Public Utilities. If they can make a profit of $25,000 with double the charges that Boston is paying, then it is reasonable to assume they are going to make considerably more money than they are making now. So the City of Boston is not taking a pig in a bag. It is taking a going concern. It is taking it so as to give the people of Hyde Park a lower price of gas, a price that the rest of the city has, and I believe that they are entitled to it. I sincerely hope, Mr. President, that you and the members of the Council will go along with the people of my district and pass this bill today.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—I possess a high regard for the councilor from Ward 18, as I think other members of the Council do. I have no desire to reflect upon him personally in my argument. But that does not change my argument in the least. I understand that the Department of Public Utilities assesses the charges for any area. That is, they assess for Boston and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company.

Coun. FEENEY—Will the gentleman yield?

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Yes.

Coun. FEENEY—I just wish to say to you, through the President, they don't directly make the charges. They approve or disapprove the rate schedules. They have nothing to do with the setting of charges.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—They approve the charges on the rate schedules?

Coun. FEENEY—Precisely.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—And, approving them, they approve a higher rate in Hyde Park. Now, these men have to give some logical reason or some presumably logical reason, for doing such a thing. Are the physical properties of such a nature? Is the topography of such a nature? We don't know why they charge more, but they must have some reason for saying the charges will be higher in Hyde Park and Dedham than in Boston. Let me say this: The Dedham Company, according to the books, pays the Framingham Company for the gas. They are a purchaser, and the Department of Public Utilities has to approve the costs assessed by the Framingham Company to the Dedham Company. And they must argue, as reasonable men, and say that there is some reason for allowing the Framingham Company to charge the Dedham Company more than the Boston Consolidated Gas can assess the Boston people. Now, if this is so—say that the Boston Consolidated takes over this part of the plant operated by the Dedham Company. They purchase it outright, and they find some cause for charging more. Who is going to pay the bill? Are the people of this same area going to pay the same costs? They will be getting the same product. The same topography will prevail; the same conditions are in the earth for sinking pipes, and everything else. There must be some cause here why they allow the Framingham Company to charge Dedham more, and if they allow that now they couldn't change it when the Boston Consolidated Gas takes it over. Either they allow the Boston Consolidated Gas to charge more, or they assess it on the 44/44ths of the entire area. So the people in Ward 22 or Ward 21, and in the various other wards of the city, pay the bill. And, in addition to that, they are paying a little bill of $500,000—paying a little bill of half a million, paying interest rates on it, paying the bill in the tax rate. And so the last state of the people from Hyde Park will be worse than the first, and the last state of the people of the entire City of Boston will be worse than when we started out to help the people of one area. We will be helping nobody, according to my argument. The only people that can possibly benefit by this, in the last result, are the people of 1/44th of the city, at the expense of the other 43/44ths. It is logical; it is conclusive. Somebody has to pay the costs, and the Public Utilities Commission says the rate the Framingham Company is to charge to the Dedham Company is reasonable. Are they to back-track and say it is not a reasonable charge? And are they going to say the same conditions prevail with the Boston Consolidated and that you can charge half the people of Ward 18 the same charge they have been paying, and in the meantime Boston is left with a little bag, costing the sum of $500,000?

Coun. FEENEY—I wish to comment, if I may, for just one moment before I conclude, on the logical conclusions of the Department of Public Utilities, as the councilor from Ward 22 (Coun. M. H. Sullivan) would put it. To substantiate his argument against this bill, he referred to what he considered logical conclusions in so far as the charge is concerned made by the Worcester Company to Hyde Park. Well, it is a very simple matter for any parent public utility body to justify excessive charges to its subsidiaries by quoting the cost of manufacture. That is how they have been able to justify before the Department of Public Utilities the charges that they have been putting on the books of the people of my district. In 1938 they were charging 65 cents, and in repeated public hearings, and in subsequent hearings, I repeatedly took issue with the company on that rate of 65 cents. So that it has been dropping down to its present figure over those years to 57 cents. Now, that is why the Department of Public Utilities approves such a wholesale cost of gas through a manufacturing cost to its subsidiary. And, as long as we are discussing logical conclusions, let me add one more thing for the record, sir, and I will conclude with a logical conclusion—if I may call it such—of the Department of Public Utilities—on February 26, 1931, in D. P. U. order No. 3883, when they said the Dedham-Hyde Park Company manufactures no gas. It purchases its requirements from the West Boston Company. I would like to add at this time, sir, if I might, that the West Boston Company has been dissolved and it is now the Worcester Gas Light Company. It formerly obtained its gas from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. Its position is such that it ought to receive its gas from the West Boston Company on as favorable terms as it could obtain gas from the Boston Consolidated Company. The time is not far distant when it may be of distinct advantage to its customers and in the public interest for it, or at least that part of its system that serves Hyde Park, to be consolidated with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. "Our experience"—and, mind you, sir, this is the Department of Public Utilities speaking—"our experience has led us to believe that it gives better satisfaction to consumers and that it is usually in the public interest if the people in the same municipality are served by the same public utility company."

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—Just one point. As I understand it, some question has been raised as to the logical conclusion of the Department of Public Utilities assessing the present rate assessed by the parent body, the Framingham Gas and Electric Company. Of course, if we don't agree that they are logical in their conclusions, we are still worse off because, as I remember in executive session, in the event that the City of Boston and the Boston Consolidated Gas Company could not agree, the Department of Public Utilities would be the referee body to determine just how much the Boston Consolidated Gas Company was going to pay. And if that is the case it might be either too high or too low, and whichever they do, Boston loses. If they are making it too high, Boston would be paying too high, again; and if they are making it too low, Boston would be paying on the tax rate.

The question came on the motion to refer back to the Executive Committee. The President being in doubt the roll was called, and the motion was lost, yeas 7, nays 11:

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Hurley, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan—7.

Nays—Coun. Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Russo, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

The question came on the passage of the order. The President being in doubt the roll was called, and the order was passed, yeas 11, nays 7:

Yeas—Coun. Coffey, Dwyer, Feeney, Fish, Keenan, Kelly, Kinsella, Russo, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, Taylor—11.

Nays—Coun. Bayley, Hurley, Kerrigan, McCormack, Muchnick, Scannell, M. H. Sullivan—7.

Coun. HURLEY—I make a motion that we adjourn to December 28th.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I have a resolution to offer.

Coun. HURLEY withdrew his motion.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LICENSES.

Coun. COFFEY, for the Committee on Licenses, submitted the following:

Reports on petitions for driveway openings—that same ought to pass:

Herrick Company (referred October 30) at 352 C street, Ward 6.

Federal Franklin Realty Company (referred November 27) at 70 Federal street, Ward 3.

Reports accepted; permits granted under usual conditions.

PETITION OF CONGREGATION MISHKAN TEFILA FOR EXTENSION OF CEMETERY.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I move that the petition of Temple Mishkan Tefila be taken from the Executive Committee and be brought before the Body.

President KERRIGAN—You have heard the motion. The question now comes on Councilor Muchnick's motion.

Coun. TAYLOR—Mr. President, I am going to reiterate most of what I said in executive.

Coun. D. F. SULLIVAN—Is the motion debatable?

President KERRIGAN—The motion is debatable.

Coun. TAYLOR—Last week a public hearing was held before the Executive Committee on this particular petition of Temple Mishkan Tefila. There were arguments pro and there were arguments against. This petition was not for a new cemetery, but rather for an extension of the cemetery now in existence. The members of this Executive Committee heard at that time the plea of Rabbi Rabinovitz who is the Rabbi of this Temple Mishkan Tefila, and who is also the head of the Rabbinical organization of New England. I think those of you who listened to the Rabbi in his plea must have understood the extreme necessity for the extension of this cemetery. It is hard to understand, Mr. President, why any member of this Council, after the plea of Rabbi Rabinovitz, could reject this petition. Now, this is a motion to take it from the Executive Committee and place it before the entire Body. Temple Mishkan Tefila has a right to know whether or not the City Council of Boston intends to pass it or defeat it. If we are going to defeat it, they ought to have a right to know what their status is so that they might make preparations. Why it should be laid upon the table, I cannot understand. If the Council is against it, get up on your feet and say you are against it. If you are for it, do likewise. The Rabbi said that in the Jewish religion, similar to the Catholic religion, we are not allowed to cremate bodies. We must inter them in the ground. How are we going to do this if permission is denied to the various congregations of the various synagogues who make such petitions? Were this a petition for a new cemetery in a new location, it might be a reasonable argument to say that perhaps it is not in the proper location. But this cemetery has been in existence for over 75 years. There in that cemetery have been buried the bodies of members of the Jewish faith. People whose relatives have been buried in that cemetery have a right to say that "My parents have been buried there; I want to be buried alongside of them." This is not a new cemetery; this is an old cemetery which is now almost fully occupied. Now they need more space, which is closely adjacent thereto, to bury those who may in the future die. It was not so long ago that the petition for a Jewish cemetery was brought into this Council for permission to bury dead in a location on River street, near the tuberculosis sanatorium. This petition was brought in by private individuals, and not by any legitimate synagogue. I could well see the argument of those who objected to that,—that that was not a proper place for a cemetery. I could see the argument raised by objectors that perhaps the men who were sponsoring this particular project were looking and thinking only of personal gain and, consequently, I didn't raise my voice at the public hearing at all in favor of that cemetery, and was satisfied to see it rejected. This is not the case in so far as this petition is concerned. This is a petition for the extension of a cemetery, of one that has already existed for a period of 75 years. And the arguments advanced by the opposition, most of them, are childish arguments, unreasonable arguments, when they say that people who are living in the vicinity don't like cemeteries. They are afraid their property will be depreciated in value. Well, I don't know whether they like cemeteries or whether they don't, they certainly have not lived there for more than 75 years, and if they came there within 75 years they realized, or should have realized, that there were cemeteries right there. If they didn't like cemeteries, why did they come in there, then? They can't advance the argument that it is difficult for them to move because of insufficient rental accommodations. That is a silly argument, because when they moved in there there were plenty of homes in the City of Boston they could have got. They have been stirred up, some of them—not all of them, a very small percentage of them—to come in here and give you concerted stories of how it is going to affect them, and how it is going to affect their pocketbooks by reason of the fact that the value of the home is going to depreciate. They knew when they came there to live that those cemeteries were there, and that they would be there to the end of time, perhaps,—far longer than any time which they would live. What is the reason for their objections now? I can't understand it. To me it is an illogical and an unreasonable argument. The councilor of the district (Coun. Shannon) and others, the Representative—and, mind you, there was only one Representative who came to protest; there are three, and the other two did not come here to object—naturally I know what their position is. I know what organizations are, what pressure groups are. And they were high pressured to come here and object. We all know in many instances, regardless of what the improvement may be, you can always gather together many people for the purpose of objecting for no other reason than objecting, because they are influenced by unreasonable and illogical arguments. Now, I say we have a right to bury our dead. And I say we have a right to bury our dead close to those who are next of kin. We cannot cremate. Why should we have to go far afield? We would be forced to go into far distant land to secure a place in which to bury our dead. I don't know why St. Joseph's Cemetery is coming in for an extension. I am not going to object to that. As I said before, and I reiterate now, I would be the first one on my feet to make a motion to suspend the rule so there will be no public hearing and all this fancy business of unreasonable objection, because I know the people that belong to the Catholic faith believe the same as we do, in not cremating bodies. They have a right to bury their dead, and I am going to make that motion. And I say this, that each and every one of you, in your own conscience, cannot refuse to vote for this because it is in a location where there are cemeteries now in existence, the same as this. There are three cemeteries in that location, right on the border of the Dedham line, in an area that has been extremely undeveloped. You listened to the representative of the Five Cents Savings Bank who came here and made you believe, or tried to make you believe, he only had the interest of the people who lived in those houses at heart. Just imagine, the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank has now become a charitable and eleemosynary institution. And they were not thinking of their own interests! Oh, no,—only of those people who lived there! And we all know from past experience of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, or any other bank in the City of Boston, what they would do if, God forbid, you fell down on your payments. They would foreclose on you just as sure as it is daylight outside now. A few, and only a few, people who live in the immediate neighborhood came here and told stories of how it would cause them to lose their homes and how they would be out of pocket $800, $900 or $1,000, or more, that they had invested in their homes, if the cemetery was extended. We all realize their position. They are not going to give up their homes. They see those funeral processions coming day in and day out, and they are not going to stop, even if we turn down this petition. They are not going to stop, because the other cemeteries are there, in which there is plenty of land not now occupied, and they are going to see those funeral processions if they live in the same neighborhood. The argument is illogical and unreasonable. All right, if you don't want it, say so right now. You have got to have the courage to be recorded right now, and I will sit down, but vote. Let these people who have sponsored this petition know where they stand. Don't keep them waiting in suspense to find out whether or not they must use other land in order to have their cemetery. If you are going to defeat it, defeat it, and defeat it now, and maybe other measures can be adopted, either to extend that same cemetery or buy another piece of land. And why should they be compelled to do it when they have their initial expense already expended right on that ground, where they have their chapel, where they have spent untold thousands of dollars for the purpose of beautifying the place? And you heard the chairman of the Board of Directors, Mr. Slobodkin, say "We didn't bring those lots out near the street because we wanted to keep it away from the vision of those that passed it." They could utilize that ground. No; they had the consideration of the public at heart, and you have got to have their consideration at heart, too. This is not a profit-making cemetery. As the chairman of the Board of Directors said of the members of this synagogue, they get their burial lot free except if they buy a family lot, and then they have to pay a small sum, a small fee, for each one in that lot. They discourage new people coming in there. They only want to take care of their own, but they will not deny anyone the right to be buried, but the price is a little higher—I think $100. They don't make profit on this. This is a religious institution that has no surplus in its treasury. They must secure their funds from the members, and they have had a tremendous deficit for many, many years. Only by gratuities received from the members, only by the donations that they receive, and only by the affairs that they run in order to secure moneys are they able to maintain this beautiful edifice called Temple Mishkan Tefila, located on Seaver street, at the corner of Elm Hill avenue,—a building that everybody in the City of Boston, regardless of their race, creed or color, should be proud of. It is a beautiful building, outside and inside, and there are services conducted there that everyone of you, if you have ever been inside, would be proud to have in your own church. Now, we live and we die. This non-profit organization, Temple Mishkan Tefila, should not be forced to go into distant lands to build a new cemetery, when they have one in existence, one almost next adjacent, which is almost an empty lot of land, that means nothing to anybody. What can your objections be? What can your real objections be to this petition? Well, we all have objections, regardless of what they are founded on, and you have a perfect right to vote. I don't say you will vote yes or no, but I hope you vote yes, and I say this, that we should not delay the proceedings. There is no reason for a delay. If you say no, then Temple Mishkan Tefila will know what their next procedure will be. Whether it will be a bill in the Legislature or whether they are going to purchase ground in some other place, they will know, and they have a right to know. And that is all we are asking for now, to take it out of

Executive Committee and bring it before this Body of men and vote yes or no. That is all we are asking. We are entitled to that as a matter of right. I hope, gentlemen, that you won't refuse that right. As far as the councilor of the West Roxbury district is concerned (Coun. Shannon), if he objects to it, I can't quarrel with that. I dare say that perhaps most of us here might be in a similar position, but he can't deny us the right to vote. There is no logical argument against that. He can vote no, but he should not vote against having the matter heard before us here on the floor. I say this, that if this is not acted upon, it is going to go into next year. There is going to be some time before we have a regular and duly elected Mayor. I am not certain now that if the President of the City Council, who may be elected, or if the City Clerk is acting Mayor at the time, whether this is a matter, admitting of delay, that he would have the right to sign it,—which means that if there is a special election, it won't come before March, and if there is not a special election in the early future, it may not come until the new Mayor is seated, a year from January, and during all this time there will be practically no ground in which to bury our dead. Now, I don't like to say that this is not the duty of the City Council. It is our duty to vote on it. I am not the type to say we should go over heads, but what are we going to do? We have to bury our dead. There is no councilor that wants a cemetery in his particular section, but we have to bury our dead; we have to bury them some place, and we have to pick out the places in our city, regardless of the people who live in that particular vicinity, where there are existing cemeteries, where it is going to create a new district for cemeteries. All we ask is the right to vote on it, and if it is defeated, then Temple Mishkan Tefila can pursue another course, whatever it may be. But don't deny us that right.

Coun. SHANNON—For the past 11½ months, as a member of this Honorable Body, I have seen on numerous occasions motions tabled and petitions tabled. There is nothing unusual about that procedure. I don't think we are getting any precedent, and I think the councilor will agree with me that we are not. He said that but a few people opposed this. Those few people that did come in here represented approximately 5,000 people in Ward 20. I don't object to this being voted on, the motion to take it out of executive. I think it is only right that the gentleman be allowed that privilege. But I do say this, and he will agree with me, that all I have said at the public hearing—there is no need of repeating it now—is in the record. I know those people who appeared here are very serious. They have a lot at stake, and the gentleman from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) recognized the fact that any councilor here would object to a cemetery being erected in his ward. Therefore, gentlemen, I think, in fairness to those petitioners and in fairness to the councilor from Ward 12 and the councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick)—I am willing at this time to go on record as saying, yes, let us vote to see whether or not we take it out of executive. I had not intended to do that, but as long as it has come out here on the floor of the Council, I have made up my mind that that is the way it ought to be. With that, gentlemen, I have nothing more to say.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, I am very much amazed at the remarks of the councilor from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor), practically demanding that we take this order from executive. There is nothing to make us take that order from executive if we don't want to. Everything was fair, open and above board. When he started to speak on the motion he was really out of order. I was the gentleman that got up and said I would like to hear from the councilor from Ward 12, and I would like to have him have the floor. I would like him to be heard on this matter that seems to be very vitally important to him. I would like to have a dollar, gentlemen, for all the orders that you tabled on me in executive, that I couldn't get out of that room on to the floor of the Council. I would just like to have a dollar for every order, and I would have a lot of money. Order after order that I have introduced here has been sent to executive and tabled and kept there and smothered and pigeon-holed. They not only cut the throat on them, they got rusty from being in there for five long years. And that has been going on from Monday to Monday, so there is nothing different in this order. We acted upon it in there. The vote was 13 to 7 to lay on the table. When we come out here, the councilor from Ward 14 makes a motion to have the matter brought before the Body. It couldn't have been of any too much importance to him, because he wasn't present during the debate. He came in late and was very fortunate in being recorded as having the order removed from the table. He hasn't spoken on the order as yet. I don't care whether he does or not. But the fact remains that we don't have to take anything out of executive if we don't want to. That is the procedure that has been followed in the Boston City Council since the Boston City Council was formed, and I dare say it was formed years and years ago when there was a board of aldermen up here, before the City Council was formed. We don't have to take it out now. There is another matter the gentleman talked on, and the only reason I refer to it is the fact he as much as assumed we were not courageous. He didn't say we were cowards, but he assumed we were not courageous, because we would not bring it out here and vote yes or no. It doesn't matter how we vote here. We have already recorded ourselves in there. It doesn't matter whether we bring it out here or not. I don't think one vote will be changed. But he made mention of the fact that a special election might be held in March. Then, again, I listened with amusement when he said that maybe no special election will be held at all. We know our city charter, and we know that right after our present Mayor resigns it is mandatory, regardless of what we read in the newspapers. It says that under the city charter we shall proceed forthwith to hold an election and set a date within 60 to 90 days. And let me tell you now, if we don't set a date right after the Mayor of Boston resigns, it is just fine. The Supreme Court, if they want, can hold the Boston City Council members in contempt because that one word "forthwith" means that we have to go ahead and set a date within 60 to 90 days for a new Mayor. But that is not here nor there as far as this present order is concerned. Now, the gentleman from Ward 12 who fought so strenuously for this order, both in executive and on the floor today, mentions the fact that a similar order came in for a cemetery out on River street in Hyde Park. Well, I don't know why he said that. It was a commercial thing as far as he was concerned. That I don't know. I don't ever remember the bill coming in here. But all I have to say is that this River street happens to be—if I am mistaken, correct me—I think it is in his Senatorial district.

President KERRIGAN—It is River street, Dorchester.

Coun. TAYLOR—Down by the tuberculosis sanatorium.

Coun. COFFEY—I am sorry I brought that out, because I was going to say if it was the Senatorial district he had pressure brought on him, or he had foresight enough to see it would be wise for him to take a stand on the cemetery. When I heard Mr. Cody come here and say that he represented all of 5,000 people of the district, and those people definitely opposed any extension or any new cemetery in their vicinity at the present time—nearly everybody that testified used that term, "at the present time." Women came here and said they definitely would move, even though they had some money invested in homes there—they definitely would move—they would move out of the district even if they lost every penny they had invested in their homes. I don't think this matter should be taken out of committee. I think that is where it belongs. We acted on it fair and square in there. The debate was supposed to have been limited. We allowed the councilor from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) to talk at length. Not one objected to his talking at length. We even got a ruling from the assistant clerk, who said, if I am not mistaken, there should not be any debate on the motion to take from the table. And if there is debate it should be very limited. Nobody interrupted the gentleman from Ward 12. He talked longer in there than he talked here, and, after all his talk, Councilor Shannon answered him and then we took a vote, and the vote was 13 to 7 to allow the matter to stay on the table. Now, if I am not mistaken, I have been told by several members, although Christmas is a week from today and New Year's is two weeks from today, that there is no doubt in their minds there will be one more meeting before the end of the year, so there is no harm in letting this matter stay on the table, and if we want to act differently, or some members want to have a change of mind, they can act then and ask to have it taken from the table, because we all know we can always take from the table at any time.

Coun. M. H. SULLIVAN—While I favor taking this from the Executive Committee, I do it on this basis, because all orders which we have tabled, within my memory, have been tabled with the desire of receiving new information not accessible at the time of the hearing, or not accessible at the time of laying on the table. In so far as I can deduct, we have all the information available, and all that is going to be available, and as a consequence I cannot see any reason for laying on the table today for another week or for any indefinite period of time. If we leave it on the table we cannot change the nature of the act. If it is wrong today, it will not be right tomorrow or next week, or at any indefinite date. If it is impolitic today, it will not be politic tomorrow, nor next week, nor at any undetermined date. And if it is personally repugnant to any member to vote for the extension of any cemetery of any belief, I cannot see anything within the realms of good conscience that would cause it to be personally acceptable or amenable to the tactics of what they think is proper and right tomorrow, next week, a week from tomorrow or any future undetermined date. When I was a lad I can well recall going to Sunday school, and I believe so far as this one allusion is concerned, it refers to all beliefs—Catholic, Protestant or Jewish—and I recall up among the works of mercy, as well as to clothe and feed the hungry, there was one there that stipulated to bury the dead, and it did not specify whether the dead should be Catholic, Protestant, Jew or Hindu. It said merely "to bury the dead." And that seems to me a dictate to the members of this Council, to give permission to bury the dead. It seems a dictate of good conscience and of moral right. I am not going to vote against any cemetery of any belief, and I am saying I am not only moral in this matter, but I am being politic. I have no official information, but I believe there are two cemeteries in the City of Boston who will shortly come in for additions to their own cemeteries. They happen to be of my own belief, and I would not vote against them. But, neither will I say to the man next door, "You can't bury your dead." Neither will I say to the man next door—and his beliefs are as sacred to him as mine are to me—"You must go and cremate the body of your father or mother." If it is repellant to the Catholics of good conscience, it is, of course, repellant to the tactics of decency. So I say, Mr. President, there is no good cause to lay this on the table, in view of the fact that if it is repugnant now, it will be repugnant a week from tomorrow or at any undetermined date. And I will say there is nothing wrong with a cemetery. Let me amplify my remarks. As councilor from Ward 22, I probably have more close personal friends living in the close proximity to the cemetery than any man here. One witness stated here last week that she was a personal friend of Maurice Sullivan, and she appeared in opposition. There are others. I am going to vote for it, although I personally feel sorry I must bring to them any dissatisfaction. Their relatives still live in Ward 22, but sometimes a man in public life has to do the right thing, even though it is impolitic. Sometimes in public life there comes before a man—and always before a man serving in public life—the problem of whether he shall do right in his own heart and soul, or do the thing that tomorrow will mean a vote. And today I am doing what I believe to be the right thing, regardless of personal friends who will probably disagree with me most vehemently. So I say this is the right thing to do. There is nothing immoral about it. It is the only thing we can do in good conscience, and I judge not for any of the 21 members other than myself, but, as I see it, it is the right thing to do. It may be impolitic; it probably is impolitic. But in public life we need men who can say, "Yes, it is going to hurt me on the following 16th of the month." That may not be the easiest way, even though they are doing what they think is right. We need men who can say, "I am doing with the help of God what I think is right and I will be satisfied in my conscience that I did the right thing for my fellow man, of whatever belief."

Coun. FISH—Mr. President, there is no question but what I must—not only must, but that I do voluntarily, with all my heart—agree with the councilor from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) that that gracious man, Rabbi Rabinovitch, and the entire Jewish people are entitled to an answer from the City Council so that they may pursue whatever course is necessary. This order took its natural course at the hearing. It was laid on the table for study. I want to vote on the measure, and when I am ready to vote on it I only feel I am doing my duty to those who are previously mentioned. But, Mr. President, I am not prepared to vote. Let me enumerate just one or two reasons. I have not seen any transcript of the meeting, to study it. In that meeting it was brought out that there were possibly 2½ acres still available for burial purposes. I don't know but what that may be true, and I have not had the opportunity to get out and verify it. Another matter that was brought out at the public hearing, and I don't say this in distrust, but I like to be sure of my facts, I want to verify the deed as to whether it is an out-and-out purchase or an option. I have not had that information. There are a few other things. I guarantee that I will have that information by the next meeting, and for that reason I shall vote to keep this on the table, as far as I am personally concerned, to give my own self, if not the others, an opportunity to satisfy my mind that when I do vote, I will vote right.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I had intended originally to speak at great length concerning this particular matter and all that it implied, and all that it embraces, but, after the very thrilling and inspiring remarks of Councilor Maurice Sullivan, almost anything that anybody could say would be in the nature of an anticlimax. I would like, however, to add that we are a segment of the population of the City of Boston, so it is a duly constituted church authority in this instance. The synagogue comes into the Boston City Council in accordance with the legal procedure provided for the purpose, and makes application for a determination of its legal rights and its standing in the particular matter, a matter that not only is religious but also concerns the health and welfare of the community at large. That segment of the citizenry is entitled not to be tossed about, and not to have its rights lie on the table, but is entitled to have action so that it knows where it stands. And it is for that purpose, and that purpose alone—and, the councilor from the district having no objection, it seems to me that the motion which I made, which was made for that purpose, should pass, and we should go to the immediate determination of the rights of the petitioners.

Coun. RUSSO—I didn't intend to inject myself into this speech making. However, I cannot help it. Being, perhaps, in the business that I am in, naturally it is a common thing, and it is a most human thing, to see that we bury our dead. I, for one, will not deprive anyone of burying their dead. However, in this particular instance I voted to table it, for the simple reason that it was not brought forth in the public hearing that if this bill did not pass today they could not bury their dead tomorrow, or next week or next year. I think that it is more than fair to give people a chance to get information, and when the councilor from Ward 20 (Coun. Shannon) asked to table it, I went along with it, and I feel that we ought to go along perhaps to get more information, if possible. As Councilor Fish has just stated, we don't know whether or not this land contemplated has been deeded as yet. It was brought out, however, at the meeting that this land was bought within one year. They have had two acres of land which has been used for cemetery purposes for the past 78 years. I ask you, Mr. Chairman and members, if two acres of land has taken 78 years and still they have plenty of land to bury their dead, what is the rush? What is the hurry? Isn't the Council entitled to investigate and find out, until they are properly informed and they have made up their minds they are voting according to the dictates of their conscience? I realize that it is a religious organization, but regardless of whether it is a religious organization or a business organization we all know that we have to pay in order to bury our dead. And the land is purchased in order to bury the dead. So why this haste, and saying that we are trying to deprive any religion or any faith of their right to bury their dead today? I feel there is no harm in laying this on the table until further consideration can be had, until each and every member is satisfied that he has the proper information at his command, where a vote can be taken, and at least the stand he takes is according to the dictates of his mind and conscience.

Coun. HURLEY—Mr. Chairman, I also did not intend to talk on this matter at all, and surely after hearing Councilor Muchnick and the great talk here by my colleague from Ward 22 (Coun. M. H. Sullivan)—one of the finest talks I have heard since I have been in the City Council—there is not much more I can say. Councilor Russo has asked why the rush on this matter. There has been no rush on this matter. This Temple filed a petition with the Board of Health last June—last June, mind you, Mr. Chairman. It has been before this Body since November. There has been no rush here. It has been lying until the last minute. We have one meeting to clean up the business of the Council on the 28th of this month, when everything will be thrown into the Body at that time. I think it will be brought out that it is only a fair request that is being made here today. Let it come before the Body. Let them talk on it, and let them vote, after listening, and that will be the decision, and everybody will be satisfied. Mr. President, I am a Catholic, and I know that there are two Catholic cemeteries petitioning this Body next month.

Coun. RUSSO—Will the gentleman yield for a question?

Coun. HURLEY—I will yield when I get through for a question. Mr. President, I know that there are two cemeteries that are going to petition for burying the Catholic dead, and I am mentioning the names: one is the Italian cemetery, St. Michael's, which is coming in for an extension; and the other is St. Joseph's, which is coming in for an extension. And I surely will vote in favor of both of them. The Jewish people have the same belief as we have, about burying our dead, and I don't think that we would feel very happy if we were in a body consisting of twenty Jews and two Catholics, and a petition came in for St. Joseph's or St. Michael's, to have the twenty Jewish members oppose the extension of the cemetery that we have out there in West Roxbury and had had for the past 75 years. I think that every man here is fair and honorable, and I think if this is brought before the Body here today, as a result of the decision everyone will be satisfied, and at least we have given this Temple an answer today—an answer that they are entitled to. As I stated before, this petition has been before the city in different departments since last June, and we, of the Catholic faith, would not like it if the petition of St. Joseph's or St. Michael's had been in for the same length of time, and they would have to look to another part of the city to get a cemetery. They wouldn't want to be hanging fire for a year or more than a year, to make up their minds what they are going to do with their dead.

Coun. RUSSO—I would like to ask of you how the gentleman has the information about other cemeteries that are going to come in, in so far as the petitions being concerned, when it is not before us at the present time. I have not any information. If he knows, he can answer.

Coun. HURLEY—Mr. President, I would be very happy to tell the councilor that when these hearings were going on before the Boston Board of Health I was given the information there by a man high in authority, that there were two other petitions coming in, and they had been asking information about the filing of petitions for extensions, and the gentleman in question told me the names of the cemeteries. One was St. Michael's, the Italian cemetery, and the other was St. Joseph's Catholic cemetery.

Coun. RUSSO—Of course, he can take the word of the high official, but still I won't take any word until it is before me to act upon. And may I ask the chairman while I am on my feet to make it clear? It seems they want to make it appear as if I have one purpose, being one of the individuals who has voted to table this petition at the present time, who is opposed to burying the dead. I would like to have that cleared up, because, so far as I am concerned, that is my livelihood, and therefore I cannot be opposed to burying of the dead. However, I would like to state again that I will never inject anything in so far as religion or color is concerned. It is all the same to me, regardless of whether they be Protestant, Catholic or Jew. And this is not a question here where we are trying to deprive or deny the Jewish race of burying their dead. We are only asking to be fair with ourselves first. If the gentleman was at the hearing of the Board of Health when it was held, I was not. Evidently I was not informed of it, or I didn't get wind of it, so to say, and I was not at the meeting. Using the same phrase of "reliable people," or "higher ups," I have been informed there has been no deed signed. As I stated before, and I will say it again, I am not satisfied within myself but that they have enough land there to bury people for the next six months, the next year, or the next two days; I don't know. Is there any harm in trying to have a little time in order to get more information? I have not been able to get around, Mr. President, in the condition that I have been in for the past nine weeks—going on ten weeks—and I would like to go around and see for myself and satisfy myself, and if I believe that the cemetery is needed, the extension, I would be for it; and if I believed otherwise I would be opposed to it. This area is eight acres of land. In other words, it is going to take care of over 200 years. There may be other land, perhaps, where there is no one living at the present time that could be had. I don't know. I don't see any harm in a slight delay—and I want to make it clear as far as the record is concerned, that in so far as I am concerned, I am not opposed to burying the dead.

Coun. SHANNON—At the risk of being repetitious, I want to inform the councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick), if he will give me his attention, that my remarks were that I did not object to the Council voting at this time to say whether or not they would take this out of executive.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President, I thought that all I had said—if that was not what I said, that was all I intended to imply—that the councilor from Ward 20 (Coun. Shannon) had no objection to it being taken off the table at this time and acted upon at this time, one way or the other.

Coun. SHANNON—I still have not made myself understood, and your remarks give people to understand that I am going to vote in favor of taking it off the table. I am not doing that; I still am voting to leave it on the table.

Coun. MUCHNICK—You do now; you did not before.

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of information.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. TAYLOR—I would like to find out when the next meeting of the Boston City Council is to be held.

President KERRIGAN—The next meeting of the Council presumably is Thursday of next week. Of course, it depends on the membership, but the Chair would like to make it Thursday, December 28th.

Coun. TAYLOR—I say this, Mr. President: The only thing that disturbed me was the fact that it was just laid on the table without a definite date. I never want to deprive anybody of receiving any information, but in view of what the legal procedure may be because of the new Mayor coming in, I am willing to make a motion that we adjourn to executive for the purpose of tabling this order definitely until next Thursday, so that it will come up next Thursday, this petition—or is it a week from Thursday?

President KERRIGAN—It is a week from Thursday.

Coun. TAYLOR—Well, a week from Thursday. I am willing to make a motion to adjourn to executive for the purpose of tabling it to that specific date, at which time it will then come up for a vote.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, I graciously yielded to Councilor Taylor. I thought he had something to talk about. I mean to say, I thought he was talking on the matter. I didn't realize he was going to make any motion, because I intended to say a few words on the matter myself. I would ask if he would withdraw his motion.

President KERRIGAN—He hasn't made a motion yet.

Coun. KELLY—Mr. President, the reason I voted to keep it on the table in executive session was because, unfortunately, I was unable to attend the public hearing held in this Council Chamber last week. I had thought we would have some kind of a brief of what went on at the hearing, but I trust that before we have our next Council meeting every councilor will have a brief of what took place at that hearing. The vote to lay on the table was not a vote against burying the dead, not by any means. Mr. President, the vote to lay it on the table, in my mind, was a vote to receive further information. As I say, I voted in executive session, and I will cast my vote, if it is called up on the floor of the Council, to keep it in executive until we get more information. The only way I can get information as to what happened at the hearing is to get the regular brief that the stenographer will submit to every member of the Council, and I will have a chance to study that over the next three or four days, and will be ready to cast my vote at the next regular meeting, which I think will be a week from Thursday.

Coun. FEENEY—Mr. President, I didn't intend to inject myself into this debate. I intended, rather, to sit in my seat and vote when the matter came up in support of the councilor from Ward 20 (Coun. Shannon), notwithstanding the fact that I have the greatest respect for those who came before the City Council in executive session, at that executive meeting or hearing, and spoke in favor of this cemetery extension. I have the greatest respect for them, and I could well understand their good reason for coming in here as they did. But because of the fact that on several occasions today mention has been made of the proposed cemetery in my district, whose sponsors came here several years ago, I want to make it clear that I assured the councilor from Ward 20 (Coun. Shannon) that I would stand by him when he asked me to do so, because I expect him to stand by me when a similar petition might come before this Honorable Body from the very district that I represent. I don't know whether one is coming in or not, but I have heard, sir, that such is the case. I talked to the councilor from Ward 19 (Coun. McCormack), in whose district St. Michael's Cemetery is located. He was stunned to hear that a petition is in the making by those who control the destinies of St. Michael's Cemetery. He didn't know anything about it. It touches my district, sir, just as does this one, and I didn't know anything about it. I want to say this further, that I have served in public office for six years, and I have always made it a practice, notwithstanding what other considerations might enter into it, to support the local office holder on matters affecting his own district. That is why in executive I voted no. And that is why in this meeting, if a vote is taken today, I will vote no. I have assured him that I will support him in matters affecting his district, and he has likewise assured me that he will support me in matters affecting mine. And one more thing, Mr. President. I would like to add this: I am personally not influenced in the slightest whether the petitioners are those who are petitioning for St. Michael's or St. Joseph's, with all due respect to the splendid character of the associations involved. I am interested in the attitude of the councilor of the district, because I feel he best reflects the opinion and the sentiment of the people of his district.

Coun. TAYLOR—I move that we adjourn to Executive Committee for the purpose of laying this matter on the table for a special date.

President KERRIGAN—There is a motion before the Body of Councilor Muchnick.

Coun. COFFEY—I rise to a point of information. President KERRIGAN—State your point of information.

Coun. COFFEY—At the next meeting we have, the 28th, the regular meeting, can't anybody move in executive at that time that this matter be taken from the table?

President KERRIGAN—That is true.

Coun. COFFEY—Then what is the sense of taking it now? May I have the floor? There are a few things I want to touch on. I don't like to state whether or not one of the councilors realizes what he was saying kind of brought out the anti-Semitic feeling all over again, but he brought out the fact that these two Catholic cemeteries were to come in—and mind you, we know nothing about them up to the present. The councilor from one of the districts said he was stunned when he heard it, and he should be one of the first to hear it. I think too many things are heard from a councilor's district through others than the councilor of the district. I think that has been going on too long in the Boston City Council—and in the Massachusetts Legislature, I might add. People that should not hear things until the last minute somehow get the information before those who represent the district. That is one thing about the City Council and the Massachusetts Legislature that I never did like, and I never did and I never will approve it. As far as the question of anti-Semitism is concerned, let me bring out this fact. The statement was made that two petitions are coming in for Catholic cemeteries—their expansion, extension, or new cemeteries, and that they would not like it if in a Council with twenty members in it that were Jewish and two members Catholics, the Catholic cemeteries were turned down. Well, that being so, there are here two members of the Jewish faith, and Councilor Taylor only last year received eleven votes for the presidency of the Boston City Council; so I think that for all time we can forget the anti-Semitic feeling, as far as this Council is concerned, because there were, as I say, eleven votes for Councilor Taylor to become president, and he only lost out on two occasions from being president of the Council by one vote. My argument was when I first came up here that there were people here who did represent 5,000 people, and I think that is what swayed me more than anything else. They didn't want a further extension of this cemetery in their ward, and they said, "We are opposed to the expansion, extension or any new cemetery in our district." They didn't specifically refer to this cemetery, but they said, any new cemetery or extension or expansion of any, at present or at any time "they were opposed to." That is the statement that nearly everybody made who represented that group who belonged to those organizations that were represented by Mr. Cody, who represented the parent organization of all those other bodies. I don't know whether any new petitions are going to come before us, but let us forget about them. We are acting on this petition, and this one only, and we should not be swayed, regardless of what anybody says here, because up to the present time there is no petition before us for an extension or for any new cemetery within the city limits. So let us take our cemeteries one at a time. We don't know as yet whether they are coming in or not, but we are acting on this one now. There is no harm done, and, as Councilor Taylor said—he could be mistaken—vote on that action could be taken at the next regular meeting. And when I asked a point of information of the Chair, the President of the Council said a motion could be made in executive at the next regular meeting, that that order can be removed from the table if it has sufficient votes. So I say, let us go along as we went in executive. Keep the matter there, and then if Councilor Taylor wants to move it be taken from the table on December 28th he can do so and no harm will be done.

Coun. MUCHNICK—In view of the fact that certain members of the Council have stated that they want a few more days to examine further into some details, and in view of the fact that I have been advised that the matter will definitely be taken up at the next meeting of the Executive Committee, I would like to withdraw my motion at this time.

THE NEXT MEETING.

On motion of Coun. HURLEY, it was voted that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Thursday, December 28, at 2 p. m.

ABOLISHING OF LITTLE STEEL FORMULA.

Coun. MUCHNICK offered the following:

Whereas, In the spring of 1942, President Roosevelt presented to Congress and the country a stabilization program covering wages and salaries, profits, taxes and cost of living for the specific purpose of stabilization of war economy; and

Whereas, Stabilization of wages and salaries was established by the War Labor Board by setting general wage ceilings at 15 per cent above Bureau of Labor Statistics of January 1, 1941, figures, known as the Little Steel Formula; and

Whereas, The freezing of wages and salaries was an integral part of the program; and

Whereas, The cost of living has continued to rise; and

Whereas, Wages and salaries are frozen at 15 per cent compared with a 23.4 per cent United States Bureau of Labor Statistics and a 43.5 per cent rise, according to Labor's Cost of Living Committee Report; and

Whereas, All workers, both manual and white-collar, are affected by this freeze edict; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the Boston City Council herein assembled do go on record as requesting President Roosevelt, Senators Walsh and Weeks, and Congressmen representing the Commonwealth, and Chairman Davis of the National War Labor Board to do their utmost to abolish the Little Steel Formula, or so modify it that wage and salary adjustments can be made in conformity with the true increased cost of living.

Coun. COFFEY—I am just curious to know, whereas this resolution starts off with the President setting this wage scale and the C. I. O. supporting the President—I don't get the consistency of this order or resolution. I would like to know, or have it brought out by the gentleman that introduced it, if possible, because I know that the President has set the wage scale and I know that the C. I. O. claimed the credit for his election. I don't get the consistency. If they have elected him, then they ought to take this matter up with the President of the United States through their emissary, Mr. Hillman. But, as I stated at the outset, I don't get the consistency. The President states the wage scale, the C. I. O. elects him President. Now, we, a small body of men in the City of Boston, are supposed to go on record favoring this resolution regarding something that pertains to the Little Steel formula. I would like to have the gentleman from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick) elaborate on it and tell us the consistency of it, if that is possible.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. President, I would suggest they "clear this through Sidney," too.

Coun. TAYLOR—This "Sidney" business was the prime argument in the election for President, and the result was that Mr. Dewey took a terrific licking. Sidney has nothing at all to do with this. If you gentlemen are for labor, you might become acquainted with some of the facts about the Little Steel formula. I am not interested in the C. I. O. of the A. F. of L. As far as this particular bill is concerned, I understand all labor organizations are looking for a change in this Little Steel formula. When this Little Steel formula was enacted into legislation, they froze the wages at 15 per cent above the then wage level. I have not the exact date it was enacted, but I can find that out very shortly. Since that time the cost of living has increased somewhere between 40 and 50 per cent. The laboring men who are affected by this Little Steel formula have their wages frozen at 15 per cent over those levels that prevailed in 1941. I think it was. The cost of living has gone up so much and, with their inability to secure higher wages, as a consequence they are in a worse position than they were prior to the time that war was declared. So that while many people are receiving largely increased wages, those people that come under the Little Steel formula are finding it harder to exist today than they did immediately after the inflation of wages. That is all it is. The United States government admitted that there was an increase in the cost of living of over 25 per cent. The labor organizations board, which includes the C. I. O., together with Sidney, and the American Federation of Labor, has got figures to show it has increased over 43 per cent. I don't think that anybody that comes from a laboring district would want to deny that those people who come under this Little Steel formula should have the opportunity of securing more wages, in view of the fact that the cost of living has gone up to such an extent. The mere fact that the C. I. O. is on it should not affect you one way or the other. This is a resolution referring to a bill in Congress for the purpose of helping the laboring man, and I think none of us who come from districts that have laboring men in them should oppose it.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Having been asked to elaborate, it seems to me that the resolution, had it been listened to, would have been self-explanatory. There is a discrepancy between the cost of living and wage increases. It affects practically everybody, particularly in our area. In the course of my private business, I have had many occasions to appear before the War Labor Board, representing both employers and employees. There seems to be a general opinion that there is a great discrepancy, and that something ought to be done about it. We in this Council, regardless of political beliefs, regardless of pro-Administration or anti-Administration, it seems to me, ought to go on record as being in favor of a fair distribution to the people who produce. And I urge the suspension of the rule and the passage of the resolution.

Coun. BAYLEY—I believe that the hour is getting late and, rather than go into further long debate of this subject and following the usual custom, I move that this be referred to the Committee on Rules. I believe that there is no need for haste. It is not such an urgent matter that it must be passed today.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Isn't the motion out of order, in view of the fact that I moved suspension of the rules and passage of the order?

President KERRIGAN—Councilor Bayley's motion is in order.

Coun. COFFEY—Mr. President, when I took the floor, I didn't want to be understood to say that I am opposed to labor in any way. All I asked was that the explanation be made, if possible, because—and I repeat now—I don't get the consistency of the thing. If the President was the one who froze wages, and the C. I. O.—and I have probably 15,000 of them working in my ward—if the C. I. O. elected the President for a fourth term, as they claim they did—and Sidney himself did issue the statement from London—how the hell did he get over there? I can't get a train to take me to New York, let alone London. I would like to repeat, how did he get over there?

Coun. MUCHNICK—By plane.

Coun. COFFEY—Has he any uniform fighting for this country, or is he giving some information to the Nazi government? "Clear the way with Sidney!" My kid is over there in uniform, and I would like to repeat—how the hell did Sidney get over there when it is damned hard to get to New York or Washington or any other point? I would still like to know who gave him a ticket to go over there.

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of order.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of order.

Coun. TAYLOR—I don't think the gentleman is discussing the subject in question.

Coun. COFFEY—Your point of order is well taken. The cemetery bill was fought hard and furiously. We have to give him credit. Pressure was brought—

Coun. TAYLOR—I rise to a point of order.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of order.

Coun. TAYLOR—I suggest, Mr. President, that the gentleman comply with the rules as far as personalities are concerned. I have certainly not indulged in personalities with him.

Coun. COFFEY—The last bill pertaining to the gas light company—didn't he vote the way the people out in that district wanted him to vote—

Coun. TAYLOR—Mr. President,

President KERRIGAN—The Council will be in order.

Coun. COFFEY—If the gentleman didn't interrupt, we would have been in order. I repeat again: I would like to know how the hell Sidney got to London. He is not in the uniform of a United States soldier. It was he that brought Sidney into it, not me. They cleared the way for Sidney to get to London, and I repeat: Does anybody know how he got there? I do recall reading articles years ago where he was in the employ of the Russian Government, when they tried to spread Communism all through the country.

Coun. MUCHNICK—Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

President KERRIGAN—State your point of order.

Coun. MUCHNICK—The gentleman does not seem to be speaking on the order. This does not refer to transatlantic transportation.

Coun. COFFEY—He should know, because he is not in uniform, either. Transatlantic transportation does come into this. Why doesn't Sidney come back and introduce this bill? Or I could ask the councilor who introduced it if Sidney called him on long distance from London?

Coun. MUCHNICK—I can answer the question. Mr. Hillman and I do not know each other, and do not speak to each other.

Coun. COFFEY—Getting back to the bill. When I first got up, I didn't get up and oppose the bill. For once the clerk turned to you and said, "This matter should go to the Rules Committee without debate," and you didn't send it to Rules; you left it open for debate and discussion, so let us go to it. You should have sent it to Rules. You know you should have done that, without debate, like all foolish resolutions that come in here. Too long we have been trying to run the affairs of Congress and other bodies. We should attend to our own affairs here. We should take all these rooms and make them into one big room, so we will know what is going on. I know that two or three can get in a huddle and say, "What shall we do on this? What shall we do on that?" Open it up and make it all open and aboveboard for all members. Two or three or four members will get up and talk on one thing, and threaten us with pressure. That is why we are voting one way and one another. An order is introduced that affects their senatorial district, and they vote the way the people in their district want them to vote. So don't bring in any bluffs here, because we know what is going on as well as anybody else. All of us have had our baptism in politics. We know what this game is. Through your fault, Mr. President, and through the fault of other Presidents before, many things have been brought in that didn't take a firm hand in the beginning, and I would have been one that would have been willing to have been ruled out of order and take my place—

Coun. MUCHNICK—In view of the last remarks of the speaker, I ask him to confine himself to the order.

President KERRIGAN—The Chair referred no matter to Rules. This was presented to the Body, and the councilor has an opportunity to debate it.

Coun. COFFEY—I will debate it. I know, in fact, that by their interruptions they are not throwing me off my track or my trend of thought, or anything else, because there is another thing I would like to know. In all these orders or resolutions or motions introduced by the councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick), when he takes a back seat, the councilor from Ward 12 (Coun. Taylor) takes over. And he himself made the statement as to his future Senatorial district. How could it be, if you don't take the initiative and take the play away from the little fellow in the corner chair? When I made the statement that Hillman is in London, and I would like to know how the hell he got there, without asking you for the privilege of the floor, the councilor from Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick) injected a remark that he got there by plane. I would like to know if he knows this to be a fact, that he got there by plane. Does he care to answer that?

Coun. MUCHNICK—If it makes any difference, I read the daily newspapers.

Coun. COFFEY—I haven't missed a newspaper, and I haven't read where Sidney flew to London by plane, nor anybody else here. And, again, I would like to know what the hell he is doing over there. I know he is not over there in the uniform of the United States government, fighting for his country—if this is his country. And I would like to ask the question: "How long is this to be his country, and whose side is Sidney going to be on?" That is one question I would like to have answered, and I don't think anybody can give an honest answer as to what side Sidney will take after the peace. As things are going in Europe now, you are going to have a communistic government in nearly every European state right after this war is over. Getting back to this one, I first got up and asked why this was introduced today. I didn't get up to oppose it. I got up and asked the consistency of the thing, because it says in their own resolution that was sent to the members of this body: "Whereas, in the spring of 1942, President Roosevelt presented to Congress and the country a stabilization program, covering wages and salaries, profits, taxes and cost of living for the specific purpose of stabilization of war economy,"—and then it goes on to several other clauses. All I asked, and I was not answered, was where was the consistency of this resolution which was introduced today, and I asked for an explanation from the councilor in Ward 14 (Coun. Muchnick), who introduced the order, that, if President Roosevelt was the gentleman who froze these salaries, and the C. I. O. claimed that they elected the man President, why can't Sidney clear the way without a resolution having to come from the Boston City Council? I can't for the life of me see why there was any need of any resolution being introduced today. I am not opposed to it. Resolutions don't mean a darned thing in our Body; everybody knows that. And, as a rule, if the gentlemen in the chair has not followed that rule in previous years, still I say up here every time a resolution was introduced it was just read by the Clerk, immediately referred to the Committee on Rules and became a dead issue without debate. Now, the gentleman in the chair this year, as I recall, has allowed debate on these different resolutions which we introduce, so I won't take him to task for it. He has followed that course, so there is no sense saying anything further about his not referring this to Rules at the time the order was read. But I do recall the Clerk said to him, "This order goes to Rules," or something to that effect. That is why I got up and hollered here that this should be sent to Rules immediately without debate. I think Councilor Bayley has moved the order ought to go to the Committee on Rules. I suppose that is before the body now.

Coun. KINSELLA—I would like a word of explanation on behalf of my apparent attitude, which is not at all negative. All I said was, "Why not clear this through Sidney? But that didn't mean I intended to vote against labor in any way, nor am I trying to get out from under, because, in so far as the C. I. O. is concerned, I don't represent them. This circular, which I did not receive (referring to paper) is from the E. U. Stewarts' Council, C. I. O., 6 Beacon street—I don't see anything else here that mentions the A. F. of L., or any other labor group. I injected Hillman's name in it because I am not unmindful of the fact that Sidney Hillman was able to tell us what men should not become Vice Presidential candidates. I am not unmindful of the fact that he has been unofficial President of this country since the left wing of the Democratic party came into control in 1933. I have a right to criticize Sidney Hillman for ulterior motives in everything he does.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I rise to a point of order. President KERRIGAN—State your point of order.

Coun. MUCHNICK—It seems to me that Sidney Hillman is not the subject of this resolution or in any way remotely connected with it.

Coun. KINSELLA—Mr. Hillman is the head of the C. I. O. that sponsored this resolution.

Coun. MUCHNICK—I rise to a point of order. President KERRIGAN—State your point of order.

Coun. MUCHNICK—A man by the name of Murray is president of the C. I. O.

Coun. KINSELLA—I stand corrected, but, Murray or Hillman, it is alike to American labor. But if he can dictate and say that a true American like Byrnes cannot be a candidate, and Alvin Barkley cannot be a candidate, and give orders to a man we put in, in 1933, I claim he can walk into the White House and get his purpose accomplished without coming in his legal capacity, by some other name—Sasserno. I am not unmindful that the cost of living has gone up for us. All we got was $200 emergency allotment for ourselves, and we have a greater strain on that $200 than some of the laboring group represented in here. Myself alone, this week, I will spend $20, upon which I have already paid taxes here, because it is expected of us. So that the usable part of our $2,200 is considerably less than one half of the annual salary of most people contained in this resolution. The usable part of our salary. Let us think of ourselves for a change. I only wish that young Matt Hanley was here to join hands on the Hillman question. But I am not against labor, nor have I ever been, as you will note, nor will I ever be. But he is fair game, as long as he is going to tell us who may conceivably be President in the next four years. He may conceivably prevent the selection of Harry Truman.

Coun. COFFEY—I just want to add that in the Atlantic Works yard in East Boston there are some 3,500 members of the C. I. O. They have taken a definite step in the right direction,—at their last meeting they have defeated their communistic president and put in another president who is not communistic-minded, so even the C. I. O. are getting wise to themselves.

The question came on the motion to refer the matter to the Committee on Rules, and the Chair being in doubt, ordered the roll to be called.

Coun. DWYER—Is this to send it to Rules? President KERRIGAN—Yes.

The roll was called, and the motion to refer the resolution to the Committee on Rules was lost, yeas 2, nays 14.

Yeas—Coun. Bayley, Dwyer—2.

Nays—Coun. Coffey, Feeney, Fish, Hannon, Keenan, Kelly, Kerrigan, Kinsella, McCormack, Muchnick, Russo, Shannon, D. F. Sullivan, M. H. Sullivan—14.

The resolution was adopted.

SKATING ON ADAMS STREET PLAYGROUND.

Coun. FISH and KEENAN offered the following:

Ordered, That the Park Commissioner be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to flood the small playground on Adams street, adjoining Dorchester park, for the purpose of allowing children to skate during the coming winter months. Passed under suspension of the rule.

LEGAL REPRESENTATION FOR CERTAIN PERSONS BEFORE INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT BOARD.

Coun. KELLY offered the following:

Resolved, That the Boston City Council hereby favors the enactment of legislation which will provide that certain persons receiving public aid shall be represented by Counsel in proceedings before the Industrial Accident Board, and that said city shall be reimbursed by the insurer for the Counsel fees, and all other expenses incurred, in the event that compensation is awarded to such person.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rule.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR KELLY.

Coun. KELLY—I ask unanimous consent to be recorded as voting yes on the recreation bill of last week.

President KERRIGAN—The gentleman's request will be noted in the minutes.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR KEENAN.

Coun. KEENAN—On the ruling there, I was absent the other day at the Special Meeting. I happened to be called on the telephone and came back, and I was informed the meeting was over. I want to be recorded on the transfers of the appropriations.

President KERRIGAN—No councilor can be now recorded. He can express his opinion. You want to be so recorded that you would have voted in favor?

Coun. KEENAN—Yes.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILOR HURLEY.

Coun. HURLEY—I also was absent, and if I had been here I would have voted in favor of all these transfers.

President KERRIGAN—The gentleman's remarks will be included in the record.

ALMOST 3,000,000 IN NAVAL SERVICES.

By the end of 1943 it was estimated that the following totals of personnel were on active duty in the U. S. Navy, U. S. Marine Corps and the U. S. Coast Guard:

	U.S.Navy	U.S.M.C.	U.S.C.G.	Total
Officers	201,000	29,700	10,500	241,200
Enlisted	2,093,000	370,000	161,000	2,624,000

Total 2,294,000 399,700 171,500 2,865,200 SQUARE DEAL IN ASSESSMENTS FOR TAXATION.

Many cities are finding it greatly to their advantage to have their tax valuations periodically overhauled. The first criterion of any assessment is equity. For every citizen who wants through "pull" or however else to get off easy, there are twenty, nay a hundred who want a fair and square deal for all.

The appraisal of city real estate is a highly technical affair.

Few things are more important than the equalization of assessments. Particularly in cities that are cramped by an inflexible debt or tax limit, an honest, full value assessment may be a great boon. Without the slightest raise in the tax rate a substantially greater tax yield may be had.
